A bench headed by Justice Ashok Bhushan in Supreme Court passed a slew of directions to the Centre and state governments for the benefit of the migrant workers. The top court directed all state governments to implement one-nation, one ration card scheme, which allows migrant workers to avail ration benefits from any part of the country, by July 31.

Team Absolute | New Delhi

The Supreme Court on Tuesday said all state governments must implement one-nation, one ration card scheme by July 31.

The top court directed the Centre to develop a national portal in consultation with NIC to register unorganized and migrant workers by July 31. The top court directed the state governments to frame schemes for distribution of food grains to those who don't have ration cards and asked the Centre to allocate food grains as per the demands of the state governments. The top court directed the distribution of dry ration and community kitchen, providing succour to the needy, to continue amid the coronavirus pandemic. During the hearing, the top court said, its main concern is that benefits which are meant for migrant workers must reach them and stressed the process of their registration is woefully slow.

The top court said the Centre and state governments must expedite registration of migrant workers and also those working in the unorganised sectors.

SC FAVOURS CA EXAM IN JULY

The Supreme Court on Tuesday said it favours in-person Chartered Accountant (CA) exams and refrained from passing any direction to postpone the schedule commencing on July 5. A bench said students with Covid should get opt-out option. The bench directed Institute of Chartered Accountants of India (ICAI) to present a note incorporating the court's suggestions, other deliberations and also ICAI's stand on them. The bench said it will pass orders on the petitions connected with the CA exams after perusing the note and adjourned the matter for Wednesday.

Delay on portal for migrant workers' registration is Unpardonable

The Supreme Court on Tuesday slammed the Centre for having a lackadaisical approach in developing a portal for registration of the unorganized or migrant workers, to avail benefits from various government schemes. "When the unorganized workers are waiting for registration and are waiting to reap the benefit of various welfare schemes of the States and Centre, the apathy and lackadaisical attitude by the Ministry of Labour and Employment is unpardonable. Unless the registration is complete, tall claims by all the States and Union that they have implemented various welfare schemes for the migrant workers and unorganized workers remain only on paper without giving any benefit to unorganized workers," noted the bench.

Face mask to detects Covid

New York: A team of US researchers has developed face masks with biosensors that can be customised to detect pathogens such as the SARS-CoV2, virus causing Covid-19, and toxins and alert the user. The button-activated mask, developed by the researchers from the Wyss Institute for Biologically Inspired Engineering at Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, gives results within 90 minutes at levels of accuracy comparable to standard nucleic acid-based diagnostic tests like polymerase chain reactions (PCR). The finding is reported in the journal Nature Biotechnology. The wFDCF face mask is the first SARS-CoV-2 nucleic acid test that achieves high accuracy rates comparable to current gold standard RT-PCR tests while operating fully at room temperature, eliminating the need for heating or cooling instruments and allowing the rapid screening of patient samples outside of labs.

Focus on five-fold strategy of Covid management: Centre to states

The Centre asked the states on Tuesday to focus on the five-fold strategy -- test, track, treat, vaccination and adherence to Covid appropriate behaviour -- for effective Covid-19 management.

Team Absolute | New Delhi

In a communication to Chief Secretaries of the states, Union Home Secretary Ajay Bhalla wrote that adherence to Covid appropriate behaviour is crucial to guard against any surge in infection. "To reiterate, Covid appropriate behaviour includes mandatory use of masks, hand hygiene, following physical and social distancing and proper ventilation of closed places. While easing restrictions, it must be ensured that there is no let up in adherence to Covid appropriate behaviour," he wrote. He also advised that states and UTs should closely monitor case positivity and bed occupancy on a regular basis, taking the district as an administrative unit. "On witnessing any early sign of increase in case positivity and higher bed occupancy, necessary action should be taken for containment and upgradation of health infrastructure. For districts identified with high positivity and higher bed occupancy, states and UTs may consider imposing restrictions," he wrote.

"States and UTs shall regularly monitor districts with higher number of active cases per million population, as it is an important indicator to predict need for upgrading health infrastructure and logistics, so that early and prompt action can be taken in this regard. There should be a continuous focus on the five-fold strategy for effective management of Covid-19."

The Chief Minister said, with the provision of 300 units free electricity to every household, 77-80 per cent households will

"Punjab can have the lowest rates for electricity if the alleged nexus between the politicians and electric companies is broken," Kejriwal said.

Stating that he had ensured a 24-hour uninterrupted power supply in Delhi within 2.5 years of being elected as Chief Minister by repairing the transformers and wires in every street, he said he would ensure the same in Punjab too.

He said in Delhi his government provided 200 units of free electricity to every family.

"The women are very happy. Women in Punjab are also very unhappy with inflation. The AAP government will also provide free electricity in Punjab," he added. Later, AAP in a statement clarified that all existing electricity schemes will remain to continue in Punjab and the Punjab will get 300 units per month free.

The BJP has defended the minister. BJP spokesperson Rajpal Singh Sisodia said that the parents union had met the school education minister regarding school fees. Meaning of Digvijay Singh's increased political activity

Sandeep Puranic | Bhopal

In Madhya Pradesh, the political activity of Rajya Sabha member and former Chief Minister Digvijay Singh is increasing rapidly. The meaning of his activism is also being discovered. Political speculation is even being that Digvijay Singh is trying to strengthen his hold again in the politics of Madhya Pradesh. The Congress was able to return to power in the state in the elections held in the year 2018 after struggling for almost one and a half decades, but it could only remain in power for 15 months. The reason for the loss of power from the hands of the Congress was considered to be lack of mutual harmony and there were also big attacks on Digvijay Singh for this. Digvijay Singh is also considered to be the major reason for Jyotiraditya Scindia leaving the Congress.

If we look at the Congress politics of the state in the last few days, it is known that first former Chief Minister Kamal Nath's health deteriorated, treatment held in Delhi and after that his activism in national politics has also increased. He has been entrusted with the undisclosed responsibility of coordination between party leaders in Punjab and Rajasthan. Kamal Nath has been counted in close proximity to the Gandhi family. After the death of Ahmed Patel, Kamal Nath's closeness with Sonia Gandhi has increased, as well as the usefulness of Kamal Nath has increased due to the voices of many big leaders against the Gandhi family. Political experts believe that if Kamal Nath becomes active in national politics, the Congress may have a big face crisis in the state. There are some leaders like former Union Minister Arun Yadav, Suresh Pachauri, Ajay Singh who are recognized in large part of the state, but their hold in Delhi is weak at present. Sensing this situation, Digvijay Singh has increased his activism. The first step of the same activism is to file a complaint regarding tampering of clubhouse chat with the cyber cell of Bhopal. Congress state spokesperson Abbas Hafeez says, "Digvijay Singh is a leader who has always fought for the people. This is the reason why BJP fears him and Digvijay Singh remains on his target too. Nothing should be searched for their capabilities."

After the Congress was out of power in the state, Digvijay Singh's activism steadily decreased, he was rarely seen openly during the Corona period. Now that their activism has increased, the round of speculation is also gaining momentum. Anyway, internal conflict is going on in the Congress about who will get this post if Kamal Nath leaves the post of state president and leader of opposition in the assembly. It is also being speculated that Digvijay Singh will leave no stone unturned to get the post that Kamal Nath will leave, to his close ones.

WHY CENTRE'S APPROVAL NEEDED FOR DOOR-TO-DOOR VACCINATION?: HC TO MAHA GOVT

Team Absolute | Mumbai

The Bombay High Court on Tuesday asked the Maharashtra government why it needs an approval from the Centre to start door-to-door vaccination programme against Covid-19 for senior citizens, specially-abled and bedridden persons in the state. The state government on Tuesday filed an affidavit in the HC, saying home vaccination on an experimental basis can be started, but only for those who are completely immobile and bedridden.

The bench was hearing a public interest litigation (PIL) filed by two advocates - Dhruvi Kapadia and Kunal Tiwari - seeking a direction to the Union government to start door-to-door vaccination for senior citizens above the age of 75, specially-abled persons and those who are bedridden. Earlier, the Union government had said door-to-door vaccination cannot be introduced currently due to various reasons, including vaccine wastage and the risk of adverse reaction to the vaccine. The court had then asked the Maharashtra government if it was willing to start door-to-door vac-ination in the state. In its affidavit, the State Family Welfare Board said the Maharashtra government has been following guidelines laid down by the Union government for vaccination and till date, it (state) has not made any request for door-to-door vaccination.

As per the affidavit, door-to-door vaccination can be introduced on an experimental basis for bedridden persons. It said even for these people, a certificate has to be issued by the person's doctor, saying the person is not likely to have any adverse reaction to the vaccine, and if there is any such reaction, then the doctor concerned shall be entirely responsible to manage and administer appropriate medical treatment to the person.

"Why do you (Maharashtra government) need approval? Health is a state subject too. Is the state government doing everything after taking approval from the Centre? Have states like Kerala, Bihar and Jharkhand taken approval from the Union government?"

The affidavit also said family members of the person concerned shall have to provide a written consent before the vaccine is administered to the person at home. In order to avoid vaccine wastage, at least 10 beneficiaries concerned shall be made mandatorily available in the closed proximity as one vial contains 10 doses of vaccine, it further said.

Ganeshotsav: For 2nd year, no giant idols or mega celebrations

Team Absolute | Mumbai

For the second consecutive year, the Maharashtra government has decided to ban mega public celebrations and gigantic idols of Lord Ganesha for the upcoming 10-day Ganeshotsav festival starting September 10.

In view of the anticipated Covid-19 'third wave', the state government on Tuesday issued a detailed notification restricting the height of the idols to up to 4 feet at public marquees and 2 feet for home worship. The government has also stipulated simple, unostentatious celebrations, without crowds and strictly following all Covid-19 protocols during the 10 days which mark the state's biggest public festival in which people from all communities participate.

Instead of the usual cultural or entertainment programmes, the government has recommended giving priority to health camps or blood donation drives or health awareness campaigns for coronavirus, malaria, dengue etc., with highest levels of cleanliness maintained by all the public mandals and organisers of the mega Ganeshotsav groups.

The state government has further suggested that the public 'mandals' switch over to online 'darshan' or relaying the celebrations in the marquees through the local cable television networks, websites or social media platforms, said the notification issued by Sanjay D. Khedekar, Deputy Secretary, Home Department. For the 'Visarjan', children and senior citizens must avoid stepping out and as far as possible, the immersion ceremonies should be performed at artificial ponds which will be created by various public and private bodies, as in 2020, at the height of the first wave of Covid-19.

UDDHAV THACKERAY VISITS RELIANCE HOSPITAL FOR CHECKUP

Mumbai: Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray drove down to Sir H.N. Reliance Foundation Hospital (HNRFH) in south Mumbai for a medical checkup, here on Tuesday morning.

Officials and Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) sources, while describing the hospital visit as of a 'routine' nature, declined to share details on the usually fit and sprightly Thackeray -- who took over as the state CM in November 2019.

An official said that normally, the CM goes to the Lilavati Hospital for his checkups, but since he has now shifted to the 'Varsha' official residence at Malabar Hill, he opted for the HNRFH nearby.

It may be recalled that Thackeray -- who will celebrate his 61st birthday on July 27 -- had undergone an angioplasty in July 2012 for successfully removing some blockages in his heart at the Lilavati Hospital in Bandra. Last year, his wife Rashmi, who was infected with Covid-19, had taken treatment at the HNRFH.

Power reforms: Pvt genco dues head to 4-year low of less than 100 days

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Dues of private coal-based independent power producers (IPPs, or gencos) are expected to wind down to a four-year low of less than 100 days by end of this fiscal, and well below the pre-pandemic levels, CRISIL's analysis of India's 76 GW of operational IPP capacities indicated on Tuesday.

Liquidation of receivables from state power distribution companies (discoms) following the central government's Atmanirbhar stimulus, and better payment cycles on regular billings will drive the improvement, the ratings agency said in its fresh assessment of financial position of discoms.

As per its efforts to strengthen discoms and make them cut losses and modernise operations, the Centre on Monday also came up with a new reform oriented scheme with a total allocation of Rs 3.03 lakh crore.

According to Crisil, the improved financials of discoms, in turn, would support credit profiles.

In the first half of last fiscal, discom liquidity was severely impacted by lower collections because of pandemic-induced lockdowns. Consequently, dues to IPPs ballooned more than 50 per cent by September, from the Rs 48,000 crore seen at the end of the last fiscal. This had started affecting the debt servicing ability of gencos.

The Rs 1.35 lakh crore Atmanirbhar stimulus announced in May 2020 to clear off the dues till June 2020, came in as a much needed support.

Under the stimulus, disbursements cumulating to Rs 1.05 lakh crore are expected to be provided by the end of this fiscal, of which nearly 40-45 per cent will be to clear dues of thermal IPPs. About Rs 30,000 crore has already been disbursed in previous fiscal which arrested the rise in receivables to an estimated 125 days as of March 2021 (compared with 117 days as of March 2020).

This factor in incremental delays of 10 days by discoms, which may arise due to the second pandemic wave.

That said, sustenance of payment cycles would largely be contingent on discoms being able to pay their dues regularly, which in turn, will depend on their own financial health. To ensure that, implementation of structural reforms such as timely release of subsidies and operational improvements through installation of smart meters is a requisite, the agency said.

EX HM ANIL DESHMUKH SKIPS ED SUMMONS ONCE AGAIN

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Former Maharashtra home minister and Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) leader Anil Deshmukh on Tuesday once again skipped the summons of the Enforcement Directorate (ED) citing Covid pandemic, in connection with its probe into the allegations of the alleged bribery. He said that he was ready to join the probe through any "video or audio" medium.

Deshmukh had skipped the ED summons last week also following searches at his residence in Nagpur. He had sought more time to appear before the financial probe agency.

In his three page letter to the ED, Deshmukh said, "I am a septuagenarian, about 72 years of age, suffering from various co-morbidities including hypertension and cardiac problems, etc. I have already exposed my person to some extent on June 25 in my long interaction with you spanning over several hours during the course of the search and recording my statement. Thus, it may not be prudent or desirable to appear in person today and I am sending my authorised representative." The NCP leader also said that he would furnish all information and documents sought by the ED after the agency provided him a copy of the Enforcement Case Information Report (ECIR) filed by it in the case. He further mentioned that the ED summons "do not clarify" the purpose of his personal appearance before it.

On June 26, the ED arrested Deshmukh's personal secretary Sanjeev Palande and personal assistant Kundan Shinde in connection with an alleged 'hafta' case. In its remand copy of the two officials of Deshmukh, the ED said that over Rs 4 crore was collected from bar owners between December 2020 and February 2021 was routed to Deshmukh's charitable trust in Nagpur, through four shell companies in Delhi.

Deshmukh (72), is facing an ED investigation on the basis of the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) case as the fallout of the allegations made in a letter penned by former Mumbai Police Commissioner Param Bir Singh, who is now the

Lightning strikes claim 2,000 lives annually in India: Experts

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Thunderstorm, accompanied by lightning strikes, is the single-biggest natural killer in the country causing more than 2,000 deaths each year, according to the top experts from the IMD and the NDMA.

India has witnessed an increasing death toll and damages due to lightning bolts over the past few years, said Rajendra Singh, Member, National Disaster Management Authority (NDMA), while addressing a national-level workshop on the issue organised by the Indian Meteorological Society, Indian Institute of Tropical Meteorology and National Centre for Medium Range Weather Forecasting.

"Despite improved understanding, monitoring and prediction capabilities brought about by scientific and technological progress, lightning and thunderstorms still cause widespread loss of life and property every year in the country," said Singh.

Terming lightning hits as "a serious threat", Mrutyunjay Mohapatra, the Director-General of India Meteorological Department (IMD), said this happens primarily due to increased exposure of people, especially farmers, fishermen and labourers who remain outdoors for reasons of livelihood. "Among the reasons identified by the experts is a communication gap which does not result in last mile connectivity," said Mohapatra. Addressing disaster experts and managers from Maharashtra, Odisha, West Bengal, Kerala, Bihar, Uttar Pradesh and other states, Singh said that loss of human lives and property due to lightning strikes is significantly higher, and it is more than the number of people killed in tornadoes or hurricanes globally. With the joint initiative of scientists from the IMD, IITM and NCMR-WF, a Lightning Warning System was developed in 2018, having a location-specific forecast of up to 48 hours about the occurrence of thunderstorms, lightning strikes, squalls, gusty winds or hailstorms. Besides, the IMD has around 30 radars around the country which provide weather updates every 10 minutes along with the Indian Space Research Organisation's (ISRO) satellites relaying information about convective clouds every 15 minutes from INSAT-3DR, said Mohapatra. The country is now capable of having 'real-time' information about lightning updated every 5 minutes to alert the people about the potential threats.

The models developed by the Ministry of Earth Sciences are very definite and utilised by forecasters around the country to provide detailed information for each district in the country every three hours.

Mohapatra said that the Damini App provides location specific data which remains valid for half-an-hour through 1,085 weather stations around the country, which shall be enhanced to reach out and cover every block and sub-blocks right up to the village panchayat level. He said that economic losses occur with cultivated fields and buildings, infrastructure like communication networks, power plants and so on, which are often destroyed by lightning strikes, and occasionally even igniting potentially devastating wildfires.

Maha's longest, widest road tunnel sees light of day on Mumbai-Nagpur expressway

Team Absolute | Mumbai

In a significant achievement, Maharashtra's longest and widest road tunnel saw the light of day on the upcoming "Hindu Hridayasmarat Balasaheb Thackeray Maharashtra Samruddhi Mahamarg", or the Greenfield project of Mumbai-Nagpur Super Communication Expressway, officials said here on Tuesday.

A huge roar of jubilation rent the air after the final blast on the tunnel, marking the culmination of hard labour under the ever-looming threat of the Covid-19 pandemic and lockdown, by a team of engineers and workers of Afcons Infrastructure Ltd, Shapoorji Pallonji Group.

"The tunnel is 7.78 kms long, in two tubes with a total width of 35 metres (17.50 metres in each tube) located between Igatpuri (Nashik) and Vashala (Thane), in a thickly forested hilly region," AIL Project Manager and Leader Sekhar Das told reporter. The road tunnel is part of the 13.10 kms long Package 14 handled by AIL for the Maharashtra State Road Development Corporation (MSRDC) and was completed three months ahead of schedule.

The 701 km-long east-west expressway linking the state capital Mumbai with its second capital Nagpur, is expected to be partially operational by September 2021 and fully completed by May 2022, slashing the travel time between the two cities by half from the existing 16 hours.

EDITOR'S SPECS

Cocktail Vaccination

Taking the first dose of Pfizer Covid vaccine and then AstraZeneca for the second can provide good protection against the pandemic virus, a study has found. The Com-Cov trial, led by researchers from the University of Oxford, looked at the efficacy of either two doses of Pfizer, two of AstraZeneca, or one of them followed by the other. The results showed that all combinations worked well, priming the immune system, the BBC reported. The study included 850 volunteers aged 50 and above, who were given the doses four weeks apart. The team found that people who took AstraZeneca shot followed by Pfizer showed higher antibodies and T cell responses than those who took Pfizer followed by AstraZeneca. Both of these mixes induced higher antibodies than two doses of AstraZeneca, while the highest antibody response was seen after two doses of Pfizer, and the highest T cell response from AstraZeneca followed by Pfizer. But, they do offer such flexibility for vaccine rollout in the future. Two doses are important to give the fullest protection and teach the body to make antibodies and T cells to block and kill Covid. Meanwhile, a pre-print study suggests that a third dose of AstraZeneca vaccine, given more than six months after the second, boosts the immune system, the BBC reported. But, there is currently no data to support that a Covid-19 vaccine booster shot is needed for the general population, according to the US Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. An extra dose may be needed for more-vulnerable groups, such as older adults or organ transplant patients.

THE COMING ANARCHY IN SRI LANKA

Asanga Abeyagoonasekera

In stateless societies, the rule of law is usually suppressed. In such societies, people turn into unfree pawns as a result of worsening political conditions. The arrival of anarchy to the island nation of Sri Lanka is due to a series of factors. It is mainly driven by the worsening domestic political environment, curtailment of democracy, weaponising and the exertion of undue influence on courts and judiciary. The recent political victimisation of neutral agencies is an attempt to rewrite rules by its politicians. In this backdrop the growing human rights conditions and arbitrary pardoning of criminals will weaken the rule of law. Such a dangerous tilt, away from democratic forms of governance will drag the nation towards an autocratic footing. Democracies can be dissolved in spectacular fashion like from a coup d'etat or a less dramatic but equally destructive manner," argues Steven Levitz and Daniel Ziblatt in their book 'How Democracies Die'. The slow and equally destructive death of democracy has arrived in Sri Lanka. Sri Lankans were confined to their homes during the lockdown following the government's 'disciplinary project', while the government was engaged in releasing a convict using a prison side door. "The pardoning of Duminda Silva, whose conviction the Supreme Court had upheld in 2018, undermines rule of law," explains US Ambassador to Sri Lanka Alaina B Teplitz, referring to the Presidential pardon given to the former Member of Parliament and ally of President Gotabaya Rajapaksa. The former Justice Minister Thalatha Athukorala questions, "Today, those found guilty of the most serious crimes in our law enjoy presidential protection while the judges and police officers who brought them to justice have targets on their backs." The Presidential pardon comes when the Sri Lankan government faces multiple challenges, especially weeks before the European Union (EU) has pinpointed the abuses of the Prevention of Terrorism Act (PTA) and growing human rights concerns in the country. A warning to withdraw its GSP+ concession is already on the table. The Office of the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR) condemning the decision expressed concern that "Presidential pardon of Duminda Silva, a former MP convicted of the murder of a fellow politician, is another example of selective, arbitrary granting of pardons that weakens rule of law and undermines accountability." Sri Lanka's Bar association (BASL) questioned President Rajapaksa on the decision of the selection method and raised severe concerns on the administration's position towards rule of law. The decision from the government was not an ad hoc decision. The release was carried out along with the release of several other PTA detainees. Why was such a decision taken especially at a time of significant external pressure? Human Rights Concerns In a lengthy televised address on June 25, days after the release of the former MP, Rajapaksa stated his progress in his development plan and continuous commitment to rule of law, not referring to the PTA nor the pardoning act. The new European Union Parliament adopting a resolution to withdraw the Generalised Scheme of Preferences (GSP+) is a clear warning to the Sri Lankan regime. European Parliament adopted a resolution on June 10 calling for the repeal of Sri Lanka's draconian Prevention of Terrorism Act (PTA). Further, the resolution highlights Sri Lanka's 'alarming path towards the recurrence of grave human rights violations...accelerating militarisation of civilian governmental functions, the reversal of important constitutional safeguards, political obstruction of accountability, exclusionary rhetoric, intimidation of civil society, and the use of anti-terrorism laws'. The regime has failed to address the human rights concerns adequately highlighted multiple times, and procrastination in its process is the reason for this action by EU Parliament. Earlier in March, the government rejected the UNHRC resolution, giving a clear signal of the government's position of 'no external interference' towards the reconciliation process. Ironically the real concern of many in the country is the absence of a reconciliation process. The departure from the internationally accepted process and continuous denial by the state on minority concerns is evident. The government has already lost its direction from a progressive path towards a more autocratic posture. Jehan Perera correctly observes this ground reality, explaining that "The reality on the ground is that wounds of the country's 30 year war have not healed. The attempts to promote healing have lacked commitment. Thousands of acres of land in the North and East still continue to be under military control. This is land that was once lived on and cultivated by Tamil people. Today it is being used by the military, some of it being cultivated, some of it used for recreation purposes including hotels, and some of it for security purposes. Thousands of families still await news of the whereabouts of their loved ones despite an Office on Missing Persons which has yet to give a ruling on even a single missing person although four years have elapsed since it was set up. There are also still a few hundred persons in detention for a large number of years, some exceeding a decade in prison without trial." The government's denial and non-commitment will worsen the relationship with the EU and other western democracies. GSP Benefits Nearly 60 per cent of Sri Lankan exports benefit from preferential terms of trade from the EU's GSP+ and US GSP schemes. The EU is Sri Lanka's largest export market with 30 per cent of the total, while the US is the largest single export market at 27% of the total merchandise exports.

Sri Lanka's exports, including apparel, fisheries, ceramic, and rubber that uses the GSP concession, will be directly impacted. Sri Lanka has duty free access to 7,200 products with the EU GSP+ Concession. It is estimated that the withdrawal of this concession would wipe out a significant chunk of foreign exchange earned through exports. "We are concerned with the EU Parliament's resolution," says the Sri Lanka's Export Development Board Chairman. The present state of the economy with the pandemic has been a challenge to Sri Lankan exports 'especially to the apparel industry' admitted even by President Gotabaya in his recent address, and GSP withdrawal will add significant pressure to the Sri Lankan economy. The government's senior Ministers have ignored the GSP+ withdrawal warning saying that they are ready to move forward without the concession. However, K.D. Vimanga, a policy analyst at Advocata, an economic think-tank, explains that the government needs to understand the merits of GSP+, and it is vital to retain the concession, when at present the country is facing a severe economic crisis, especially with serious issues in debt repayments, lack of foreign exchange and a balance of payment crisis. "Understand the merits of it," warns the analyst. Democratic Stability President Gotabaya's regime has developed a norm towards weaponizing unfavourable outcomes towards their favour catering to the majoritarian Sinhalese Buddhist voter base. The outcome at the UNHRC resolution in Geneva in March, the EU GSP+ saying we can do without it or releasing a convicted parliamentary member for murder in the name of justice, is a move in the same direction. The political strategy of this administration is to cater to the majoritarian voter base by making claims of protecting the nation's sovereignty from foreign interference. This narrow minded political strategy does not fit all cases when certain decisions have no relevance. The very act of convicting one regime and arbitrary pardoning from another regime is a sign of weakness, not a strength in the process. According to a senior political scientist in Sri Lanka, "in the coming months, Sri Lanka's judicial sector will undergo significant reforms along with continuous interference despite a promise to amend the constitution". When assessing Yale Professor Juan Linz's work on 'The Breakdown of Democratic Regimes' and 'How regimes paint a rather bleak picture of their ability to survive', the Sri Lankan case provides ample evidence of the regimes' democratic political behaviour to survive. The public's loss of trust in its democratic institutions is a visible characteristic that can have a long-term impact on the country's stability. An essential ingredient according to Linz is 'the belief in the legitimacy of democratic institutions as a factor increasing the likelihood of stability in a democracy'. The coming anarchy to the entire nation is in the breakdown of its democracy. This for sure will worsen economic conditions. NO DECISION MADE ON EXTENSION OF DEAL WITH IAEA: IRAN

Tehran | Agencies

Iran has yet to decide on the extension of an earlier agreement with the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA), Saeed Khatibzadeh, the spokesman for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Tehran said. "The agreement with the IAEA was to address some of the agency's concerns within the framework of a parliament's bill. We agreed not to collect the cameras, but not to provide the agency with information and what is being recorded," Khatibzadeh said while addressing a briefing on Monday. Asked if there is an expiration date for clearing the IAEA's camera data installed in some Iranian nuclear facilities, he said that Iran has not made any decision about the cameras and agreement with the agency, Xinhua reported. Iran's Strategic Action Plan to Counter Sanctions was passed by Parliament in December 2020, requiring among other measures the government to stop implementing the Additional Protocol to the Non-Proliferation Treaty by February 23, in case the US sanctions were not lifted. The IAEA and Iranian officials reached a temporary understanding in February to keep the the agency's monitoring cameras under Iran's supervision for a period of three months up to May 24, and deliver the records to the agency only after sanctions on the country are lifted.

EX-S.AFRICAN PREZ SENTENCED TO JAIL

Johannesburg: The South African Constitutional Court on Tuesday found former President Jacob Zuma guilty of contempt of court and sentenced him to a 15-month jail term. The country's State Capture Inquiry accused Zuma of accepting bribes, gratification and unauthorised payments from other parties in relation to the procurement of the arms worth billions in 1999.

Israeli FM lands in UAE for 1st official visit

Abu Dhabi | Agencies

Israeli Foreign Minister Yair Lapid landed in the United Arab Emirates (UAE) on Tuesday, becoming the first senior official from the Jewish state to visit to the Gulf nation. Lapid's office said he has been accompanied by a delegation of senior Israeli officials, including Foreign Ministry Director-General Alon Ushpiz, reports Xinhua news agency. Upon his arrival, he said in a tweet: "Making history: Proud to represent the state of Israel on its first official visit to the United Arab Emirates. Thanks for the warm welcome." During his two-day trip, he will inaugurate the Israeli embassy in the UAE's capital

Abu Dhabi and the consulate in Dubai, according to the office. Lapid, the centrist leader of the Yesh Atid party, was the driving force behind the forming of Israel's new cross-partisan coalition government which was approved by Parliament on June 14. Israel and the UAE signed a US-brokered normalisation agreement in September 2020. The UAE thus became the third Arab country after Egypt and Jordan to agree to formally normalise its ties with Israel.

2 HURT IN HUGE BLAZE NEAR TRAIN STATION IN LONDON

London: At least two people were injured and several buildings evacuated after a fire broke out near London's Elephant and Castle train station.

Smoke could be seen pouring into the sky from beneath the railway arches at the south London station and up toward large residential tower blocks, as horrified commuters watched on Monday, Xinhua news agency reported citing the BBC as saying. Police said the incident was not terror related. A police officer and a member of the public both needed treatment for smoke inhalation, said the BBC. Bangkok | Agencies

Thailand is readying to kick off the 'Phuket Sandbox' campaign on Thursday to reopen the country's largest resort island to vaccinated international tourists, a top official said here.

In a statement on Monday, Yuthasak Supasorn, governor of the Tourism Authority of Thailand (TAT) said that hotels and other tourism-related venues throughout the island province have been prepared for the reopening campaign whereas up to 80 per cent of Phuket's residents will complete their vaccination against Covid-19 by Wednesday, Xinhua news agency reported. An estimated 400 to 500 foreign tourists are scheduled to arrive in Phuket on Thursday and many more are expected to follow at later dates, he said. The 'Phuket Sandbox' program was approved on June 4 at a meeting of the Centre for the Economic Situation Administration chaired by Prime Minister Prayut Chan-o-cha. Under the program, foreign tourists will be allowed to enter and move freely on the island, provided they are fully vaccinated against the virus and tested negative. They can travel to the rest parts of Thailand after staying on the island for 14 nights. The country has also planned to welcome back vaccinated foreign visitors in nine other provinces, including the capital Bangkok and popular tourist destinations Pattaya and Chiang Mai, in the third or fourth quarter of the year. But the development comes as Thailand is struggling to contain a months-long surge in infections. On Monday, the country reported 5,406 Covid-19 cases, the third highest daily tally since the pandemic began, raising the total infection tally to 249,853, with 1,934 deaths.

Britney Spears' sister Jamie Lynn insists she 'loves & supports' the singer

Los Angeles | Agencies

Britney Spears' sister Jamie Lynn broke her silence on Monday, after almost a week of staying silent about the singer's conservatorship hearing. The 30-year-old admitted she didn't feel it was her "place" to talk about it until Britney had said everything she'd wanted to say.

Jamie Lynn had been under fire for her alleged role in keeping Britney, 39, under the "abusive" court order and for remaining silent when fans have asked her to speak up.

She decided to break her silence and speak out on the matter in a series of Instagram Story videos on Monday.

The Sweet Magnolias actress told fans that she didn't think it was her "place" to say anything until Britney had had her chance to speak.

She shared in the video, "But now that she's very clearly spoken and said what she needed to say, I feel like I can follow her lead and say what I need to say."

Jamie Lynn continued: "I think it's extremely clear that since the day I was born I've only loved and adored and supported my sister."

INDIAN WOMEN LOOK TO AVOID SERIES LOSS VS ENGLAND IN 2ND ODI

Taunton | Agencies

Indian women's cricket team will look to avoid a series loss against England when they take the field for the second of the three ODIs here on Wednesday. The Indians were hammered by eight wickets in the first match after they failed to put up a competitive total.

India's dashing opening batters Smriti Mandhana and youngster Shafali Verma failed to provide India the cracking start that was expected of them. It left the others with a bit too much to do. Even as skipper Mithali Raj tried to salvage some pride, scoring 72 a day after she completed 22 years in international cricket, India lacked the hard-hitters who could increase the run rate and take the team to a strong total.

The 201-run total was too little for the English who coasted to an eight-wicket victory with ease.

The visitors may also have to rethink their bowling strategy. While the new-ball bowlers couldn't provide early breakthroughs, the spin trio proved to be expensive and looked ineffective. Left-arm spinner Ekta Bisht, off-spinner Deepti Sharma and batting all-rounder Harmanpreet Kaur, who too bowls off-break, conceded runs at above six an over. They leaked 122 runs in 19.5 overs.

England, on the other hand, look a pretty balanced side. They have a good seam attack led by pacers

Katherine Brunt and Anya Shrubsole. Their left-arm spinner Sophie Ecclestone too looks very effective and has continued her good work from the Test matches.

The Indian bowlers have to worry about England's batting too. Both Tammy Beaumont (unbeaten 87) and Natalie Sciver (unbeaten 74) shared a century partnership and could not be removed.

Indian Women Squad: Mithali Raj (captain), Smriti Mandhana, Harmanpreet Kaur, Punam Raut, Priya Punia, Deepti Sharma, Jemimah Rodrigues, Shafali Verma, Sneha Rana, Taniya Bhatia, Indrani Roy, Jhulan Goswami, Shikha Pandey, Pooja Vastrakar, Arundhati Reddy, Poonam Yadav, Ekta Bisht, Radha Yadav.

Gymnast Pranati wins quota for Olympic Games

Team Absolute | New Delhi

Pranati Nayak, the Asian Championships bronze-medallist in vault, earned a quota to compete at next month's Tokyo Olympics, the International Gymnastics Federation (FIG) officially announced on Monday.

Pranati got a quota place through reallocation since the Asian Championships, scheduled to be held in Tokyo in May, was cancelled due to Covid-19 pandemic. "We have got official confirmation from the International governing body in gymnastics on Monday evening that Pranati has been reallocated continental quota place to compete at the Olympics," Pranati's coach Lakhan Sharma told IANS from Kolkata. On May 1, it was reported that Pranati will be reallocated continental quota by the FIG to compete in Olympics on the basis of her performance in the 2019 Asian Championships as several Olympic qualification competitions were cancelled or postponed due to the pandemic. The 26-year-old gymnast from Kolkata had won bronze in vault at the 2019 Asian Championships held in Mongolia. "Pranati was reallocated continental quota place as she had won bronze in the 2019 Asian Championships. Competitions in 2020 were disrupted by the pandemic," added Sharma.

Since the quota is by name (nominative), it can't be changed.

STERLING, KANE SEAL QUARTER-FINALS SPOT WITH LATE GOALS AGAINST GERMANY

London | Agencies

England beat Germany 2-0 in their Round of 16 match at Wembley to qualify for the quarter-finals here on Tuesday. Raheem Sterling and Harry Kane late goals in the match ended decades of hurt at the hands of their bitter rivals.

Sterling struck with 15 minutes left in a tense last 16 tie at Wembley before Kane clinched England's first knockout stage victory over Germany since 1966.

It was England's first knockout round victory inside 90-minutes at the Euros and came after midfielder Jack Grealish was introduced in the 69th minute.

Six minutes later, after a swift passing move, left wing-back Luke Shaw slipped the ball across the face of the goal for Sterling to slide in. Grealish was the direct provider for England's second, crossing from the left for Kane to beat goalkeeper Manuel Neuer with a stooping header.

Earlier, England keeper Jordan Pickford did well to keep out Timo Werner before tipping over a stinging volley from Kai Havertz.

At the other end, Mats Hummels denied Kane with a last-ditch clearance just before halftime.

England needed a tone-setting moment to ease their visible anxiety early on and Sterling provided it as he drove forward for a 25-yard blast that forced a fine save from Manuel Neuer.

With Harry Maguire winning a series of thunderous headers and tackles and Bukayo Saka probing intelligently on the right flank, England gradually took control.
