Team Absolute | New Delhi

The Centre on Tuesday asked the States and Union Territories to enhance Covid-19 testing in a strategic manner to track spread of the pandemic.

"Testing remains a key and crucial component of the framework," Union Health Ministry said in a letter to the states and UTs, adding that "It is seen from available data on the ICMR portal that testing has declined in many states and Union Territories."

R-DAY: SECURITY BEEFED UP IN DELHI AFTER INTEL INPUT OF POSSIBLE TERROR STRIKE

Ujwal Jalali | New Delhi

Delhi Police have strengthened the security arrangements in the national capital after they received intelligence inputs of a possible terror attack in the city ahead of the Republic Day.

Top Delhi Police sources told correspondent that strict security arrangements have been put in place across the national capital. "On such occasions [Republic Day], Delhi Police always raise the alert. We increase our visibility, presence and checking to counter any threat," a senior police officer said.

Delhi Police Commissioner Rakesh Asthana said in an order that as per reports, certain criminal or anti-social elements or terrorists inimical to India may pose a threat to the safety of the general public, dignitaries and vital installations.

In view of this, Asthana also put a ban on the use of sub-conventional aerial platforms like para-gliders, para-motors, hang gliders, unmanned aerial vehicles (UAVs), unmanned aircraft systems (UAS), micro-light aircraft, remotely-piloted aircraft, hot air balloons, small-size powered aircraft, quadcopters or even para-jumping from aircraft etc. "The safety of the people is our topmost priority. The police personnel have been deployed on roads to intensify patrolling and checking at pickets for area dominance," the officer said.

Moreover, recovery of an Improvised Explosive Device (IED) on January 14 from the Ghazipur flower market area has already raised the concerns of the Delhi Police.

Deputy Commissioner of Police (New Delhi district), Deepak Yadav, told IANS that adequate arrangements have been made in and around the Rajpath ahead of the Republic Day. "Around 300 cameras with face-recognition facility have been installed around the Rajpath to thwart any threat beforehand," Yadav said.

The hotels in New Delhi district area are also being checked by the cops. In view of the existing threat, Yadav said that specially-trained commandos of Delhi Police and paramilitary forces would be deployed to counter any threat.

Apart from the police commandos, assault teams of SWAT, Special Cell and hit squads of NSG would also be deployed," Yadav said.

As the usage of drones to carry out terror attacks has risen in the recent past, the DCP said any flying object that breaches the security cordons in and around the area of Rajpath will be taken care of.

"An anti-drone team will be deployed to take care of that," he said.

Meanwhile, around 1,000 drones, 75 military aircraft and tableaux of 12 states and Union Territories and nine ministries will be part of the Republic Day celebrations at Rajpath.

It will begin at 10.30 a.m. in place of 10 a.m. to let visibility improve by the time the flypast takes place.

The celebrations will begin from January 23 to mark the 125th birth anniversary of Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose. It will end on January 30 to commemorate Martyrs' Day.

PATNA | Agencies

Facing criticism over poor implementation of the liquor ban, the Nitish Kumar government in Bihar is likely to give some relaxation to the violators.

According to a top official of the JDU, the state government is ready to review this issue and a proposal is likely to be put on table in the upcoming budget session of the Bihar Vidhan Sabha.

As per the proposal, the violators who are caught in drunken state can be let off after paying penalty on the spot. Though, it is not applicable on repeat offenders. among habitual drinkers in Bihar.

He said that the Chief Minister is under huge political pressure after a series of spurious liquor tragedies in different districts in the last four months that have taken the lives of more than 80 persons and many others have lost their eyesight.

After some coaxing from the healthcare worker, she gives in and steps down. The vaccination team was visiting the Mankari village of the district. The woman reportedly ran away from her house and climbed a tree to hide from the doctor administering it to her. The doctor is seen chasing her and standing under the tree, waiting for her to get down as other villagers urge her to do the same. She finally does step down and gets her shot.

MINISTERS SHOULD PLAY A LEAD ROLE IN VACCINATION WORK: CM CHOUHAN

Prevention, Treatment and Management of Covid Should Be Reviewed Regularly, Chief Minister Addresses Ministers Prior to Cabinet Meeting

Team Absolute | Bhopal

Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan has said that the ministers should keep an eye on the health infrastructure in the districts. Keeping taking stock of the necessary arrangements in the hospitals. Vaccination work is satisfactory, but it has to be done cent per cent. No person should miss a vaccine dose. Keeping an eye on the situation of infection in the third wave of Covid, economic activities should be conducted with full precautions. The works and livelihoods of the poor should not be affected, everyone should adopt precautions of wearing masks and keeping mutual distance. Ministers should play a leadership role with public cooperation in the control of Covid as done in both the earlier waves. Chief Minister Chouhan was addressing the ministers before the meeting of the Council of Ministers at Mantralaya. Chief Minister Chouhan said that the ministers should continue to take stock of the works and infrastructural arrangements for prevention, treatment and management of corona. Ministers and other public representatives should also keep an eye on the home isolation system. It should be ensured that the health information of infected patients is taken daily by the doctors over the phone.

Chief Minister Chouhan said that Madhya Pradesh is in the category of big states, having successful control of Covid. In other states where the positivity is above 10, in the country it is 14.75, while in Madhya Pradesh it is only 7 percent. The state has given the first dose of vaccine to 97 percent and the second dose to 90.6. Despite this, we do not have to be careless, we together have to take full care of and ensure treatment of the citizens who have been infected. Their morale is also to be boosted. Using the model of people-participation of Covid control of Madhya Pradesh, work is being done to bring the common people out of the problem even in the present conditions. Everyone's cooperation in this work will lead to success.

Deaths due to alcohol continues in MP

In Madhya Pradesh, the number of deaths due to alcohol consumption does not seem to be stopping. The new case is from Bhind district, where three people have died after allegedly consuming spurious liquor. Before this, many places including Morena and Ujjain have lost their lives by drinking alcohol.

Team Absolute | Bhopal

In Bhind district, three people including two brothers have died due to drinking alcohol. The real brothers along with their other relatives had made and consumed alcohol through chemical substances. Later, both the brothers died, while another also died due to the consumption of alcohol. In this case the in-charge of two police stations has been suspended.

It is to be known that earlier there were major accidents in Ujjain in October 2020 and in Morena in January 2021 due to drinking spurious liquor. While 14 laborers died in Ujjain, 20 people lost their lives in Morena. After that, there have been deaths due to drinking alcohol in many other areas as well. After the Morena incident, the government had removed the Collector and the SP, as well as announced that the Collector and the SP would be considered guilty for such incidents and action would be taken against them.

The Congress has taken a jibe at the government's earlier announcements. Attacking the state president's media coordinator Narendra Saluja, he said, "After Ujjain-Mandsaur-Morena-Indore, now once again a case of death of three people due to poisonous liquor has come to light in Bhind. Uma Bharti disappeared after announcing the campaign of prohibition, the same Shivraj government is continuously showing love for liquor and the havoc of liquor mafia continues and deaths due to poisonous liquor continue.

He further said, the government had announced that the collector-IG-SP of the district where the sale of spurious liquor was found would be guilty, then why blame only two police station in-charges? How long will the government save the Excise Minister, when will it hold him

Hybrid education is an opportunity emerging from disaster. He said that solutions to the challenges of providing quality education to the disadvantaged sections of rural under-privileged areas should be found in hybrid education. Initiatives should be taken to arrange education through Virtual Reality for the students of disadvantaged sections and areas. Efforts are also necessary to provide new opportunities for education to the disadvantaged sections and increase investment.

Governor Patel said that Prime Minister Narendra Modi has given an opportunity to create a future generation suitable for the needs of the 21st century and the core sentiments of Indian Sanatan culture through the National Education Policy 2020. In view of the employment prospects in the global scenario, the need of the present time is to pay special attention to skill upgradation in education. It is important for students to develop an understanding of the macroeconomic contexts of the country and the global economy. Social behavior and leadership skills should also be made a part of education in the curriculum. Such training programmes and content should be included in the curriculum which gives the students a holistic view of seeing the unity in diversity of our glorious culture.

RHYTHMIC WORDS OF WAR

BJP MP and actor Ravi Kishan's famous dialogue, "Zindagi jhand ba, phir bhi ghamand ba" (life is terrible, but still, you are arrogant), is now being used to counter his party campaign by another Bhojpuri singer Neha Singh Rathore. Ravi Kishan, in a rap song released on Saturday, made an attempt to woo voters ahead of the Assembly elections. In the number, he says: "Yogi ke sarkar ba, vikas ke bahaar ba, sadakan ke jaal ba, kaam bemisal ba, apradhi ke jel ba, bijli relam rel ba, Corona gayil har ba, UP mein sab ba." Roughly translated, the song says: "This is Yogi's government, there is development, roads, criminals in jail, no Covid, electricity everywhere - UP has everything." A day later, on Sunday, Bhojpuri singer Neha Singh Rathore released a song titled 'UP Mei Ka Ba' (What is there in UP). In her rap song, she criticises the Yogi Adityanath government over issues such as handling of the pandemic, Lakhimpur Kheri violence and the Hathras incident. Responding to Ravi Kishan's praise for the BJP government in Uttar Pradesh, she says in her song: "Corona se lakhon mar gayil le, laashan se Ganga bhar gayil be, kaafan nochat kukur bilar ba, ae baba, UP mein ka ba? (Covid killed lakhs, the Ganga was filled with corpses, dog were snatching shrouds - what is there in UP?)" Referring to the Lakhimpur incident in which a Minister's son allegedly mowed down four farmers with his SUV, she raps: "Mantri ke betuwa badi rangdar ba, kisanon ke chhati pe rondat motor car ba, ae chaukidar, bolo ke zimmedar ba? (The minister's son has an attitude, he runs over farmers in his car. 'Chaukidar', who's responsible for this?)" She ends her song with the famous dialogue Ravi Kishan is known for -- "Zindagi jhand ba, phir bhi ghamand ba".

IT'S BACK TO THE SEASON OF 'AAYA RAM GAYA RAM' POLITICS

Deepika Bhan

As the election to the five state assemblies draws near, the pace of political activities naturally has become turbocharged. Not that rallies or road shows are happening, neither are posters and banners flooding the streets. The movement is of politicians shifting alliances in search of pastures that they believe can fetch them the necessary greens.

The proverbial 'Aaya Ram Gaya Ram' is here again, and no matter what the law says, or what the sentiment and goal of the law is, the crossovers continue. It is not common to see politicians who have been ministers for full five years suddenly decide to exit their parent party and join the rivals. In recent days, Uttar Pradesh, Goa and Punjab -- three of the five states going to the polls -- has this drama unfolding almost daily. It must surely have made the voters sit up and ponder.

In Goa, political defections continue unabated. At least nine MLAs resigned their seats in the state assembly to join other parties. A Minister in Chief Minister Pramod Sawant's cabinet, Michael Lobo, switched over to the Congress, which is said to have promised tickets to him (Lobo), his wife and some of his associates. Senior Goa Congress leader and former MLA Victor Gonsalves left the party to join Mamata Banerjee's TMC. The reason for his resignation is said to be the induction of Lobo into the Congress. However, Gonsalves has himself been party-hopping, from the Congress to Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) to Goa Forward Party (GFP) in 2017, to the Congress in 2020, before settling in Trinamool.

Uttar Pradesh is considered to be one of the toughest political territories in the country, where political equations and affiliations are dominated by caste and religion. And the state has its own share of 'Aaya Ram Gaya Ram' stories. At least 20 leaders, including ministers, have jumped ship so far. Just ahead of the election, Swami Prasad Maurya, a minister in the Yogi Adityanath government, announced his resignation on Twitter and joined the Samajwadi Party. After serving his complete five-year term as minister, he accused the BJP of neglecting Dalits, OBCs and farmers.

Maurya had switched over to the BJP from the Bahujan Samaj Party, months ahead of the 2017 Assembly elections, accusing Mayawati of corruption. Before joining the BSP in 1996, he had a stint in the Janata Dal. Soon after Maurya's resignation from the BJP, two more ministers -- Dara Singh Chauhan and Dharam Singh Saini -- followed in his footsteps.

Saini was with the BSP before joining the BJP in 2016 and now has moved to SP with Maurya. Chauhan started with the BSP in 1996, then went to SP and got elected as a Rajya Sabha MP, returned to the BSP ahead of 2009 general elections and was appointed leader of the BSP parliamentary party in the Lok Sabha, switched to the BJP in 2015, and now has again moved on. As the exodus continued, the BJP was also inducting 'other' leaders -- SP's Hariom Yadav and Dharampal Singh, and Naresh Saini of the Congress, for instance. In Punjab, too, politicians are hopping around from one party to another in search of better deals. The Congress' Dalit face and former minister Joginder Singh Mann resigned and joined AAP after accusing the party of "patronising the tainted and giving space to opportunists". Six days after joining the BJP, MLA Balwinder Laddi rejoined the Congress on January 2. It is being said that he returned after being assured of a party ticket in the assembly elections. Harjot Kamal, Congress MLA from Moga, was said to be unhappy after his seat was given to actor Sonu Sood's sister Malvika, just weeks ahead of the state elections. A "humiliated" Kamal joined the BJP on Saturday. Congress MLA Fateh Jung Singh Bajwa, brother of senior party leader and MP

Partap Bajwa, also switched sides, fearing he may lose the candidature this time.

In Uttarakhand, AAP leader Ravindra Jugran quit the party and rejoined the ruling BJP, saying it was like a homecoming for him. He had earlier been in BJP for 25 years, but had joined AAP a year ago. Former Uttarakhand Congress president Kishore Upadhyay was reported to have met some BJP leaders because he is said to be unhappy with Harish Rawat spearheading the party's election campaign. Upadhyay was removed from all party posts on the charge of committing 'anti-party activities'.

Similar examples of jumping ships can be multiplied. The 'Aaya Rams Gaya Rams' may evoke awkward responses, but the fact is that they are a striking feature in the political space. Some may dismiss them as being disgustingly opportunistic, others may even regard them as loyalty shifts dictated by legitimate political reasons. The fact is that 'Aya Rams Gaya Rams' continue to exist even in 2022, a good 55 years after an independent MLA, Gaya Lal, from Haryana in 1967 switched two parties in a day and three in 15 days -- joined the Congress, then the United Front, and finally, back to the Congress to become a part of the new government. According to contemporary news reports, Congress leader Rao Birender Singh addressed a press conference in handigarh with Gaya Lal by his side.

few days later, the then Union Home Minister, Yashwantrao Chavan, used the phrase 'Aaya Ram, Gaya Ram' in Parliament as he took a jibe at Gaya Lal. In June 1979, Bhajan Lal formed the Janata Party government in Haryana. However, when Indira Gandhi won the Lok Sabha elections in 1980, he joined the Congress along with all his MLAs. This is also regarded as one of the worst instances of 'Aaya Ram Gaya Ram' politics. The Rajiv Gandhi government in 1985 introduced the anti-defection law to stop the jumping jacks from ditching their mother parties. A Constitution Amendment Bill that included the Tenth Schedule to enact the anti-defection law was passed. An MLA or MP who switches parties can avoid the anti-defection law, only if one-third of the party legislators also resign; otherwise he or she would stand disqualified. Although 'Aaya Ram Gaya Ram' politics has become uncommon after the anti-defection law came into force, it keeps surfacing every now and then. The phrase is an idiom that became popular in the late 1960s, but has a deep political history laced with suspicion.

The openness on social media and the unparalleled access to all sorts of information today gives an advantage to the people and it is this that the turncoats, the 'Aaya Rams Gaya Rams', need to fear.

MORE VOLCANIC UPEHAVALS LIKELY TO FOLLOW, WARNS AUSSIE EXPERT

Sydney | Agencies

Ongoing volcanic upheavals are expected to follow the massive January 15 eruption off the coast of Tonga, according to a leading Australian geologist.

The eruption of the Hunga Tonga-Hunga Ha'apai volcano caused a tsunami to send water flooding into the nation's capital of Nuku'alofa, while large waves and tidal surges rolled across the Pacific region including the east coast of Australia, Japan and Hawaii. Monash University's Associate Professor of Geochemistry Oliver Nebel told Xinhua news agency on Monday that the disaster was caused by the volcano sitting near the edge of one of the Earth's tectonic plates.

Over time, a plate can "clash" with another, in this case causing an eruption along what is known as the "Ring of Fire" volcanoes, which are already explosive. "The last eruption of this volcano was about 1,000 years ago, so it was due for a large eruption, and this is likely what happened now," Nebel said. Nebel said volcanic activity off the Tongan coast had been detected over the Christmas period which was a sign that pressure was building up along the vulnerable plate edges. He said hot magma was constantly accumulating within volcanoes, and it is expected that they will create lots of ash and can have "a fair bit of a violent eruption". Volcanoes build up those underground reservoirs and "every now and then this reservoir is emptied, and this causes an eruption". "Once the magma is evacuated from underneath the volcano, it's likely that eruptions will go on and on. But once you have a violent eruption it's unlikely the next ones will be as disruptive because there's a good chance that a huge amount of the magma has already erupted."

But it is still "not a very predictable" process as to when it would explode, especially given the lack of data currently.

AT LEAST 22 KILLED IN AFGHAN EARTHQUAKE

Qala-E-Naw: At least 22 people were killed and many others injured after a magnitude 5.6 earthquake hit Afghanistan's western province of Badghis on Monday, a local official has said. Multiple houses were affected by the quake which occurred at 4:10 p.m., and the number of casualties may rise, the source said. The US Geological Survey said the earthquake with a magnitude of 5.6 jolted 40 km east of Qala-e-Naw, the provincial capital of Badghis which borders rkmistan. The epicenter, with a depth of 10.0 km, was initially determined to be at 34.9479 degrees north latitude and 63.5686 degrees east longitude, it said. Several aftershocks were also felt in the region.

Houthis launch 5 ballistic missiles, explosive-laden drones in multiple attacks on UAE

Sanaa | Agencies

The Iran-backed Houthi militia in Yemen announced that it fired five ballistic missiles and several explosive-laden drones in multiple attacks on airports and an oil refinery in the United Arab Emirates (UAE). "The attacks targeted the international airports in Abu Dhabi and Dubai, as well as the oil refinery in Abu Dhabi," Houthi military Spokesman Yehya Sarea said in a statement on Monday.

"We vow to hit more vital targets in the UAE if it continues military escalation in Yemen," the spokesman added. The UAE state media reported earlier on Monday that three oil tankers in the industrial area in Abu Dhabi were exploded after being hit by small drones, reports Xinhua news agency.

It also reported fire in the Abu Dhabi International Airport. The UAE said it reserved rights to respond to the Houthi threat.

The attacks were widely condemned by Arab and foreign countries. This attack came nearly a week after the Houthis hijacked and captured a UAE-flagged commercial ship off the militia-held Red Sea city of Hodeidah. The UN Security Council has called on the Houthi group to release the ship and crew members. The call was however, rejected by the Houthi group. The UAE is part of a Saudi-led Arab coalition supporting the Yemeni internationally recognized government against the Houthi militia.

Last week, the coalition-backed Yemeni government army recaptured four strategic districts in the oil-rich provinces of Shabwa and Marib from the militia.

Yemen has been mired in a civil war since late 2014 when the Houthi militia seized control of several northern provinces and forced the government of President Abd-Rabbu Mansour Hadi out of the capital Sanaa.

S.Korean lottery sales hit all-time high in 2021 amid pandemic

Seoul | Agencies

Lottery sales in South Korea rose 10.3 per cent on-year to reach an all-time high last year amid the Covid-19 pandemic, data from the Finance Ministry revealed on Tuesday.

Sales of lottery tickets stood at 5.98 trillion won ($5.02 billion) in 2021, compared with 5.42 trillion won the previous year, according to the data.

The figure has been rising in recent years from 4.15 trillion won in 2017 to 4.38 trillion won in 2018 and further to 4.79 trillion won in 2019, Yonhap News Agency reported citing the data.

By type, sales of online lottery tickets increased 8.4 per cent on-year to 5.14 trillion won, and sales of pension-type tickets jumped 29.2 per cent to 291.1 billion won.

The brisk sales are attributable to reduced operations of other gambling businesses, such as casino and horse racing, amid the coronavirus pandemic, as well as improved public perception of lottery, the Ministry said in a statement. Lottery tickets accounted for 42.1 per cent of the total sales of the gambling industry in 2020, up from 21.2 per cent the previous year. According to a survey last year of 1,020 people aged 19 or older, 71.8 per cent of males and 54 per cent of females said they had bought a lottery ticket, with those in their 40s accounting for the largest portion of people having made such purchases. Some 73.7 per cent of the people had a positive impression of lottery, up from 66.5 per cent a year earlier, the Ministry said.

WINTER STORM HITS US

New York: A winter storm hit the mid-Atlantic and northeast US, causing widespread travel disruption and knocking out power for more than 200,000 homes and businesses. "From Georgia to parts of Canada, the effects of the storm, known as Winter Storm Izzy, were felt," Xinhua news agency quoted The Wall Street Journal as saying. The National Weather Service (NWS) said that up to 20 inches of snow had fallen in parts of Ohio, Pennsylvania, North Carolina and South Carolina on Monday, with icy roads creating dangerous driving conditions. Heavy rain and strong winds lashed other areas, with some coastal communities at risk of flooding as well as falling trees and power lines, it added. Snow fell at a rate of more than 4 inches an hour in Buffalo, New York. The impact on New York City was expected to be limited to severe thunderstorms, with gusts of up to 55 miles an hour.

BOMBAY HC COMMUTES DEATH SENTENCE FOR 2 SISTERS, RAPS MAHA GOVERNMENT

Team Absolute | Mumbai

The Bombay High Court on Tuesday commuted the death sentences on two prime accused - both step-sisters - to life term till death in jail, in the sensational case of the kidnapping of 13 minor children and murdering at least 5 of them, that rocked the state in the early 1990s. The accused, Seema Mohan Gavit, 39, and Renuka Kiran Shinde, 45, were arrested by Maharashtra Police in 1996 and have so far spent around 25 years under the shadow of the hangman's noose, at the Yerawada Central Jail, Pune. Another prime accused and their mother, Anjana, who was also arrested and charged in the case, passed away in 1998 during the pendency of the trial. A division bench of Justice Nitin Jamdar and Justice Sarang Kotwal commuted the death penalty, rapping the delays by the government authorities in taking a decision on the mercy pleas of the two. In 2001, the half-sisters were convicted and awarded the death penalty by the Kolhapur Sessions Court for the stunning kidnappings of 13 children and killing 5 of them brutally. The death sentence was confirmed by the Bombay High Court in 2004 and then the Supreme Court in 2006. The sisters had earlier filed mercy pleas before the Governor in 2008 that were declined in August 2013, and later to the President, which was rejected in July 2014, even as people from the USA, Japan, Canada, and India appealed to the President for commuting the death verdict, saying that execution of women is extremely rare. After the rejection of their appeals from both the Governor and the President, they moved the Bombay High Court. The matter was taken up urgently on August 19, 2014, as the two sisters awaited the gallows that day. The Public Prosecutor issued telephonic instructions to the YCJ Jail Superintendent Yogesh Desai to stop the hangings till their pleas were heard and the matter came up on the board the following day. The petitioners contended that the government machinery did not adhere to the rules that required utmost expediency and resorted to a "most casual approach" resulting in a delay of nearly 8 years, which the division bench upheld. The sisters contended, through their lawyer Aniket Vagal, that the delay was attributable to the executive including the Governor and the Maharashtra Government, the Ministry of Home Affairs, and the President, which was denied by the Centre's lawyer Sandesh Patil. The judges noted that from the date of the sisters submitting their mercy plea on September 1, 2006 till it was finally disposed of on July 30, 2014, it took 7 years, 10 months and 15 days. Justice Jamdar and Justice Kotwal also observed how the chronology showed that there was "nothing but the movement of files, delay, and casual approach demonstrated at each stage" and the state government moved "as if it was a routine file, perhaps even slower than that", at each stage "officers exhibited utter casualness". The court also frowned at how, in the period between 2006-2014, modern electronic communication facilities, email, courier, transportation were easily available to all government officers, and termed as "abhorrent" the movement of files/papers in such a crucial matter within the state or the city after gaps of 15 days, month, six months or up to one year. It also commented on how the matter was circulated before the court only by the petitioner-sisters in 2021 and not by the government since 2016, and the manner in which the two convicts were kept isolated in the 'Death Convict Yard' which has an ominous connotation, and was described as "brooding horror of hanging, daunting the prisoner in the condemned cell" by the late Justice Krishna Iyer. However, the evidence on record shows the kids were brutally murdered, showing the "depravity" of the two convict-sisters which was "heinous and beyond words to condemn", the bench said, ordering "life imprisonment is till the life of the convict" unless the competent authority decides otherwise, though the (convicts) were beyond reform for society. The court also cancelled the unexecuted death warrants against the two sisters and disposed of the petition.

FADNAVIS DEMANDS ACTION OVER PATOLE REMARKS ON MODI

Mumbai: The BJP will not keep quiet over Maharashtra Congress president Nana Patole's alleged controversial remarks against Prime Minister Narendra Modi, Leader of Opposition in the Maharashtra Assembly and senior BJP leader Devendra Fadnavis said on Tuesday. Speaking to reporters in Panaji, Fadnavis also slammed the Maharashtra government for not filing an FIR over Patole's comments, a video of which had gone viral on Monday.

"Someone called the Maharashtra CM's wife Rabri devi and an FIR was filed. And here a person who calls himself a leader, threatens to kill the PM and there is no FIR (First Information Report) against him in Maharashtra. This is wrong. We will not keep quiet," Fadnavis said. In the video in Bhandara district in Maharashtra, Patole is allegedly heard saying he could beat up and badmouth Modi. Patole later clarified that he was not referring to Prime Minister Narendra Modi, but a local goon with a similar surname. Fadnavis, however, hinted at Congress conspiracy against the Prime Minister. "I feel it is a Congress policy. In Punjab, the security of the PM is compromised and in Maharashtra the president says we will beat the PM. Through this, one can know what he (Patole) really feels about the PM. I feel it is Congress policy and we demand that an FIR and legal action should be taken against Nana Patole because he has spoken about beating the Prime Minister," Fadnavis said.

'Referring to a local goon Modi, not PM': Nana Patole

Team Absolute | Mumbai

In a viral news clip, Patole can be heard speaking in Marathi to a group of villagers in Bhandara "I have been in politics for the past 30 years," Nana Patole could be heard saying I helped each and everyone who came to me. That's why I can hit Modi and abuse him, he said. Controversy surrounded Maharashtra Congress president Nana Patole after a viral news clip showed him saying that he could beat Modi and abuse him. He, however, later issued a clarification and said that he was referring to a local goon who shares his surname with Prime Minister Narendra Modi. In a viral news clip, Patole can be heard speaking in Marathi to a group of villagers in Bhandara district. He said, "I have been in politics for the past 30 years. Being a politician, I never favoured anybody. I helped each and everyone who came to me. That's why I can hit Modi and abuse him." Clarifying later, he said, "A few villagers had complained to me about a local goon. I was talking about a local goon named Modi. I am well aware of the dignity of the post of the prime minister and I have not said anything against PM Narendra Modi." However, it is not clear when this video was filmed. Meanwhile, several BJP leaders lashed out at the Congress party and Patole after the video went viral on social media, questioning their respect and honour for the post of prime minister. Praveen Darekar, Opposition leader in Maharashtra Legislative Council, said, "Though the Congress party is not in power, people respect and honour the members of the party. By giving such a controversial statement, it undermines the glory of Congress."

Ex-minister Anil Deshmukh denied bail in PMLA case

Team Absolute | Mumbai

A special court on Tuesday rejected a plea filed by former Maharashtra home minister Anil Deshmukh seeking 'default bail' in an alleged money laundering case. Deshmukh was arrested by the Enforcement Directorate on November 2, 2021, and is currently in judicial custody. In his application, the Nationalist Congress Party leader had said the special court for Prevention of Money Laundering Act cases did not take cognisance of the prosecution complaint (charge sheet) filed by the ED before remanding him in further judicial custody. As the cognisance was not taken in the stipulated period of 60 days from the arrest, he should get bail by default (on technical grounds) under section 167 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, the plea said. The ED opposed this argument, saying the charge sheet had been filed within the stipulated time. Special judge RN Rokade on Tuesday rejected the NCP leader's plea. As per section 167, if a charge sheet is not filed and its cognisance not taken within 60 days, the accused can seek default bail. But the central agency's contention was that the question of court taking cognizance of charge sheet was not pertinent. Default bail cannot be considered once the principal charge sheet and a supplementary one had been filed in time, it added. The ED had on December 29, 2021, filed a 7,000-page supplementary charge sheet against Deshmukh and his sons. It had earlier filed a charge sheet against 14 others including Deshmukh's private secretary (an additional collector-rank officer) Sanjeev Palande and personal assistant Kundan Shinde. The ED launched a separate probe against Deshmukh after the Central Bureau of Investigation registered a case against the senior NCP leader in April 2021 on the charges of corruption. The ED's case is that while serving as Maharashtra home minister, Deshmukh, through (now dismissed) police official Sachin Waze, collected Rs 4.70 crore from various bars in Mumbai. Deshmukh and his family members owned several shell companies which were used to launder this money and divert it to educational trusts controlled by the family, the ED alleged. Waze, an assistant police inspector with Mumbai Crime Branch, was arrested in March 2021 in the Antilia bomb scare and Mansukh Hiran murder case. Following Waze's arrest, then Mumbai police commissioner Param Bir Singh was transferred. Singh then accused Deshmukh of asking the police officers to collect Rs 100 crore a month from bars and restaurants in Mumbai. Deshmukh, while denying these allegations, resigned as minister.

Fadnavis mocks NCP's alliance in Goa with Cong, TMC

Team Absolute | Mumbai

As the Nationalist Congress Party (NCP) seeks to make fresh inroads in Goa, a verbal duel has broken out between the Sharad Pawar-led party and former Maharashtra chief minister Devendra Fadnavis. Fadnavis, who is in charge of the BJP's affairs in Goa, had mocked Mr Pawar's attempts to cobble up an alliance with the Congress and the Trinamool Congress in the coastal state, which will go to polls on February 14. "A party does not acquire a national footprint by merely including 'nationalist' in its name. Though it is called the Nationalist Congress Party, in reality, the party is limited to western Maharashtra," he had told reporters. NCP leaders Ajit Pawar, Supriya Sule and Nawab Malik hit back at the BJP leader and asked him to exercise restraint while speaking about Sharad Pawar. NCP chief spokesperson Malik reminded Fadnavis how the veteran leader had prevented him from returning as the chief minister after the 2019 Maharashtra Assembly polls. "If he continues to speak in the same vein, Sharad Pawar will not hesitate to show him the ghats of Kashi," he wrote on Twitter, in an apparent hint at ending the political career of the BJP leader. In the run-up to the 2019 Maharashtra Assembly polls, Fadnavis had famously declared that the era of Sharad Pawar's brand of politics was over. "The era of Sharad Pawarji's politics is over. The kind of politics he would play of making and breaking (parties) is over now. Such politics will not work. Generations have changed, people do not accept such politics now," he had said. As the Shiv Sena walked out of its coalition with the BJP after the 2019 Maharashtra polls, Fadnavis had assumed office as chief minister with NCP leader Ajit Pawar as his deputy. However, the arrangement barely lasted for three days as Sharad Pawar ensured that none of the NCP MLAs supported the government. Fadnavis had to resign as chief minister within 80 hours and Ajit Pawar too returned to the NCP fold. Sharad Pawar then cobbled up an unlikely alliance of the Shiv Sena, the NCP and the Congress to deny the BJP, the single-largest party in the Assembly, a shot at power.

The 160-year-old Veermata Jijabai Bhosale Zoo has got two new star attractions - Royal Bengal tiger cub 'Veera' and Humboldt penguin chick, aOscar', officials said here on Tuesday. Mumbai Mayor Kishori Pednekar performed the naming ceremony of the two new additions to the VJB Zoo family in presence of zoo Director Dr Sanjay Tripathi and other officials. The male cub was born to the Royal Bengal Tiger pair Shakti and Karishma on November 14, while the penguin chick was born on August 19. Being cared for by their respective parents, the two new-borns remained out of public glare since their birth and were revealed for the first time during their official christening ceremonies on Tuesday. The Royal Bengal Tiger pair was acquired from Aurangabad Zoo in February 2020, while the colony of 8 penguins - the first of its kind in India - was brought here from Seoul in 2016. 'Oscar', born to the pair Mr. Molt and Flipper, became the third penguin chick to be born in the VJB Zoo in the past six years. The other penguins living here in an ice-cold enclave are Donald, Daisy, Popeye, Olive, and Bubble. Dory, who could not survive and died on October 23, 2016 owing to a bacterial infection. A penguin chick born to Mr. Molt and Flipper in August 2018 had died a week after birth, but their second offspring 'Oscar' is now doing well, while a male chick was born to Donald and Daisy in May 2021. # 'Decision danger to democracy': SC grills Maha on 12 BJP MLAs suspension

Team Absolute | New Delhi/Mumbai

The Supreme Court on Tuesday continued to grill the Maharashtra government on the resolution passed by the state Assembly on July 5, 2021 to suspend 12 BJP MLAs for a period of one year for their alleged misconduct and misbehaviour in the House. A bench, headed by Justice A.M. Khanwilkar and comprising Justices Dinesh Maheshwari and C.T. Ravikumar, shot a volley of questions at senior advocate C.A. Sundaram, on the rationality of suspending the MLAs beyond the session of the House, as he argued regarding the limited scope for judicial review over the business within the Assembly. Justice Khanwilkar told Sundaram that the suspension of the MLAs should not be greater than the session of the House, and anything other than this would be irrational. "Your decision of 1 year is irrational because of the deprivation of the constituency being unrepresented for more than 6 months..." noted the bench. Justice Ravikumar said: "Another is danger to democracy... Suppose there is a slender lead of the ruling party (in the Assembly), and 15 or 20 people are suspended, what will be the fate of democracy?" The bench queried Sundaram: "suspension up to what period and for what purpose?" Justice Maheshwari said the House meets in sessions and the rationale is, when a new session begins, new business begins. "A particular session, he may be suspended but beyond that time, the rationality question comes". The bench remarked that with a change of session, there is a completely new session and even if the action is punitive, it is for the whole session and not beyond the session. It emphasised that the constituency of the elected representative cannot be left unrepresented for a long time. The top court made these observations while hearing the petition filed by MLAs challenging their suspension. It will continue to hear the arguments on Wednesday.

KATY PERRY REVEALS BEAU ORLANDO BLOOM'S GROSSEST HABIT

London | Agencies

Pop star Katy Perry has revealed what her fiancé and actor Orlando Bloom's "worst habit" is. She said it is leaving used dental floss all over their bathroom. After being asked what bad habits her fiancé has, the 37-year-old singer told hosts Amanda Holden and Jamie Theakston: "Oh my God, he loves to floss, which thank God because some partners don't and it's disgusting and he has brilliant teeth. "But he leaves the floss, everywhere! On the side of my bed, and in the car, and on the kitchen table, I'm like, 'There are bins everywhere!' The 'American Idol' judge also gave some insight into her family's delayed but "amazing" Christmas celebrations, which took place on January 2 - and how it was the "favourite" Christmas she had ever had in her life, partly because of her daughter reaching an age where she understood what was happening. Perry, who shares 16-month-old daughter Daisy with the 'Pirates of the Caribbean' star, said: "I celebrated Christmas with my family, which was amazing. "It was my favourite Christmas actually because my daughter's now 16 months, and she's aware of presents and we wore Christmas jammies but we celebrated on January 2, so everybody was done with Christmas, and it was like, everybody wakes up, because Covid has been crazy."

She was like, 'Are you in this new Spider-Man film?'" he recalled. "And I was like, 'I don't know what you're talking about,'" the Golden Globe winner admitted. He continued: "She was like, 'Shut up. Just tell me'. I'm like, 'I honestly don't know' - I kept it going, even with her." After Stone watched 'No Way Home' and found out the truth, she was understandably upset with her former boyfriend. Oscar Isaac is Marvel's newest superhero with 'Moon Knight'

Los Angeles | Agencies

Marvel Studios has unveiled the first trailer for its Disney Plus series 'Moon Knight' and it has a new superhero played by actor Oscar Isaac. The teaser was unveiled on Monday night, officially launching the 2022 slate for the Marvel Cinematic Universe, reports variety.com. In 'Moon Knight' premiering on March 30, Isaac plays Marc Spector, a former soldier with a profound case of dissociative identity disorder that manifests as fully distinct individuals. He becomes the conduit for the Egyptian moon god Khonshu, which only further exacerbates Marc's anxiety over his mental illness. In the trailer, set to Kid Cudi's 'Day an' Night', Marc can't tell the difference between his normal life and his dreams. He plays with a Rubik's cube, unable to fall asleep, only to jump out of bed in a panic with his foot chained to his bed, though he seemingly forgets he was the one who restrained himself the night before. After visiting a museum on ancient Egypt, he sees a vision of Khonshu and later meets Ethan Hawke's villain, a cult leader who encourages Marc to embrace the darkness within himself. The trailer ends with Marc being enveloped by the Moon Knight costume and a shot of him brutally beating someone up on a bathroom floor.

'Hotel Transylvania: Transformania': Hardly groundbreaking but a fun film

FILM REVIEW
BY TROY RIBEIRO
(Streaming on Amazon Prime)
Direction: Derek Drymon, Jennifer Kluska
Cast: Andy Samberg, Selena Gomez, Kathryn Hahn, Jim Gaffigan, Steve Buscemi, Molly Shannon, David Spade, Keegan-Michael Key, Brian Hull, Fran Drescher.
Duration: 88 minutes
Ratings: *** (three stars)

Like the earlier three films of the franchise, 'Hotel Transylvania: Transformania' too, is hardly groundbreaking, but with its kinetic sense of energy and heart in its right place, the film is fun to watch. This edition too is about Dracula trying to keep a secret from his beloved daughter Mavis and for some reason or another, he has to dig himself out of trouble. The film begins with Dracula (Brian Hull) celebrating his hotel's 125th anniversary. Now intending to settle down with his new love Ericka (Kathryn Hahn), he announces his retirement plans, that is, to hand over the hotel business to his beloved daughter Mavis (Selena Gomez) and her annoyingly over-enthusiastic human husband Johnny (Andy Samberg). But as he reflects on his decision, he realises that he does not trust Johnny with the hotel for the monsters. So he decides that he can't relinquish the hotel, which he lovingly built and spent all these years running it, to his irritating "human" son-in-law. When Johnny learns why Dracula will never accept him, he goes over to Professor Van Helsing, who has a magical gem-studded gun with a request to turn him into a Monster. Dracula too lands there at the same time, and in the ensuing chaos, Johnny is turned into an enormous dragon, and all the monsters, including Dracula, are turned into humans. Now with roles reversed, how they team up and race across the globe to restore normalcy in their lives forms the crux of this crazy tale. Those familiar with the 'Hotel Transylvania' series will find the narrative a bit of a drab. Nevertheless, it is fun to watch Johnny gradually discover his monster powers and Dracula - his human limitations. Also, there are plenty of impressive gags to entertain and keep you glued to the screen.

In this edition, Brian Hull lends his voice to Dracula, and he does a fantastic job of it after replacing Adam Sandler, who had lent his voice for the same character previously. Andy Samberg as Jonathan, Kevin James as the selfie-taking narcissist Frankenstein, David Spade as the naked Invisible Man, Selena Gomez as Mavis, and Kathryn Hahn as Ericka are all impressive with their stellar voices that match the characters to perfection. Overall, 'Hotel Transylvania: Transformania' in its entirety is a feel-good film with its cartoony style and exaggerated elastic character animation.

Los Angeles | Agencies

Hollywood star Bradley Cooper confessed that it was "pretty heavy" filming full-frontal nude scenes in his new movie 'Nightmare Alley' by acclaimed filmmaker Guillermo del Toro. The 47-year-old actor stars in the film as an ambitious carnival worker and explained how he had to get his kit off on camera in an intimate scene with Toni Collette's character in a bathtub, reports femalefirst.co.uk. Cooper told 'The Business': "I remember reading in the script and thinking, he's a pickled punk in that bathtub and it's to story. You have to do it. I can still remember that day just to be naked in front of the crew for six hours, and it was Toni Collette's first day. It was just like, 'Whoa'. It was pretty heavy." The Hollywood star had no qualms about appearing in the nude during the making of the movie as he felt it was "demanded" to make the project a success. The 'A Star Is Born' actor said: "The content of what the movie is, what we were exploring, in order to do it in a real way, it demanded that we'd be naked emotionally and soulfully." Bradley also explained the process of delving deep to give the best possible performance in the flick.

KL RAHUL TO OPEN FOR INDIA IN SA ODIS IN ROHIT'S ABSENCE

Paarl | Agencies

Stand-in skipper KL Rahul on Tuesday confirmed that he will open the batting for India in the three-match ODI series against South Africa, starting here on Wednesday, in the absence of Rohit Sharma. The 29-year-old has batted for India in a number of different positions in the middle order with Rohit and Shikhar Dhawan opening the batting in the 50-over format. However, he has replaced Dhawan as India's regular opener in T20s with the latter not being selected in the team for the shortest format of the game. "The last 14-15 months I have batted at 4, 5, different positions, where the team needed me. With Rohit not being here, I will bat at the top," said Rahul in a pre-match virtual press conference. "I'm not someone who has a lot of plans and targets. I like to take one game at a time. That's how I've played my cricket and that's how I'll look to lead the team," he added. With Rahul opening the batting, it will be interesting to see whether India will go for Dhawan or Ruturaj Gaikwad as KL's opening partner in the series. The star batter, who will also captain the side in the absence of white-ball skipper Rohit, said that he has learnt a lot while playing under great captains like MS Dhoni and Virat Kohli. "I have played under great captains like MS Dhoni and Virat Kohli and hopefully I will use the learnings when I captain the team. I will make mistakes along the way but I will learn and get better," he said.

Unmukt Chand becomes first Indian male cricketer to play in BBL

Melbourne | Agencies

Former U-19 World Cup-winning captain Unmukt Chand on Tuesday became the first Indian male cricketer to play in Australia's Big Bash League (BBL). The right-handed batter scripted history after making his debut for Melbourne Renegades against Hobart Hurricanes in match No 54 of the BBL at Docklands Stadium. "The new colours suit you, @UnmuktChand9," Renegades tweeted along with the picture of the cricketer. However, Chand didn't have a great outing with the bat as he was dismissed for six off eight balls by

Sandeep Lamichhane in the 18th over and his team led by Aaron Finch lost the match as well. Notably, the 28-year-old had called time on his playing career in India last year and is plying his trade in different leagues across the globe. Chand represented three IPL franchises -- Delhi Daredevils, Mumbai Indians, and Rajasthan Royals. He had a domestic career spanning more than a decade, including 67 first-class matches but he never got an opportunity to play for the Indian senior team. The talented cricketer burst onto the international stage as a teenager in the 2012 ICC U-19 World Cup in Australia. He was the player of the match in the final, scoring an unbeaten 111 against an Australian side and guiding India to the title.

Spezia rally to stun AC Milan in Serie A amid controversy

Rome | Agencies

AC Milan squandered a one-goal lead to be upset by Spezia 2-1 in a controversial game at San Siro here. Milan had claimed three consecutive league wins before Monday's game, and a win would have lifted them to the top place. The home side was utterly dominant in the first half, as Rafael Leao was active and won a penalty in the 43rd minute for Milan, but Theo Hernandez scuffed it wide. Leao kept wreaking havoc and finally found the back of the net on the stroke of half-time when Rade Krunic's long pass found the Portuguese, who outpaced the defender to loop over an on-rushing goalkeeper. Spezia pulled back on level terms in the 63rd minute as Daniele Verde rolled across from the left and Kevin Agudelo tapped it in undisturbed. The game culminated in stoppages time, Milan's winger Junior Messias thought he had scored the winner, but the referee Marco Serra blew the whistle before the Brazilian hit the ball, instead he awarded Milan a free-kick following a foul on Ante Rebic. It sparked controversy as Milan players thought the referee should allow them to play with advantage, rather than halt the game, Xinhua reports. With Milan still smarting from the decision, Spezia scored the last-gasp winner in the dying seconds through a counter-attack, when Emmanuel Gyasi finished with a daisy-cutter from a close range. With the setback, AC Milan still sit second with 48 points, two behind Inter Milan who have a game in hand. Also on January 16, Napoli dominated Bologna 2-0 on Hirving Lozano's double; Fiorentina registered a comfortable 6-0 victory over relegation battlers Genoa who just sacked coach Andriy Shevchenko.

No.3 seed Muguruza was pushed over the course of the gripping contest by the 20-year-old world No.77 Burel, but what differentiated the winner from the loser was the quality of serve -- Burel hit 12 double faults and landed just 41 per cent of her first serves, giving Muguruza ample opportunities on return. Muguruza broke five times, and won seven of eight games from 3-3 in the first set to take a commanding lead at 6-3, 4-1. Muguruza will next face Frenchwoman Alize Cornet. Adelaide finalist and No.12 seed Elena Rybakina of Kazakhstan had a tough time against compatriot Zarina Diyas in their first career meeting before winning 6-7(3), 7-

IPL: Lucknow all set to pick Rahul, Stoinis and Bishnoi ahead of mega-auction

Team Absolute | New Delhi

Stylish opener KL Rahul, Australian allrounder Marcus Stoinis and uncapped Indian leg-spinner Ravi Bishnoi are all set to be picked by the Lucknow IPL franchise via draft ahead of the mega auction, scheduled for February 12 and 13 in Bangalore. Rahul, who will lead India in the ODI series in South Africa, in all likelihood will also captain the Lucknow, which was bought for Rs 7,090 crore (USD 940 million approx.) last October by the RP Sanjiv Goenka Group. The franchise will go into the auction with a purse of Rs 60 crore -- Rahul cost them Rs 15 crore, Stoinis Rs 11 crore, and Bishnoi Rs 4 crore, an EspnCrinfo report said. The 29-year-old has been one of the most consistent batters in the IPL since the 2018. The opener led Punjab Kings in the last two seasons but he wanted a change and was subsequently released by the management. After starting his IPL career in 2013 when Rahul was bought by

Royal Challengers Bangalore, he went to Sunrisers Hyderabad in 2014, and was traded back to Royal Challengers in 2016 before the Punjab franchise (then Kings XI Punjab) paid Rs 11 crore to buy him in the 2018 auction. While the Punjab team didn't perform as per the expectations under his leadership, Rahul had a great outing with the bat. He scored 2,548 runs at an average of 56.62 including 25 fifty-plus scores -- two of them hundreds -- in 55 innings in four IPL seasons with Punjab. However, his strike rate was a point of discussion. Meanwhile, Lucknow will be the fourth IPL franchise for Stoinis. The Australian had started his IPL journey in 2015 with Delhi Daredevils (now Delhi Capitals), where he returned in 2020 after being bought for INR 4.8 crore. In the 27 matches he has played for the Capitals, 32-year-old Stoinis scored 441 runs at a strike rate of 142.71 and picked 15 wickets. In between, the all-rounder had also turned out for Punjab Kings and Royal Challengers Bangalore. On the other hand, Bishnoi, impressed with his performance in the 2020 Under-19 World Cup in South Africa, where he finished as the leading wicket-taker. He was picked by Punjab in the 2020 auction for Rs 2 crore. With his brilliant performance, the spinner quickly became the lead spinner for Punjab, and took 12 wickets in 14 matches in his first season, and in 2021, he had 12 wickets from nine matches. Overall, he has an economy rate of 6.95. In another IPL development, the other new franchise -- Ahmedabad are all set to pick Hardik Pandya, Rashid Khan and Shubman Gill. With both the new teams finalising their players, the cap set by the IPL, the focus will be on the auction, which is scheduled for February 12 and 13 in Bengaluru.

Telugu Mega Star Chiranjeevi's youngest daughter and actor Ram Charan's sister Sreeja has dropped her actor-husband Kalyan's name from her social media handles amid rumours that their marriage is on the rocks.

Her unilateral action has triggered speculation about the couple's impending separation. Sreeja changed her Instagram handle name to Sreeja Konidela from Sreeja Kalyan.
