FROM WHATSAPP TO TELEGRAM, HOW FRAUDSTERS ARE STILL CONNING INDIAN USERS

MISUSE OF SOCIAL MEDIA

- Delhi Police recently unearthed an international gang of cyber crooks based in China, Dubai and the mas-terminid sitting in Georgia who have defrauded 11,000 of people on the pretext of providing online work from home jobs in Amazon.
- The gang duped crores of rupees on the pretext of providing online jobs. Police arrested three people in separate raids conducted at Delhi, Gurugram and Fatehabad (Haryana) in this connection.
- The investigation indicated that Chinese cyber-criminals developed a module to cheat people looking for online work from home or part-time jobs as Chinese loan fraud is now declining due to action by agencies and awareness among people.

where they lure them via WhatsApp and then take them to rival chat app Telegram and siphon off their hard-earned money.

Although international spam calls have reduced in the past few days, people are still losing money via spam text messages on WhatsApp which has more than 500 million users in the country.

A software engineer in Gurugram lost over Rs 42 lakh after scammers tempted him with promises of huge earnings for simply liking videos on YouTube, first via WhatsApp message and then adding him to a Telegram group.

In April, with the arrest of four men, Delhi Police claimed to have busted a gang of cyber crooks for cheating over 500 people on the pretext of 'online trading' on a huge margin across the country. The official said that the gang members were connected with Chinese accomplices operating from Dubai.

A senior Delhi Police official told correspondent that in the past six months, several cases of fraud, ultimately connected to Chinese cyber gangs who are using WhatsApp to connect and lure people, have come to light.

According to police, a woman in her recent complaint said she was searching for a job online when she received a WhatsApp message from an unknown number.

"The message has an offer of paying Rs 50 per like for the link of social media accounts sent to her through WhatsApp. She opened the various links sent by the caller and liked them. She sent the screen shot to the sender named Xarina," Deputy Commissioner of Police, Central, Sanjay Kumar Sain said.

Xarina asked her to open a Telegram link to receive the credited amount.

"She joined the Telegram channel and Rs 150 was credited in her bank account. Xarina then instructed her to join another Telegram channel and like some YouTube videos, which she completed and received Rs 200 in return," the DCP said.

Later, Xarina convinced her to invest in crypto currency with the promise of significant profits. The woman initially invested Rs 1,000, and Xarina lured her with the prospect of even more profit. However, the woman ended up losing around Rs 22 lakh in a single day and has requested legal action against Xarina for her actions.

It was revealed that the Telegram ID used by the scammers was being operated from Beijing and the WhatsApp number -- used to defraud the victim by convincing her to invest into a fake Amazon site -- was also found being operated from outside India.

In another modus operandi, Delhi Police arrested eight people who used to dupe people on pretext of investment and online gaming. The gang used to contact the victims over WhatsApp and offered them to earn money through investment and online gaming.

The gang also lured the victims to earn money through online gaming. Meta-owned WhatsApp last week took action on the growing menace of international scam calls in India, after the government took cognisance of the issue and announced to send a notice to the platform over the issue.

SC declines to interfere with HC order staying Bihar caste survey

Team Absolute | New Delhi

The Supreme Court on Thursday refused to interfere with the Patna High Court's interim order, staying the caste survey by the Bihar government.

A bench of Justices Abhay S. Oka and Rajesh Bindal queried as to why the court should interfere with the high court order at this stage and asked the Bihar government to place its arguments before the high court, which has scheduled the hearing of the matter on July 3.

Senior advocate Shyam Divan, appearing on behalf of the Bihar government, submitted that the state required only 10 days to complete the process.

As the state government insisted on an order from the top court, the bench said it would have to examine if the exercise being carried out is a census in garb of survey, which has been pointed out by the high court, adding that "this is not a case where we can grant you interim relief".

The state government counsel maintained that the survey was not on a 100 per cent basis like a census but voluntary for the people and argued that the state has got legislative competence to collect statistics.

SC lifts West Bengal ban on 'The Kerala Story'

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Thursday stayed the West Bengal government order banning the film 'The Kerala Story'.

A bench headed by Chief Justice of India D.Y. Chandrachud said the court intends to stay the West Bengal government's order passed on May 8, banning the screening of the film 'The Kerala Story'.

The bench also directed Tamil Nadu to provide adequate security to every cinema hall for safe screening of 'The Kerala Story' and ensure safety of moviegoers, and also the state will not directly or indirectly thwart screening of the film.

During the hearing the bench told senior advocate A.M. Singhvi, representing the West Bengal government, that the state government banned the film on the basis of 13 people, "you get any 13 people they will say ban any movie. Unless you're showing them cartoons or sports..."

The top court noted that the film has been released everywhere in the country.

Not just international spam calls, scammers have devised several ways to con WhatsApp users in India, especially the popular 'like YouTube videos' scam,

Supporters of Gehlot, Pilot exchange blows in Ajmer

Jaipur | Agencies

The ongoing tussle in Rajasthan Congress between two camps, one led by Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot and the other by former Deputy CM Sachin Pilot, is no longer limited to verbal attacks as the supporters of the two leaders exchanged blows in Ajmer ahead of AICC Secretary and Rajasthan co-incharge Amrita Dhawan's visit on Thursday.

Videos of the supporters of the rival camps kicking and punching each other have gone viral on social media. The clash broke out around noon when Congress workers from the rural areas reached for the meeting called by the district Congress committee.

The party leaders said that it was a feedback programme where Amrita Dhawan was scheduled to collect feedback from the party workers. The Congress co-incharge was scheduled to have a one-to-one conversation with the party leaders.

Sources said that the trouble started after the party workers from the rural areas started coming to the meeting venue. The party's office-bearers and the workers from the rural areas in Ajmer are reportedly pro-Pilot.

A word of words broke out between them and their counterparts from the Gehlot camp which soon turned physical with both sides trading blows on each other. Rural Congress worker Bhim Singh was beaten up in the scuffle.

UP TEMPLE BANS ENTRY FOR MUSLIMS, INTRODUCES DRESS CODE FOR HINDUS

Allgarh | Agencies

An ancient Hanuman temple in Uttar Pradesh's Allgarh has banned the entry of Muslims and also issued guidelines for a dress code for Hindu devotees.

Posters put up outside the temple in Aachaltalab area, also known as the Gilhari Hanuman temple, say that Muslims are not allowed inside the shrine.

The dress code for Hindu devotees says that people should not enter the temple wearing distressed jeans and short and skimpy clothes.

The temple Mahant Kaushal Nath said that wearing such clothes in a religious place is distracting and disrespectful.

"People should come to the temple decently dressed. They can wear anything outside it. As for the ban on Muslims, what is the point of their coming to the temple if they do not want to worship?" he asked.

This temple is famous because Lord Hanuman is worshipped in the form of a squirrel.

Global stroke deaths expected to rise to nearly 5mn by 2030

- Ischemic stroke is caused by a blockage of blood flow to the brain and is the most common type of stroke.
- As the world population grew, the global number of ischemic stroke deaths increased from 2.04 million in 1990 to 3.29 million in 2019.
- However, the stroke rate decreased from 66 strokes per 100,000 people in 1990 to 44 strokes per 100,000 people in 2019.
- Researchers then used the database to predict the number of deaths for 2020-2030.
- They found that the death toll for ischemic stroke is expected to increase further to 4.9 million in 2030.
- When researchers factored in the risk factors, they predicted that the overall number of deaths from stroke could reach 6.4 million if these risk factors are not controlled or prevented.

Beijing | Agencies

The number of deaths worldwide from ischemic stroke increased from 2 million in 1990 to more than 3 million in 2019, and is expected to increase to nearly 5 million by 2030, according to a study.

"This increase in the global death toll of ischemic stroke along with a predicted further increase in the future is concerning, but ischemic stroke is highly preventable," said Lize Xiong, from Tongji University in Shanghai, China.

"Our results suggest that a combination of lifestyle factors like smoking and a diet high in sodium along with other factors such as high blood pressure and high body mass index can lead to an increased risk of stroke," Xiong added.

The study was published in the medical journal Neurology. For the study, researchers analysed data from the Global Health Data Exchange, from 1990-2019.

"This decrease in the stroke rate likely means that the overall increase in the number of strokes worldwide is mainly due to population growth and ageing," Xiong said. Researchers found that seven major risk factors including smoking, a diet high in sodium, high blood pressure, high cholesterol, kidney dysfunction, high blood sugar, and high BMI contributed to the higher number of strokes.

A limitation of the study was that quality and accuracy of disease data from some countries cannot be guaranteed as many did not have reliable information on strokes.

SC AGREES TO HEAR PLEA AGAINST HC ORDER ON SCIENTIFIC SURVEY OF 'SHIVLING' IN GYANVAPI MOSQUE

Team Absolute | New Delhi

The Supreme Court on Thursday agreed to hear on Friday an appeal by the Gyanvapi mosque management committee challenging the Allahabad High Court order allowing scientific survey of a Shivling found inside the mosque complex last year.

Senior advocate Huzefa Ahmadi mentioned the matter before a bench headed by Chief Justice of India D.Y. Chandrachud and comprising Justices P.S. Narasimha and J.B. Pardiwala.

The counsel said the high court has passed an order, pending judgment being reserved, and an application was made for carbon dating, which was allowed by the high court. The bench agreed to examine the matter.

Earlier this month, the Allahabad High Court directed the Archaeological Survey of India (ASI) to carry out a 'scientific survey' of the 'Shivling' in the Gyanvapi mosque to ascertain its age.

The high court asked the ASI to ensure that no damage is done to the structure during the survey. A single bench of Justice Arvind Kumar Mishra was responding to a petition filed by the Hindu side, demanding carbon dating of the Shivling. The ASI had submitted its report in a sealed envelope.

'Stop harassing innocent Muslims for Akola riots': JIH urges Maha CM

Team Absolute | Mumbai

The Jamaat-e-Islami Hind (JIH) on Thursday wrote a letter to Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde demanding a halt to the "unilateral persecution and prosecution perpetrated on innocent Muslims" for the Akola riots last week. JIH president Hafiz Ilyas Khan Falahi called upon the Chief Minister to inquire into the circumstances leading to the Akola tension on May 14 which led to clashes and the death of one person. According to some accounts, there was an offensive social media post after which some local Muslim youth informed the police. However, as they were leaving the police station, the police personnel were assaulted by some anti-social elements, then they went around damaging several private and government vehicles, targeting homes of the people and even the Tarab Ali Mosque, even as the town was clamped under prohibitory orders for two days, and tight security continues to remain there. "Despite the quick response by the police, many innocent Muslim youth, who are totally unrelated to the violence were wrongfully detained and are targeted," Falahi pointed out. Demanding that the mosque defiling incident should be probed separately by lodging a formal FIR, Falahi urged Shinde to ensure that strict action is taken against those responsible for it.

Congress sets up 'fact-finding' team for in-depth study of Manipur violence

Team Absolute | Imphal

The Congress, which had dubbed the violence in Manipur "pre-planned" and demanded immediate imposition of President's Rule in the BJP-ruled state, has constituted a three-member 'fact-finding' team to study the violence in the state, ascertain the causes of widespread hostilities, and evaluate its extent. A Congress leader in Imphal said on Thursday that the party President Mallikarjun Kharge has constituted the three-member team, comprising party General Secretary Mukul Wasnik, in-charge for Tripura, Sikkim, and Nagaland Dr. Ajoy Kumar and party's Tripura MLA Sudip Roy Barman to visit Manipur. The team would study the Manipur situation in coordination with the state in-charge Bhakta Charan

Das, state President K. Meghachandra Singh and three-time former Chief Minister and incumbent Congress Legislator Party leader Okram Ibobi Singh. Congress General Secretary, Organisation, K.C. Venugopal in a statement said that the 'fact-finding' team would submit its report to the Congress President at the earliest. Das last week visited Manipur and compared the valley-based organisations Arambai Tenggo and Meitei Leepun to the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) and the Bajrang Dal. "The condition in Manipur is visible to the country and world and I have been working in Manipur for the last three years. There are two areas -- hill area and the valley area," Das had said and demanded immediate imposition of President's Rule in the state. The ethnic violence in Manipur since May 3 claimed the lives of at least 73 people and injured 250 others, while 1,800 houses were destroyed besides a large number of government and private properties were also damaged.

Application for narcotic sample must be made within 72 hours, says Delhi HC

Team Absolute | New Delhi

The Delhi High Court on Thursday ruled that the application for drawing a sample of narcotic drugs or psychotropic substances must be made within 72 hours to the Magistrate concerned under Section 52A of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances (NDPS) Act. Justice Jasmeet Singh firmly asserted that the submission of such applications should not be subject to the arbitrary discretion of the Narcotics Control Bureau, which functions as the prosecuting agency. While acknowledging that the reasonable time for submitting such an application depends on the specific circumstances of each case, the court emphasised that it is not the legislature's intention to allow the prosecuting agency to move the application arbitrarily. "Therefore, taking cue from the Standing Order 1/88, it is desirable that the application under 52A should be made within 72 hours or near about the said time frame," the court said. The court noted that Section 52A of the NDPS Act does not specify a specific timeframe for submitting an application to the magistrate for the collection of samples. It further clarified that the timeframe mentioned in Standing Order 1/88 solely pertains to the transportation of the samples to the Forensic Science Laboratory (FSL). According to the court, the legislative intent behind Section 52A of the NDPS Act is not to grant the respondent authorities the freedom to delay their submission of an application. Although the statute does not specify a time limit, the court emphasised that the application should be filed promptly to prevent any concerns of sample tampering. "It cannot be the intent of the legislature that since no time limit is mentioned in the statute, the respondent authorities can take their own sweet time in moving an application under section 52A NDPS. Rather, the said application should be moved at the earliest to prevent the apprehension of tampering with the samples as the seizure, quantity and quality of contraband is the most crucial evidence in NDPS cases and drawing of sample and certification in the presence of magistrate is of utmost importance," the court said. Justice Singh emphasised the need for a coherent interpretation of Standing Order 1/88 and Section 52A, indicating that a reasonable timeframe should be considered when applying for sample collection and certification before the Magistrate. The court concluded that the violation of Section 52A undermines the integrity of the sample collection process, resulting in a benefit of doubt that should be extended to Kashif.

Abhishek Banerjee challenges Calcutta HC's order allowing central agencies to question him

Team Absolute | Kolkata

Trinamool Congress' national general secretary Abhishek Banerjee on Thursday approached a division bench of the Calcutta High Court, hours after the single-judge bench of Justice Amrita Sinha allowed central agencies to question him in connection with the teachers' recruitment case.

Expelled Trinamool Congress leader and another accused in the case, Kuntal Ghosh, had also approached the same division bench challenging Justice Sinha's order.

Besides allowing central agencies to question Banerjee and Ghosh in the matter, Justice Sinha also imposed a penalty of Rs 25 lakh on each of them.

The division bench of Calcutta High Court's Chief Justice T.S. Sivagnanam and Justice Hiranmay Bhattacharya has admitted the plea, but as of now it has not agreed for fast-track hearing of the matter. The case is likely to come up for hearing on Friday.

Earlier also, Justice Abhijit Gangopadhyay had empowered the central agencies to question Abhishek Banerjee. The latter then approached the Supreme Court in the matter.

Following the Supreme Court order, two related cases in the matter were transferred to the bench of Justice Amrita Sinha.

Though the hearing in the matter concluded on May 15, Justice Sinha had reserved the verdict on that day.

Abhishek Banerjee's name surfaced in the matter after Kuntal Ghosh wrote letters to a local police station as well as to the judge of a lower court accusing central agencies of putting pressure on him to name Banerjee in the alleged scam.

During the course of hearing, last week, Justice Sinha had raised questions about the reasons for the petitioner's reluctance in facing the investigation in the matter. Observing that the petitioner should cooperate in the investigation process, Justice Sinha also observed that no one is above investigation. "Let the investigating agency decide who is involved and who is not. The legal system is above all. Everyone should cooperate in the process of investigation," Justice Sinha had observed earlier.

Cop slaps woman farmer protesting land acquisition in Punjab

Kanpur | Chandigarh

A Punjab Police officer has been caught on camera slapping a middle-aged woman farmer at a village in Gurdaspur district, the video of which has gone viral on social media.

As per reports, the farmers were protesting against land acquisition for a Bharatmala project, which involves the construction of highways, in the area.

Sharing the video on Twitter, BJP leader Jaiveer Shergill said, "Shameful act of slapping a woman farmer by Punjab Police official in a village in Gurdaspur. @PunjabPoliceInd must take strict action against this individual."

The alleged manhandling of the woman has sparked statewide protests by the farmers against the acquisition of land for the Bharatmala project.

Hundreds of activists of Kisan Mazdoor Sangharsh Committee (KMSC) squatted on railway tracks at several towns and blocked rail traffic over inadequate compensation for the land acquired for the project.

KMSC spokesperson Gurbachan Singh Chhaba said the farmers were protesting over the compensation issue in connection with acquisition of land.

Coming out in the support of the farmers, the Shiromani Akali Dal (SAD) condemned the 'repression' let loose on the farmers and demanded action against the guilty, besides a high-level probe into the entire incident of assaulting the woman.

In a statement issued here, senior SAD leader Daljit Singh Cheema said, "The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) government and its Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann, who also holds the home portfolio, have exposed their real face. Instead of listening to the grievances of the protesting farmers, this anti-farmer government has chosen to thrash and detain them and even manhandled women and the elderly."

Asserting that no government should act in such a dictatorial manner, Cheema said, "It would have been better had the Chief Minister called the farmers and listened to their grievances instead of summarily evicting them from their land."

He also expressed solidarity with the farmers and demanded that they be given a sympathetic hearing.

CONGRESS'S KAMAL NATH PROMISES FREE ELECTRICITY, AID FOR WOMEN AND OPS FOR GOVERNMENT STAFFERS

Team Absolute | Bhopal

The Congress will provide 100 units of electricity free to households and subsequent units up to 200 at half price if voted to power in Madhya Pradesh, where Assembly polls are scheduled for later this year, the party's state chief Kamal Nath said on Thursday. Addressing a public meeting in Badnawar, some 50 kilometres from the district headquarters here, Nath also said the party would give Rs 1,500 per month to poor women and bring back the Old Pension Scheme for government employees if it wins the Assembly polls. "For the first time I am saying 100 units of electricity will be free and 100 units will be given at half price if the Congress is voted to power in Madhya Pradesh," Nath said. Incidentally, the ruling Bharatiya Janata Party has a scheme under which women whose family income is less than Rs 2 lakh annually get Rs 1,000 per month. Slamming the BJP-led Centre, Nath said a row over Hindi had been triggered in Tamil Nadu, pro-Khalistani slogans were being raised in Punjab and Manipur was witnessing violence between tribals and non-tribals, which had led to the deaths of several persons. Efforts are on to divide society. This is a big challenge and we have to act as protectors of our culture. The BJP has politicised religion and brought it into the political arena," Nath said. "I am a proud Hindu but I am not a bewakoof (fool). We have to understand this thing. We have to understand the attacks taking place in our society and country," he said amid slogans of 'Jai Sri Ram' from the people at the rally. The Congress had emerged as the largest party with 114 seats in the 230-member Assembly in the 2018 polls and Nath went on to become chief minister. However, a rebellion by MLAs loyal to Jyotiraditya Scindia brought down his government in March 2020 and led to the BJP reclaiming power under Shivraj Singh Chouhan.

CM tells party's SM team to campaign against Congress through social media

Team Absolute | Bhopal

Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan has said misinformation spreads faster on social media than it happens through any other means of communication. Therefore, the party has to act fast on social media to counter Congress's misinformation campaign, he said. Chouhan made the statement at a meeting with the members of the BJP's social media and IT cell team who came to Bhopal from different parts of the state on Thursday. Everyone speaks openly on social media, Chouhan said, adding that the Congress should be exposed. According to Chouhan, since Congress's Vachan Patra is a bundle of lies, the BJP workers should take the government's welfare schemes to people. Party's state in-charge Muralidhar Rao said the people aged from 25 to 35 years should be recruited to IT cell and social media. Rao urged the party men to make a comparison between 2003 and 2023 and launch a campaign accordingly. President of the party's state unit VD Sharma said corruption of 15-month-old Congress government should be brought to public through social media. Former minister Umang Singhar called Digvijaya Singh a mafia during the Congress rule, he said. Govind Singh made allegation of corruption against his own government, Sharma said, adding that all those cases should be publicised through social media.

Congress to win 135 seats in MP, says Digvijaya

Team Absolute | Itarsi

Former chief minister Digvijaya Singh has said the Congress will win 135 seats in the ensuing Vidhan Sabha election. Singh made the statement at a press conference on Thursday. According to him, people are angry with the Shivraj Singh-led state government because of corruption, occupying of lands, temples and religious places. The ruling BJP is seeking votes in the name of religion, Singh said. Singh said that he and Rameshwar Nikhra had been given the responsibility to survey the constituencies that the Congress had lost in the last election and ensure the party's victory in those seats. He alleged that the BJP workers were involved in extortions, but the government was not taking any action against them. On the other hand, the administration is repressing the Congress workers, Singh said. The income-tax department raided the residences of his friends and they were terrorised, but the party will not tolerate it, Singh further said. To a question about Gau Seva (caring of cows) by the BJP, the Bajrang Dal and the Vishwa Hindu Parishad, Singh said that it was just owbiz. According to him, a Gau Seva Commission was set up during the Congress, but after returning to power, the BJP abolished it. About the candidate to be fielded from Itarsi, Singh said that a Congress candidate had been given the ticket from this constituency. Only Sartaj Singh, who was from the BJP, was given the ticket in the last election, he said. Former MP Rameshwar Prasad Nikhra, vice-president of the state Congress Manak Agarwal, former legislator Savita Diwan Sharma and others were present at the press conference.

Digvijaya Singh should take lessons from his younger brother Lakshman Singh: Narottam Mishra

Team Absolute | Bhopal

Madhya Pradesh Home Minister Narottam Mishra on Thursday took a jibe at the former chief minister and Rajya Sabha MP Digvijaya Singh and said that he should get some guidance from his younger brother Lakshman Singh. Mishra made the remark while reacting to a recent tweet of Singh's younger brother and Congress MLA Lakshman Singh about Hindus. On May 17, MLA Singh tweeted in Hindi, "Hindus are repeatedly called 'violent'. Had it been so, India would not have been a slave for 450 years. Ants and bees also bite for protection. So are they violent?" Reacting to this tweet, Narottam Mishra told reporters, "Lakshman Singh should explain to his elder brother Digvijaya Singh, who sometimes talks about Sanatan Dharma, sometimes Hindu and Hindutva. Digvijaya Singh should visit his younger brother's place for some time, give him some blessing, and take some guidance from him." "Lakshman Singh wrote that if Hindus were violent, then India would not have remained a slave for 450 years. I believe Digvijaya Singh should learn from Lakshman Singh," Mishra added. The home minister further said, "You (Digvijaya Singh) call Bhagwa a terrorism, you turn Hindus towards terrorism but never speak on Hizb-ut-Tahrir (HuT). You don't speak anything about Jamaat-ul-Mujahideen-Bangladesh (JMB) but definitely speak against the Army." Meanwhile, the State home minister said that he has ordered the suspension of an official who is alleged to have links with the contractual engineer Hema Meena against whom Lokayukta has initiated action in connection with disproportionate assets. "Lokayukta Police have taken action against Hema Meena. In this case, the name of project engineer Janardan has also come to light and serious complaints have been received against him. Therefore, I am ordering officials for his suspension," he added. Also in connection with the religious conversion angle that emerged during interrogation of the radical arrested members of the Islamist outfit Hizb-ut-Tahrir (HuT), Mishra said the name of one professor Kamal has come to light in the matter. "A Special Investigation Team (SIT) is investigating the whole matter. They are probing what the relations with Islamic preacher Zakir Naik were, how they work, where were their network, what were the sources of income, all these topics were being investigated," the minister said.

Over 6,520 people from Manipur, fleeing due to the recent ethnic violence, had taken shelter in Mizoram, officials in Aizawl said on Tuesday. Mizoram Home Department officials said that as the situation in several tribal dominated districts of Manipur are very volatile, more tribals belonging to Chin, Kuki, Mizo, Zomi are likely to come to Mizoram to take shelter. Of the 6,520 people, the highest number of 2,238 tribals took shelter in Mizoram's Saitual district followed by 2,119 people in Aizawl district and 1,993 in Kolasib district. Over 140 displaced people took shelter in Champhai district, bordering Myanmar, while Khawzawl and Serchhip districts have 17 and 14 displaced people respectively. Officials said that a large number of people from Manipur took shelter in the homes of their relatives and friends in Mizoram, while many of the hapless people were lodged in community halls, schools and vacant buildings. Tribal leaders in Manipur and Mizoram are discussing among themselves and they would soon hold a meeting involving the civil societies to deliberate on the issue of the future of Zo tribal community in Manipur. Meanwhile, 10 tribal legislators belonging to Chin, Kuki, Mizo, Zomi, and Hmar tribal communities have been demanding a separate state for the tribals dividing Manipur. One of the tribal MLAs in Manipur said that they would soon meet Union Home Minister Amit Shah in New Delhi to apprise him about their demand. The riots in Manipur claimed the lives of 73 people and injured 250, and resulted in destruction or burning down of 1,800 houses and destruction of government and private properties.

CLEAR & PRESENT DANGER: 1.4 LAKH YOUTH ADDICTED TO DRUGS IN VIOLENCE-HIT MANIPUR

Sujit Chakraborty

Of Manipur's 28 lakh population, 1.4 lakh youth are affected by the drugs menace, forcing the state government to launch a 'War Against Drugs' campaign that led to the arrest of 2,518 drug peddlers and destruction of 15,496 acres of illegal poppy cultivation in the past six years, officials said on Tuesday. A senior official of Manipur's Narcotics and Affairs of Border Department said that while dealing with the drugs-related cases and destruction of illegal poppy cultivation areas, the state government never targeted a particular community. "Drugs ruined many precious lives in Manipur and India. Manipur has a population of only 28 lakh, of which 1.4 lakh are currently affected by the drugs menace. The state has become a gateway for illegal drugs smuggling into the mainland Indian states," the official told correspondent. Manipur government's actions against the drugs menace and destruction of illegal poppy fields in the reserved forests (RF) and protected forests are the two main reasons of unrest since early this year, which erupted in the ethnic violence from May 3. Poppy cultivation is prohibited in India under the Narcotics Drugs and Psychotropic Substances (NDPS) Act 1985, except under a licence issued by the Central Bureau of Narcotics. At present, licit opium poppy cultivation is permitted by the Indian government in selected tracts in a few north Indian states. The official said that the Manipur government never targeted a particular community, and encroachment evictions from the reserve forest and protected forest were done statewide to preserve the forests in view of the deteriorating climatic conditions. According to the official, of the 2,518 drug peddlers arrested since 2017, 1,083 were Muslim, 873 people belonged to Kuki-Chin tribals, 381 belonged to the Meitei community, while 181 people belonged to various other communities. Out of the destruction of 15,496 acres of illegal poppy fields since 2017, 13,121 acres belonged to Kuki-Chin tribals, 2,340 acres belonged to Naga tribals, and 35 acres to other communities. The official said that the 291 encroachers evicted from the protected and reserve forest areas in various districts, including Imphal East, Imphal West, Kangpokpi, Thoubal and Noney, belonged to various communities, including Kuki-Chin, Naga tribals, Nepali, Meitei etc. The hills account for 90 per cent of the state's area and 10 per cent of its population, while the valley occupies 10 per cent land. Out of the 60 Assembly seats, the valley accounts for 40 seats, dominating the state government and policy-making decisions. In the valley, there are Hindu, non-tribal Meitei communities while the hills are inhabited largely by the Christian Naga and Kuki-Zomi communities. Protesting against the state government's action to evict them from forest lands and destruction of illegal poppy cultivation in the reserve and protected forests, the tribals had on March 10 organised protest rallies in three districts -- Churachandpur, Kangpokpi and Tengnoupal, during which five people were injured. Fresh incidents of violence, including arson and vandalisation of government properties, were triggered on April 27 in Churachandpur district after the tribals launched fresh protests against the state government's action against illegal poppy cultivation. Over 70 people died while scores of others were left injured after rampant arsoning and clashed broke out in Manipur after a 'Tribal Solidarity March' organised in the 10 hill districts on May 3 to protest against the Meitei community's demand for Scheduled Tribe (ST) status. Government officials accused the Kuki militants of inciting Kuki tribal encroachers against the government, which has been evicting the tribals from the forest land and destroying poppy fields and these actions are said to be a precursor to the ethnic violence that was triggered on May 3. The Centre and the Manipur government had signed a tripartite agreement and 'Suspension of Operation' with three Kuki militant outfits -- the Kuki National Army (KNA), Zomi Revolutionary Army (ZRA) and Kuki Revolutionary Army (KRA) -- on August 22, 2008. After the March 10 agitations by the tribals, allegedly backed by the Kuki militants, the Manipur government had unilaterally withdrawn itself from the tripartite agreement. However, the Centre is yet to give its approval to the Manipur government's decision.

INDIAN-AMERICAN WINS DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION FOR TOP POST IN US COUNTY

Team Absolute | New Delhi

Indian-American attorney and educator Neil Makhija has won the Democratic nomination for Montgomery County Commissioner, thus inching closer to becoming the first Asian-American to hold the top post in Pennsylvania state. Makhija had thrown his hat in the ring for the primary election on Tuesday for Commissioner of Montgomery County, which has one of the largest Asian-American populations in Pennsylvania. "It's official! Our underdog campaign succeeded and I have officially won the Democratic nomination for Montgomery County Commissioner," Makhija took to his Twitter to share the news on Wednesday. "None of this would have happened without my incredible team + supporters, and for that I am immeasurably grateful. Together, we made history," he tweeted. Makhija, who belongs to a Sindhi family from India, will now be competing in the November general election to determine control of the three-member Board of Commissioners in Pennsylvania's third largest county with over 865,000 people. If elected, the 36-year-old election law professor at the University of Pennsylvania would be the first South Asian member to serve for the position left open by outgoing commissioner Valerie Arkoosh. In an email to his supporters, a victorious Makhija said his campaign "inspired a new and diverse coalition of voters to turn out to vote in every corner of the county". Montgomery County commission is the governing body of Montgomery County, consisting of five members who are elected by districts. Each Commissioner is elected to a four-year term and represents approximately 45,000 constituents. The Montgomery County Commission's responsibilities include control of all county public funds, adoption of an annual budget reflecting anticipated income and expenses (by law, expenditures cannot exceed revenue received). If elected, Makhija, along with other commissioners, will be tasked with managing a budget greater than $500 million and 3,000 employees including elections, courts, district attorney's office, public health departments and public infrastructure. The commissioners will also oversee administration of the 2024 presidential election, which is expected to put local election officials in the spotlight in battleground Pennsylvania. Makhija worked at the White House, Senate, and earned his JD at Harvard Law School on the Horace Lentz Scholarship. As the son of Indian immigrants, the Pennsylvania native is passionate about enfranchising underrepresented communities and engaging new citizens in state and local politics.

8 dead, thousands evacuated in Italy floods

Rome | Agencies

At least eight people have died and 12,000 were forced to flee their homes two days ago after torrential rainfall caused flash floods in and around Italy's Emilia-Romagna region. Stefano Bonaccini, president of the region, said on Wednesday he feared the death toll would rise as reports of missing persons were pouring in amid rescue efforts aimed at removing residents stuck on the high floors of buildings or isolated on rooftops. According to local media reports, the region was hit by more than 50 cm of rain in 48 hours -- around half its normal total for a full year. Bonaccini added the rainfall and flooding were "a catastrophic event that had never been seen before". Nello Musumeci, Italy's Minister for civil protection and marine policies, vowed to rush aid workers and equipment to the beleaguered region, Xinhua news agency reported.

US court clears extradition of 26/11 attack accused Tahawwur Rana to India

New York | Agencies

A US court has cleared the extradition of Pakistani-Canadian businessman Tahawwur Rana to India where he is sought for his involvement in the 2008 Mumbai terror attacks. Said to be linked with Pakistan's Inter-Services Intelligence (ISI), Rana, 62, was arrested in the US for his role in attacks that saw 10 Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) terrorists storm buildings in Mumbai, killing 164 people, including six Americans, in a 60-hour siege. "The court has reviewed and considered all of the documents submitted in support of and in opposition to the Request and has considered the arguments presented at the hearing," Magistrate Judge of the US District Court of California, Judge Jacqueline Chooljian, said in a 48-page court order on Tuesday, which was released on Wednesday. "Based on such review and consideration and for the reasons discussed herein, the court makes the findings set forth below and certifies to the Secretary of State of the US the extraditability of Rana on the charged offenses that are the subject of the Request," the judge said in the order. Rana's arrest in the US was made at India's request as per the 1997 Extradition Treaty between the two countries. He was convicted in Chicago in 2011 of providing material support to the LeT, which planned the Mumbai terror attacks. The development comes after a US court last month dismissed a status conference motion moved by Rana, stating that it anticipates a ruling on his extradition to India within 30 days. Prosecutors in the court argued that Rana knew that his childhood friend Pakistani-American David Coleman Headley was involved with the LeT, and helped him in scouting locations and landing zones in Mumbai for carrying out the attack. Rana was also aware of what was discussed in Headley's meetings, including planning of the attacks as well as the targets. While the extradition was contested by his lawyer, the judge ruled that there is sufficient competent evidence to extradite him. The extradition had been requested for conspiracy to wage war, to commit murder, to commit forgery for the purpose of cheating, to use as genuine a forged document or electronic record, and to commit a terrorist act; waging war; murder; committing a terrorist act; and conspiracy to commit a terrorist act. "It is therefore ordered that Tahawwur Hussain Rana be and remain committed to the custody of the US Marshal pending a final decision on extradition and surrender by the Secretary of State to India for trial of the offences as to which extradition has been granted pursuant to Title 18, US Code, section 3186 and the Treaty," the judge ruled.

found broken, he said. The official said they suspect there was some dispute among the three persons leading to the incident. The body was sent to a government hospital for post-mortem. The two injured persons were hospitalised, he said. A probe was on into the incident, he added.

MVA slams Nadda's 'prediction' that next Mumbai Mayor will be from BJP

Team Absolute | Mumbai

The Opposition Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) has slammed the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) President J.P. Nadda's assertions saying the next Mumbai Mayor will be from his party, here on Thursday. At a party workers' meeting here on Wednesday, Nadda attacked the MVA saying its two-and-half year rule was marked with corruption and inefficiency. "However, the new government of Chief Minister Eknath Shinde-Deputy CM Devendra Fadnavis has brought the growth engine back on the track in the state," said Nadda. Towards this aim, he called upon the party to work with full strength to ensure that the next BMC Mayor is from the BJP. Nadda's comments evoked sharp reactions from the MVA allies Congress, Nationalist Congress Party and Shiv Sena (UBT) as the elections to the BrihanMumbai Municipal Corporation will be a trailer for the upcoming Lok Sabha and later Assembly polls, both scheduled in 2024. State Congress President Nana Patole said that Nadda has no value in his own party and he couldn't even save it from the drubbing received in Karnataka last week. "It's strange that the National President of the BJP should be talking about city Mayor elections... It seems next he will be deciding who will be Village

Panchayat Sarpanchs," said Patole. NCP National Spokesperson Clyde Crasto said that to get its Mayor, the BJP should first hold and contest the BMC elections, but they are avoiding it as they will lose. "An internal survey of BJP has shown that if polls are held now, they will lose as getting Shinde on board has not gained them any voters, and instead they have lost their credibility after orchestrating the political coup (June 2022)," said Crasto. Sena (UBT) Chief Spokesperson Sanjay Raut dismissed the BJP President's predictions saying that "wherever Nadda goes, his party loses the elections... The latest example is Karnataka where he had campaigned". Taking a swipe at Shinde-Fadnavis, Patole reminded that "now the winds of change are blowing" and the BJP cannot win elections with 'gadhaars' (traitors) henceforth. In a jibe at the state unit, Crasto said apparently they have not enlightened Nadda of the party's unacceptance by the Mumbai-Maharashtra voters and are trying to create a 'fake narrative' that everything is fine and they are confident of going to the polls. Raut said that Nadda is welcome in Mumbai and Maharashtra as that would ensure the BJP's defeat here in the next elections, starting with BMC - the country's biggest and richest civic body.

After Shiv Sena (UBT), NCP wants quick decision on MLAs' disqualification

Team Absolute | Mumbai

After the Shiv Sena (UBT), even the Nationalist Congress Party has demanded that the issue of disqualification of 16 MLAs - including Chief Minister Eknath Shinde - must be decided quickly, here on Thursday. NCP National Spokesperson Clyde Crasto called upon the Maharashtra Assembly Speaker Rahul Narwekar to act on the matter on priority now that the Supreme Court verdict is out. "Narwekar should take a non-partisan and quick decision to solve the issue... If not, then the delay in taking the decision might raise questions on the Constitutional position of the Speaker," Crasto pointed out. Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) ally Shiv Sena (UBT) MP Sanjay Raut on Thursday raised questions over the Speaker addressing the media several times on the 16 MLAs disqualification issue. Referring to Narwekar's statement that if the SC could take some 10 months on its judgement, why the

Speaker should not get a reasonable period to take a decision, the NCP leader said the apex court had studied the case minutely and then directed the Speaker to take certain decisions prescribed under authority as a constitutional head of the Maharashtra Legislature. Crasto said that the SC has already termed the appointment of Shinde Shiv Sena's Whip Bharat Gogawale as illegal and this will actually make it easier for the Speaker to give his ruling as all directives issued by an unauthorised Whip are rendered invalid. On May 15 (Monday), a Sena (UBT) delegation led by its Whip Sunil Prabhu met Deputy Speaker Narhari Zirwal and submitted a memorandum urging that the Speaker should take his decision as early as possible. Last week, the SC had put the question of the 16 MLAs in the Maharashtra Speaker's domain, and to take the decision in a reasonable time. Simultaneously, other MVA leaders like state Congress President Nana Patole, state NCP President Jayant Patil, and Sena (UBT) have adopted a similar stance in the matter and appealed to the Speaker to dispose of it at the earliest. Meanwhile, the Speaker has already initiated the due process as directed by the SC verdict on this issue.

Sudipto Sen introduces the young women who inspired 'The Kerala Story'

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Filmmaker Sudipto Sen introduced the real inspiration for his controversial movie, 'The Kerala Story', at a press in Mumbai on Wednesday evening. A highlight of the press conference was an interaction with the young women who had escaped religious conversion in Kerala and were being looked after by the Aarsha Vidya Samajam Ashram. Sen said these young women had inspired him to make the film. "Their number is too many in our country, but few of them are with us today here, and I want to honour them all," Sen said. "Let me share with you a little incident," Sen continued. "I want to share this incident because without knowing it you probably wouldn't know where the roots of this film are. I will introduce Shruti, Chitra and Adhira. The first time I met Shruti in a small village she didn't have electricity in her house, because they had cut off the supply. And every time she would go out to purchase vegetables, people would snatch away her bag. I had to interview them through a small little partition in their house because they were scared to come out." Sen went on to note: "People have misused these girls and forced them into a life of desolation, and that was my inspiration to make this film." And he added passionately: "This is not a day for me; this is the day these girls will be heard. Please treat them with compassion when you talk about them."

'The Kerala Story' producer donates Rs 51 lakh to ashram in the state

Mumbai: Following the release of 'The Kerala Story' in the UK, the team behind the film addressed the media to celebrate the success of the film. The film, according to its makers, is likely to cross the Rs 190-crore-mark in India today. 'The Kerala Story' has been facing the backlash of a certain political parties and groups that have claimed that the film is not based on facts, and propagates hatred against the Muslim community.

Cong lauds Trimbakeshwar citizens for foiling BJP's 'sinister plans'

Team Absolute | Mumbai/Nashik

The Maharashtra Congress on Thursday praised the citizens of Trimbakeshwar for effectively "thwarting the Bharatiya Janata Party's sinister plans" to foment communal troubles in this prominent pilgrimage centre. Maharashtra unit Congress president Nana Patole also demanded a Special Investigation Team probe against various Hindu groups which he alleged were 'conspiring to increase communal tensions in different parts of Maharashtra' as the civic, parliament and assembly polls approach. Simultaneously, former Congress MP Husain Dalwai along with his supporters went to the Trimbakeshwar Temple and offered their respects from outside the premises, just as the local Muslims have been doing since decades. Referring to the crisis after the May 13 incident which created tensions in this holy town, Patole said that the tradition of offering 'incense dhoop' at the Trimbakeshwar Temple has been going on for centuries. The ritual is carried out during the annual 'Urs' procession of the Hazrat Pir Syed Gulab Shahwali Baba Dargah and Hazrat Pir Karim Shahwali Dargah Trust, both located within a km radius of the Jyotirlinga temple, and revered by people of all religions. However, on account of certain mischievous social media posts and videos this year, the situation suddenly became abnormal with allegations of 'trespassing' inside the temple by the local Muslim community and alleged 'clashes' which both communities have denied. "The BJP activists, the Hindu Maha Sabha,

All India Brahmin Federation, Yuva Morcha, Love-Jihad groups and others performed a maha-aarti, sprinkled cow urine and threw flowers to 'purify' the temple entrance after the alleged non-existent incident," said Patole taking a jibe. "However, the people of Maharashtra are now wary of these plots and tactics of the BJP and will not fall prey to them anymore. There was no forcible entry into the Trimbakeshwar Temple, and this has been confirmed by the local police and also the villagers," Patole pointed out. "Deputy CM Devendra Fadnavis has ordered an SIT probe into the so-called incident. We demand that it should also investigate all the BJP-supported organisations which tried to incite violence and spoil the social harmony of Trimbakeshwar," said Patole. It may be recalled that on Wednesday, the Trimbakeshwar Temple trustees, the two dargahs officials, the former Municipal Council President, all local political parties and social groups met together and voted for peace in the region.

One accused had died during the trial, PTI reported. Salma Hayek suffers wardrobe malfunction while dancing in a social media video

Los Angeles | Agencies

Mexican-American actress Salma Hayek showed a lot more than she intended to as she mistakenly flaunted her assets while dancing.

The actress, 56, was celebrating reaching 24 million followers on Instagram and seemed unfazed by her wardrobe malfunction, reports Mirror.co.uk.

Instead, she labelled it "24 million reasons to smile" as she thanked her fans for "joining me on this wild ride."

Posting the cheeky video to her social media, the 'Magic Mike' star was seen dancing in a robe to Latino music.

Mirror.co.uk further states that the white gown failed to cover her modesty at all times - not that Salma let that bother her. Instead, she continued to shake her hips and move her feet while her breasts and other intimate parts flashed onlookers - albeit censored for the upload.

Those in the room joined in with the dancing to the trumpets and Salma added in the caption: "I cannot contain my excitement & gratitude."

Paris Hilton was among those sharing the love in the comments section, simply posting an emoji with love heart eyes.

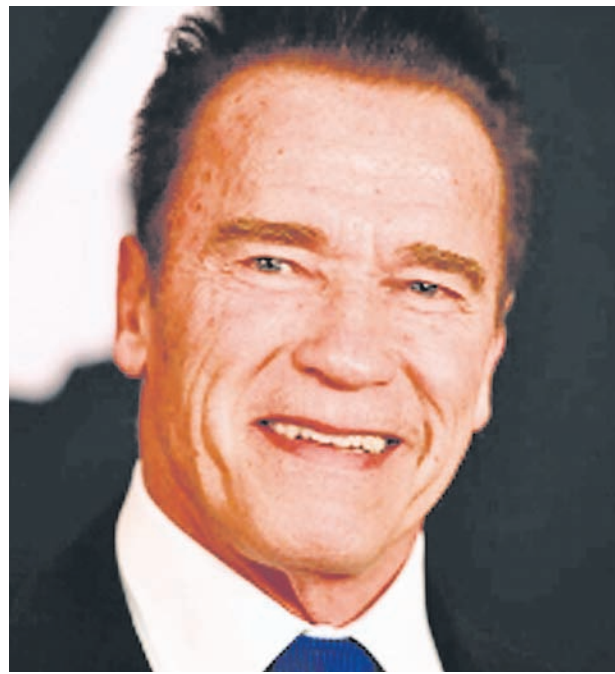

Others were a bit more sarcastic in their responses with one fan joking: "There's something wrong with this video it keeps going blurry."

Another added: "The best part is the censor. You know you're living your best life while dancing and it all comes out!"

But there was also scepticism from some, with one user writing: "lol I feel like she blurred it to be funny. I don't think anything actually popped out."

Schwarzenegger

ADMITS 'MISTAKES' AS HE REGRETS HIS MISCONDUCT TOWARDS WOMEN

Los Angeles | Agencies

Hollywood star Arnold Schwarzenegger has said there is no "excuse" for him "behaving badly" with women. The 75-year-old actor - who apologised in 2018 for having "stepped over the line several times" after being accused of groping women - said no one ever called him out on his inappropriate conduct and, though he can't turn back time to correct his "mistakes," he does feel bad and is determined to be a better person, reports aceshowbiz.com.

"We are not perfect. We try to be, but there's only one that's perfect - God. My mouth is great, but it gets me into trouble. My brain is great - it has the will to make a better world - but sometimes I f up. I make mistakes. I behaved badly," he told The Hollywood Reporter.

"All of those things I've addressed in the past. I feel bad about it. But I cannot roll the clock back. I have to be careful and be wiser. I'm smarter. I'm more sensitive about other people's feelings."

"No one said anything. Look, the bottom line is that even though the times were different, it doesn't matter if it was 100 years ago or today. You have to treat women with respect and you have to treat people with respect. None of it is an excuse. I should have behaved better."

The 'Terminator' actor shared that his stint as Governor of California helped him become a better person because he was looking beyond himself and his own wants and desires. Asked what made him change, he said: "I just think as time goes on, you just become wiser. You start thinking more about other people and not just about yourself. Not just what's fun for you, not just what makes you look ballsy."

MICHAEL DOUGLAS RECALLS HOW 'BASIC INSTINCT' SEX SCENES SHOCKED EVEN THE FRENCH

Paris | Agencies

By modern standards, Paul Verhoeven's 1992 sex noir drama 'Basic Instinct' might not seem that scandalous, but it was a much different story when it first premiered at the Cannes Film Festival, Michael Douglas, the film's male star, said on Wednesday, reports 'Variety'.

Considered genre-defining or high camp depending on who you ask, 'Variety' continues, the project was "unique, even for France", Douglas said during a conversation at Cannes.

"Seeing a lot of those sex scenes on the Grand Palais' huge screen, it was a little overwhelming for a lot of people. We had a very quiet dinner afterwards, everyone was sort of digesting it," Douglas recalled (the cast included Sharon Stone and Jeanne Tripplehorn). He was at the festival ahead of receiving the Honorary Palm d'Or as a salute to his "brilliant career and commitment to cinema".

'Basic Instinct', notes 'Variety', followed a weary homicide detective (Douglas) investigating a successful crime writer (Stone). The film was initially given an NC-17 rating, but was downgraded to an R after studio lobbying.

A scene where Stone flashes detectives in a police interview is one of the contemporary film's most memorable scenes and is still referenced and parodied.

In addition to 'Basic Instinct', 'Variety' adds, Douglas has brought a number of memorable movies to Cannes all through his career, including 'The China Syndrome', co-starring Jane Fonda; Joel Schumacher's 'Falling Down'; and his award-winning Liberace project 'Behind the Candelabra'.
