NO INTERIM RELIEF

Team Absolute New Delhi

he Delhi High Court on Wednesday refused any interim relief to Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal, who has been arrested by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) in an excise policy case and is currently in its custody.

Justice Swarana Kanta Sharma, hearing Kejriwal's plea contending that his arrest and the remand order passed by a trial court were illegal and that he was entitled to be released from custody immediately, said that the probe agency has to be granted an opportunity to file a reply. "... the respondent has to be granted an opportunity to file a reply, as an opportunity for effective representation, and declining this opportunity would amount to a denial of fair hearing as well as

AAP'S LONE LS MP JOINS BJP

New Delhi: In a major political setback to the ruling Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) in Punjab, the party's lone MP in the Lok Sabha, Sushil Kumar Rinku (48), joined the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) here on Wednesday.

In the bypoll to the Jalandhar Lok Sabha constituency held in May last year, Rinku trounced Congress' Karamjit Kaur by a thumping margin of 58,691 votes, as the grand old party faced defeat in the seat for the first time since 1999. Rinku, a former Congress leader, joined the BJP in the presence of the party's National General Secretary Vinod Tawde and Punjab BJP chief Sunil Jakhar at the party headquarters here. AAP MLA from Jalandhar (West), Sheetal Angural, also joined the saffron party along with Rinku.

AK'S DIRECTIVES FROM CUSTODY MAY ADD TO HIS & AAP'S LEGAL HASSLES

New Delhi: Two orders issued by Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal from the custody of the Enforcement Directorate (ED) over water and sewage issues in the national capital have triggered a controversy about the legitimacy and legality of such a step -- which could potentially multiply legal hassles for the Delhi CM as well as the Aam Aam Party (AAP).

The probe agency is examining the veracity and source of the so-called directives issued by CM Kejriwal to his ministerial colleagues Atishi and Saurabh Bharadwaj. The ED is very likely to raise the legality of sending such orders before the Rouse Avenue Court when Kejriwal is presented next before the court on the expiry of his existing remand timeline. After his arrest, CM Kejriwal first issued an order to Water Minister Atishi from the custody of the ED on Sunday, while another directive was issued on Tuesday to the health department on smooth functioning of the AAP's flagship Mohalla Clinics.

The Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) has claimed that CM Kejriwal, despite being remanded to ED custody, is more concerned about the people of the national capital than himself. However, the issuance of directives by Kejriwal in custody has triggered allegations of illegal operations and unlawful takeover of the Delhi CM's office.

required to be filed on behalf of the ED. In response to this, the court observed that while hearing and deciding a case, it is duty-bound to hear both sides fairly, keeping in mind the principles of natural justice. "Thus, the reply by the Directorate of Enforcement is essential and crucial to decide the present case," the judge noted. Justice Sharma also observed that she cannot presume that the respondent will have no reply to file and will remain bound only by the contentions raised before the trial court."Further, any release order from custody will amount to enlarging the accused/petitioner on bail or interim bail, as an interim measure," she observed. Justice Sharma has given the ED time till April 2 to file its reply to Kejriwal's interim application seeking immediate release from ED custody and even on the main petition, issued notice to the probe agency. The matter will be heard next on April 3.

RAID ON AAP LEADER'S RESIDENCE BASED ON KEJRIWAL'S INFORMATION

New Delhi: Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Wednesday conducted raids at the residence of Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) leader Deepak Singla in the excise policy case, sources said. Sources said that the raids come after information was revealed during the grilling of Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal, who was arrested on March 21 in the case and subsequently remanded to ED custody until March 28 by a Delhi court.

Singla, a former AAP candidate, had contested elections from Delhi's Vishwas Nagar Assembly seat under the AAP banner.

Madhya Pradesh CM calls Kamal Nath an 'outsider' hief Minister Mohan Yadav on Wednesday called the former Chief Minister Kamal Nath an "outsider" and asked the voters in Chhindwara to bid adieu to "outsider" in the upcoming elections.

"Outsiders came here (Chhindwara) but they are not willing to move out. It's an appropriate time (Lok Sabha election) to bid adieu to the outsiders," Chief Minister Mohan Yadav said while addressing a rally in Chhindwara on Wednesday, without mentioning Kamal Nath. The Chief Minister indirectly attempted to remind the Chhindwara voters that Kamal Nath, who has won nine times from Chhindwara Lok Sabha seat and made it his family bastion for the last 40 years, was born in Kanpur (Uttar Pradesh).

Hitting further at Kamal Nath, Madhya Pradesh Chief Minister Mohan Yadav said the Congress leader did not see leadership potential beyond his family members". Referring to the people of Chhindwara, the Chief Minister said: "Every time you elect a leader from just one family. Is there no leadership quality in your children? Why don't you elect the person who belongs to you and live with you?"

He also questioned the leadership quality of Chhindwara MP Nakul Nath, who is contesting his second Lok Sabha election from his family bastion.

"Do you see any potential in Chhindwara MP? Your children were not allowed to grow because Kamal Nath did not see leadership quality in you beyond his family members," the Chief Minister said.

AGAINST IT FIRM OF CM VIJAYAN'S DAUGHTER

Kochi: The Enforcement initiated an investigation into a money laundering case involving Kerala Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan's daughter Veena Vijavan's IT firm and the Cochin-based mining firm CMRL

The case is already being probed by the Serious Fraud Investigation Office (SFIO).

The Kochi office of the ED has filed an ECIR in the case. The ECIR is similar to the FIR lodged by the police for cognizable offences

This issue was first raised last year by Congress MLA Mathew Kuzhalnadan on the basis of a media report, which quoted an Income Tax Department officer as saying that "CM Vijayan's daughter Veena Vijayan's IT firm Exalogic had received Rs 1.72 crore from the mining company CMRL, in which the KSIDC has around 13 per cent stake". Initially, CM Vijayan and the CPI(M) defended the case both inside and outside the Assembly. They said that this was nothing but a political witch hunt. But the defence fell apart when the SFIO took up the probe

ECI notice to Cong's Supriya Shrinate, BJP's Dilip Ghosh for distasteful remarks against women

Team Absolute New Delhi

The Election Commission of India (ECI) on Wednesday issued a show cause notice to senior Congress leader Supriya Shrinate and the BJP's Dilip Ghosh for their distasteful remarks against women, in the run-up to the Lok Sabha elections.

The Congress' social media incharge, Supriya Shrinate, in a now deleted post, made disparaging and derogatory remark against actress Kangana Ranaut, who is the BJP's candidate from Mandi, while BJP MP, Dilip Ghosh, made offending remarks against West Bengal Chief Minister, Mamata Banerjee. The poll panel found the remarks of both the leaders "undignified and in bad taste."

Supriya Shrinate kicked up a storm when she mocked Kangana Ranaut for bagging the BJP's nomination from Mandi

Lok Sabha constituency for the forthcoming elections.

The BJP launched a blistering attack on the Congress spokesperson, accusing her of making sexist slurs on its candidate, while the latter tried to firefight the backlash.

The BJP's Dilip Ghosh stirred controversy when he taunted CM Mamata Banerjee over her father. Speaking to the Press, the BJP MP had claimed, "Wherever Mamata goes, she claims herself to be the daughter of that state. She should first identify her father."

The Trinamool Congress went all guns blazing against Dilip Ghosh, describing him as a "repeat offender" when it came to women.

FORMER IPS OFFICER SANJIV BHATT CONVICTED IN 1996 NDPS CASE

Ahmedabad: Former Indian Police Service (IPS) officer Sanjiv Bhatt was convicted in a 1996 narcotics case under the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act (NDPS) by the Palanpur Sessions Court, Gujarat on Wednesday.

The case dates back to Bhatt's tenure as the District Superintendent of Police in Banaskantha, where he was accused of framing a lawyer, Sumersingh Rajpurohit, by planting 1.5 kg of opium in a hotel room in Palanpur.

The Gujarat Crime Investigation Department (CID) arrested Bhatt for allegedly fabricating evidence against Rajpurohit. Bhatt was already serving a life sentence for a custodial death case dating back to 1989.In this earlier case, the Jamnagar court found Bhatt guilty of causing the death of Prabhudas Vaishnani, who succumbed to injuries sustained while in police custody.

study published in The Lancet, India's total fertility rate saw a significant decline from 6.18 in 1950 to 1.91 in 2021.

The study predicted that it may further drop to 1.3 by 2050 and 1.04 by 2100.

Reasons that lead to infertility include rising levels of obesity, stress, smoking, pollution, and unhealthy lifestyles, said the doctor.

Infertility can affect the total fertility rate (TFR) by delaying childbearing age and reducing conception probability.

■ According to a recent Team Absolute New Delhi he decline in fertility rates in India is a matter of concern and must be addressed properly by taking into account factors like urbanisation, education, and women's empowerment, said health experts on Wednesday.

"Numerous factors such as education, religious beliefs, and the contraceptive prevalence rate (CPR), influence the total fertility rates of a country. In addition, delay in marriage and childbirth and change in social norms favouring smaller family size, financial independence, more and more women pursuing careers over motherhood, also result in a reduced fertility rate," Dr. Rachita Munjal, Senior Consultant, Birla Fertility & IVF, Gurugram, told correspondent

TFR can be defined as the average number of children born to a woman in her lifetime.

The psychological impact of infertility and related complications prompts couples to reconsider family plans, potentially leading to fewer children. The societal stigma surrounding infertility and fertility treatment further restricts couples from seeking medical help, contributing to a lower TFR by limiting access to treatment," Dr. Rachita said.

Dr Nisha Bhatnagar, Medical Director at Infinite Fertility, told correspondent that the declining fertility levels can have manifold ramifications for public health policy and society.

However, reproductive technology developments like egg freezing can provide personalised answers to infertility problems, the doctor

"Egg freezing has become a recognised technique for maintaining fertility, especially for those who choose to delay having children for personal or professional reasons," Dr Nisha said. However, these are not a cure-all for the general trends in population, the expert said, emphasising the need for more comprehensive public health policies that take into account "socioeconomic factors such as urbanisation, education, and women's empowerment."

China leads in govt-backed exploitation of zero-day bugs: Google report

hina continues to lead the way for government-backed exploitation of zero-day vulnerabilities and the cyber espionage groups in the country exploited 12 zero-day vulnerabilities in 2023, up from seven in 2022, a Google report said on Wednesday. A zero-day bug is a vulnerability in a system or device that has been disclosed but is not yet patched.

In 2023, Google observed 97 zero-day vulnerabilities exploited in-the-wild. That's over 50 per cent more than in 2022, but still shy of 2021's record of 106, according to the report by Google's Threat Analysis Group (TAG) and cyber-security firm Mandiant. "Attackers are now shifting focus to thirdparty components and libraries in 2023. Zero-day vulnerabilities in third-party components and libraries were a prime attack surface in 2023, since exploiting this type of vulnerability can scale to affect more than one product," said James Sadowski, Principal Analyst, Mandiant Intelligence. The team observed an increase in adversary exploitation of enterprisespecific technologies in 2023, with a 64 per cent increase in the total number of vulnerabilities from the previous year and a general increase in the number of enterprise vendors targeted since at least 2019. Exploitation associated with financially motivated actors proportionally decreased last year. "Financially motivated actors accounted for 10 zeroday vulnerabilities exploited in 2023, a lower proportion of the total than what we observed in 2022," said the Google report.

n IndiGo aircraft narrowly avoided a collision with an Air India Express aircraft at the runway of Kolkata's Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose International Airport airport on Wednesday, sending shivers down the spines of 169 passengers aboard the latter plane.

According to reports, the IndiGo aircraft was awaiting clearance to enter the runway when it inadvertently brushed the wingtip of the Air India Express plane at around 10:30 a.m. The close call sparked immediate alarm, prompting the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) to initiate a comprehensive investigation into the matter.

"A minor graze between a taxiing IndiGo aircraft and that of another carrier was reported from Kolkata Airport. The aircraft returned to the bay for inspection and necessary action, as per protocol. Consequently, IndiGo flight 6E 6152 between Kolkata and Darbhanga has been delayed," an IndiGo spokesperson said.

"Refreshments were provided to all passengers and an alternate aircraft has been arranged to minimise delay and inconvenience to the passengers. IndiGo prioritises passenger safety above all else. An incident report will be submitted to DGCA in due course, as per protocol," the spokesperson added. Meanwhile, the Air India Express (AIX) spokesperson, in a statement, said that the wingtip of a taxiing aircraft of another airline grazed one of their aircraft, which was stationary and awaiting clearance to enter the runway at Kolkata for a scheduled operation to Chennai. "The aircraft has since returned to the bay and further investigation is underway, for which we are coordinating with the regulator and airport authorities. he Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Wednesday issued summons to Shiv Sena (UBT) leader Amol G. Kirtikar, who has been named the party's candidate for the Mumbai North West Lok Sabha seat.

The ED has summoned Kirtikar as part of its probe into the alleged money-laundering case arising out of the 'khichdi scam' first probed by the Mumbai Police's Economic Offences Wing (EOW).

SS (UBT) MP and chief spokesperson Sanjay Raut attacked the BJP over the development, terming it as a 'pressure tactic' applied on the party candiover the alleged scam of Rs 6.37 crore. During probe, Kirtikar's name also cropped up and he was quizzed by the EOW for over six hours in September last year. After the money-laundering angle emerged in the case, the ED stepped into the picture in October

The ED has filed its own complaint, and arrested Suraj Chavan, a close associate of SS (UBT) leader Aditya Thackeray, besides slapping attachment orders on his properties worth Rs 88 lakh. Former BJP MP Kirit Somaiya, who highlighted the scam, claimed that "Amol Kirtikar had received Rs 1.65 crore out of the 'khichdi scam', for which he would be held accountable". Kirtikar (52) is the son of a veteran Shiv Sena leader Gajanan Kirtikar, the sitting MP from Mumbai North West, who allied with Chief Minister Eknath Shinde after the party split in June 2022. While the prestigious seat is being coveted by the ruling Shiv Sena and the BJP, SS (UBT)'s decision to field Kirtikar from the seat drew huge flak from the MVA partners Congress-Nationalist Congress Party (SP) on Wednesday.

he new hi-tech Mobile Drone Vehicle (MDV) will soon join the Lucknow Police to make policing more effective.

The flying time of this drone will be 10-15 hours, some leap from the present 15 minutes.

The new MDV serves both as its base and carries the drone, allowing for remote monitoring. It is ready to be used as it can be installed within a few minutes. The drone has a 10-hour flight duration as opposed to the typical drone with a 15 to 20-minute flying limit.

Upendra Kumar Agrawal, Joint Commissioner of Police (JCP), Law and Order, said: "We did a trial run and it was successful. We are in the final stage to launch it, where big events such as processions, cricket matches, and upcoming Lok Sabha elections can be monitored.

The drone has been developed by a city-based Robotic company Roboz run by a robot expert Milind Raj and is being funded by Goenka Group under its corporate social responsibility programme.

Continuous monitoring will be done through the drone installed in this vehicle. It will continue to get battery backup through a wire and a generator in the vehicle. Till now only 10-15 minutes of monitoring has been possible through drones," added the JCP.

"A 32-inch screen in the car will help the team sitting inside the vehicle monitor captured proceedings. Interestingly, the drone will be able to keep an eye from a height of about 70 feet. Till now, drones can take good pictures only from a maximum height of 20 feet," he said adding that the drone will be significant to keep a watch on sensitive programmes.

Agarwal said that the drone system can be fed criminal data from police records and can be used to scan for criminals who may be present at such events.

"The device will be useful for managing traffic since, in the event of a jam, a parked drone in the vicinity may fly to identify the cause of the jam, eliminating the need for a traffic cop to investigate," said the JCP.

Even as mercury approaches 40 degrees Celsius mark, Ahmedabad records 173 swine flu cases

Ahmedabad | Agencies

ven as mercury has approached 40 degrees Celsius mark, Ahmedabad has witnessed a rise in swine flu, diarrhea, vomiting, and typhoid cases in March. The health department has reported significant infections: 173 cases of swine flu, 562 of diarrhea and vomiting, 85 of jaundice, and 204 of typhoid as of March 24.

The resurgence of swine flu, typically rare in summer, has alarmed health officials. Cases are proliferating not only in Ahmedabad but also across other Gujarat cities like Rajkot.

The officials shared that the situation is exacerbated by the detection of cholera cases in various city localities, including Ramol, Amraiwadi, Jashodanagar and Lambha.

Government and private hospitals across Ahmedabad are overwhelmed with patients exhibiting symptoms of viral fevers, colds, coughs, and swine flu, leading to long queues and strained healthcare services. Particularly, the Civil Hospital in Asarwa has been inundated with cases, including swine flu and coronavirus patients requiring urgent medical attention. Moreover, the city's water quality has come under scrutiny as officials shared that nearly 472 water samples from eastern regions like Maninagar, Isanpur, Vatva, and Lambha have been declared unfit for consumption.

The central areas, including Khadia, Jamalpur, Raipur, Kalupur, Shahpur, and Asarwa, are also facing severe water contamination issues, with 172 samples testing unfit, indicating a dire need for immediate intervention to prevent further health hazards. The Ahmedabad Municipal Corporation's health department has emphasised the critical need to address the pollution in drinking water sources, contributing to the ongoing rise in waterborne diseases.

Six Maoists killed in Chhattisgarh encounter

t least six Maoists were killed by security forces during an encounter in the Bijapur district of Chhattisgarh on Wednesday.

An official said that a search operation is underway to find more Maoists sheltering in the dense forest area

The incident occurred when a joint team of DRG and CRPF was carrying out a search operation following a tip of the presence of Maoists in the region. When the forces reached Chikurbhatti and Pusbaka villages, the Maoists started firing on the security forces. After more than two hours of exchange of firing, the bodies of six Maoists, including two women, were recovered from the forest. Inspector General of Police (IGP), P Sundarraj confirmed the casualties, adding that the further search operation was still underway. As the Lok Sabha elections are getting closer, the Maoist activities have seen a spike in different regions in Chhattisgarh. On March 19, four Maoists, who collectively carried a cash reward of 36 lakh, were killed in an encounter with Gadchiroli Police commandos and CRPF along the Maharashtra-Chhattisgarh border. During the assembly elections held in November last year, several incidents of Maoist attacks were reported in different parts of Chhattisgarh, including an IED blast triggered by Naxals in Sukma district a day before the first phase of the election.

mid the electoral battle between the ruling BJP and the Congress, some seasoned politicians in Madhya Pradesh will also be fighting to save their own bastions and pocket boroughs.

Prominent among these political stalwarts are Union Minister Jyotiraditya Scinida and two former chief ministers, Congress veterans Digvijaya Singh and Kamal Nath.

A member of the erstwhile royal Scindia family of Gwalior, Jyotiraditya Scindia contested and won the first Lok Sabha (bypoll) election after his father and Congress leader Madhavrao Scindia, a Lok Sabha MP from Guna, died in a plane crash in 2001.

Jyotiraditya Scindia (53) was re-elected as MP from his family's pocket borough Guna for the next three consecutive terms - 2004, 2009 and 2014.

In fact, Guna was one of the two Lok Sabha seats that the Congress managed to win despite a massive wave in favour of Prime Minister, Narendra Modi in 2014.

However, Jyotiraditya Scindia lost the election from Guna against the BJP's KP Yadav in 2019. One year later, Jyotiraditya Scindia along Congress veteran and former Chief Minister, Digvijaya Singh is contesting the Lok Sabha election from his home turf Rajgarh.

Interestingly, the Rajgarh parliamentary constituency covers two Assembly segments -Raghogarh and Chachoura of Guna District and one Assembly seat of Agar-Malwa (Susner) along with five Assembly segments of Rajgarh District.

Veteran Rajya Sabha MP, Digvijaya Singh was elected as a Lok Sabha MP twice from Rajgarh, in 1984 and then again in 1991. In 1993, he became the Chief Minister of Madhya Pradesh and remained on the post until 2003. Digvijaya Singh's younger brother Laxman Singh represented this particular Lok Sabha constituency five times, including one term on the BJP's symbol.

As the Congress could win just one Lok Sabha seat in the previous election, and Digvijaya Singh had also lost against BJP's Pragya Singh Thakur from Bhopal in 2019, the grand old party, which is striving hard to find its lost ground in Madhya Pradesh, has fielded the former CM from his home district Rajgarh this time. The Congress had won the last Lok Sabha election from Rajgarh in 2009, while the BJP's Rodmal Nagar won two previous elections in 2014 and 2019.

Another Congress veteran Kamal Nath is making all efforts to retain his bastion Chhindwara, the only parliamentary constituency the BJP lost in the previous general election. Though, ex-CM Kamal Nath is not the candidate from Chhindwara Lok Sabha seat, he is leading the campaign for his son and sitting MP, Nakul Nath.

Senior leader Kamal Nath had won nine Lok Sabha elections from Chhindwara, and he would be fighting to save his stronghold.

AIIMS Bhopal Successfully Saves Three Children with Rare and Complex Congenital Heart Diseases

nder the leadership of Professor (Dr.) Ajai Singh, Executive Director of AIIMS Bhopal, for the first time, rare and complex congenital heart diseases in pediatric patients were cured without surgery using Nitinol device. In a remarkable display of medical expertise and innovation, the Cardiology team at AIIMS Bhopal has achieved a milestone by saving the lives of three children suffering from rare and complex congenital heart diseases through percutaneous transcatheter inter-

The first case involved a 1-year-old female child weighing 6 Kg, presenting with feeding difficulties and chest indrawing. Upon diagnosis of a rare congenital heart defect known as Aortopulmonary window, the team swiftly performed percutaneous transcatheter device closure using a button-like nitinol device. This timely intervention prevented the child from becoming inoperable, utilizing only venous access from the groin to minimize risks associated with arterial access in pediatric cases.

In the second case, a 3-year-old boy weighing 12 kg was diagnosed with a large Ostium secondum Atrial septal defect of size 25 mm. Initially slated for surgical closure, the Cardiology team determined that percutaneous transcatheter device closure was a viable and less invasive alternative. The child was successfully managed with a 28 mm button-like nitinol device, sparing him from the need for cardiac surgery. The third case involved a 12-year-old male boy experiencing shortness of breath and dangerously low oxygen saturation levels. Diagnosed with AV Malformation of Lung through bubble contrast 2D echocardiography, a preoperative CT Angiography was conducted to plan a percutaneous closure of the malformation. The procedure was executed with precision using a Vascular Plug device, resulting in the normalization of the child's oxygen saturation

These complex percutaneous pediatric interventions were spearheaded by the Cardiology team at AIIMS Bhopal, led by Dr. Bhushan Shah with Dr. Amber Kumar, Dr. Kislay Shrivastava, and Dr. Madhur Jain. Their collaborative effort with the Cardiac Anaesthesia team, led by Dr. Vaishali Waindeskar and Dr. S R A N Bhushanam Padala, and the CTVS team, led by Dr. Yogesh Niwariya and Dr. M Kisan, ensured the success of these groundbreaking proce-

Executive Director Prof. Dr. Ajai Singh extended his heartfelt congratulations to the entire team for their unwavering commitment to excellence in patient care and their pioneering spirit in taking on new challenges. This marks the first instance of AIIMS Bhopal performing such complex interventions in pediatric patients, underscoring the institution's dedication to pushing the boundaries of medical innovation and improving outcomes for patients.

Most unicorns globally have 'underdog' founders global study of 845 unicorns and more than 2,000 tech lead- \mathbf{L} ers has revealed that most companies with a valuation of $1 billion and above have "underdog" founders and female entrepreneurs are on the rise. The study, titled "Unicorn Founder DNA Report" by Defiance Capital found that 70 per cent of unicorns have "underdog founders" (like immigrants, women and people of colour). According to a TechCrunch report on Wednesday, unicorns used to earlier have only male founders "but this is changing with 17 per cent having a female founder in 2023". About half of them (53 per cent) have earned degrees from the top 10 global universities and 49 per cent of unicorn CEOs had STEM degrees, the findings showed. The study also revealed that unicorns were dominated by white founders, but that every third unicorn had an Asian founder. Several unicorn founders were forced to develop a growth mindset, "with values, work ethic, and ambitions all established during childhood". Meanwhile, India is now home to more than 8,000 startups that have women founders with a cumulative funding of nearly $23 billion to date, according to the latest report by Tracxn, a leading market intelligence platform. Women entrepreneurs share of startups in the Indian tech industry exceeds 18 per cent, and among funded companies, the share is more than 14 per cent. Women-led startups represent a significant 14.8 per cent share of the overall Indian tech funding pie at nearly $155 bil-

rt is now well established that China has -- with the Sino-Pak axis bolstering its threat potential - emerged as the source of a lasting danger for India's defence and security and for that reason alone that country needed to be studied in depth on a continual basis from the angles of ideology that governs it, the philosophy that guides its military growth and the advance it is striving to achieve in the sphere of technology of combat. From what appears in the public domain by way of its proclaimed objectives, President Xi Jinping's China has been following the strategy of gaining 'civil-military fusion', total supremacy of the Chinese Communist Party (CCP) and a steady push towards becoming the second superpower through the economic and technological route -apart from pursuing the path of a defence buildup. Xi's rise to power in China now matches that of Mao Zedong and his definition of Chinese ideology as 'Marxism with Chinese characteristics' is part of "Xi's Thought" put in the party's constitution. Significantly, it calls for embracing the 'Civilisational strength' of China to build the nation- there is a learning from this for India. While making rapid strides in the area of using technology including artificial intelligence (AI) for the purposes of offence and defence, China wants to buy time for its economic consolidation and is apparently inclined to avoid a military confrontation with its main rival -- the US, at present. This came out during the meeting between US President Joe Biden and his Chinese counterpart Xi at the APEC summit in San Francisco in November last year.

It must have come as a relief to Xi when Biden observed that the US was "not seeking a conflict with China" -- the US President obviously had Russia weighing on his mind far more in the context of the ongoing Ukraine-Russia military confrontation. It is a matter of great satisfaction that India is putting a comprehensive strategy in place for countering the threat from China and in a multi-prong response concentrating on measures to deal with the adversary on land and sea as well as in the air- through the development of missile and drone technology. Indo-US relations are being constantly upgraded in the context of a new Cold War appearing on the horizon between the US and China and India is also successfully opposing the Chinese designs at international forums while assuming an active profile on a multilateral platform like Quad, in association with the US. In a Marxist state, the released party documents tell a lot about which way the country was proceeding and these have to be closely studied and analysed. Cyber warfare and the use of social media as an instrument of combat come naturally to China as they fit in with the Marxist maxim of 'winning a war without a battle' and so does the thesis of 'two steps forward one step backwards' that was designed to get away with 'salami slicing' which was likely to be practised by Since May 2020, the Chinese troops have engaged in aggressive activities and precipitated skirmishes along the Sino-Indian border.

India has done well in the regime of Prime Minister Narendra Modi to carry out the necessary military build-up along the India-China border, particularly in Eastern Ladakh and Arunachal Pradesh and also push forward the civilian settlements there to match the Chinese activities along LAC. A lot is being done also to enhance the Naval power of India in the Indian Ocean where China was using Male as a springboard for deploying its Naval 'spy' ship possibly for hydrographic studies in the Indian Ocean. China has managed to have an ingress in Afghanistan because of Pakistan's initiative in arranging a 'give and take' between the Taliban Emirate and the Marxist state and has also stepped up its political and economic bonding with India's neighbours including Nepal, Bhutan, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, Myanmar, and Maldives. India has to safeguard its neighbourhood against China's attempts to use these countries to create bases for anti-India activities. Against a Marxist China that has called for rallying behind the 'civilisational strength' of the country, India has to respond with the 'whole of the nation' strategy and project the mandate that democratic India was 'one nation'. The substratum of 'one man one vote' on which India's democracy has been tested over decades, leaves little scope for politics of religion, caste and region particularly when the governance of the country did not carry any denominational stamp and the state policies did not make any distinctions amongst citizens. Moreover, nationalism strengthens democracy and the political opposition would do well to own it with full vigour. India is a land of socio-cultural diversities and different modes of worship but with one secular political umbrella created by the multi-party system submitting to a common electoral process. Indian parties have to learn to keep national security above politics and not inject any element of 'separatism' in their campaigns. Narratives of 'majoritarianism', 'authoritarianism' and 'minority concerns' can not become the tools of running politics from behind and care has to be taken to ensure that 'influence warfare' of anti-India lobbies often working in conjunction with civil society groups opposed to the government of the day, did not damage our national interests by running a 'proxy' offensive for vested

Indian voters always prove to be shrewd judge of the merit and performance of the rulers and opt for good governance. Also, the average Indian showed great sensitivity to matters of security of the nation and even pushed personal economic concerns into the background whenever called upon to contribute to such a higher cause. In the present context, the promise of a stable government would be a major concern of the voter. There is another emerging area of concern for India attributable to Sino-Pak collaboration. The Biden administration in the US has for some time been engaged in defending Islam as a faith that ought not to be discredited and defamed and seems to have felt particularly concerned over Islamophobic trends noticed in the US in the wake of the Israel-Hamas confrontation that began with the terrorist attack of Hamas on Israel on October 7 last year. In a statement issued by the White House on March 15, it was announced that the US will develop the first-ever "national strategy to counter the scourge of Islamophobia and hate in all its forms" in the US and elsewhere. The unusually large civilian casualties of over 30,000 resulting in Gaza from the Israeli attacks and domestic developments like forced resignations of the Presidents of Harvard and Pennsylvania universities for permitting pro-Palestinian demonstrations on the campus, seemed to have compelled the White House to try to be politically correct by speaking up against Islamophobia.

Not unexpectedly, Pakistan and China cosponsored on March 15 a draft resolution in the UN General Assembly on 'measures to combat Islamophobia', which was passed with 115 nations including both the US and Russia supporting it, no member expressing its opposition and 44 countries including India, Brazil, Ukraine and a number of European countries like UK, France, Germany and Italy, abstaining from voting. Pakistan was representing the Organisation of Islamic Conference (OIC) -- the 57-member block of Muslim countries chaired by Saudi Arabia. India rightly took the stand that all acts motivated by anti-Semitism, Christianophobia or Islamophobia should be condemned and faiths other than Abrahamic religions should also be brought under the purview of the resolution. India pointed out that anti-Hindu, anti-Buddhist and anti-Sikh sentiments had also surfaced internationally. Indian representative strongly advised the UN to maintain itself above such faith-related matters as this otherwise would have the effect of dividing the world body into "religious camps" The move of Pakistan and China at the UN confirms the strategic strength of the Sino-Pak axis and reminds India of its adverse potential for this country. India houses the second-largest Muslim population in the world and believes in treating all religions with equal respect. There has been considerable criticism in Pakistan of the announcement of the implementation of the Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA) by India which was meant for accommodating the non-Muslim minorities persecuted in the three Islamic countries in India's neighbourhood --Pakistan, Bangladesh and Afghanistan. The Paksponsored resolution in UNGA was aimed, on one hand, at defending Islam against the implicit criticism of Sharia-ruled states for the unequal status accorded to non-Muslims by them and running down India, on the other, for the alleged suppression of Muslim minority in this country. Introducing the resolution in the UN General referred without naming India, to the lynching of Muslims by cow vigilantes as well as the attacks on women wearing the 'hijab' and particularly denounced the act of "gleefully consecrating a Hindu temple on the ruins of a historical 500 years old mosque". It appeared that UN Secretary-General Antonio Guterres and the US were on the same side of the fence -- in believing that there is a rising trend of anti-Muslim hate reflected in unequal immigration policies, profiling and restrictions placed on Muslims in according citizenship to them, in many parts of the world. The democratic world however, should be aware that it is Islam that claimed supremacism of faith on the ground that it was declared as the only 'perfect' religion -- which also happened to be the last -- and did not place other religions on an equal footing. The US wants to keep its hold in the Middle East and for that reason consistently stands by its old friends Saudi Arabia and UAE. It should however, be fully cognisant of the fact that in the wake of the 'war on terror', the hold of Islamic radicals had become stronger in the Muslim world creating a divide between the 'radicalised' countries hostile to the US-led West and those in deep friendship with the US. The former carries the historical legacy of the Nineteenth century Wahhabi Jehad that was directed against the European colonial powers in Algeria, Arabia and India -- this could be one reason why countries like the UK and France unlike the US, abstained from voting on the Pak-sponsored resolution against Islamophobia moved in UNGA. India has to watch out for hostile lobbies pushing ahead with their propaganda on Muslim issues on the lines of the UN verdict. Indo-US relations draw strength from a shared concern over the rise of Islamic radical forces in the Muslim world and this is reflected in the deep friendship enjoyed by the two countries with Saudi Arabia and UAE which were targeted by radical forces. The US policymakers would do well not to let any manoeuvrings of Pakistan or the influence of anti-India lobbies alleging unequal treatment of Muslim minorities in India, affect their better judgement. In the final analysis, there is no change in the security assessment that the Sino-Pak strategic alliance remains on top of the threats to India and requires a comprehensive handling in the spheres of defence, internal security and diplomacy. Both Pakistan and China, it may be recalled, had joined hands in campaigning against India on the issue of Kashmir, particularly after the abrogation of Article 370 of the Constitution by the Indian Parliament in August 2019. India has to be extra vigilant against the 'information warfare' being run by the two hostile neighbours of India on the domestic matters of this country. Israel withdraws negotiators from Qatar after Hamas rejects truce deal srael has recalled its negotiating team from Qatar after offer on a hostage deal and truce, an Israeli official said.

The delegation led by the Mossad chief, David Barnea, had been in Doha for eight days. Israel has said that it will not relent to many of the demands put forward by the meditators, including Qatar and Egypt on behalf of the Hamas side. According to sources in the Israel defence ministry, Hamas had again put forward a demand of a total ceasefire, withdrawal of Israeli troops and rehabilitation of Palestinians in northern Gaza from the south where they have been staying as refugees since the war broke out.

Meanwhile, Israel Prime

Minister Benjamin Netanyahu in a statement on Tuesday night said, "Hamas wanted a permanent ceasefire and its decision to reject a US brokered compromise was clear proof of it not interested in continuing talks, and a sad testament to the damage caused by the UN Security council resolution."

The statement also said, "Israel won't cave into delusional demands made by Hamas.

The hawks in the Israeli establishment, including Defence Minister Yoav Gallant were not willing for even a temporary truce. This is owing to the military intelligence reports that Hamas military infrastructure has crumbled and only four battalions were remaining was only a matter of time before Hamas caves in.

The IDF chief has also briefed the Israel war cabinet that it was only a matter of time for the army to defeat Hamas and to take out its elusive and dreaded leader, Yahya Sinwar the mastermind of the October 7, 2023 massacre.

The Israel defence ministry sources told IANS that the Hamas was trying to buy time and was expecting an escalation of violence in the West Bank area by the Hezbollah side before the end of Holy Ramzan month, which would force Israel to enter into mediation at the behest of interna-

Baltimore bridge collapse

ix people, who went missing due to a bridge col-Dapse in the US city of Baltimore, are presumed dead.

Addressing a press conference, Rear Admiral Shannon Gilreath said due to the cold water temperatures and harsh sea conditions, it was likely the missing individuals were dead, Xinhua news agency reported.

The US Coast Guard has suspended search and rescue efforts.

The 2.6-km-long Francis Scott Key Bridge, a major bridge that held Interstate 695, collapsed at about 1:30 a.m. local time early Tuesday morning after being hit by a Singapore-flagged large container ship, which experienced a power failure before the collision. The six individuals who went missing, all road maintenance workers, were reportedly on the bridge repairing potholes when the collapse occurred.

Two other people were rescued from the Patapsco River earlier, with one in critical condition, according to local authorities.

In brief remarks from the White House Tuesday, US President Joe Biden said he wants the federal government to pay for the reconstruction of the bridge. The bridge opened to traffic in 1977 and saw approximately 11.5 million vehicles crossing it each year.

"We're gonna work with our partners in Congress to make sure the state gets the support it needs," President Biden said.

Six people presumed dead in Private information of 2.7 million Pakistanis compromised

Islamabad Agencies

joint investigation team (JIT), which was formed to probe data leak from National Database and Registration Authority \mathbf{L} (Nadra), has confirmed that the personal information of 2.7 million Pakistanis had been compromised, local media reported. The JIT unearthed the scandal in its report submitted to the Pakistan's Ministry of Interior, stating that the data theft took place between 2019 and 2023, Geo News reported.

According to the sources, the JIT has completed investigations into the enormous scandal of an alleged breach of Nadra's database and the officials concerned at the ministry are reviewing the contents of the report compiled by the panel.

The JIT report, the sources said, has identified that the data theft took place from the Multan, Karachi, and Peshawar offices of Nadra, Geo News reported.

The stolen data was allegedly moved from Multan to Peshawar before it finally reached Dubai, the sources said.

The JIT report has said there is proof that the stolen Nadra data was apparently later sold in Argentina and Romania, Geo News reported. The government formed the JIT after a cyber security incident occurred in March 2023.

Childbirths in South Korea hit another low in January: Report

he number of babies born in South Korea fell to a record low for any January this year, data showed on Wednesday, deepening woes about the country's demographic picture due to rapid ageing and ultra-low birth rate. A total of 21,442 babies were born in January 2024, down 7.7 per cent from a year earlier, according to the data compiled by Statistics Korea. It marked the lowest figure for any January since the statistics agency began compiling related data in 1981, Yonhap news agency reported.

The decline has also accelerated in recent years from a 1 per cent on-year fall in January 2022 and a 5.7 per cent decline in January 2023.

In January 2000, newborns stayed over 60,000 but fell below 50,000 in 2002 before sliding further to the 30,000 level in 2016. The report said the January figure has hovered around the 20,000 level since 2020. In terms of monthly readings, it marked the first time since March 2023 that the number of newborn babies rose to the 20,000 level, and the country usually logs a larger number of newborns in January, according to the agency.

South Korea is experiencing grim demographic changes, as many young people opt to postpone or give up on getting married or having babies in line with changing social norms and lifestyles, as well as facing high home prices, a tough job market, and an eco-

Last year, the number of babies born in the country dropped 7.7 percent on-year to an all-time low of 229,970, the report said.

The total fertility rate, the average number of expected births from a woman in her lifetime, also hit a record yearly low of 0.72, which came far below the 2.1 births per woman needed to maintain a stable population without immigration. In the fourth quarter of last year alone, the rate came to 0.65, the lowest-ever quarterly figure.

The number of deaths inched down 0.5 per cent on-year to 32,490 in January this year, the report said.

The population, accordingly, declined by 11,047, the sharpest fall for any January ever. The number of deaths has outpaced that of newborns since November 2019.

The number of couples getting married rose 11.6 per cent onyear to 28,000, the data also showed, as more couples tied the knot after delaying marriage during the earlier stages of the Covid-19 pandemic.

The number of couples getting divorced climbed 9.5 per cent on-year to 691, according to the data.

South Korea is expected to be a highly aged country by 2072 as the median age will increase from 44.9 in 2022 to 63.4 in 2072, and the population will tumble to around 36.22 million in 2072 from last year's 51 million

Russian lawmakers mull over reinstating death penalty after terror attack

Moscow Agencies

ussian lawmakers are discussing lifting the moratorium on the country's death penalty, following a recent deadly terror attack at a Moscow concert hall. "Today, there is no other form of punishment for these scumbags other than capital punishment," said Leonid Slutsky, head of the Liberal Democratic Party of Russia, referring to the suspects of the terrorist attack, at a plenary session of the State Duma, or lower house of the parliament, on Tuesday. Slutsky also noted that incitement to terrorism should be punished by imprisonment, Xinhua news agency reported. State Duma Speaker Vyacheslav Volodin proposed creating an inter-factional lation regarding the use of the death penalty and migration Committee on State Building Legislation Krasheninnikov said the committee is ready to discuss various proposals and bills on the moratorium on the death penalty, adding that it is ultimately important to "keep a cool head" when making such decisions. According to current legislation, capital punishment remains legal in Russia, however, a moratorium on the death penalty was instituted in 1996, after the country had joined the Council of Europe. man allegedly killed his 28-year-old son following a heated argument between them over speaking loudly on a phone at a village in Maharashtra's Nagpur district, police said on Wednesday. The incident took place at Pipra village, around 30 km from Nagpur city, on Monday, and the victim died during treatment at a hospital the next day, an official said. The accused, Ramrao Kakde, was arrested following the incident, he said.

"Kakde hit his son, Suraj, with a steel rod following a heated argument after the latter objected to his loud phone conversation. Suraj was admitted to a hospital, where he succumbed to his injuries on Tuesday," the official of Bela police station said. According to police, the father-son duo was under the influence of liquor when the incident took place. Kakde was booked under the Indian Penal Code (IPC) section 302 (murder) and

Ex-MP Sanjay Nirupam skins Congress for 'total surrender' to Shiv Sena (UBT); may rebel

Quaid Najmi | Mumbai

eteran Congress leader and ex-MP Sanjay Nirupam on Wednesday whiplashed his own party leadership, alleging an abject 'surrender' to the Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) ally, Shiv Sena (UBT), headed by former Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray. Nirupam (59) launched a broadside at the Congress and SS (UBT) after the latter announced its list of 16 Lok Sabha candidates, including the Mumbai North West seat which he (Nirupam) had coveted. The SS (UBT) has fielded Amol G. Kirtikar -- an accused in the infamous 'khichdi scam' of the BrihanMumbai Municipal Corporation and the son of rival Shiv Sena MP Gajanan Kirtikar -- as its candidate for Mumbai North West, taking the MVA allies Congress and the Nationalist Congress Party (SP) by surprise. "I will not support such a 'khichdi chor' (thief) candidate... He has been unilaterally thrust upon Congress by the SS (UBT). We hope the (Congress) -- which adopts a 'high moral ground' vis-a-vis corruption -- lodges its strong protest with Thackeray for the tainted nominee (Amol Kirtikar)," Nirupam said. Launching a veiled attack at Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge, state Congress chief Nana Patole, and the party's Mumbai head Varsha Gaikwad - without taking names - Nirupam said the party has abandoned its lakhs of activists all over the city, state and the country. "The leadership does not seem to be bothered about its workers... The Congress talks of 'Nyay' (justice) to various sections of society, but injustice is being meted out to its own workers. Enough is enough...no more. Now it will be a decisive move for me," Nirupam said. Turning to the SS (UBT), the former three-term MP said that by announcing Amol Kirtikar's name for Mumbai North West, Thackeray has thrown a challenge at the Congress, which failed to carry out tough negotiations in the seat-charing talks. "The SS (UBT) is not as powerful as perceived... It cannot win a single seat in Maharashtra without Congress' support. Yet, it has pressurised us and that is highly condemnable. But the Congress did not retaliate though seats were snatched away by SS (UBT). Our leadership even failed to save Mumbai, Sangli, and other seats," said Nirupam.

He alleged that the move by Thackeray indicates 'a hidden agenda' to finish off the Congress in the state and bury it in Mumbai both places where it held sway for decades in the past.

"We have shown enough patience, but not anymore. I was waiting to be called for Mumbai North West which I was keen to fight. All options are open for me. I will announce my next move in the coming week or so," said Nirupam, signaling a banner of Amid the attack by Nirupam, other senior party leaders, including Congress Legislative Party (CLP) leader Balasaheb Thorat, expressed strong disapproval at the SS (UBT) for announcing candidates for Mumbai and Sangli seats where discussions are still going on. "The SS (UBT) must adhere to the principles of coalition sincerely... There's time even now. We hope they will reconsider their ctress Eva Mendes spoke about meeting her partner and actor Ryan Gosling when they made their 2012 movie 'The Place Beyond

"I've never experienced anything like that," she said of working with her now-partner on the Today show.

"The way he works, his commitment to his craft, how he wants to make everything as best as it can be — and that means making his costars as best as they can be. Unfortunately - or fortunately — there's only one Ryan, so I pretty much stopped acting after that,' she added. Mendes and Gosling started dating after meeting on set. child, Esmeralda Amada, in September 2014, and then had Amada Lee in April

Mendes also spoke about taking a step back from acting after more than a decade onscreen not being a difficult decision to make.

"It was like a no-brainer, I'm so like, if I could have this time with my children - and I still work, I just didn't act, because acting takes you on location," she said. "It takes you away. It was almost just like a non-verbal agreement that it was like, 'Okay, he's going to work and I'm going to work. I'm just going to work here'." she added.

ctress Joely Richardson has opened up about ageism in Hollywood and how she had to pivot to start getting work again. She was talking about all the projects she's currently involved in, including Netflix's 'The Gentlemen' and 'One Day'. She also has Disney+'s 'Renegade Nell'.

The actress noticed a change after she turned 50, which she shared on ITV's This Morning, reports deadline.com.

She recalled that when her agent "retired young to be with her mom," she was looking for a new agent and didn't find much luck.

"I went to get another agent, and it was like no one wanted me," she said. "And so, even though I had Golden Globe nominations, and blah, blah, blah, zero people wanted a woman over 50." The actress then got new agents and said they "started finding little ins wherever we could, doing The Sandman (also Netflix), Lady Chatterley's (Lover) playing the northern housekeeper Mrs Bolton, just like trying to sort of get through the door so people would consider me for roles. And then, they started to come."

Richardson called being on the Ryan Murphy show a "dream" and after the series ended, "wanted to do something else" and returned to theater and "did lots of Off-Broadway productions."

ABSOLUTE PIC OF THE DAY

"I needed that," she added about doing theater after the FX series. "It was like a lovely bridge."

ctor Jake Gyllenhaal spoke about what it was like losing two major roles during the final rounds of casting, which includes Christopher Nolan's 'Batman Begins' and Christian in Baz Luhrmann's 'Moulin Rouge!'

In 'Moulin Rouge', the audition process came down to Gyllenhaal, Heath Ledger and Ewan McGregor. It's here where Gyllenhaal first heard of Ledger, who later featured as his co-star in 'Brokeback Mountain'.

"What I felt was disappointment when I didn't get it. Both Heath and I were disappointed," Gyllenhaal said on 'The Howard Stern Show'.

"But that's Ewan McGregor's part. You learn to go, 'There's another one. I can try and go in and audition for another one. I'll get something else.' You keep that attitude."

The actor maintained that healthy mindset when he lost out on 'Batman Begins', reports variety.com."To (Nolan's) credit and to Baz (Luhrmann's) credit, both of those directors called me personally to tell me (I didn't get the role),"

Gyllenhaal said."And they will tell you why. When you get that far, there's a real legitimacy to you potentially getting something."

"It's not like they're going, 'Oh, thanks so much.'
They are going, 'I saw these aspects of you that I really wanted in the role and are wonderful, but in the end I ended up moving this way because it matches better with this person who is opposite you or would be opposite you."

"The colour of their hair or their height, whatever it is!! There are all these non factors that really are the inexplicable stuff that if you start to pick away at it doesn't work, it's not healthy."

He added: "To me, I just go: 'Look at how far you got! So just try and keeping going. That's what I felt," the actor continued. "I remember getting a call from Christopher Nolan and thinking, 'I just got a call personally from Christopher Nolan." He found it "pretty cool."

"That's pretty cool. I've got pretty far. I went from them going they aren't sure (about me) to a call saying they're really thinking about you for this movie. So okay, I should keep going. I should just keep going."

SRH BEAT MI BY 31 RUNS IN SIX-HITTING RUN FEST

Hyderabad Agencies

ocal lad Tilak Varma made a stunning 64 off 34 balls, but his efforts went in vain as Sunrisers Hyderabad emerged triumphant in a stunning six-hitting run fest with a 31run win over Mumbai Indians to open their account in IPL 2024 at the Rajiv Gandhi International Stadium on Wednesday.

After sizzling half-centuries from Heinrich Klassen, Abhishek Sharma and Travis Head helped SRH amass an astonishing 277/3, the highestever score in the competition's history, MI looked to get the chase done thanks to heroics of Tilak and other

But SRH's bowlers shined by giving no pace and keeping the scoring rate in check in the middle overs to keep MI to 246/5. With this being MI's second defeat in a game where many records tumbled in front of 35,080 fans, questions will be asked of their listless bowling and changes made in the line-up, as well as of captain Hardik Pandya's performance and decision making.

Chasing a mammoth 278, Rohit Sharma and Ishan Kishan were off the mark from the word go. Rohit hit second over, while Kishan smacked Bhuvneshwar Kumar for a four and three maximums in the third over as MI reached 50/0

But Shahbaz Ahmed struck with his second ball in the fourth over to have Kishan slog-sweeping to deep mid-wicket and fall for a 13-ball 34. Rohit was dropped by Abdul Samad at mid-on, but couldn't make much of the reprieve as his top-edge on the pull was caught by backward square leg off Pat Cummins.

Naman Dhir and Tilak Varma began to deal in hitting sixes regularly off SRH's bowlers to keep MI in the hunt of a massive chase. The standout point came when Tilak scooped, switch-hit and swept Shahbaz for three sixes in the tenth over, before slamming a four off Jaydev Unadkat through extra cover to get his fifty in

The 84-run stand off 37 balls for the third wicket ended when Dhir slashed straight to extra cover off Unadkat. Tilak and Hardik Pandya hit three boundaries between themselves, before the former was tricked by a slower delivery from Cummins and was caught at long-on, after the strategic timeout. MI went 20 balls without a bound-

Djokovic ends partnership with coach Ivanisevic amid winless start to season

New Delhi Agencies

orld number one Novak Djokovic has ended his partnership with Croatian coach Goran Ivanisevic following a challenging start to his 2024 season.

Djokovic and Ivanisevic, the former Wimbledon champion, forged a formidable bond since joining forces in 2018. Under Ivanisevic's guidance, Djokovic honed his skills and embarked on a remarkable journey that saw him surpass tennis legends Roger Federer and Rafael Nadal to become the most successful men's singles player in Grand Slam history.

Taking to Instagram on *N*ednesday, March 27 firmed the split, acknowledging the duo's on-court chemistry fluctuated enduring strength of their friendship. "Goran and I decided to stop working together a few days ago. Our oncourt chemistry had its ups and downs, but our friendship was always rock solid," said Djokovic.

"I remember clearly the moment I invited Goran to be part of my team. It was back in 2018, and Marian and I were looking to innovate and bring some serve magic to our duo. In fact, not only we brought serve, but also lots of laughter, fun, year end no1 rankings, record breaking achievements and 12 more Grand Slams (and a few finals) to the count since then. Did I mention a bit of drama too?"Despite their successful collaboration, Djokovic's recent performances have raised concerns. A semi-final exit at the Australian Open was followed by a shocking third-round defeat at Indian Wells to world number 123 Luka Nardi. Djokovic's subsequent withdrawal from the Miami Open further underscored his need to recalibrate his approach amidst a demanding schedule.

Ivanisevic's contributions to Djokovic's career have been widely recognized, with the Croatian coach even nominated for the ATP Coach of the Year in 2023, following Djokovic's triumphant capture of three out of four Grand Slam titles.

Djokovic faces a pivotal juncture in his quest for tennis immortality with the French Open looming on the horizon. As he navigates the uncertainties of a coaching transition, Djokovic remains resolute in his pursuit of further Grand Slam glory ing the record for most Grand Slam singles titles with Margaret Court.

DE SILVA, MENDIS GAIN BIG IN ICC TEST RANKINGS AFTER SYLH

ri Lanka batters Dhananjaya de Silva and Kamindu Mendis have made huge gain in the ICC Men's Test Player Rankings after both the batters notched twin centuries in the first Test of the twomatch series against Bangladesh in Sylhet to help their side score a comprehensive 328-run victory.

De Silva has moved up 15 spots to a career-best 14th position while Mendis has re-entered the rankings in joint-64th position after recording only the third instance in Test history of two players from the same team scoring a century in each innings of a Test match, ICC reports. The previous two instances were of Australia's Ian Chappell and Greg Chappell against New Zealand in Wellington in 1974 and Pakistan's Azhar Ali and Misbah-ul-Haq against Australia in Abu Dhabi in 2014.Sri Lanka's new-ball

bowlers Kasun Rajitha and Vishwa

Fernando have also made notable gains in the latest men's rankings update. Rajitha has jumped six places to 38th position after returning match figures of eight for 112 while Fernando has moved from 50th to 43rd after finishing with seven for 84.

Bangladesh's middle-order batter Mominul Haque's second innings knock of 87 has lifted him eight places to 50th while fast bowler Khaled Ahmed's four wickets in the match have taken him from 98th to 89th position.

Rybakina outlasts Sakkari; Azarenka battles past Putintseva into Miami semifinals

Florida Agencies

023 finalist and No.4 seed Elena Rybakina made a return trip to the Miami Open semifinals with a 7-5, 6-7(4), 6-4 win over No.8 seed Maria Sakkari.

Rybakina won the first set despite losing a 4-2 lead, and rallied from that deficit in the second set to earn herself two match points in the 10th game -- but she failed to convert.

A missed backhand in the net cost her the first, and a Sakkari down-the-line forehand was too much for her to handle on the second -- and a half-hour later, Indian Wells runner-up Sakkari forced a final set, WTA reports.

She will next need to knock off three-time tournament champion Victoria Azarenka to advance the final to the final at Hard Rock Stadium for the second year in a row.

Former World No.1 Azarenka defeated another Kazakh, Yulia Putintseva, in a three-set quarterfinal earlier Гuesday.

No.27 seed Azarenka needed 2 hours and 55 minutes of play to fend off unseeded Putintseva and clinch a spot in the Miami semifinals for the fifth time in her career. Azarenka is playing Miami for the 15th time, having won the title in 2009, 2011 and 2016. She has 43 career matchwins at the event, fifthmost behind only Serena Williams (76), Venus Williams (67), Stefanie Graf (59) and Gabriela Sabatini (45) ctress Ananya Panday, who received a lot of positive response to her work, has said that she and her rumoured beau Aditya Roy Kapur are "not just friends". The actress recently appeared on the 6th season of the popular chat show 'No Filter Neha' hosted by Neha Dhupia, and broke her silence on her equation with the 'Aashiqui 2' actor. In the promo of the show, Ananya and Neha can be seen discussing about Aditya and Ananya goes on to say that she and Aditya are not just friends but very good friends. Neha Dhupia said: "I clicked a photograph and got the hashtag An-Adi. You and Aditya Roy Kapur were just talking, so I am just gonna clarify that you guys are just friends, just talking. I happened to click a photograph at Kriti Sanon's Diwali party and people started zooming into it. Do you wanna talk about that moment?"

Ananya Panday said: "I never said just friends Neha, you said that. Like we are very good friends now, not just friends. I don't think there's much to talk

Raveena Tandon

Reveals she is best friends with her children

Team Absolute Mumbai

ctress Raveena Tandon shared that she is best friends with her children and that it helped her build a relationship with her on-screen son in the show 'Patna Shuklla'.

Raveena Tandon who plays the character of Tanvi Shukla, said: "There is an instance in the film where Tanvi's son forgets his lunchbox, she chases the school bus to deliver it midway. I think that is one scene every mother will relate to.""Every house has chaotic mornings but a mother will cut through the chaos and come through for her children and that is something even I have personally done when my children were going to

She then went on to share details about the relationship she shares with her daughter Risha and son Ranbir.

"I'm best friends with my kids and the same dynamics we've portrayed on screen with Tanvi's son. Bringing that chemistry on screen with Patna Shukla brought back some lovely memories for me with my children. I'm sure the audience will feel the warmth and pure friendship that Tanvi and her son share."

'Patna Shuklla' is based on a fearless lawyer who takes matters into her own hands when she sees a student entangled in an education scam, and soon realises that she is pitted against a Chief Minister candidate.

Kartik Aaryan endured 14 months of boxing training

Whenever I did a play, I came alive as a performer', says Richa on World Theatre Day n the occasion of World Theatre Day on Wednesday, actress Richa Chadha spoke about how she owes a lot to theatre.

"The reason you feel alive when you perform is because you have some kind of theatre experience. I would really recommend that people treat theatre as an end in itself and not as a stepping stone to films because the journey of theatre is very rewarding," Richa told

She said that working on a play for months and then bettering it each time is a "really enriching experience."

"I have found that whenever I have done a play I have come alive as a performer and I feel warmed and charged up, and it is after all an actor's medium. So, I owe a lot to theatre and I hope I can give back as well."

On the work front, Richa will be seen in Sanjay Leela Bhansali's debut web-series 'Heeramandi: The Diamond Bazaar'. It also stars Sonakshi Sinha, Aditi Rao Hydari, Sharmin Segal, and Sanjeeda Sheikh. The series explores the cultural reality of Heeramandi, a district, through the stories of courtesans and their patrons, set against the tumultuous backdrop of the Indian freedom ctor Puneet Issar, who essays the role of Dadababu in the television show 'Vanshaj,' has said that theatre is the ultimate artform for an actor and that there's no knowledge, art, wisdom, or action that theatre cannot successfully reproduce.

On the occasion of World Theatre Day on Wednesday, the actor spoke about his love for theatre and how the medium gives him satisfaction as a thespian.

He said: "I have always loved theatre. It is ollywood star Kartik Aaryan, who will be soon seen in the upcoming sports drama underwent boxing training for 14 months for his part in the film. The actor plays a Paralympic gold medalist in the film.

To get into the skin of the character, Kartik followed a strict fitness regime in which he shed 20 kgs and completely gave up on sugar as a part of a tailored diet.

The film's canvas is also quite huge as it has been shot across India and the UK. In India, the film has been shot in Wai village of Maharashtra, Kashmir and in the UK it has been shot in

This is the first time the actor has stepped into such a physically demanding role, given that it's based on Murlikant Petkar. 'Chandu Champion' is directed by Kabir Khan, who is known for films like 'Bajrangi Bhaijaan,' 'Ek Tha Tiger,' 'New York' and '83'. The film also marks Kartik's reunion with producer Sajid Nadiadwala after their last successful collaboration over 'Satyaprem Ki Katha'.

Puneet Issar on theatre: There's no knowledge or art form that can't be shown on stage > my passion and will always remain so. I continue to juggle between my plays, my TV show Vanshaj, and films. I love touring across India with my plays, especially 'Mahabharat'. It gives me a chance to interact with a wide variety of theatre-loving

"The applause from the audience that echoes the auditorium is very close to any theatre artist and it gives us an adrenaline rush. There is no such knowledge, art, wisdom, or action, which cannot be shown in theatre. Theatre experience allows an actor to grow. It's the best playfield for any actor,"
