'DIVIDED BY DISTANCE, UNITED IN EXPRESSION': WHAT INDIAN CINEMA CAN TEACH THE COUNTRY

In a country like India which has an array of customs, a spectrum of cultures, and a gamut of languages, there is one realm where all this diversity freely interacts and influences each other, and may offer a model of assimilation that the wider polity and society can aspire to.

► Being a film industry operating largely in Hindustani and geared majorly towards its speakers but located in a western Indian but cosmopolitan port city, which draws in a large influx of migrants from all over the country, Bollywood obviously can draw in talent from a wider expanse that what its normative catchment area.

► Real life inspires reel life, but this is one case where India would be better served with reel life inspiring real life.

Vikas Datta | New Delhi

This is Bollywood, whose contribution to the idea of India, based on unity in diversity, has not received due emphasis, possibly since it is primarily seen as a medium of entertainment. This 'idea' is, by no means, perfect - sometimes descending to stereotypes in some of its depictions, but still has seen more widespread - and voluntary - integration and creation of a composite sense of nationhood than any other endeavour.

Be it actors and the others that make up a success of a film - the music composer, the playback singers, the choreographers and the fight directors, as well as themes, Bollywood has rarely seen a regional divide - north-south, or east-west, for that matter. It has, however, long been oblivious of the northeast - but that is a failing of a large swathe of Indian popular culture too.

And Southern India has been quick on the mark here - especially as far as Bollywood leading ladies are concerned.

While Hema Malini and Rekha are the oft-quoted examples, before Sreedevi, Meenakshi Seshadri and Jaya Prada and Vidya Balan, in recent times, it was Padmini Ramchandran, or Padmini, as she was known, who filled the void left by the exit from Nargis from Raj Kapoor's life and banner, in 'Jis Desh Mein Ganga Behti Hai' (1961) and then in 'Mera Naam Joker' (1970). In 'Sangam' (1964), which came between these, Vyjanthimala did the honours.

And then there was Waheeda Rehman, who hailed from a Tamil Muslim family, not from Hyderabad as commonly thought, and then Tabassum Hashmi or 'Tabu', who is from Hyderabad.

However, south Indian male actors - Kamal Haasan, Rajinikanth, Nagarjuna, Chiranjeevi, mainly, did appear in many Bollywood hits, but never matched their female counterparts. M.B. Shetty, or Shetty, had a more long career as a stunt director off screen and well-recognised bad man on screen.

Music composers/playback singers are too well known - K.J. Yesudas, A.R. Rehman, Shankar Mahadevan, Hariharan, Chittra, S.P. Balasubrahmanyam, but one who's background is that not that known was Shankar, of the Shankar-Jaikishan duo. Though of north Indian descent, he grew up in Hyderabad and was fluent in Telugu. There is an anecdote when the duo was composing the music for one song of one of Raj Kapoor's most famous films, Shankar kept repeating a Telugu phrase while fine-tuning the melody and lyricist Hasrat Jaipuri hit on it to frame the 'mukhda' - we know the song as 'Ramaiyya Vastavaiya' from 'Shree 420' (1955). And then, the inspirations. The phenomenon of hit Tamil, Kannada, Telugu, Malayalam films being remade in Hindi is not that recent as the current generation thinks.

CJI bats for the Indianisation of Judicial system

► One of the issue of Indianisation of the judicial system is the language used in the court.

► The common citizen cannot relate to the practices, procedures of our courts. Efforts should be to make the general population an active part of the justice delivery process. The people should understand the ongoing process and development of the case.

Team Absolute | Chennai

The Indian justice delivery system should be Indianised for the benefit of the country's population, said Chief Justice of India N.V. Ramana on Saturday.

Speaking at the foundation stone laying function at the Madras High Court here, Ramana stated that Indian people look up to the judiciary in times of distress with a firm belief that their rights will be protected by the courts.

Ramana said it is necessary to contemplate on how to improve the functioning of the judiciary and reach out to the people to fulfill their judicial needs.

According to him, Indianisation of the justice delivery system is a moulding of the judicial system for the benefit of Indian people and is a multi-dimensional concept.

He said a Judicial Infrastructure Authority both at the national and state level should be set up to implement a National Court Development Project.

On the demand for use of regional language in the High Courts as provided in the "People should relate and understand the practices, procedures of the courts, the development of the case and efforts should be made towards that. It should not be like chanting of mantras in a wedding which most of us do not understand."

Constitution, Ramana said it has been debated several times.

The practice of law before constitutional courts should be based on one's intelligence and understanding of law and not mere proficiency in language. It is time some decisions are taken on these issues after assessment of pros and cons.

NASA'S CHANDRA TELESCOPE FINDS LOCATION OF MEDIUM-SIZED BLACK HOLES

New York: Intermediate-mass black holes are notoriously hard to find but a new study indicates there may be some at the centre of dense star clusters located throughout the universe. For decades, astronomers have detected smaller black holes equal in mass either to a few suns or giant black holes with mass similar to millions of suns but the missing-link of black holes in between those sizes have eluded discovery. The existence of these intermediate-sized or massive black holes has long been theorised but finding them has proven difficult as the light emitted by objects falling into them is not easy to detect.

To address this challenge, the research team at the Washington State University in the US, used the Chandra X-Ray Observatory - the world's most powerful X-ray telescope - to look for X-ray signatures of black holes in nuclear star clusters in 108 different galaxies. Nuclear star clusters are found at the centre of most small or low-mass galaxies and are the densest known stellar environments. Previous research has identified the presence of black holes in nuclear star clusters but little is known about the specific properties that make these regions conducive for the formation of black holes. The study provides the first observational evidence supporting the theory that intermediate-sized black holes can form in nuclear star clusters. The findings not only suggest that intermediate-sized black holes can form in nuclear star clusters but also provides a mechanism by which they could potentially form throughout cosmic time rather than just during the first few billion years of the universe.

India becomes global investment hub for digital shopping

India's e-commerce market is likely to surpass $120 billion in transactional value, a study by FIS, an American financial technology company, forecasts.

Team Absolute | New Delhi

With the backing of global investors for e-commerce companies, India has become the second-largest global venture capital investment hub for digital shopping companies in 2021 after the US.

The Indian e-commerce segment registered a whopping growth rate of 175 per cent and reached $22 billion from $8 billion in 2020.

The reason for this kind of investment may be attributed to increasing demand for online purchases during a series of lockdowns across the world during the Covid-19 pandemic. Within India, Bengaluru was on top globally with $14 billion worth of Venture Capital (VC) investments in digital shopping in 2021, followed by Gurugram at No. 7 with $4 billion and Mumbai at No. 10 with $3 billion. The data also shows that Bengaluru ranked number five among cities with the potential for future unicorns, just behind London.

London is the leading European hub for digital shopping investment, with a record $5 billion raised by digital shopping companies based in the capital in 2021.

Riding on the global sentiment, Indian consumers are relying more on mobile commerce than desktop e-commerce. Globally, the transaction value from mobile devices accounted for 52 per cent of all e-commerce spending in 2021.

In India, consumers preferred to use digital wallets 45 per cent of the time, over debit, credit and charge cards for e-commerce payments, a trend common in Asia Pacific countries including China, Indonesia and the Philippines. While cash is still the leading in-store payment method in 2021, responsible for 37.1 per cent of transaction value. India's POS market is expected to grow by 28.8 per cent to $1.08 trillion between 2021 and 2025.

AFTER WIMBLEDON, ITALIAN OPEN WEIGHING OPTION TO BAN RUSSIAN TENNIS PLAYERS

Rome: The Italian Open this year from May 2-15 could follow into the footsteps of the All England Club to ban Russian and Belarusian players from competing in Rome. It is currently weighing its options, a report in rt.com said on Saturday.

The Italian Open, an ATP Tour Masters 1000 event played on outdoor clay courts at the Foro Italico, is one of the biggest tennis tournaments in the world frequented by top players. But the report said that Italian authorities "are reportedly weighing up whether a ban should be imposed on Russian players" at the tournament.

Russian and Belarusian players will not be allowed to compete at Wimbledon 2022 because of the invasion of Ukraine, the organisers had confirmed in a statement recently. With this decision, men's world No. 2 Daniil Medvedev of Russia and women's world No. 4 Aryna Sabalenka of Belarus become the highest-ranked players to be affected.

On Saturday the report quoting Corriere della Sera in Italy, said that the local government "is considering whether it should follow the All England Club's lead and ban Russian stars from featuring at the Italian Open in Rome too". The Italian newspaper said that Prime Minister Mario Draghi had made up his mind on the issue but is wary of the repercussions and backlash the Italian Tennis Federation might face from the ATP and WTA if the sanctions are imposed.

West Bengal Folk singer on mission to get back students to school

"I repeatedly say 'shikhhai jahir merudanda' (education is the spine of the nation) through my songs," says kobiyaal, or folk singer, Ganesh Bhattacharya, on his unique way of encouraging students of rural West Bengal, who dropped out of school during the pandemic, to return to classes after their two-year gap.

"Village folk don't understand formal languages, but they respond well to rural dialects and folklore. Since they also believe in mythological figures, I use a mythological theme in my songs that's common in kobigaan. Through my poems, I convey how Kalidas was first insulted for not being educated but went on to gain knowledge," adds Bhattacharya, who has spent the last three decades trying to revive kobigaan, which can be traced back to the 17th Century.

Sreeja Ghosh | West Bengal

Kobigaan is a form of Bengali folk art that includes performances of songs and verbal duels among poets. It flourished during the 18th and 19th centuries, after which its popularity dwindled. Bhattacharya now uses its special connect with the rural population to raise awareness about social issues and highlight the importance of education among rural folk, in West Bengal's Bankura district. The easy-to-follow poetry set to a rhythm makes it more appealing to his audiences, he said.

Kushnath Kundu, headmaster of Sree Chandanpur Prathamik Vidyalaya, a pre-primary school in Gangajalghati, Bankura, told reporters: "After the Covid-19 pandemic struck, many students from poor families became reluctant to attend school. A lot of parents also sent their children to work as labourers in nearby towns. We then decided to ask Ganesh Bhattacharya to raise awareness and encourage children to attend school once again, through his kobigaan. I believe it's one of the easiest ways to communicate the value of education to rural people."

The devoted kobiyaal was happy to oblige: "I strongly believe my kobigaan will instil the importance of education in students and their parents. So when Kushnath Kundu and other teachers requested me to perform, I agreed to the task without taking a single penny for such a good deed." Many found this tactic of encouraging students and parents in Gangajalghati quite unique and followed suit. Does kobigaan really raise awareness about the need for education? In a nutshell, yes. While schools appear to be receptive to this form of interaction, they were unable to share more information on the impact of Bhattacharya's kobigaan initiative. Moreover, the overall sentiment was one that called for the need to improve students' attendance further.

The kobigaan effect: more girls at school. On the impact of kobigaan on promoting education, headmaster Kundu said there's been a mixed response from parents, as many of them are more eager to send their children to work rather than school. The government supports kobigaan through different awareness programmes like science fairs and Bishwa Bongo Sahitya O Sanskriti Mela but has allotted a nominal stipend of Rs 1000 for performers of this folk art. While there are many kobiyaal who continue to perform, Bhattacharya claims he's the only one of them putting in the effort to revive its glory.

ARMED FORCES WILL ALSO CROSS BORDER TO TAKE ACTIONS AGAINST TERRORS INIMICAL TO INDIA: RAJNATH SINGH

GUWAHATI | Agencies

Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Saturday said that if needed, Indian armed forces would go across the border to take actions against the terrorists who are inimical to India.

Speaking at the 'Felicitation Ceremony' of 1971 war veterans in Guwahati, the Defence Minister stated that this is the firm decision of the government that Indian armed forces would go across the border to take appropriate actions against the terrorists who are active against the country.

Referring to the Armed Forces (Special Power) Act, 1958 (AFSPA), he said that the act was recently lifted from 23 districts in Assam and from 15 Police stations each in Manipur and Nagaland as the situations were improved in these areas.

"Our Army also does not want to keep the AFSPA in Jammu and Kashmir. Army is not responsible, but the situation forced the promulgation of the act in Jammu and Kashmir. Whenever the situations improve, the AFSPA would be withdrawn from Jammu and Kashmir," the Defence Minister said. He said that the Army is not for maintaining the internal security of the country, this is the responsibility of other security forces and the state police. "If the Army can be withdrawn from internal security, they would more effectively deal with the country's external security at the frontiers. The Indian Army's strength, dedication and spirit are incredible. Due to the dedication and courage of 15 lakh strong Indian armed force personnel, the head of 'Bharat Mata' would never be low down," Singh said.

This is a very proud feeling for the country that currently there are 38,000 to 40,000 retired Army veterans in the northeast region, he added. Singh said that as part of the government's mission to make India an 'Atma Nirbhar Bharat' in defence equipment, the export of defence equipment increased by 334 per cent during the past few years.

"By 2025, Indian defence exports would cross Rs 35,000 crore. India is now among the 25 countries in making and exporting defence equipment," he said. Assam Governor Prof. Jagdish Mukhi, Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma, High Commissioner of India in Bangladesh Vikram Doraiswami, Bangladesh's Lt Col Quazi Sajjad Ali Zahir (Retd.) among others were present in the event, held at Srimanta Sankardev Kalakshetra in Guwahati.

Lt Col Zahir (Retd.), who played a key role in the 1971 Bangladesh's war of Liberation, was awarded with the Padma Shri in the social work category by the Indian government last year.

AMIT SHAH'S MOVES TO DECIDE FUTURE OF BJP-JD(U) RELATIONS IN BIHAR

Patna: A day after Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar attended an Iftar party at RJD leader Rabri Devi's residence, all eyes are on Union Home Minister Amit Shah who is slated to arrive in the state shortly, as his moves will decide the future of the BJP-JD(U) relations, the key constituents of the ruling NDA in Bihar.

Shah is visiting Bihar to participate in a programme organised to remember freedom fighter Babu Veer Kunwar Singh in Bhojpur's Jagdishpur.

According to sources in the JD(U), if Amit Shah talks about any controversial issues like "Uniform Civil Code" during the rally in Bhojpur's Jagdishpur or in Sasaram, it might irk Nitish Kumar.

Kumar, the JD(U) chief, has already clarified his stand on Azan, Hanuman, loud speaker and bulldozer politics. Under his governance in Bihar, not a single incident of communal aggression has appeared despite such incidents being reported from Jahangirpuri in Delhi and in BJP-ruled Madhya Pradesh. Kumar is not pleased with the "bulldozer politics" of the BJP. Amit Shah, on the other hand, reportedly hinted in Bhopal on Friday that the Narendra Modi government may press for the implementation of uniform civil code in the country. BJP has already addressed controversial issues like Ram Mandir in Ayodhya, Triple Talaq, Article 370, CAA etc. The uniform civil code was in the manifesto of BJP in 2019 parliamentary election and Shah is likely to bring it out in the public domain in Bihar.

The uniform civil code is a proposal in India to formulate and implement personal laws of citizens which apply on all citizens equally regardless of their religion, sex, gender and sexual orientation. Currently, personal law of various communities are governed by their religious scriptures. For example, Muslim community follows the laws of Sharia. Implementation of a uniform civil code across the nation is one of the contentious promises of BJP.

RJD EXPECTS 'KHELA HOBE' IN BIHAR

Patna: A day after Chief Minister Nitish Kumar visited RJD leader Rabri Devi's residence for an Iftar party, the latter's son Tej Pratap Yadav claimed that a secret discussion took place regarding the formation of government in Bihar.

"We had a secret discussion with Nitish ji to form a government in Bihar," he said. Yadav admitted having posted a message that read "No Entry for Nitish Ji" in 2017 when he parted ways with the Mahagathabandhan. "Recently, I posted 'Entry Nitish Chacha (Uncle)' and now he has come on our invitation for the Iftar party on Friday evening. I am sure 'Khela Hobe' in Bihar and we will form the government. Tejashwi Yadav had uploaded a post on social media thanking Nitish Kumar for accepting the invitation and joining them for the Iftar party.

KEJRIWAL SENSES EARLY POLLS IN HIMACHAL, GUJARAT

Dharamsala: Sensing early assembly polls, Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal on Saturday said the BJP will hold early elections in Himachal Pradesh and Gujarat, adding if voted to power, his party would implement the Delhi model of governance in Himachal Pradesh.

"I have heard that they (BJP) will hold early Assembly elections in Himachal Pradesh and Gujarat," said Kejriwal, the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) national convener, at a rally in Kangra town near Dharamsala. "The BJP is scared of the Aam Aadmi Party in Himachal and Gujarat. Actually, they are scared of the public, not the AAP. The BJP has decided to hold early elections in Himachal and Gujarat. It does not matter whenever BJP conducts elections, a power should come in the hands of common man," he said. In both the states, the elections are due by year-end.

JAIPUR | Agencies

In a horrific incident, a three-year-old girl, who along with her mother came to attend a marriage function at a village in Chittorgarh district of Rajasthan, was allegedly raped and killed by a youth who also came to attend the wedding.

CHENNAI | Agencies

A police officer said that they will be meeting the school principal and elicit a response regarding the complaint and also will speak to other teachers and staff members of the school.

Tamil Nadu was free of hijab row even as neighbouring Karnataka was reeling under the issue and the action of the school authorities has upset the state government and political parties.

ACB sleuths catch ex-Alwar DC red-handed while accepting Rs 5L bribe

JAIPUR | Agencies

The sleuths of the Anti-Corruption Bureau (ACB) on Saturday caught the former District Collector of Alwar, Nannumal Pahadia, red-handed while accepting a bribe of Rs 5 lakh along with a Rajasthan Administrative Service (RAS) officer, Ashok Sankhla, and a broker named Nitin Sharma.

Pahadia was relieved from the post of District Collector three days back and was posted as the Commissioner of Divisional Inquiry.

ACB DG B.L. Soni said that their team acted on a complaint lodged a few days back wherein the complainant alleged that a bribe of Rs 16 lakh has been demanded to ensure construction work is being done regularly. The ACB formed a team under ADG Dinesh M.N. When the complainant reached Ashok Sankhla with the money and gave it to him, Sankhla asked broker Nitin Sharma to take the funds to Pahadia.

Sharma was going to hand over the money to Pahadia when the ACB sleuths caught him and arrested Paharia from the collector's residence.

Pahadia is the same person who had recently lambasted innocent girls who came to him urging strict action against an accused after a deaf and mute girl was raped in Alwar. Pahadia asked each girl to submit their father's phone numbers so that they could be contacted to complain that their daughters are more into politics than studying. The video of the incident had gone viral on social media, drawing angry

MEGHALAYA RECEIVES 'LARGE EXCESS' RAINFALL AS NEIGHBOURS TRIPURA, MIZORAM DEFICIENT

Nivedita Khandekar | New Delhi

Even when the entire northeast India has been experiencing heavy to very heavy rainfall for the last few days, the spatial variability due to various reasons has meant that Meghalaya has received 'large excess' rainfall while Tripura has received 'deficient' and Mizoram 'large deficient' rainfall since March 1 till Saturday.

The India Meteorological Department (IMD) data has shown that for the period between March 1 and April 23, the quantum of rainfall received by Meghalaya is 473.8 mm, which is 99 per cent more than the normal rainfall 237.5 mm for this duration; Tripura received 98.8 mm rainfall, minus 58 per cent of 234.1 mm normal for the duration and Mizoram received 64.4 mm rainfall, minus 66 per cent of 187.3 mm normal for the duration.

In IMD parlance, 60 per cent or more rainfall is termed as large excess; 20 per cent to 59 per cent is excess; rainfall that is between minus 19 per cent to plus 19 per cent is normal; minus 20 per cent to minus 59 per cent is deficient while minus 60 till minus 99 is termed as large deficient.

Other states in the northeast received normal or excess rainfall. For the same duration of March 1-April 23, Manipur received 150.4 mm (against the normal of 149.4 mm); Nagaland received 137.8 (against the normal of 148.6 mm) and Arunachal Pradesh received 420.9 mm (against 403.5 mm normal) while two states, Sikkim with 417.4 mm against 276.0 mm normal (51 per cent more) and Assam with 321.1 mm against 202.3 mm normal (59 per cent more) received excess rainfall.

Explaining the phenomenon, senior scientist from IMD, K.S. Hosalkar, said the orography of the region and wind direction played a major role. "The windward orography of Meghalaya and the hilly terrain further north is a major factor. Plus, this time round, the wind direction is from southwest to northeast direction. Therefore, there was more rain in the northern part of the NE region while Tripura and Mizoram in the southern parts remained dry."

Hosalkar also pointed out the lack of favourable low pressure system in the northern Bay of Bengal in this season for the missing heavy rainfall over Tripura and Mizoram. Incidentally, Mizoram has recovered lost ground this week and showed normal rainfall while Tripura went from deficient to large deficient. For the duration between April 14-20, Tripura received 20.4 mm rainfall against the normal of 55.3 mm normal (minus 63 per cent) while Mizoram received 29.5 mm rainfall against the normal of 31.5 mm (minus six per cent). The IMD has further predicted widespread rainfall and thunderstorms over the region for next few days under the influence of strong southwesterly winds from Bay of Bengal to northeastern states at lower tropospheric levels.

In his presentation to the Congress top brass, electoral strategist Prashant Kishor flagged that the biggest worry is that members of decision-making bodies in the party are all nominated, not necessarily connected at the grassroots and barely fight elections.

For the 2024 general elections, Kishor has suggested a "pan-India avant-garde campaign to reach, connect and mobilise all of India for a mega movement leading to reincarnation of Congress and election of a transformational government".

To win, 45 per cent of votes are required which means a target of 30 crore, Kishor has said.

Within the country's digital consciousness, the BJP and its leaders currently score vastly above the Congress, he pointed out.

With a theme of "India Deserves Better", Kishor has suggested to the Congress to build a unified platform to provide strategic support and resources to non-political influencers and mount a sustained campaign against the ruling dispensation.

In his presentation, Kishor said his "Reincarnation of Congress" is about "preserving the soul, creating a new body". The inspiration of the campaign is the symbols of Nataraja namely Creation, Protection, Liberation, Destruction, Concealment and Connect.

The resolves include the creation of a new Congress which will be a political platform of choice for the masses.

Destroy a sense of entitlement, lack of accountability and sycophancy, Kishor said in the presentation.

It notes that perhaps for the first time, Congress leadership does not appear fully aligned in terms of goals, strategy, method, approach, tactics and the way forward; leading to a complete lack of cohesion, at times confusion and stalemate.

There is a need for a non-Gandhi Working President/Vice President who can effectively work on the ground as per direction of Congress leadership, it suggests.

It advocates a Congress Plus alliance structure with a national character but having 5-6 partners.

Comments over distribution of 'Right wing' newspaper in train put Railways in a fix

BENGALURU | Agencies

Indian Railways has found itself in a spot over its comments on the distribution of a Right wing newspaper - 'The Aryavarth Express' - in the Bengaluru-Chennai Shatabdi Express on Friday.

The passengers boarding from Bengaluru were surprised to find copies of Aryavarth Express in the train which contained controversial articles, prompting the Indian Railway Catering and Tourism Corporation (IRCTC) to issue a warning to the onboard services licensee later.

The Indian Railways authorities were first slammed by Left activists for the distribution of Aryavarth Express copies in the train.

The authorities then assured that the vendor has been advised to avoid such incidents in the future. They also assured that the staff will keep a strict vigil to avoid distribution of such newspapers as inserts.

The clarification from the IRCTC has angered Right wing activists, who questioned the move saying anything related to the interests of Hindus would meet the same fate and whoever spoke in favour of Hindus would be penalised. The IRCTC then deleted its tweets giving clarification.

The issue started with the distribution of Aryavarth Express along with the officially permitted newspaper in the train to the passengers.

The newspaper carried a lead article that read 'Genocide of Hindus, Sikhs and Buddhists under Islamic rule needs to be recognised'. The other news items in the newspaper also spoke about the plight of Hindus.

One of the passengers, Gopika Bashi, a gender justice campaigner, took objection to the distribution of Aryavarth Express in the train.

She slammed the IRCTC on its twitter handle and questioned how a 'blatantly propagandist' newspaper be distributed by it.

Soon Bashi was joined by others who questioned the distribution of a Right wing newspaper in the train. The IRCTC, on its part, clarified that it was distributed as an insert along with the approved daily.

The Railway Ministry has clarified that its tweet was only regarding distribution of newspapers, and had nothing to do with the content.

Centre issues strong advisory against channels broadcasting offensive, misleading content

The government, therefore expressed serious concern about the manner in which the television channels have gone about their operations in the matter of transmitting content and strongly advised them "to immediately refrain from publishing and transmitting any content which is violative of the aforementioned provisions of The Cable Television Networks (Regulation) Act, 1995 and the rules there under".

Team Absolute | New Delhi

In view of the Jahangirpuri violence and the Ukraine war related coverage, the Centre on Saturday issued a strong advisory warning news organisations to refrain from publishing and transmitting any offensive, misleading or critical content which is violative of the relevant regulatory Act.

Drawing attention to reporting on Russia-Ukraine conflict, certain incidents in North-West Delhi and of certain news debates, the advisory issued by the Ministry of Information and Broadcasting said: "It has been found that in the recent past several satellite TV channels have carried out coverage of events and incidents in a manner which appears to be unauthentic, misleading, sensational and using socially unacceptable language and remarks, offending good taste and decency, and obscene and defamatory and having communal overtones, all of which appear to be violative of the Programme Code and infringement of the provisions of sub-section (2) of Section 20 of The Cable Television Networks (Regulation) Act, 1995." In connection with the reporting on the Russia-Ukraine war, the government said it has been observed that channels have been making false claims and frequently misquoting international agencies/actors; used "scandalous headlines/taglines" that are completely unrelated to the news item; and many of the journalists and news anchors of these channels made fabricated and hyperbolic statements intending to incite the audiences. Similarly on the Jahangirpuri communal clashes, the advisory pointed out that the coverage by the TV channels had provocative headlines and videos of violence that may incite communal hatred among the communities and disrupt peace and law and order; disrupting the ongoing investigation process by playing scandalous and unverified CCTV footages; showing footages of a specific community, thus aggravating the communal tensions and fabricated headlines, sensationalizing and giving communal colours to the actions of the authority. The Ministry also said that it was also observed that in the news, some of channels broadcast debates having unparliamentary, provocative and socially unacceptable language, communal remarks and derogatory references which may have a negative psychological impact on viewers and may also incite communal disharmony and disturb the peace at large. In all three instances, the advisory offered some of the exemplars of the content carried by the television channels.

MP POLICY TO REWARD PUBLIC PROSECUTORS FOR SUCCESSFULLY ARGUING DEATH PENALTY CASES COMES UNDER SC SCANNER

The bench said that currently, NALSA has a very loose kind of arrangement where there are some panel and remand advocates and they keep changing.

Team Absolute | New Delhi

The Madhya Pradesh government's policy to reward or give incentives to its public prosecutors for successfully arguing death penalty cases in trial courts has come under the scanner of the Supreme Court.

A bench headed by Justice UU Lalit took note of a submission of Attorney General KK Venugopal that such a practice of rewarding prosecutors should be nipped in the bud. The attorney general is assisting the top court in a suo motu case registered to examine and institutionalise the process involved in collection of data and information to decide award of death penalty.

On being told about the policy or a system in Madhya Pradesh where public prosecutors are being rewarded and paid incentives for successfully arguing death penalty cases, the bench asked the state counsel to put the related documents on record and be ready to defend it on May 10, the next date of hearing.

...There has been policy in Madhya Pradesh wherein the public prosecutors are given incentive/increments on the basis of death sentence awarded in cases argued by them, it said and asked lawyer Rukmini Bobde, appearing for the state, to place the policy on record and defend it.

The bench, which also comprised justices S Ravindra Bhat and PS Narasimha, also said that it was mulling laying down guidelines to be followed in cases where maximum sentence provided for the offence is death penalty.

To ensure proper legal assistance to the accused facing criminal trials, it said that like public prosecutors, who pursue cases on behalf of the state, the National Legal Services Authority (NALSA) can have defence counsel or public defender's office in every district of the country.

I must share with you that at NALSA, we are thinking of having defence counsel office in every district. Something like public prosecutors' office...there would be the office of public defenders, Justice Lalit, who is heading the NALSA, said during the hearing.

The bench said that currently, NALSA has a very loose kind of arrangement where there are some panel and remand advocates and they keep changing.

Hence, there is a need to have an institutionalised system to ensure proper legal assistance to the accused, it said.

The bench said that it has been accepted by the advocates concerned that the matter required consideration at an early date and asked them to file relevant material pertaining to award of death penalty in other jurisdictions as well.

The top court on Friday initiated the proceedings in the suo motu case to examine and institutionalise the process involved in awarding death penalty in heinous crime cases.

The matter arose from a plea of one Irfan challenging the death penalty imposed on him by the trial court and confirmed by the Madhya Pradesh High Court.

The bench, earlier, had decided to examine how courts dealing with a death sentence can procure a comprehensive analysis about the accused and the crime, especially the mitigating circumstances so that the judicial officer concerned can decide whether death sentence needs to be awarded.

Prior to this, an application was filed by 'Project 39A of the National Law University, Delhi, an anti-death penalty body seeking nod for an investigator who would collect mitigating information in favour of the accused to argue on the sentencing.

"All those who want to read Hanuman Chalisa can read it inside their homes," Walse Patil said in reaction to the Ranas' insistence on reading the Hanuman Chalisa outside Thackeray's Bandra residence. Union Minister Raosaheb Danve on Saturday said there was enough coal for supply to power plants and alleged that the Maharashtra government was busy blaming the Centre instead of providing electricity to citizens. He said the state government owes Rs 3,000 crore in coal dues but the Centre had not stopped supply. Addressing reporters here, Danve said, "Maharashtra is facing load-shedding since a month. It is the state government's responsibility to provide electricity to industries, farmers etc. Instead, the MVA government is busy blaming the Centre." He said the current electricity crisis in the state was due to mismanagement and lack of coordination among the Shiv Sena, NCP and Congress, which form the Maha Vikas Aghadi government. He also attacked the state government on the Hanuman Chalisa row involving Independent Lok Sabha MP Navneet Rana and her MLA husband Ravi Rana and said law and order had collapsed in Maharashtra. The couple had announced that they would recite Hanuman Chalisa in front of Matoshree, the private resident of Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray on Saturday, but later pulled back their stir amid strident protests by Shiv Sainiks. The Ranas, however, said they were pulling back the stir as Prime Minister Narendra Modi would be in Mumbai on Sunday for an awards ceremony and they did not want the atmosphere in the metropolis and state to be vitiated over this issue during the latter's visit. Maharashtra BJP chief Chandrakant Patil, speaking to reporters at another location here, condemned Friday night's attack on his party colleague Mohit Kamboj's car in Mumbai's Bandra area as well as the ruckus created by Shiv Sainiks near the Khar (in the metropolis) and Amravati residences of the Rana couple.

Earlier, the Ranas claimed that they had called off their plans to go and recite Hanuman Chalisa at the Chief Minister's private residence 'Matoshri', even as hundreds of Shiv Sena and Yuva Sena activists laid a siege at the politician couple's home, demanding an apology for insulting Thackeray. At the Ranas' home, there were heated exchanges with the police who wanted them to come to the police station, but the couple insisted the police should produce a warrant, with the entire high-voltage drama shown live on social media. They are engaged in goonda gardi," said Pravin Darekar. Meanwhile, Darekar also spoke about the ongoing faceoff over Hanuman Chalisa between Shiv Sena and independent MP Navneet Rana. It should be noted that Navneet Rana's husband who is also an independent MLA had challenged chief minister Uddhav Thackeray to read Hanuman Chalisa at his residence. He also stated that he would go with his followers to read 'Hanuman Chalisa' at Matoshree if he fails to do so. Following this, Sena workers have been staging a protest outside Rana's residence in Mumbai. Speaking on the same, Darekar condemned Sena's actions despite police presence. Apart from him, BJP's Ashish Shelar also addressed the media and spoke about the attack on Mohit Kamboj.

GST detects Rs 10 cr cash, turnover of Rs 1,764 cr in toilet-sized office

▶ NOT MORE THAN FIVE PEOPLE WILL BE ALLOWED TO GATHER AT A PLACE IN MUMBAI FOR GANESH CHATURTHI ▶ MUMBAI CIVIC BODY HAS BANNED PHYSICAL DARSHAN FOR DEVOTEES AT PUBLIC PANDALS

In a shocker, the Maharashtra GST Department raided and detected cash, silver bars worth Rs 10 crore, plus a business turnover of a staggering Rs.1,764 crore from an office measuring just 35 sq. feet -- smaller than a home toilet. Following a tip-off, the Department on April 16 raided the premises of south Mumbai's Zaveri Bazaar and other locations belonging to one Chamunda Bullion. Most of these places, including the tiny one raided, were not disclosed as place of business in the registration with the State GST Department. While searching one such mystery location on April 20, GST sleuths stumbled across cash Rs 9.78-crore and 19 kg of silver bricks worth Rs 13 lakhs, and the entire booty was hidden inside the walls and floor of the tiny premises. A detailed analysis of the accounts using comprehensive analytic tools of the State GST made more stunning revelations of Chamunda Bullion. The GST team found that the company's gross turnover suddenly shot up from Rs 22.83 lakhs in 2019-2020, to Rs 652 crore the next year (2020-2021), and upto an astronomical Rs 1,764 crore the following (2021-2022) year. When questioned, the owners and family members of the premises denied knowledge or ownership of the treasure trove sniffed out by the GST teams. Accordingly, the State GST has sealed the premises and informed the Income Tax Department to make further investigations. After it was detected, the cash counting that night took over six hours till the next morning, and further procedures are underway. The entire sensational operation was executed under the supervision of Joint Commissioner of State Tax Rahul Dwivedi (IAS) and Deputy Commissioner Vinod Desai of Investigation-B. Meanwhile, the owner of the premises (tax-payer) moved the Mumbai Sessions Court seeking anticipatory bail to avoid imminent arrest from the State GST Department. The State GST said that it will delve into the suppression of GST while the IT will now probe the source of the unexplained cash and valuables recovered from the small office, and related aspects. This year, the GST Department has made five major arrests, passing a strong message to defaulters and tax evaders that they will not be spared if they flout the laws.

An irate mob attacked the vehicle of BJP activist Mohit Kamboj-Bharatiya near the the Bandra East private home of Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray. Accusing that the Shiv Sena was behind the attack, the BJP on Saturday demanded a probe by the the Maha Vikas Aghadi government into the incident that occurred on Friday night. In a statement, Kamboj claimed that when his car stopped near the Kalanagar junction, a mob of around 200 people suddenly surrounded and pounced on his car. "Some police jawans rushed there and rescued me. They also controlled the mob to save me... I thank them," Kamboj said, adding that he was waylaid while returning from a marriage. The Kalanagar junction is a stone's throw away from the Thackeray's home, Matoshri, in a high security zone. Kamboj vowed that he would not be cowed down and continue exposing the MVA leaders. A huge posse of police has been deployed at Thackeray's home with a large number is Shiv Sainiks also camping there since Friday morning, to counter plans by Independent MP Navneet Rana and her husband MLA Ravi Rana to recite Hanuman Chalisa at 'Matoshri' on Saturday. The Mumbai Police have served a notice to the Rana couple and also guarding their home in Khar. Meanwhile, Leaders of Opposition (Assembly) Devendra Fadnis and (Council) Pravin Darekar have condemned the Kamboj incident. "There appears to be a trend of carrying out attacks on people who speak against the (MVA) government," said Fadnis. "It is unfortunate, such an incident happening here," said Darekar, even as other BJP leaders like Sunil Deodhar, Mumbai North-East MP Manoj Kotak and others slammed the MVA government. Countering, Sena leaders claimed that Kamboj had gone there to carry out a 'recce' before the Rana couple's threat to land at 'Matoshri' and recite the Hanuman Chalisa.

KAMBOJ ALLEGES SHIV SENA, MAHARASHTRA CM ATTEMPTED TO KILL HIM

Mumbai: BJP leader Mohit Kamboj on Friday alleged that his car was attacked by a mob at Kalanagar Junction in Mumbai, and called it an attempt to kill him by the Shiv Sena and the Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray. Kamboj had once alleged that Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) ministers have links with 'drugs mafias'. The BJP leader said that the governance in Maharashtra is worse than that in West Bengal. "My car was attacked at Kalanagar Junction by a mob. We managed to flee. Governance in Maharashtra proving to be worse than that in Bengal. Opposition leaders who expose corrupt ministers like Nawab Malik are being attacked by the state government... I condemn it," Kamboj said. He further claimed that the attack was the ruling party's attempt to kill him. "This was an attempt to kill me by Shiv Sena and Maharashtra CM, so as to suppress my voice. Will see what action will be taken by Mumbai Police. Everything has been recorded on the CCTV," he said.

CM'S COMMENT CALLING FOR BAN ON PFI IMMATURE: GOA PFI CHIEF

Panaji: The Popular Front of India (PFI) has called Goa Chief Minister Pramod Sawant's statement calling for a ban on the organisation as an "immature" one. "We have not thought about meeting the CM so far to speak about this. The statement is immature, we do not find it necessary to clarify it," the organisation's Goa president Shaikh Rauf said on Saturday. Earlier, Sawant, while speaking to reporters in Mumbai had said that he would write to the Centre to ban the organisation. "PFI's statement over my anti-conversion remark was irrelevant as there'll be opposition to the increasing conversion cases in Goa. We'll never promote religious conversions in the state. PFI should be banned. We'll recommend to the Government of India to stop them," Sawant had said. Sawant, and the PFI in Goa have been at logger-heads ever since the latter criticised Chief Minister Pramod Sawant over the latter's comments about the need to crackdown on religious conversion in Goa. The Goa unit of the PFI in a statement earlier this week had said that the Chief Minister should not comment on non-relevant issues and focus on inflation instead, while also accusing Sawant of making comments to make his "bosses" in Nagpur happy.

'SONIC THE HEDGEHOG 2': BETTER THAN THE PREVIOUS EDITION

FILM REVIEW

TROY RIBEIRO

(Running in theatres)

Duration: 122 minutes

Director: Jeff Fowler

Cast: James Marsden, Jim Carrey, Tika Sumpter, Natasha Rothwell, Adam Pally, Shemar Moore, Lee Majdoub; Voice Cast: Ben Schwartz, Idris Elba, Colleen O'Shaughnessey

Rating: ***

This live-action-adventure film is a sequel to the 2020 released film - 'Sonic the Hedgehog'. If those who saw the first edition felt the previous edition was an off-seen and an outdated fare, then the sequel is many notches better than the first film.

The narrative feels like a direct continuation of its predecessor. Here we follow the anthropomorphic blue hedgehog Sonic (Ben Schwartz), the iconic Sega video game character as he meets two of the other famous faces from the video game franchise Tails the two-tailed fox, and the red echidna Knuckles (voiced by Colleen O'Shaughnessey and Idris Elba), except that Knuckles is working with the returned evil and mad scientist Dr. Ivo Robotnik (Jim Carrey).

After being banished to the Mushroom Planet, Dr. Robotnik returns to Earth with his new companion Knuckles. He once again seeks out Sonic, who along with his new ally Tails, is searching for the hidden mystical emerald which holds the - "ultimate power to turn thoughts into reality".

So inadvertently, the film turns into a treasure hunt and a villain showdown, which is fun to watch. There are a lot of familiar adventure tropes that will appeal to kids. The subplot about a destination wedding of Rachel (Natasha Rothwell), the sister of Sonic's surrogate mother Maddie (Tika Sumpter), in Hawaii feels included, just to give the humans something to do away from the action. It is also stuff kids would be bored by, but for their parents, it's a nice CG-free reprieve and a chance for the fuming Rothwell to steal the scene.

Also, what makes this edition appeal to Sonic video game fans- is that it leans a lot more into the game's influences than the previous edition. There are few witty lines in the form of recycled gags from other films and plenty more nods to a secret temple in Siberia that houses a compass for the Emerald, giant spikes, and a scene where Tails pilots a biplane as it does battle with a King Kong-sized robot.

The set-action pieces feel nearly ripped from the games and are- a little over the top. The general message of responsibility and working together is simple and goes well with the narrative.

Overall, the film is bright, vibrant, energetic, and delivers just the right amount of- emotional quotient without feeling overdone.

GUJARAT TITANS DEFEAT KOLKATA KNIGHT RIDERS BY EIGHT RUNS

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Gujarat Titans' bowling attack successfully defended 156 to defeat Kolkata Knight Riders by eight runs at DY Patil Stadium on Saturday. Despite losing seven wickets in the last five overs after Hardik Pandya's 67 to end at 156/9, Gujarat's bowling attack clicked in unison, taking four wickets in the first seven overs.

They were also aided by fielders taking some stunning catches to restrict Kolkata to 148/8 in 20 overs. The result means that Gujarat are now on top of the points table.

With a new opening combination in Sam Billings and Sunil Narine, Kolkata's hopes of a blistering start began well when the former brought out a glorious straight drive against Mohammed Shami. But Shami had the last laugh as Billings top-edged a pull to wicketkeeper Wriddhiman Saha. Shami then setup Narine with two short balls on body and then slipped one on hips, which the batter pulled uncomfortably to a diving short fine leg.

Nitish Rana fell cheaply, forced to poke at a Lockie Ferguson delivery and took a healthy edge behind to Saha as Gujarat successfully overturned not out decision. Shreyas Iyer had begun to look comfortable at the crease but was undone by over the wicket angle from Yash Dayal and nicked behind to Saha.

Rinku Singh found the boundary rope five times in his stay of 35 and shared a 45-run stand with Venkatesh Iyer. But in an attempt to smash Yash Dayal over mid-wicket, Rinku could only manage a bottom edge going behind to Saha. Venkatesh tried to slog-sweep Rashid Khan but Abhinav Manohar took a stunning catch just in front of deep mid-wicket boundary rope.

In between, Andre Russell got his first boundary with a thickish edge off Dayal over Saha's head. On the next ball, Russell tried to fend a Dayal bouncer with his bat but the ball flew straight off his bat to fine leg. But Dayal's jubilation was cut short as replays showed front foot no ball. Russell rubbed salt on wounds by thumping Dayal on back-to-back sixes to end an eventful 13th over.

Russell then smacked a Ferguson full toss over long-off. Khan got out Shivam Mavi and almost had Umesh Yadav lbw with the googly but replays showed ball missing the stumps. With 45 needed off 24 balls, Russell upper cut Shami over backward point for six. Umesh cleared his front leg to swat Ferguson over deep mid-wicket for six more. Russell hit a six down the ground off Dayal but could manage five runs off rest of the over for the equation to read as 18 off the final over. On the first ball, Russell smashed an Alzarri Joseph full toss over long-on for a huge six. But Joseph had the last laugh as Russell mistimed a pull to fine leg immediately. That turned out to be a decisive blow for Kolkata as Joseph conceded two, one followed by successive dots to seal a close win for Gujarat.

Brief scores

Gujarat Titans 156/9 in 20 overs (Hardik Pandya 67, David Miller 27; Andre Russell 4/5, Tim Southee 3/24) beat Kolkata Knight Riders 148/8 in 20 overs (Andre Russell 48, Rinku Singh 35; Mohammed Shami 2/20, Rashid Khan 2/22) by eight runs

SUNRISERS THRASH ROYAL CHALLENGERS BY 9 WICKETS

Mumbai | Agencies

Marco Jansen landed the early blows and T Natarajan wiped off the lower-order in a brilliant display of medium pace bowling to restrict Royal Challengers for 68 as Sunrisers Hyderabad romped to a 9-wicket victory in Match 36 at the Brabourne Stadium here on Saturday.

The Sunrisers bowlers came up with a brilliant display as they bowled good line and length and used the conditions well to never allow Royal Challengers to recover. The Bangalore side finished with 68, the lowest total in IPL 2022 so far. They also hold the unwanted record of scoring the lowest total in IPL history -- 49 against Kolkata Knight Riders on this same day in 2017. On Saturday, Jansen claimed 3/25, claiming all three of his victims in his first over itself, the second of the innings, as he dismissed Faf du Plessis (5), Virat Kohli (0) and Anuj Rawat (0) as Royal Challengers were reduced to 8/3 at the end of the second over from which they never recovered.

Nataraj got into the act in the middle overs as he ended with 3/10, and with Jagadeesha Suchith (2/12) and Umran Malik maintaining the pressure, Royal Challengers just could not recover and continued to slump in the abyss.

Chasing 69 to win, Sunrisers did not face any trouble as Abhishek Sharma blasted 47 off 28 deliveries and SRH raced to 72/1 in 8 overs as they romped home to a nine-wicket victory with 72 balls remaining. Skipper Kane Williamson remained not out with 16 off 17 deliveries and Rahul Tripathi was not out on 7 off three balls as Sunrisers scored the biggest win of IPL 2022.

Royal Challengers had slumped to their lowest ever total on April 23, 2017, and five years later they suffered another humiliating defeat as nothing went right for them at the Brabourne Stadium on Saturday.

Brief scores

Royal Challengers Bangalore 68 all out in 16.1 overs (Suyash Prabhudesai 15; Marco Jansen 3/25, T Natarajan 3/10, Jagadeesha Suchith 2/12) lost to Sunrisers Hyderabad 72/1 in 8 overs (Abhishek Sharma 47, Kane Williamson 16 not out; Harshal Patel 1/18) by 9 wickets

I-League: Rajasthan United back to winning ways with clinical performance against NEROCA

Naihati | Agencies

Two second-half goals for Rajasthan United against NEROCA FC were enough to end their four-game winless run, here at the Naihati Stadium. A goal from Biswa Darjee right after half time and a late strike from Pedro Manzi got Rajasthan off to a winning start in Phase II.

Unlike the Phase I encounter between these two sides, the game got off to a very cagey and slow start. Neither goalkeeper was tested as the final third performance of both sides was disappointing. When it looked promising, the attacks were stalled by astute defending at both ends.

In first half stoppage time, Anil Chawan came flying in with a strong challenge on Abdul Salam and got his name taken by the referee. NEROCA were unable to cause any damage from the resulting free-kick after it was hurled in towards Sergio Mendigutxia. The first half-half ended with Rajasthan having only one shot on-target and NEROCA with none.

The second half was nothing like the first. Aman Thapa won a corner after forcing a save out of Shubham Dhas from close range. From the resulting corner, the ball was cleared off the line by Lallenmang Sithou.

The game was put to bed in stoppage time when substitute Alocius Muthayyan put Pedro Manzi through on goal with a clever pass and the Rajasthan United skipper made no mistake in tucking the ball into the net. Manzi could have bagged a brace in the last minute of the game but his shot from close range rattled the crossbar and stayed out.

All three points and a clean sheet lift Rajasthan United up from the bottom of the Championship Playoff table as they go above NEROCA FC, into 6th place. Both sides are only separated by a single point.

Santosh Trophy

Manipur ease past Karnataka by 3-0

Malappuram | Agencies

Manipur eased past Karnataka 3-0 in a Group B match of the Hero 75th National Football Championship for Santosh Trophy at the Kottapadi Stadium, here on Saturday. With this win, they became the first team from Group B to make the semifinals as they joined hosts Kerala.

Manipur coach Gift Raikhan had said that his instruction to his players was to go all out right from the start and ensure qualification to the last four and his team delivered. Three goals in the first-half itself with Lunminlen Haokip running the show.

The first goal of the game came from a terrible mistake by young Darshan L at left-back. He tried to pass back to his keeper Jayanthkumar Krishnamurthy but his loose pass was intercepted by an alert Somishon Shirak. He looked up and picked out an onrushing Lunminlen Haokip who made no mistake as Manipur took the lead in the 19th minute. Karnataka players seemed deflated after conceding the second and they let their heads drop. And Manipur punished them even further. A through ball found Somishon Shirak in acres of space. His first shot was saved superbly by Jayanthkumar Krishnamurthy but Shirak poked home the rebound to make it three goals without reply right at the stroke of half-time. In the second half, Manipur were content to hold their shape and try to hit Karnataka on the break. The Karnataka players did put up a much improved display in the second forty-five minutes but they had nothing to show for their efforts. Kamalesh P and Solaimalai N both had shots from range but the Manipur keeper saved on both occasions. The win meant Manipur now have nine points after four games and have secured progress to the last four. Karnataka, having played three, have four points to show for their efforts. They are still in with a shout but need to win their final game against Gujarat on Monday and hope for other results to go their way if they are to have a chance of making the semis.

Happy Birthday to Bhiku Mhatre of Bollywood

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Actor Manoj Bajpayee gets a year older on April 23. The actor is well-known for his variety and acting style. He has ruled many hearts, from little roles in films to showcase his talent by portraying the protagonists. After a few modest roles in films, he rose to attention as Bhiku Mhatre in Ram Gopal Varma's crime drama Satya, released in 1998. In Satya (1998), Manoj Bajpayee as Bhiku Mhatre, an outsider from Belwa, Bihar, humanized Mumbai's mafia. "Mumbai ka king Kaun?" "Bhiku Mhatre!" says the famous dialogue.

He's won various honors since then, including Filmfare, Dada Saheb Phalke, and National Awards. In addition, he was awarded the Padma Shri for his contributions to cinema. Manoj's characters have emphasized his resolve not to be a cut-out actor over the years. They've been as diverse as human nature itself. Like the law-enforcer, who storms the sanctum of law-makers in Shool (1999), or Maharaja Vijayendra Singh of Fatehpur in Zubeidaa (2001), where earthy Manoj demonstrated his ease amid the royal tiers. In Gangs of Wasseypur (2012), he plays the daring 'Keh Ke lenge' Sardar Khan, who is all about wayward emotions and scruples. As tormented real-life academic Ramchandra Siras, who in Aligarh had a browbeaten expression of humiliation and powerlessness. Srikant Tiwari, who plays a spy disguised as a regular guy in the blockbuster online series The Family Man (2021), has swung the pendulum even further.
