WILL THE PANDEMIC BECOME ENDEMIC IN 2023?

The chief of the World Health Organization (WHO) has said that he hopes that Covid-19 will no longer be a global health emergency sometime next year. WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus said that the WHO Covid-19 Emergency Committee will discuss next month the criteria for declaring an end to the Covid-19 emergency.

▶ ACCORDING TO HEALTH EXPERTS, IT IS HARDER TO PREDICT IF COVID-19 WILL BECOME ENDEMIC IN 2023 BECAUSE IT IS A RESPIRATORY VIRUS THAT TENDS TO MUTATE, SIMILAR TO OTHER INFLUENZA VIRUSES.

▶ IT IS UNCERTAIN WHEN OR IF COVID-19 WILL BECOME ENDEMIC, BUT IT IS UNLIKELY THAT WE WILL BE ABLE TO COMPLETELY ELIMINATE IT.

▶ EXPERTS SAID THAT WE MAY SEE OCCASIONAL OUTBREAKS, PARTICULARLY DURING FLU SEASON OR IF NEW MUTATIONS EMERGE, AS IS CURRENTLY HAPPENING IN CHINA.

the Covid-19 pandemic, will not go away, WHO Director-General Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus said.

Kirti Sabnis, Infectious Disease Specialist at Fortis Hospital in Kalyan, Mumbai, told reporter that when a pandemic becomes endemic, it means that the disease is present in a particular community or globally, and there is enough immunity among the population to control outbreaks.

"Also, the infections can continue to affect vulnerable members of the community. While an endemic may not experience large outbreaks, it also means that it will not be completely eradicated," she said.

"If multiple mutations change the virus's protein structure or its ability to attach to cells, it could give rise to new strains. However, if the current protection of the immunity to the virus is sufficient to prevent severe disease or reduce transmission, then definitely Covid can become endemic," Sabnis said.

"The transmission of the virus in India and the level of immunity acquired through previous vaccination and community transmission will also influence its potential to become endemic. However, it seems unlikely that there will be significant new outbreaks or that the virus will become endemic in the next 2-3 months," Sabnis said.

China will reopen borders, abandon Covid quarantine from January 8

Hong Kong | Agencies

China will reopen borders and abandon quarantine after it downgrades its treatment of Covid-19 on January 8, media reports said on Monday.

The decision is the country's last step in shedding three years of zero-Covid and pivoting to living with the virus, the South China Morning Post reported.

Covid-19 has been managed as a top category A infectious disease since 2020, putting it on par with bubonic plague and cholera. When the declaration was made to do so, authorities said it would be administered according to the Frontier

Health and Quarantine Law.

Under Chinese laws, authorities must impose the toughest restrictions such as quarantine and isolation of the infected and their close contacts, and citywide lockdowns to contain those diseases. At the border, the infected must be isolated and those who might be infected quarantined, depending on the incubation period.

But three sources from provincial health authorities and hospitals in Guangdong, Fujian and Jiangsu said they were notified by the National Health Commission on Sunday, asking them to prepare for the downgrade to category B management from January 8, the SCMP reported. That category means Covid-19 only requires "necessary treatment and measures to curb the spread".

Strict control measures including compulsory quarantine for travellers coming to China will also be removed after the downgrade, since it is no longer a compulsory requirement in the category B management. There are signs that China has been preparing for the pivot, with PCR testing no longer mandatory and Vice-Premier Sun Chunlan, who has been in charge of the Covid-19 response, urging lower level authorities to focus on treatment instead of infections, the SCMP reported.

"Till the first week of December, on an average 3,000 vaccinations were taking place on a daily basis but since December 15, all of a sudden people,

Performance of state ministers worries BJP as MP enters poll year

Praveen Dwivedi | Bhopal

With the elections for the Madhya Pradesh Legislative Assembly getting closer and the preparations to speed up by the beginning of 2023, the state's ruling BJP does not want to repeat the mistakes it made in 2018.

Therefore, along with over 60 sitting MLAs, over a dozen cabinet ministers, whose performances were found poor in the internal survey reports, have been given an ultimatum for the next three months to rework on their performances, highly placed sources told correspondent.

In the last Assembly elections (2018), all sitting ministers were given tickets, of which 13 had lost, which was also one of the key reasons the BJP could not reach a majority mark of 116 to form the government.

This time, the top leadership of the state BJP seems not to be confident of over a dozen sitting ministers, and therefore to remain in power, the safe party does not want to make the same mistake in the 2023 elections.

Sources said that Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan during a meeting with his cabinet ministers recently has given an ultimatum to over a dozen ministers; including those who are loyalists of the Union Minister Jyotiraditya Scindia. The performance of the ministers, who have been given an ultimatum, will be reviewed again after three months.

"The situation is very different for the BJP, and it is because of various reasons. Therefore, the party will take every step strategically. At least, 13-14 sitting ministers and 60 MLAs are likely to be denied tickets in the 2023 elections," a trusted source told correspondent.

At present, the worrying situation for the ruling BJP has arisen due to an internal survey report, which found performance of about 40 per cent MLAs as poor and unsatisfactory. The list includes some ministers also.

"The party has given a last warning to the MLAs to improve performance or face denial of party ticket for the Assembly polls," BJP functionaries said, seeking anonymity.

The MLAs and Ministers have been given three months to improve their perception among people. "We are clear that we will not give tickets to MLAs whose performance is poor. There is a clear cut question - can you win the election? The party has a long queue of eligible candidates and why should they not be given a chance to perform well enough," a BJP functionary said, wishing not to be named.

However, some party functionaries were also of the view that internal survey isn't the main reason of worry for the BJP, but various other reasons, which is why the BJP did want to leave any loophole ahead of the elections.

"Shivraj Singh Chouhan would have confidence in all his cabinet ministers, had it (cabinet) been fully selected on his own choice. Those who have not followed Chouhan's instructions, despite his repeated instructions in the last two years, can't make their performance better in next three or six months," a BJP functionary told correspondent.

The two faces of 'The Serpent'

After spending over 19 years in Kathmandu jail, notorious criminal Charles Sobhraj (78), also known as 'The Serpent' and the 'Bikini Killer', was freed from jail and deported to Paris by the Nepali authorities on Friday. On Wednesday, Nepal's Supreme Court had ordered the release of Sobhraj on health and age grounds. Sobhraj, who was charged with several cases of murder, mostly of women, served the longest time in jail in Nepal, but those who came close to him in recent days, said that they found a "different" Sobhraj while interacting with him on different occasions. Chintan had filed a case in the Supreme Court for his release owing to his age factor and health issues. Sobhraj underwent a heart surgery in 2017 in Kathmandu and also had a cataract operation. Ramesh Koirala, who conducted the heart surgery, later came up with a book titled 'Charles Sobhraj: Inside the Heart of the Bikini Killer', and also narrated his interface with Sobhraj. According to Chintan, Sobhraj seemed to be a learned person. Through a lady lawyer in France, Sobhraj sent a message to Chintan on Saturday that he had safely reached Paris. After the Nepal government did not allow him to stay for a few more days in Kathmandu, Sobhraj was deported to Paris on Friday. Sobhraj spent 19 years and two months in the Kathmandu central jail. Sobhraj argued in his petition in Nepal's Supreme Court that he has already served 19 years in jail and that he is 78 years old. Suave and articulate, Sobhraj used to befriend unsuspecting Western backpackers and upon earning their trust, drugged and murdered them, and fled with their cash, valuables and passports. Having spent 43 years of his life in jail, Sobhraj is perhaps the world's only convict who has served life sentences in two different countries during one lifetime.

What colour is freedom of expression?

Vinod Mirani

The 'Pathaan' controversy has snowballed. But, in this case, to call it a fireball would be more apt. It all started with the depiction of a song in the film, 'Besharam Rang'. I have heard of a voluptuous song or a scene related to a certain character's portrayal in many films. Sadly, in this case, it is nothing of that sort.

The term voluptuous fits a performer, not the act. And the performer here has nothing of that voluptuousness to boast of. The number is full of suggestive moves; it is provocative and reeks of vulgarity.

Whoever thinks that exposing will lure the audience has some very wrong ideas about our moviegoers. If it were so, Sunny Leone would have been the biggest star in our cinema universe and at least she has the body to flaunt. (Now, of course, she insists on a certain dress code before she signs a film.)

'Pathaan' reminds me of a book, 'The Afghan' (2006), by Frederick Forsyth. It was a book worth remembering by all counts. But my memory was revived when Kamal Haasan copied the subject to make his own version, Vishwaroopam (2012). To say the least, Haasan's version was funny for those who had read the book.

In Haasan's version, as in the original, an Al Qaeda man, who resembles Haasan, is captured by the US and Haasan impersonates him with the aim to bring down Al Qaeda! Shah Rukh Khan claims 'Pathaan' is a patriotic film. The public perception about a Pathan or an Afghan is that of a solidly built six-foot-plus man. Kamal Haasan did not fit that image. Don't know if Shah Rukh Khan will!

The very initial response to the song's release on YouTube was negative. If a star or a maker needs such a prop as 'Besharam Rang', it shows lack of confidence. The religious factions joined the bandwagon only later. That helped, the controversy caught on, if that is what the makers wanted. The song shows the dancer, Deepika Padukone, in various flimsy bikinis and one of them happens to be in saffron or 'bhagwa', a colour with which the country's majority community identifies with.

Looks like thanks to the vulgarity of the choreography, coupled with the saffron and the lyrics, 'Besharam Rang' has touched some raw nerves. On the other hand, Islamists have a problem with how a Pathan is depicted in the film.

If the makers added this song to the film only to roll it out as a promo with plans to withdraw it when the time for the film's release came, it has backfired. Yes, the makers will make a lot of money from YouTube, where all links to the songs, including the one put up by YRF, are crossing millions of hits (some 113 million at last count).

When such things happen, certain people, especially film stars, raise the issue of freedom of speech and expression. Aamir Khan, Naseeruddin Shah and Javed Akhtar, among others, have resorted to airing such thoughts while they continue to enjoy all the freedom they could ask for.

Yet, a statement by Amitabh Bachchan during the inauguration of the Kolkata Film Festival last week was most curious. He said, "Even now, questions are being raised on civil liberties and freedom of expression." Yes, they are being raised, but is he also raising it?

Bachchan's statement made no sense as to why he said it and for whom it was directed at. There was no preamble or conclusion to his comment. Also sharing the stage with him at the event was Shah Rukh Khan, whose 'Pathaan' is in the news. Was it meant to please Khan or was it directed at the West Bengal Chief Minister, who was also on the stage?

Bachchan also made a reference to the Cinematograph Act of 1952 vis-a-vis the Censor Board. Why it merited a mention also was left unsaid. He should know that the Act has been amended from time to time and efforts have often been made to appoint a film industry person in the Chair.

By the way, the Bachchan-starrer 'Sholay' was the victim of the Censor Board and so was 'Inquilaab', among other films, but there is no record of his observations on freedom of speech and expression when this happened.

After all these years in the film industry, one is expected to know that everything does not start and end with the Censor Board. There are other local authorities, down to a District Collector, who have the power to stop a film's screenings if they fear that a film may hurt people's sentiments or it may create unrest in his area.

But, most of all, India being the democracy that it is, the masses have freedom of speech and expression. Only, their way of demonstrating or expressing that freedom may not suit everybody. What a senior star should be asking is, why is there censorship for films but none for the digital media, such as YouTube, where the song 'Besharam Rang' was released. In a country where six-and-eight-year-old girls are kidnapped, raped and killed, we can certainly do without more provocation to fuel the perversion of such people. 'Besharam Rang' is just that fuel.

'Cirkus' second preference; cinema stay with 'Avatar'

Rohit Shetty's 'Cirkus', which released on Friday, December 23, was the major Hindi release of the Christmas week. The holiday season was expected to help it make the most of its potential at the box office. What more can a maker ask for? With such an opportune release week for a film, that too one coming from a director reputed for giving mass-oriented blockbusters, the release should have been smooth, a cakewalk.

Here, things got a bit complicated. Though riding on the film is the director Rohit Shetty's reputation and that of a sellable star, Ranveer Singh, the makers had to face a hard time. To make the most of the Christmas holidays, the film needed an extensive release with as many screens as possible. This should have been easy. As there is no other Hindi release to compete with, it could be considered an open week. In normal circumstances, the exhibitors should be chasing the film's distributors, but, surprisingly, it was the other way round!

'Cirkus' was not getting the prime multiplex cinemas and even the single screens equipped with 2K screening facility were out of bounds. The problem was the continuation of the Hollywood hit, 'Avatar: The Way Of Water'. All the best cinemas have been booked by the 'Avatar' distributors, Disney, who are bound by a two-week contract. Besides the contract, the cinema managements had no reason to discontinue 'Avatar' and accommodate a new film because 'Avatar' was doing exceedingly well.

Yes, luckily for 'Cirkus', the film is being distributed by PVR, who have granted more shows to the film at their cinemas by reducing the screening of 'Avatar: The Way Of Water'. The new age makers may not be aware, but asking cinemas to discontinue a screening is considered a sacrilege and has always backfired. For the rest of the cinema chains, it looks like they trust Hollywood more than the Hindi film industry now. Last Christmas, too, there was a contest for screen time between the Hindi film, '83', and the Hollywood global hit, 'Spider-Man: No Way Home'. If the cinemas count more on Hollywood today, they cannot be blamed because the Disney banner itself has given them five hits in row, all making money for them.

And now it looks like the exhibitors who stuck with 'Avatar: Way Of Water' have made the right decision, taking into account the reports about 'Cirkus'!

CHINA STAGES BIG MILITARY INCURSION, SAYS TAIWAN

Taipei | Agencies

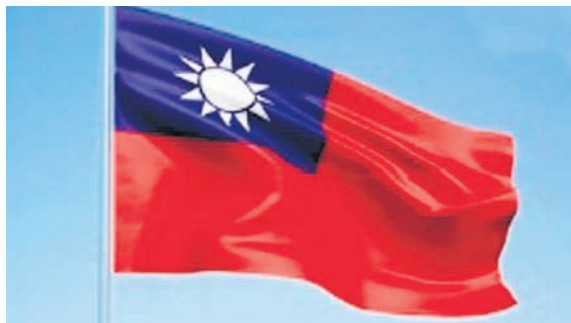

China is staging one of its biggest incursions so far in the seas and skies around Taiwan, according to data from the island's Defence Ministry, media reports said.

It said that 71 Chinese air force planes, including fighter jets and drones, had entered Taiwan's so-called air defence identification zone, the BBC said.

Taiwan is self-ruled - but China sees it as a breakaway province with which it will eventually reunite.

Tensions between the two sides have steadily increased in recent months, BBC reported. In August, Beijing was enraged by a visit to the island by US House of Representatives Speaker Nancy Pelosi, the most senior US politician to visit Taiwan in 25 years.

China responded to that visit by holding what was then its biggest-ever military exercises in the seas around Taiwan, and also blocked some trade with the island.

Taiwan's Foreign Minister Joseph Wu condemned China's action then as highly provocative. China has never said it would not use force to bring Taiwan under its control. On Monday, Taiwan's Defence Ministry said 43 Chinese aircraft had crossed over the so-called median line, an unofficial buffer separating the two sides inside the air defence zone, BBC reported.

China said it had conducted "strike drills" around Taiwan on Sunday in response to what it said was provocation from the island and the US.

Washington has always walked a diplomatic tightrope over the issue of Taiwan.

On the one hand it adheres to the One-China policy, a cornerstone of its relationship with Beijing. Under this policy, the US acknowledges that there is only one Chinese government, and has formal ties with Beijing rather than Taiwan.

But it also maintains close relations with Taiwan and sells arms to it under the Taiwan Relations Act, which states that the US must provide the island with the means to defend itself.

6 DEAD, 19 MISSING IN PHILIPPINE FLOODS

Manila | Agencies

At least six people have died and 19 others are missing due to flooding triggered by heavy rain across the Philippines over the weekend, the government said on Monday. In a report, the National Disaster Risk Reduction and Management Council (NDRRMC) said two died in the Bicol region on the main Luzon island, while four died in northern Mindanao, reports Xinhua news agency.

For the missing people, the agency said 10 were in the Bicol region.

Three others were reported injured. The agency said the flooding affected over 100,000 people in five regions, mainly in the central and southern Philippines.

Nearly 45,000 evacuated people spent Christmas holidays in at least 27 government shelters while the rest stayed with relatives.

The NDRRMC added that almost 50 houses were either totally or partially damaged by heavy rain and flooding.

The floods also rendered at least 14 roads impassable.

On Monday, the state weather bureau warned that the shear line will bring "moderate to heavy rains with, at times, intense rains over central and southern Philippines".

"Flooding and rain-induced landslides are likely," the weather bureau warned, urging the public and government agencies "to take all necessary measures to protect life and property".

5 Pak soldiers dead as 7 separate blasts rip through Balochistan

Islamabad | Agencies

Five soldiers were killed and more than a dozen others injured as seven separate blasts ripped through Balochistan -- three in Quetta, two in Turbat, and one each in Hub and Kohlu districts, officials said.

In a statement, the Inter-Services Public Relations (ISPR) said that on Sunday during an intelligence-based clearance operation, which is underway since December 24, an improvised explosive device (IED) exploded near a "leading party" in Kohlu district's Kahan area, reports Geo News.

Describing the incident as an "externally perpetrated threat of terrorism", the ISPR said that "such cowardly acts by inimical elements cannot sabotage the hard-earned peace and prosperity in Balochistan".

The military's media wing said that the security forces remain determined to challenge their nefarious designs, "even at the cost of blood and lives".

Following the incident, according to the ISPR, a sanitisation operation was launched in the area to apprehend perpetrators.

Unidentified men threw a grenade at a police checkpoint in Quetta's Satellite Town, injuring eight -- three on-duty men and five citizens, the police said.

Hours before this incident, a grenade blast took place within the premises of Hub's Sadar Police Station, injuring three people, police said.

The rescue sources said the injured people were to the city's civil hospital.

In the sixth attack, a hand grenade exploded at Saryab Road in Quetta's Musa Colony. Fortunately, police said, no casualties were reported as a result of the attack.

The seventh attack -- a hand grenade blast -- hit Turbat's Josak area, police said; however, no injuries were reported, Geo News reported.

38 dead as severe Arctic storm batters US, Canada

Washington | Agencies

At least 38 people have died due to a severe Arctic storm that has continued to batter parts of the US and Canada, with some areas recording temperatures as low as -45 degrees Celsius, authorities have confirmed. Of the 38 victims, 34 were reported across the US, majority of them being in Buffalo, New York, the BBC reported.

New York State Governor Kathy Hochul, a native of Buffalo, said: "This will go down in history as Buffalo's most devastating storm."

Storm-related deaths were also reported in Vermont, Ohio, Missouri, Wisconsin, Kansas, and Colorado.

The other four deaths occurred in Canada when a bus rolled over on an icy road near the town of Merritt, in the western province of British Columbia.

The storm has also left tens of thousands of households in both the countries without electricity.

As of Sunday afternoon, less than 200,000 customers in the US were without power, down from a peak of 1.7 million.

In Canada, the provinces of Ontario and Quebec were the worst affected by the power outages, reports the BBC.

In Quebec, almost 120,000 customers were without electricity as of Sunday, with officials saying that it some could take days for some households to be reconnected.

Meanwhile, thousands of flights have been cancelled and more than 55 million Americans still remain under wind chill alert.

The reach of the blizzard conditions has been unprecedented, stretching from Canada as far south as Texas.

The US state of Montana has been the worst hit by the severe winter storm, with temperatures dropping to -45 degrees Celsius.

TILL SC VERDICT, DECLARE DISPUTED BORDER AREAS AS UNION TERRITORY: THACKERAY

Team Absolute | Nagpur

As the Maharashtra-Karnataka boundary row continues to burn, former Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray on Monday demanded that the disputed areas around the borders should be declared as 'Union Territory' till the Supreme Court delivers its verdict.

Speaking in the Maharashtra Legislative Council, the Shiv Sena (UBT) President said though Karnataka Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai has adopted an aggressive stance on the issue, the Maharashtra CM Eknath Shinde remains silent. He said it is not just a case of language and border, but of "humanity", Marathi-speaking people have been residing in the border villages from generations. Their daily life, language and lifestyle is Marathi, he said.

"Until the apex court takes decision in the matter, the areas of Belagavi (Belgaum), Karwar, Nippani should be declared as a UT. This point must be included in the resolution that is passed in the legislature," said Thackeray.

Later, speaking to the media outside the house, Thackeray accused Karnataka of harassment of the Marathi-speaking population on the borders, which has never happened with the Kannada-speaking people in Maharashtra.

"This is not just a question of two languages but of humanity. The people living in the border areas have been suffering for decades and generations. It is high time for the Centre to intervene and take firm steps to resolve the grievances of the affected people for their future," the former CM said.

The Opposition Maha Vikas Aghadi allies Congress, Nationalist Congress Party and Sena (UBT) and the Leader of Opposition Ajit Pawar have been continuously targeting the Shinde-Fadnavis government of going 'soft' on Karnataka on the prickly border problems and have demanded a tough stand against Bommai.

Replying to the issue, Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis assured that "under any circumstances, Maharashtra will not desert our people residing in the disputed borders areas." "We shall fight for every inch of land with the Centre or the apex court... We shall not relent and tackle any injustice meted to the people living there," Fadnavis declared.

Police chief asked to appoint senior officer to probe 2021 rape case

Team Absolute | Solapur

Bombay High Court directed the Maharashtra state director general of police (DGP) to appoint a senior IPS rank officer to carry out investigations into an alleged gang rape case in Solapur after the rape survivor approached the Court with her plea to transfer her case, accusing the present investigation team of protecting the accused.

The alleged gang rape took place on October 31, 2021 in Maharashtra's Solapur area. Police recorded the victim's statement in January 2022 and filed the charge sheet in February 2022.

The victim in her plea submitted on May 9 stated that police sidelined the statement of the victim recorded under Section 164 of the Code of Criminal Procedure (CrPC) and have relied on an alibi of the accused while filing the charge sheet.

The HC bench has asked the magistrate court not to take any step on the charge sheet filed till further orders and has also directed DGO to conduct an inquiry against the investigating officer (IO) of the Solapur police.

The HC has also directed its registry to hand deliver a copy of the order to the Home Minister, Law minister of Maharashtra and State women's commission for their information and record.

While passing the order on December 21, Bombay HC has observed that it is very unhappy over repeated cases of such nature where the police are allegedly involved in protecting the rape accused. "It clearly appears to us that, the Investigating Officer with a view to protecting both the accused persons from the crime of higher degree has indulged into the said act. It further appears that he is interested in protecting the accused in such an offence of serious nature. The facts as unfurled are not only astonishing but flabbergasting and shake the consciousness of this court."

"In the circumstances, we hereby direct the Director General of Police, Maharashtra to personally peruse the record of the investigation and transfer the investigation of the present crime to a Senior Officer of the IPS Cadre to further investigate the present crime. The DGP is also directed to instruct the concerned Officer not to relegate his powers further to any subordinate officer, taking into consideration the serious nature of the case"

Tunisha Sharma tried suicide before, claims Sheezan. "Never," says her uncle

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Sheezan Khan, the boyfriend of actor Tunisha Sharma, has claimed that she tried to die by suicide a few days before she was found hanging on the sets.

"Tunisha had recently tried to commit suicide a few days before her death, but at that time I saved her and told Tunisha's mother to take special care of her," a police source quoting Sheezan Khan said.

The actor told the police he broke up with Tunisha Sharma after he was "so disturbed by the atmosphere in the country that emerged after the gruesome murder of Shradha Walkar" allegedly by her live-in partner Aaftab Poonawala. Rightwing groups have alleged 'love jihad', which they claim is the act of Muslim men luring Hindu women to convert, in the macabre Shradha Walkar murder case.

Tunisha Sharma's uncle, Pawan Sharma, said to a news channel that she came to know Sheezan Khan has been going around with other women, which put her in a lot of stress. "Both ate at the makeup room. No one knows what happened after that. We got a call asking us to come," Pawan Sharma said.

He denied Sheezan Khan's claim that Tunisha Sharma tried to die by suicide in the two weeks before she was found dead on the sets.

"Never, never. She never tried to commit suicide," her uncle said. "She was in a lot of stress. That's why her mother was worried about her," Pawan Sharma said. The police are now investigating the reason behind her alleged suicide. They have recorded statements from her mother Vanita Sharma and her uncle.

As the video did rounds on social media, a user, who seemed impressed by the police's gesture, asked, "Can we get Mumbai Police in Chennai too?" Responding to the tweet, the Mumbai Police wrote, "We are here for you online, 24/7. Else, you are always welcome to our fine city of Mumbai! We assure you we will be there to protect and serve." The video amassed more than 5 lakh views on Instagram and even caught the attention of Bollywood actor Anushka Sharma who shared it in her Stories with a red heart emoji.

"Hands down, nothing like Mumbai Police! We thank you for keeping us safe," a comment read. One asked, "Can we get Mumbai police in Punjab too?"

Earlier this month, the Mumbai Police had come up with a witty video to create awareness about online scams. In the clip, two people are seen facing each other. The text on one of them reads, "Scammers asking you for OTP" while on the other it reads, "You giving scammers your OTP?"

Paragliding tourist, falls hundreds of feet to death as harness fails

Team Absolute | Mumbai/Manali

A 30-year-old tourist from Maharashtra fell to his death during paragliding in the Dohbi area of Kullu district on Saturday. According to eyewitnesses, the victim fell hundreds of feet possibly due to harness failure during a tandem flight. While the tourist died on the spot, the pilot of the paraglider was safe.

The victim was identified as Suraj Sanjay Shah (30) of Shirval village in Maharashtra's Satara district. He was visiting Manali with his friends. Superintendent of Police, Kullu, Gurdev Sharma said on Sunday that police received information that a person had fallen from a paraglider that was flying at a very high altitude in the Dohbi area. "The pilot is safe but the passenger (tourist) succumbed to injuries on the spot," he said "A case of negligence act has been registered under sections 336 (act endangering life or personal safety of others) and 304A (causing death by negligence) of the IPC Act," the SP said. A number of people have either died or sustained injuries during tandem paragliding in Himachal Pradesh. Paragliding and all other adventure sports activities in the state were banned by the Himachal Pradesh High court in January this year after taking strict note of the death of a 12-year-old boy from Bengaluru due to an accident near Bir Billing paragliding site. The court had ordered the setting up of a technical committee to inspect the adventure activity sites. Most of the equipment was found to be not approved by the technical committee and the registration of many operators was faulty. Only those operators were allowed in April who could fulfil the required parameters.

MTHL races towards completion, hybrid crash barriers come up

Team Absolute | Mumbai

As the upcoming Mumbai Trans Harbour Link hurries towards completion, the Mumbai Metropolitan Region Development Authority (MMRDA) has started installing vehicle crash barriers on the outer side of the carriageway, officials said here on Monday.

The height of these vehicle crash barriers is 1,550 mm comprising a concrete-metal combination in a hybrid design, in compliance with the International Standard EN1317.

The hybrid carriers have carried out physical crash tests on the crash barrier as stipulated by international safety standards, said MMRDA Metropolitan Commissioner S. V.R. Srinivas.

The material for the items of the post-and rail system above and the base plate are also made of galvanised steel sections, complying with world norms and crash testing of the new design was done successfully in the UK and South Korea. Along with safety, the crash barriers are designed such that the commuters can enjoy the view of the sea, the wetlands with pink flamingos and other natural beauty as the vehicles zoom from one end to the other on the MTHL which will link the Mumbai island with the mainland.

The MTHL will be almost 22 kms long, including 16.5

km over the sea and 5.5 km on land, and around 120 metre wide, to provide links to the upcoming Navi Mumbai International Airport, the hinterland, Konkan and other regions.

It will be a six-lane bridge, 3+3, plus two emergency lanes, with several interchanges on both sides, and is coming up with a loan from Japan International Cooperation Agency.

Incidentally, the MMRDA had originally planned to erect a 5-feet wall as a crash barrier on either side for the entire 22-km length.

However, since it would block the sea view of the Mumbai Harbour besides creating a 'tunnel effect' while driving, the proposal was dropped for the hybrid

Nicolas Cage wants to try musical

Los Angeles | Agencies

Hollywood star Nicolas Cage has starred in a range of film genres throughout his career but one thing that he hasn't done so far is star in a musical.

The 'National Treasure' actor is now talking about what character he would like to play if he were able to be in a musical.

"I haven't done a musical yet," he told a magazine in an interview. "I'd like to try that. I'm not much of a singer. I did sing okay in Wild At Heart, I thought, but I've since blown my voice out singing 'Purple Rain' incorrectly in karaoke bars." As far as the musical Cage would like to participate in, he said, quoted by Deadline: "I think I'd make a good Pontius Pilate in 'Jesus Christ Superstar'."

As per the magazine, Cage also noted that he channeled Elvis Presley adding: "I was trying to approximate what it felt like to see Warhol's marvelous collages of Elvis Presley as a cowboy with a six-shooter. I wanted to see if you could do that with a film performance. Plus, I think if David Lynch could cast anyone in any of his movies he would have wanted to have cast Elvis, so I think he was excited to roll with it when I suggested it."

Jerry Bruckheimer recently teased that he is working on a third installment of the 'National Treasure' franchise.

News of the film came as the producer was promoting the Disney+ spinoff series 'National Treasure: Edge of History'.

North West sings 'Snowman' with Sia, Kim shares video

Kim Kardashian's daughter North West was treated to a Christmas present at the Kardashian family holiday party this year - singing with Sia.

During the lavish party on Christmas Eve, the kid joined the Australian singer to perform her wintry track 'Snowman' as the pair stood inside a life-sized gift box, reports. Proud mom Kim Kardashian shared videos on her Instagram Story of daughter north enjoying her time in the spotlight, singing next to Sia with a microphone in hand. While Sia dressed elegant in a long, white tulle gown with a matching headpiece, North looked chic in a shimmering black ensemble.

"Sia music and North performing Snowman," wrote Kardashian, while her sister, Khloe Kardashian shared similar footage, writing: "We love you sia music." Along with North, the SKIMS founder is also mom to daughter Chicago, and sons Saint, and Psalm, with ex-husband Kanye West. Earlier this week, north decided to cause a little mischief on behalf of her youngest brother's Elf on the Shelf for a TikTok video.

Setting her video to the track 'Let It Snow', North used a KKW Beauty black liquid eyeliner to draw all over Psalm's face as he slept. After giving him a monocle, a curly moustache, a soul patch and drawings on his forehead, north carefully placed the eyeliner in the elf's arm next to her brother. "Elf on the shelf ha ha ha," she captioned the video.

Deadpool, Wolverine 'hates each other' in the movie: Hugh Jackman

Los Angeles | Agencies

Australian actor Hugh Jackman is set to draw the Wolverine claws out as he is teasing 'Deadpool 3' by spilling some tea about the relationship the superheroes will have at the beginning of the new movie he's filming with co-star Ryan Reynolds, as per reports.

In a recent interview, Jackman was asked to categorise the status of the relationship between the two superheroes. "How do I categorise it? Ten being really close, zero being the reality, we're zero, we're opposites, hate each other," he said.

"I'm just talking from my perspective; (Logan's) frustrated by him, wants to be a million miles away from him or wants to punch him in the head.

Unfortunately, he can't be a million miles away from him in this movie, so I'm probably going to punch him in the head a lot," he further said.

He recently talked about how they were able to bring back Wolverine, and now integrate him into the MCU, assuring fans that 'Deadpool 3' wouldn't mess with the Logan timeline.

"All because of this device they have in the Marvel world of moving around timelines, now we can go back because, you know, its science, so I don't have to screw with the Logan timeline, which was important to me. And I think probably to the fans too," Jackman said on 'The Jess Cagle Show'.

Jackman's return as Wolverine was announced during Disney's fan convention. 'Deadpool 3' is scheduled to be released on November 8, 2024.

Izabel Goulart was in a festive mood Christmas day as she frolicked in the warm waters of the Caribbean. The Brazilian beauty displayed her toned and tanned body in a very tiny red thong bikini while reveling in the white sands and crystal blue waters of St. Barts, where she and her fiancé, Kevin Trapp have been enjoying a tropical vacation.

The island is popular with the rich and famous, according to Travel and Leisure. Many visitors arrive there via yacht or private jet. She and the German soccer player spent an energetic day on the mostly secluded beach.

The goalkeeper showcased his muscular form going shirtless in a pair of white swim shorts. Both wore red and white Santa hats as they put on an athletic display.

The runway veteran appeared to be doing push ups as she grabbed her beau's hands as Kevin lay on the sand, holding her in a plank while sharing a long kiss. hey later posed in a head stand as Izabel leapt on the footballer's extended foot and turned herself upside down. Both shared the photo on social media, with Izabel

Luca Bish and Andrew Le Page suffered an awkward blunder

Los Angeles | Agencies

Stars from all ends came together for charity talent competition Britain Get Singing on Saturday evening - including many from this year's Love Island. But it wasn't smooth sailing for all the contestants, as Luca Bish and Andrew Le Page suffered a blunder while losing their song timings during the festive performance.

Joining co-stars Antigoni Buxton, Paige Thorne, Tasha Ghouri and Danica Taylor for the singing performance, the duo appeared slightly lost as they struggled to keep up with the girls. It didn't go unnoticed by fans either, with many taking to social media to share their opinion on the moment - noting that the reality stars 'looked mortified'.

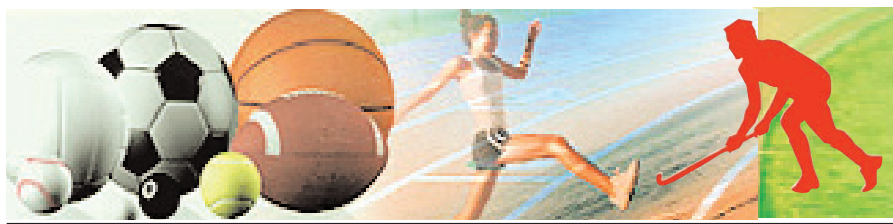

The group took to the stage to sing their own rendition of George Michael's Last Christmas, all sporting festive ensembles for the performance. And while they got off to a strong start, the boys appeared to let the team down as they lost track of the song during the middle section.

Walking towards the front of the stage, Andrew broke the song to wish the audience a Merry Christmas - before Luca appeared confused at what his line was.

The former fishmonger began to sing: 'I wrapped it up and sent it, with a note,' before he and Andrew shared an unsure look towards one another while attempting to keep up the lyrics. They attempting to bring it back as luca let out a smile, with judge Jason Manford helping them out as he began to sing along and keep them on track.

Alesha Dixon was also on the panel and began to giggle at the blunder, before Antigoni took over from the boys with her section - leaving them in an awkward laugh.

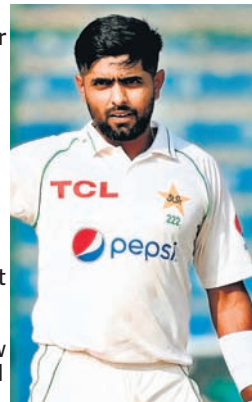

PAK VS NZ TEST SERIES

BABAR'S UNBEATEN 161 LEAD PAKISTAN TO 317/5 AGAINST NEW ZEALAND

BABAR AZAM BREAKS MULTIPLE RECORDS IN KARACHI TEST

Karachi: Pakistan skipper Babar Azam on Monday set a couple of records as he struck a half-century to rescue the hosts from a precarious position in the opening Test of the series against New Zealand. He now holds the record for the most runs scored by a Pakistan batter in a calendar year and the most fifties or more scored in a calendar year.

The Pakistan captain broke the 16-year-old record for most runs scored by a Pakistan batter in a season held by Mohammad Yousof in the first innings of the opening Test against New Zealand.

He now holds the record for the most runs in a calendar year by a Pakistan batter, going past Mohammad Yousof's aggregate of 2435 runs in 2006. Batting on 54 not out at the end of the first session, Babar has 2477 runs across all formats in 2022. In third place is Saeed Anwar, who scored 2296 runs in 43 matches in 1996.

The half-century also means he now holds the record for most scores of 50 or more in a calendar year. This was Babar's 25th 50+ score, surpassing Ricky Ponting's record of 24 in 2005.

Despite the contrasting fortunes of the team in Test cricket this year, the skipper has shown in the format with more than 1000 runs in nine matches. In this calendar year, only three other batters have managed to hit the four-figure mark in Tests. The player is the top batter on the ICC Test batting record, holding on to the No. 1 position in the list.

session off Bracewell. He and Sarfaraz would get majority of their runs through the leg-side though the latter was also hit by a hip injury.

Babar survived an lbw decision six balls before stumps, when he reviewed off Patel and replays showed the delivery to be bouncing and going over the stumps. He would then walk off the field unbeaten an 161 on stumps, with Agha Salman by his side on three not out.

Pakistan opener was out caught - giving New Zealand an excellent start to the Test match and to the series on a flat pitch.

Bracewell could have got Azam out in the 15th over had Daryl Mitchell held on to a regulation catch at first slip that would have sent the Pakistan skipper on his way to the pavilion for 12.

Babar then stitched a 62-run stand with Saud Shakeel to get Pakistan past hundred. But the latter fell for 22 on the stroke of lunch, giving a catch to gully off Southee. From there, New Zealand were sent on a leather hunt as Babar and Sarfaraz, batting in Tests for the first time since January 2019, joined forces for a mammoth partnership.

Pakistan captain Babar Azam slammed his ninth Test century, also his third in Karachi, and remain unconquered on 161, propelling the hosts to 317/5 at the end of day one's play in the series opener against New Zealand.

Apart from him, a returning Sarfaraz Ahmed shined in his 50th Test appearance and first at home with a gritty 86 off 153 balls. Ahmed, coming in for Mohammad Rizwan to get a Test appearance after almost four years, shared a mammoth 196-run partnership for the fifth wicket with Babar lasting 56.3 to put Pakistan in a position of strength and demoralise New Zealand.

I love playing Test cricket & felt we could do something different: Stokes

Team Absolute | New Delhi

England Test skipper Ben Stokes said the secret behind leading the turnaround of the side was that he loves playing the longest format of the game and with him being the captain, something different could have been done to change the fortunes of the team. "Test cricket has been spoken about in a way I don't like. It is losing the attention of the fans with all the new formats and franchise competitions. We understand there are so many opportunities for players away from Test cricket. But for me, it is so important for the game. I love playing Test cricket and felt we could do something different."

"Taking the result away from the mindset is a great starting point. Putting the focus on making every day entertaining. Not allowing people to know what is going to happen. If people turn up excited about what they are going to watch you've already won before a ball has been bowled," said Stokes.

The fast-bowling all-rounder hopes his experiences with mental health would encourage others to come out and help change the narrative around taking breaks for mental well-being, something which was showcased through his documentary titled 'Ben Stokes: Phoenix From The Ashes', which was released earlier this year. "It is perceived that men shouldn't be seen to show weakness, but I have never had an issue with expressing my feelings and opening up about it. I can't tell you how much pride I had in myself for doing that after the messages I got from people I had never met."

"I was really blown away by the effect that section of the documentary had on their lives, it pushed them to go and get help. Some of the messages were very emotional to read."

TEST CRICKET: K.L. RAHUL'S AVERAGE AS AN OPENER IS NOT ACCEPTABLE: DINESH KARTHIK

Team Absolute | New Delhi

Though India ended 2022 on a bright note with a hard-fought three-wicket win against Bangladesh in the second Test at Dhaka, the questions around stand-in captain K.L. Rahul's form with the bat cannot be ignored. Rahul averaged only 14.25 across four Test innings -- scoring 22, 23, 10 and 2 - in the 2-0 series sweep over Bangladesh.

Veteran wicketkeeper-batter Dinesh Karthik believes Rahul's average in Test cricket, which currently is at 34.26 from 45 Tests since his debut in 2014, is unacceptable for an opener in the longest format of the game. "I would give K.L. those couple of Test matches, but if things don't go K.L. Rahul's way. The one thing that does go against him is the fact that he has played over 40 Tests and his average is just mid-30s. That is not acceptable for an opener. That is one of the lowest among Indian players for sure, who have played 35 Test matches," Karthik said.

"That is something that he needs to definitely work on. That will be on his mind. If he wants to cement his place in the Test team, he needs to get a couple of hundreds against Australia. Otherwise, you can definitely see a change, with Shubman Gill doing so well," added Karthik.

Indian National Motorcycle Drag Racing: Madras International Circuit to host final three rounds

Chennai | Agencies

The Madras International Circuit here will host Rounds 2, 3 and 4 this week as the curtains come down on the MMSC fmsci Indian National Motorcycle Drag Racing Championship 2022 here from Tuesday till Friday.

While the first round of the four-round Championship was held in July, the subsequent outings could not be held as scheduled due to monsoon rains and the Mandhus cyclone that severely impacted the region. Because of this, the promoters, Madras Motor Sports Club, decided to bunch the remaining three rounds and complete the championship.

Tuesday has been set aside for practice sessions, while the following three days will witness final runs in Rounds 2, 3 and 4 at the end of which the National Champions will be declared.

As has been the trend in the championship, close to 150 entries, across eight categories, have been received with MMSC incentivizing the riders to compete in all three rounds this week. Headlining the highly-competitive field is reigning national champion Hemanth Muddappa representing the Mantra Racing team from Bengaluru. In the first round in July, Muddappa won two National championship races and one support race, and he is expected to extend his domination this week. On view, this week would be an array of superbikes, ranging from the Suzuki Hayabusa to Triumph to BMW, besides a host of modified Indian bikes. In fact, Bengaluru is very strongly represented in all the categories while riders from Mumbai, Hyderabad and Chennai, fill up the rest of the grids.

IND VS BAN TEST SERIES

Ashwin shared how he handled the situation of the game

Team Absolute | New Delhi

In India's three-wicket nail-biting victory over Bangladesh at Dhaka on Sunday, Ravichandran Ashwin was solid in defence and brought out a slew of boundaries at the end to be 42 not out in successfully taking the visitors over the line.

"When I walked out, I thought we have to grind through the situation a little bit as we didn't have many batters behind. Usually, when I go out, I feel I have three more batters behind and can stitch up a partnership even if the batter gets out. I thought Shreyas showed really good composure and felt very calm."

"I just told him to get it done within ten overs or after lunch. My aim was to initially get through the lunch, but a couple of balls went here and there, and there was a catch which went to the short leg (and was dropped). I thought maybe I need to push up some intent and still have a good defence. We played it well and also pushed the accelerator button at the right time." "I always felt I had some batting ability in me, but I felt along with power-hitting, I used to keep telling a lot of people that when asked about white-ball batting, I used to get ahead of the situation a little bit. If I used to hit, I wanted to do that on every single ball." "But I understand a little bit better with what comes in respect to batting - stay in the moment, pick your right moments, right ball and at the end of the day, bat and ball will remain the same, cricketers from both teams will remain the same. Only it is about picking crucial situations and playing it properly."

NICHOLAS POORAN IS A DANGEROUS PLAYER: VIRENDER SEHWAG

New Delhi: Ahead of the inaugural edition of the ILT20 in the UAE, former India opener Virender Sehwag believes West Indies wicketkeeper-batter Nicholas Pooran is a dangerous player and if he comes in the form, then his team MI Emirates stands to benefit hugely.

"Nicholas Pooran is a dangerous player. While his performance in the ICC men's T20 World Cup was not up to the mark, he is a brilliant player. In the recent Abu Dhabi T10 innings, he scored 70-80 runs in mere 20-25 balls. If he comes in the form, it will definitely benefit MI Emirates."

"And it is certainly good news that both all-rounders like Kieron Pollard and Dwayne Bravo who bat in the middle order are now playing in one team. It will definitely be a boost for MI because both are match-winners." "The advantage Afghanistan players will have when they play ILT20 is that when they play with international players, they will learn and improve while enjoying the game. The experience will help build Afghanistan cricket as well."

"He will finish the game himself. We have witnessed it in the past that he has won matches in difficult situations. His bowling is always underestimated, but he bowls the best in death overs," concluded Sehwag.

'Big Boss 16' evicted contestant Ankit Gupta has said that he feels that instead of him, Tina Dutta should have been eliminated. He also said that he feels Shalin Bhanot is a genuine person in the house.

He said: "Instead of me, I feel Tina should have been eliminated. She's not contributing anything in the show. She's not straight forward or plays on the front foot, she has taken a backseat. Also, the only thing she does in the house is hide the ration of the house."

Talking about Shalin, he revealed: "Shalin was made a lot of fun of for his obsession with chicken but he did have a medical issue so that's not fake. Also, I feel Shalin is a very misunderstood contestant. He does overact a lot but I feel there's a point of commonality between us.

Whenever we would have conversations I realised he was a very sensible and genuine guy." He further spoke about his feelings for Priyanka: "Honestly, I think I wouldn't have survived so long without Priyanka, it's because of her I had been in the show. Priyanka and I have known each other for 2-3 years now. She's one of my closest friends."

Ankit added at last: "Also, Sajid sir saved me in between so I'm grateful to him too."

PLAYING A COP IN THE MOVIE WAS A FULFILLING EXPERIENCE: ARJUN

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Bollywood actor Arjun Kapoor, who is set to play a cop in the upcoming theatrical film 'Kuttey', feels that his role in the film brought in a sense of dichotomy as he is a law abiding citizen but his character is of a corrupt police officer in the film. Commenting on the same, the actor said: "For me to play a cop in 'Kuttey' was a fulfilling experience, because to be a law abiding person and to try and operate out of the law was an interesting dichotomy to have to play a corrupt official. It was very exciting to wear the uniform, wear the cap, and do the salute, look and feel the part." Arjun had earlier essayed the role of a cop in the Dibakar Banerjee directorial 'Sandeep Aur Pinky Faraar'.

"Playing a policeman in 'Sandeep Aur Pinky Faraar' gave me a lot of love, invaluable appreciation and of course, some best actor awards! So, if I get the same respect and accolades by playing a cop again in 'Kuttey', I would happily take that because I'm also a greedy actor who wants to leave a mark in the films that I do," he added. He further noted: "I feel playing a cop could be a game changer for me, as one end of the spectrum I have played a suspended police officer, now I have played a not so nice police officer and I would like to put it out there in the world that I hope to play a positive difference making character who is in uniform too because our policemen constantly and unconditionally work to keep us safe day in and day out. I have huge respect for them and I want to show that on screen if given a chance."

'Taaza Khabar' was such an interesting project that I could not let myself miss out on this opportunity to be part of it in various ways. When you are acting, then the area of focus is on improving your part, but when I am co-producing, I have to see from all angles. There were certain parts where I related with the character on a very personal basis and music is the best way I could express that.

"The show tells the story of Vasant Gawde (played by Bhuvan), a Maharashtrian boy who gains a superpower that changes his life. The series is produced by Rohit Raj and Bhuvan under the banner BB Ki Vines productions.
