ADANI GROUP STOCKS' FALL CONTINUES AFTER ALLEGATIONS BY HINDENBURG RESEARCH

BLOODBATH IN STOCKS

The Indian equities market continued to extend its free fall. The benchmark indices started the day lower and deepened the cuts during the day. Sensex erased its psychological mark of 60,000, which was down 966.85 points while Nifty 50 slipped below the 17,600 mark down by 300 points. BSE Sensex fell by 874.16 points, or 1.45 per cent, at 59,330.90, while Nifty 50 was at 17,604.35, down 287.60 points, or 1.61 per cent.

The Adani group stocks continued to remain under pressure on Friday, falling up to 20 per cent in morning trade, after the US-based investment research firm Hindenburg Research made damaging allegations.

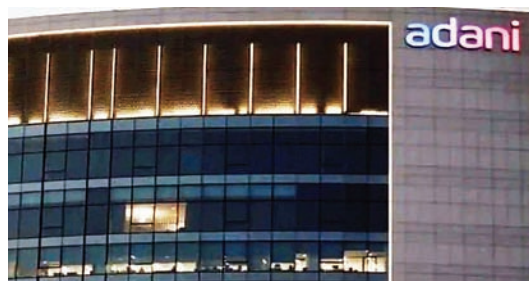

Shares of Adani Total Gas plummeted 19.65 per cent, Adani Transmission tumbled 19 per cent, Adani Green Energy plunged 15.50 per cent and Adani Enterprises tanked 6.19 per cent on the BSE.

Also, Adani Ports and Special Economic Zone fell 5.31 per cent, Adani Wilmar dipped 5 per cent and Adani Power declined 4.99 per cent.

In the broader market, the 30-share BSE benchmark plunged by 1,106 points or 1.84 per cent to trade at 59,098.37 in afternoon session due to heavy selling in financials, banking, oil and IT stocks.

Led by Tata Motors and Bajaj Auto, the BSE Auto index bucked the trend and was the only sectoral index to trade in the green in morning session.

Tata Motors was the lead gainer among Sensex shares rising by 5.14 per cent as the auto maker was back in black in the December quarter after two years. Bajaj Auto jumped 6 per cent while the BSE Auto index was marginally up at 29,619.19. The Adani Group on Thursday said it is examining legal options to take "punitive action" against Hindenburg Research for its "reckless" attempt to

SENSEX DOWN BY 1,200 PTS, NIFTY NEAR 17,500

The BSE Sensex plunged 1.93 percent, or 1,160 points, to 59,045, while the Nifty50 tanked 2.1 percent, or 375 points, to 17,517.

The broader markets were also caught in the bear trap with the BSE Midcap and Smallcap indices declining 1.5 percent and 2.5 percent, respectively as breadth was largely in the favour of sellers. Nearly 5 shares declined for every share rising on the BSE.

Most experts believe the Budget will take a balanced approach towards fiscal consolidation and economic growth while focusing more on capital expenditure on infrastructure (including defence, railway, roads etc), widening production-linked incentive schemes for more sectors, boosting rural demand and divestment targets.

sabotage a mega share sale at the conglomerate's flagship firm - a statement that the US activist investor responded by saying it stands by its report that alleged "brazen" market manipulation and accounting fraud by the group. "The maliciously mischievous, unresearched report published by Hindenburg Research on January 24, 2023, has adversely affected the Adani Group, our shareholders and investors. The volatility in Indian stock markets created by the report is of great concern and has led to unwanted anguish for Indian citizens," Adani Group's lead head Jatin Jalundhwala said in a statement.

The report and its unsubstantiated contents were designed to have a deleterious effect on the share values of Adani Group companies as Hindenburg Research, by their own admission, is positioned to benefit from a slide in Adani shares, he said.

India could emerge as major power next year

Team Absolute | New Delhi

India is slowly emerging as an economic and military power whose ascension affects everyone, Geopolitical Futures said in a report.

It has one of the fastest-growing major economies -- certainly among comparably developed and similarly sized economies. It must now be included with nations that influence the global system, the report said.

India's national strategy is to balance between greater powers, particularly Russia and the US, a practice that will inevitably create tensions inside a country that is famously variegated.

India will, therefore, grow in fits and starts as it manages its relationships with historical adversaries and skews ties with traditional allies, the report said.

New Delhi will, for example, enhance economic and industrial cooperation with Russia to balance against China. There have always been questions as to when India would emerge as a great power. Next year seems the moment, the report said.

The central issue this year will be the ongoing spasm of economic dysfunction, due in equal parts to the war in Ukraine, post-pandemic recovery efforts, and the more banal aspects of ordinary business cycles.

These problems are compounded by the dramatic economic crisis in China, its effects inevitably transmitting throughout the world by virtue of China's economic weight, the report said.

Trans-national, multifaceted economic crises like these take years to resolve, and in their resolution, they will generate political consequences within countries and between them. This phenomenon will intensify in 2023. And though the war in Ukraine is agonizing to observe, it is not the most important issue we face this year. That honour belongs to China, the report said.

Srinagar | Agencies

Senior Congress leader, Rahul Gandhi on Friday accused J&K administration of a 'big security lapse' at the Banihal tunnel. He said that he was hopeful that security arrangements would be elaborate for his future programmes those includes the culmination of the Yatra at Pradesh Congress Committee (PCC) office in Srinagar where he is scheduled to hoist the National flag on January 30 and address a public rally.

Senior Congress leader, Jairam Ramesh told the media that Rahul was supposed to walk 16 kms today, but he could walk only 4 kms due to breach of security.

He said that administration must ensure proper security for the Yatra in the days ahead, especially when it reaches Srinagar. He alleged that due to the wrong policies of BJP and RSS, India as a nation is falling apart and the Yatra is an effort to bring people together.

Maha govt 'erases' Tipu Sultan's name from Mumbai playground

Team Absolute | Mumbai

In a potentially controversial move, the Maharashtra government has ordered the removal of Tipu Sultan, the ruler of the Mysore kingdom, now in Karnataka, given to a prominent suburban garden and playground by the erstwhile Maha Vikas Aghadi government.

Making the announcement, Bharatiya Janata Party's Mumbai Suburban District Guardian Minister M.P. Lodha said the decision was taken recently at a meeting with the Collector.

"Finally, victory of the Right! Ordered removal of name Tipu Sultan from the park in Malad after considering protests by Sakal Hindu Samaj and demands by BJP MP Gopal Shetty," said Lodha.

He said in the DPDC meeting last year, the previous MVA government had decided to name the park after Tipu Sultan and the BJP had protested the move.

However, after dropping Tipu Sultan's name, the government of Chief Minister Eknath Shinde and Deputy CM Devendra Fadnis has not yet decided on its renaming, the Minister added.

The former MVA Minister Aslam Shaikh had revamped the park, included many amenities and sports facilities for the locals and it was named as 'Shaheed Tipu Sultan Playground' in January 2022, ahead of the BMC elections, which got postponed.

BBC docu screening Several students detained at DU, CrPC Sec 144 imposed

New Delhi: The Delhi police has detained 24 students and imposed section 144 prohibiting gatherings outside the Faculty of Arts at Delhi University after scores of students gathered there to watch the controversial BBC documentary on Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

Deputy Commissioner of Police (north), Sagar Singh Kalsi, said that at around 4 p.m. on Friday, some 20 persons came to the Arts Faculty gate to screen the banned BBC documentary.

"As it can cause disturbance of peace and tranquility in the area, they were asked to disperse from there. When they did not, they were peacefully detained. A total of 24 persons were detained. The situation is normal at present," said the DCP.

The call was given by the NSUI-KSU for the screening of the BBC documentary. Students said that the documentary was to be screened at Gate No. 4 of the Arts Department at 4 and 5 p.m. Delhi University authorities said that they have not given permission for the screening.

Some students however watched the documentary on their laptops and mobiles.

Covid immunity strengthens over time in vaccinated people

▶ THE RESEARCHERS MEASURED THE IMMUNE RESPONSE IN 96 GENERALLY HEALTHY EMPLOYEES AND FOUND THAT IT WAS UNIFORMLY STRONGER THE LONGER THE TIME PERIOD BETWEEN VACCINATION AND INFECTION. THE LONGEST INTERVAL MEASURED WAS 404 DAYS.

▶ THEIR FINDINGS SUGGEST THAT VACCINE BOOSTERS SHOULD BE SPACED NO MORE FREQUENTLY THAN A YEAR APART, AT LEAST AMONG HEALTHY PEOPLE, SAID THE STUDY.

▶ MOREOVER, THEIR FINDINGS INDICATE THAT THE MAGNITUDE, POTENCY, AND BREADTH OF THE HYBRID IMMUNE RESPONSE ALL INCREASED WITH THE LENGTH OF TIME BETWEEN VIRUS EXPOSURE - WHETHER THROUGH VACCINATION OR NATURAL INFECTION.

San Francisco | Agencies

The human body's immunity to Covid-19 appears to gather strength with more time between vaccination and infection, a new study has shown.

According to US-based Oregon Health & Science University (OHSU) study, it suggests people, who have had Covid-19, have benefited from vaccination, even if they delayed it. In this study, researchers measured the immune response in blood samples for people, who gained hybrid immunity by either getting vaccinated before a breakthrough infection or by getting vaccinated after contracting Covid-19.

"The immune system is learning. If you're going to amplify a response, what this study tells us is that you might want to boost that response after a longer period of learning rather than early after exposure," said co-senior author Marcel Curlin, MD, associate professor of medicine (infectious diseases) at OHSU School of Medicine.

Further, the researchers found that developing hybrid immunity was no different if someone was vaccinated after contracting Covid-19 or after contracting the disease after vaccination. Both groups developed an equally potent immune response.

In this study, the scientists suggest that so-called memory cells, which produce antibodies to neutralise viruses and their variants, are long-lasting. Even those who've delayed vaccination due to the SARS-CoV-2 virus stand to benefit from vaccination, according to the authors.

Worst of inflation, growth and currency crisis behind us: RBI Governor

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Reserve Bank of India governor Shaktikanta Das said the latest data-prints on growth, inflation and currency volatilities indicate that the worst for the financial markets and the world economy is behind us and that high interest rates for a longer period looks a distinct possibility going forward.

Though the global economy is projected to contract significantly in 2023, the worst, both in terms of growth and inflation, seems to be behind us. Lately, with some ebbing of Covid-related restrictions and cooling of inflation in various countries, though still elevated, central banks have started what appears to be a pivot towards lower rate hikes or pauses, Das told the annual meeting of the Fixed Income Money Market and Derivatives Association of India (Fimmda) and the Primary Dealers Association of India (PDAI) held in Dubai on Friday.

But he put a caveat saying at the same time, central bankers continue to emphatically reiterate their resolve to bring inflation down closer to their respective targets. At the same time, high policy rates for a longer duration appear to be a distinct possibility, going forward.

NCPCR ISSUES NOTICE TO INDORE POLICE CHIEF AS MINORS SEEN DURING PROTEST

Indore/ New Delhi: The National Commission for Protection of Child Rights (NCPCR) on Friday sent a notice to the Police Commissioner of Indore over the presence of minors during a protest organised by some people of the Muslim community in the Madhya Pradesh city, demanding the arrest of Bajrang Dal workers for their alleged statements against Prophet Muhammad. A video of the protests that took place on Thursday went viral on social media. The Commission stated that it has taken suo motu cognizance of the media reports that some unruly youths in Indore's Barwali Chowki area, brought minors and raised slogans, including 'sar tan se juda'. The Child Rights body, in its notice, instructed the Commissioner to take action against those who used the children in the protest, after gathering information through surfaced videos and other means, and sought a report on it. "Release Surgical Strike Video": Congress Leader Backs Digvijaya Singh

Team Absolute | New Delhi

Amid the ongoing controversy over Congress leader Digvijaya Singh questioning the authenticity of the '2019 Surgical Strike', Congress leader Rashid Alvi today came in support of his party colleague and asked the Centre to release the surgical strike video that it claimed it has. "Government says it has a video (of a surgical strike) so what is wrong with Digvijaya Singh asking the government to show it? We're not asking for proof (of strike) but the government should show the video it claims it has," said Rashid Alvi while speaking to reporters. Alvi's reaction comes days after Digvijaya Singh's remark on the surgical strike. Digvijaya Singh had said the government talks of surgical strikes. "They (government) claim to have killed so many people but no proof is given," Singh had said. Congress leader Rashid Alvi said that the country has confidence in the security forces but can't trust the BJP government. "We have faith in our security forces but can't trust the BJP government," he added. Rashid Alvi further raised questions about various ministers' statements surrounding the surgical strike. "Sushma Swaraj, who was a minister in the government, had said that the air strike was done at a place where there was no possibility of anyone getting killed. Amit Shah claims that more than 300 terrorists were killed in the air strike. Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath claims that more than 400 terrorists were killed in the air strike," Alvi pointed out. Citing the above statements, Congress leader Alvi said that it varies and therefore if the government claims to have video proof it should be shown. "These contradictory statements raise questions as to what exactly happened in the surgical air strike. That's why the government if it claims that it has the video evidence of the air strike should make it public," Rashid Alvi demanded. Congress leader Alvi further sought an apology from the Centre in case it does not have video proof. "If they do not have any video evidence to prove its claims, then the government should apologize," he added.

Mishra was associated with the BJP and he was a former municipal councilor, who was running a restaurant called Janata Bhojanalaya in Vidisha. Before the incident came to light, Mishra had posted a cryptic message on Facebook, in which he said: "May God spare even the enemy's children from this disease. They had all consumed pesticide," the ASP added. Yadav further said the police were investigating the matter. Preliminary investigation however revealed that it was a suicide case. "According to Mishra's social post, both his children were suffering from an incurable genetic disorder Muscular Dystrophy. A case has been registered in the matter, and further investigation was underway," the ASP said while briefing the press on Friday.

Cheetahs from South Africa likely to be flown in next month: report

Team Absolute | Bhopal

After months of delay, a dozen cheetahs from South Africa are likely to be finally flown into India next month and housed in the Kuno National Park (KNP) in Madhya Pradesh, where eight such felines from Namibia were brought last year under a project, an expert said. A Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) was signed between New Delhi and Pretoria (South Africa's administrative capital) last week, the expert associated with India's cheetah revival project said over phone on the condition of anonymity. "I think the cheetahs from South Africa will land in India around mid-February," he said. South Africa has donated these big cats to India. But India has to pay $3,000 for the capture of every cheetah to the African nation before they are translocated, he said. KNP director Uttam Sharma said, "We are waiting for the arrival of 12 South African cheetahs. We have set up 10 quarantine bomas (enclosures) for them. In two of these facilities, two pairs of cheetah brothers would be kept." "We have come to know that Pretoria has issued an order for the translocation of cheetahs after signing the MoU," another official of the MP forest department said. Due to the delay in the signing of the MoU for the inter-continental translocation of these big cats, some experts had last month expressed concern over the health of the South African cheetahs as these animals have been quarantined there since July 15.

As a result of long quarantine, these animals might have lost their fitness, they had said. Prolonged quarantine could be taking a toll on the health of these big cats, who are slated to join the eight cheetahs imported from Namibia and released into the KNP in Sheopur district mid-September, the experts had said. In fact, the 12 South African cheetahs - seven males and five females - have not hunted for themselves even once after being kept in bomas, wildlife experts in the know of India's cheetah reintroduction plan, had said. Three of them have been kept in Phinda quarantine boma in KwaZulu-Natal Province and nine in Rooiberg Quarantine boma in Limpopo Province since July 15, they said. They have lost fitness to a considerable extent as they have not hunted even once since July 15, one of the experts said last month. Experts said that a delegation from South Africa visited the KNP in early September to see arrangements at the wildlife sanctuary for housing the world's fastest land mammals.

SICK FEMALE CHEETAH AT KNP MUCH BETTER NOW: OFFICIAL

The health condition of a female cheetah detected with an infection associated with kidneys and liver at the Kuno National Park (KNP) in Madhya Pradesh was much better now, a senior forest department official said on Friday. The cheetah, Sasha, is more than four-and-a-half years old and was diagnosed with hepatorenal, a kidney and liver-related infection, earlier this week. She is among eight cheetahs translocated from Namibia in September last year and housed in KNP in Sheopur district. "She is much better," MP Principal Chief Conservator of Forests (Wildlife) JS Chauhan told media over the phone when asked about the feline's health. Sasha has some liver and kidney problems and is being treated by three veterinarians who are in constant touch with cheetah experts from Namibia and South Africa, he said. "Her problem came to light on Monday. Dr Atul Gupta, a veterinarian at Bhopal-based Van Vihar National Park, was rushed to the Kuno National Park after the problem was detected. She is suffering from hepatorenal infection and has been quarantined for treatment," Chauhan added.

Srinagar-Jammu highway remained closed only for 8 hours this winter

The Srinagar-Jammu National Highway remained closed for just eight hours in total, as against 220 hours in the previous winter, an official said on Tuesday, adding no full day was lost in the last two years due to closure of the highway. Jammu and Kashmir Chief Secretary Arun Kumar Mehta on Tuesday chaired a meeting to review the status of development of different roads and highways connecting different parts of the union territory. "The meeting was informed that this winter the Srinagar-Jammu National Highway remained closed for just 8 hours in total as against 220 hours in previous winter. No full day was lost in the last two years due to the closure of NH. In order to ensure movement of traffic on both the sides of the highway, the T5 tunnel will be dedicated to the public on March 15, and Jaiswal Bridge on February 15," a statement said. Mehta impressed upon the officers to ensure that there is smooth movement of traffic on the National Highway during the winters. He asked them to be ever ready with the requisite men and machinery to deal with the weather vagaries. He stressed minimising disruptions and ensuring that traffic movement remains uninterrupted throughout the year. He reiterated that traffic on this National Highway should move in both ways after March 15 as much of the bridges and tunnels being constructed would be completed by then. He enjoined the officers to focus on the difficult stretches between Banihal and Ramban. He urged them to take instant measures in case of inclement weather. He took note of the under construction bridges at Maitra, Ramban and one at Jaiswal. He passed on directions to the concerned person to accelerate the pace of work so that these vital connections are completed soon.

KARNATAKA HEADING FOR A TRIANGULAR FIGHT!

Vinod Kumar Shukla

After the Congress managing a decisive victory in Himachal Pradesh recently, the party appears to be confident of hitting another penalty kick into the goal post in Karnataka if things go the way they are heading to. The upbeat Congress is counting on factors that will help uproot the BJP in Karnataka which is considered to be BJP's laboratory of Hindutva in south India. Assembly elections are not too far and performance of the Congress and Janata Dal (Secular) led by H D Kumaraswamy was reasonably good even Congress leader Rahul Gandhi's Bharat Jodo Yatra reportedly got a good response. Moreover, differences between senior Congress leader D K Shivakumar and former Congress Chief Minister Siddaramaiah are also ironed out. Now, both these leaders are planning to cash in on anger against the BJP in the state, infighting of senior BJP leaders especially anger of former Karnataka CM B S Yediyurappa, Hijab controversy, Hindu-Muslim polarization, governance issue and the latest border dispute with Maharashtra despite both the states having the BJP and alliance government. A Congress turncoat Basavraj Bommai is heading the BJP government in the state but he is unable to live up to the expectation either of the BJP top brass or his Lingayat community or the common workers of the party in the state. Interestingly two most powerful organizational functionaries -- BJP general secretary (organisation) B L Santosh and BJP's friend, philosopher and guide RSS' Sarkaryawah (general secretary) Dattatreya Hosabale -- are from Karnataka. The BJP has south India as the area where the party wants to harvest the most as proposed in the National Executive meeting in Hyderabad in 2022 but the party is in complete organizational disharmony, internal squabbling and administrative mismanagement in Karnataka. Karnataka results may impact the performance of the BJP in other neighbouring states. The BJP is trying hard to manage Yediyurappa and Hindutva voters. The party doesn't have much of a problem in coastal Karnataka but other parts are facing difficulties. Yediyurappa is the most difficult task to manage for the BJP as he is constantly demanding that his son should be projected as the CM candidate for the next Assembly but the BJP don't want to do that. But the party cannot afford to annoy him if it wants to win elections in the state as he is still the only leader of the Lingayat community who can get their votes for the BJP. Despite Bommai being the CM, he does not carry even half the weight of Yediyurappa in terms of mass appeal among voters. There are many groups in the

Karnataka BJP and many players in the opposition challenging the BJP. Yediyurappa does not get along with some of the state BJP leaders. The incumbent CM was brought to the BJP by him only but they too are not in their best of terms. Sometimes back Yediyurappa did not address a meeting at Koppal to be addressed by state leadership, Bommai rushed to Delhi to appraise the central leadership and party general secretary Arun Singh had to intervene and somehow the situation was salvaged also with the intervention of Yediyurappa's son. Yediyurappa is already accommodated in the important organizational bodies of the party. But these bickering and mismanagement are good signs for the opposition in the state to bounce back. The Congress is putting up a united face after Bharat Jodo Yatra passed through Karnataka. The election of Mallikarjuna Kharge as national Congress president may be quite helpful for the Congress on two counts that the BJP is still unable to counter. First the Congress president belongs to Karnataka and second he is from Dalit community which is the traditional voter of the party. The Congress had already benefited from BJP infighting and Dalit votes in Himachal Pradesh besides other factors. So learning a lesson from its Himachal Pradesh loss where it didn't seek the advice of strongman Prem Kumar Dhumal, the BJP has decided to go for the services of former chief minister Yediyurappa in upcoming Karnataka elections. Yediyurappa is considered to be the face of BJP in Karnataka and the leader who toiled hard in its southern bastion. The senior leadership of the party has now involved the former CM in strategy planning for the upcoming Assembly polls. Union Home Minister Amit Shah and party president J P Nadda too started frequently visiting the state. Reportedly, the BJP is planning to release a book, which compares Leader of Opposition and former Congress

CM Siddaramaiah to Tipu Sultan. The Congress too has some plans to release a book on Siddaramaiah with his achievements. The erstwhile Mysore ruler Tipu is considered by the saffron party as a tyrant who killed hundreds of Hindus to expand his kingdom. Siddaramaiah, during his Chief Ministership, had introduced Tipu Jayanti -- a day to celebrate the ruler who they believe was not only a freedom fighter but gave India, especially the Old Mysore state, path-breaking technology in terms of warfare and administration. The BJP will launch the book 'Siddu Nij Nijam', which will highlight the alleged misrule in the state during Siddaramaiah's tenure and allegedly paint him like a tyrant, just like Tipu. But the BJP has to deal with issues like anger of government employees, general anti-incumbency and infighting. The entry of Bharat Rashtira Samithi in Karnataka as an informal ally of Janata Dal (Secular) will leave the Congress alone in the state to make the fight triangular. The JD (S) has its influence in pockets. But if there is a triangular fight with BRS not ready to join the Congress and JD (S) joining hands with the BRS, the fight is expected to benefit the BJP in the state. If the Congress and JD (S) are hurt by triangular fighting in the state, it is the BJP that will be in advantage. However, the condition of BJP in the state is really bad and any vote division is likely to help the party. But who will succeed is a big question. If the BJP is able to deal with issues or the opposition challenge is really big, only time will tell. This will also decide if BJP meets the fate of HP or Gujarat in Karnataka.

ISRAELI FIGHTER JETS STRIKE GAZA IN RESPONSE TO ROCKETS FIRING

Gaza | Agencies

Israeli fighter jets on Friday carried out a series of airstrikes on facilities belonging to militant groups in the Gaza Strip in response to rockets fired from the coastal enclave, witnesses said.

Israeli army drones and fighter jets were heard buzzing in the air, and several explosions were heard in central Gaza Strip, the witnesses told Xinhua news agency.

They added that more than 14 missiles were fired at a military post that belonged to Gaza militant groups. Palestinian medical sources said that no injuries were reported during the strikes that mainly targeted posts and facilities that belong to the Hamas and the Palestinian Islamic Jihad (PIJ). The airstrikes were in response to the firing of two rockets at southern Israel, said a spokesman from the Jewish state's army. No group has claimed responsibility for firing the rockets, which was a response to the killing of nine Palestinians during an Israeli raid in the Jenin refugee camp, deemed to be the most deadly in nearly two decades. During the Israeli airstrikes on Friday, militants in the Hamas-ruled coastal enclave also fired at least five rockets at southern Israeli communities close to the borders with the Gaza Strip and anti-craft missiles were fired at Israeli fighter jets by Hamas militants, sources close to Hamas security told Xinhua.

Media outlets in Gaza quoted an Egyptian source as saying that Egyptian intelligence is in intensive contact with the Palestinian factions to prevent an escalation in Gaza.

More than 170 Palestinians were killed in the West Bank in 2022, and at least 29 have been killed in January this year, according to figures from the Palestinian Health Ministry. According to the UN, 2022 was the deadliest year for Palestinians since 2006.

The tensions have been further aggravated since Israel's most right-wing government, headed by Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu, took office last month.

Egypt discovers oldest, most complete unroyal mummy

Cairo | Agencies

Egypt's renowned archaeologist Zahi Hawass has announced the discovery of "important tombs hosting a 4300-year-old mummy" in the Saqqara necropolis near the Pyramids of Giza.

"The mummy is the oldest and most complete unroyal mummy found in Egypt to date," Xinhua news agency quoted Hawass as saying in a press conference on Thursday.

The mummy of a man, Hekashepes, covered with gold leaf, was found inside a large rectangular limestone sarcophagus in a room located under a 15-metre-deep shaft, the archaeologist said.

He added that many stone vessels were seen around the sarcophagus, which was completely sealed when the mission discovered it.

"The oldest mummy is part of the important discovery of a group of tombs that date back to the fifth and sixth dynasties of the Old Kingdom," said Hawass, the director of the Egyptian excavation team working with the Supreme Council of Antiquities at Giser el-Mudir area in Saqqara.

He explained that new discoveries indicated that the site comprises a large cemetery.

According to Hawass, a tomb that belonged to Khnumdjedef, an inspector of the officials, a supervisor of the nobles, and a priest in the pyramid complex of Unas, the last king of the fifth dynasty, is the most important one among the new discoveries. Khnumdjedef's tomb is decorated with inscriptions of daily life.

Iraq, France agree on energy, security cooperation

Baghdad | Agencies

Iraq and France have inked a strategic partnership agreement to enhance bilateral cooperation in various areas including energy and security, according to Iraqi officials.

The agreement was signed during Iraqi Prime Minister Mohammed Shia' al-Sudani's one-day visit to Paris, after he met with French Prime Minister Elisabeth Borne and talked with President Emmanuel Macron, al-Sudani's media office tweeted, Xinhua News Agency reported. During talks with Macron, the two leaders discussed bilateral ties, regional and international issues of common concern, and joint cooperation in vital sectors, said the media office's press release.

The agreement covers cooperation in such areas as combating terrorism and extremism, cultural exchange, crisis management, combating economic and organised crime, protecting the environment and promoting human rights, which, al-Sudani tweeted on Thursday, "lays down a road map for expanding our two countries' cooperation in various fields."

The past years have witnessed deepened bilateral exchanges. Macron has visited Iraq twice, one in 2020 and another in 2021. France-headquartered oil producer TotalEnergies signed a deal with the Iraqi government in 2021, agreeing to invest in oil, gas and renewables projects in southern Iraq over 25 years.

CYPRUS PARALYSED BY GENERAL STRIKE AGAINST INFLATION

Nicosia | Agencies

Thousands of workers across all sectors in Cyprus staged a three-hour island-wide strike to demand inflation-linked pay increases.

According to the country's trade unions, 70,000 public sector and 40,000 private sector workers participated in the labour action, which shut down the government, public transport, hospitals, airports and ports, factories and offices between 12 noon and 3 p.m. on Thursday, reports Xinhua news agency.

Airport authorities said that 22 flights were affected and had to be rescheduled.

However, they said that air controllers continued to service international flights in the eastern Mediterranean air corridors, which are among the busiest in the world.

Thousands of demonstrators gathered outside the Ministry of Finance and then marched on to the Labour Ministry in the capital Nicosia demanding the full restoration of the Cost of Living Allowance system (CoLA) aimed at compensating workers for the loss of purchasing power as a result of inflation.

The strike, the first major nationwide industrial action involving all trade unions of the eastern Mediterranean island in more than a decade, was called after talks between workers and employers on the full restoration of the CoLA broke down.

The CoLA was suspended in 2013 under pressure by the Eurogroup as part of austerity measures in exchange for a ten-billion-euro bailout of the near bankrupt Cypriot economy.

It was partly restored in 2017 under an agreement providing that until the end of 2022 workers would receive an increase in their salaries equal to 50 per cent of the annual inflation rate.

Following the soaring of inflation rate in 2022, the trade unions demanded the full restoration of the CoLA to compensate for the loss of the purchasing power of workers' salaries.

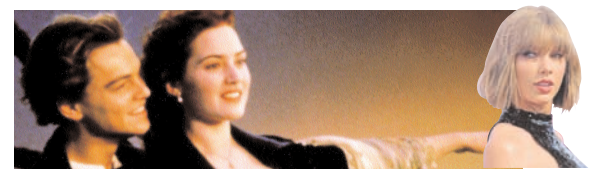

The country's inflation rate in 2022 rose to 8.1 per cent year-on-year.

Employers' associations suggested replacing the system with a new system of a yearly increase in salaries tied to productivity and growth.

The trade unions turned down the suggestion, arguing that they would only accept the full restoration of the CoLA within three years.

Labour Minister Kyriakos Koushos, who acted as a mediator, said the differences between the two sides were so large that he could not submit a conciliatory proposal.

Cyprus will hold presidential elections on February 5.

Rose, who is mom to a son with Wiz Khalifa and another boy with her ex Alexander Edwards, went on to add: "I don't want to share my house or my life with anyone. I don't want anyone around my kids. I don't want to have sex ... It's so gross. I don't want it ... I'm very happy to not be in my bed with anyone." Amber's last serious relationship was with music executive Alexander. They became parents to three-year-old son Slash Electric before parting ways in August 2021. She is also mom to nine-year-old son Sebastian with Wiz Khalifa. Alexander recently hit the headlines after it was revealed he was now dating pop superstar Cher. Alexander is going well despite the 40-year age gap. She explained: "On paper, it's kind of ridiculous. But in real life, we get along great. He's fabulous. PAMELA SAYS SHE HELPED JACK NICHOLSON 'FINISH THREESOME' WITH OTHER WOMEN

Los Angeles | Agencies

Actress Pamela Anderson is spilling the beans in her upcoming memoir, including a detail of Jack Nicholson's tryst. In an excerpt of 'Love, Pamela' obtained by Variety, the actress reveals she once caught the Oscar-winning actor having a threesome at the Playboy mansion, reports aceshowbiz.com.

Pamela writes that she caught 'The Shining' actor with "two beautiful women with him" in a bathroom at the mansion.

"They were all giggling and kissing up against the wall, sliding all over each other," she recalls.

But that's not all, as Pamela claims that she made Jack orgasm merely by making eye contact with him.

"I walked by to use the mirror, bending over the sink to fix my lip gloss. Trying not to look, but I couldn't help myself and caught his eye in the reflection. I guess that got him to the finish line, because he made a funny noise, smiled and said, 'Thanks, dear,'" she concludes the story.

In the book, Pamela also claims that Tim Allen flashed her during the filming of 'Home Improvement' back in April 1991.

"He opened his robe and flashed me quickly - completely naked underneath," she writes in her soon-to-be-released memoir. "He said it was only fair, because he had seen me naked. Now we're even." Pamela says she just "laughed uncomfortably" at the shocking sight.

Tim, who was 37 at the time of the alleged incident, was presumably referring to Pamela's modeling for Playboy, which helped turn the budding actress into an internationally known sex symbol.

Tim has since denied Pamela's claim, saying in a statement to Variety, "No, it never happened."

The funnyman further insisted that he "would never do such a thing."

Author Colleen Hoover's bestselling romance novel 'It Ends With Us' is getting a film adaptation with actors Blake Lively and Justin Baldoni attached to star in it. The film is in development at Sony Pictures, with Baldoni set to direct and executive producer under his Wayfarer Studios banner, which is co-financing.

Lively is also executive producing alongside Hoover, Steve Sarowitz and Andrew Calof, reports Variety.

Alex Saks will produce for Saks Picture Company, along with Jamey Heath who will produce on behalf of Wayfarer Studios.

Christy Hall ('I Am Not Okay With This') penned the current screenplay and is also set to produce.

'It Ends With Us' follows small-town girl Lily, who moves to Boston to start her own business. Sparks immediately fly between her and neurosurgeon Ryle, but his "complete aversion to relationships is disturbing," the book's description reads. "Even as Lily finds herself becoming the exception to his 'no dating' rule, she can't help but wonder what made him that way in the first place. As questions about her new relationship overwhelm her, so do thoughts of Atlas Corrigan - her first love and a link to the past she left behind. He was her kindred spirit, her protector. When Atlas suddenly reappears, everything Lily has built with Ryle is threatened." Hoover is currently the highest-selling novelist in the U.S., writing five of the top 10 best-selling books of any genre last year, with over 20 million books sold. 'It Ends With Us' ended 2022 as the top-selling print book and has been on the New York Times' bestseller list for over 90 weeks. Baldoni and Wayfarer have been working closely with Hoover as a consultant on the film. She's set to make her feature directorial debut with 'Seconds', an adaptation of Bryan Lee O'Malley's graphic novel, written and produced by Edgar Wright alongside Marc Platt.

'Avatar 2' becomes the fifth highest-grossing movie ever, passes 'Avengers: Infinity War'

Los Angeles | Agencies

James Cameron's 'Avatar' sequel is now the fifth highest-grossing movie of all time, passing 'Avengers: Infinity War' to take its spot. 'Avatar: The Way of Water' has now grossed a whopping $2.054 billion at the global box office. 'Infinity War' had an equally impressive $2.052 billion total, after releasing back in 2018, reports Variety. Only 'Avatar' ($2.92 billion), 'Avengers: Endgame' ($2.79 billion), 'Titanic' ($2.19 billion) and 'Star Wars Episode VII - The Force Awakens' ($2.07 billion) rank higher on the all-time list. 'Avatar: The Way of Water' has also earned more than 'Spider-Man: No Way Home' ($1.92 billion), making it the highest-grossing movie of the pandemic era, reports Variety.

Internationally, 'The Way of Water' has grossed $1.5 billion, making it the fourth-biggest movie in history. At the domestic box office, it's made $603 million, standing as No. 13 of all time. It's just the sixth movie ever made that has crossed $2 billion globally, doing so in its sixth week of release.

Sources say that 'Avatar: The Way of Water', which required the development of new technology to shoot motion-capture scenes under water, needed to earn $1.5 billion to break even. Most films would have been wildly profitable from that point. Cameron is hoping to turn 'Avatar' into a five-film franchise, one that will tell a multi-generational family saga.

The filmmaker not only directed the latest 'Avatar' movie, he also co-wrote it with Rick Jaffa and Amanda Silver.
