Out of these 112 documents, there have been 73 outcome documents and 39 annexed documents.

He then announced that the Delhi Declaration has been adopted, amid thunderous applause from all the world leaders. The adoption of the Delhi Declaration came amid reports that aggressive deliberations had taken place between September 7 and 8 among the diplomats and Sherpas of the G20 nations on arriving at a consensus on formulating the language for the final declaration document, related to the reference to the Ukraine conflict, to which both Russia and China have been vehemently opposed.

The consensus over the language has been arrived at after apparently overcoming differences between Russia and other G20 nations, and it is being described as "compromise language", reports quoting sources

"The #NewDelhiLeadersDeclaration has been officially adopted at the #G20India Leaders' Summit! Today's era must be marked as the golden age of human-centric globalisation & India's G20 Presidency under the leadership of PM @narendramodi has worked tirelessly towards this goal."

pelling a political score, the Maharashtra government is all set to bring back the famed 'waghnakh' (tiger claws) - used by Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj to kill Afzal Khan, the General of Bijapur Sultanate, in 1659 - from a museum in the United Kingdom.

BJP leader and state minister Sudhir Mungantiwar told the media that he will visit London between September 29 and October 3 to sign a memorandum with the concerned authorities there.

The 'wagh-nakh' is part of folklore when Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj deployed it to kill Afzal Khan of the Adil Shahi dynasty of the Bijapur Sultanate, at the Pratapgad Fort in Satara 364 years ago.

Made of iron, with four sharp claw-like protrusions attached to a bar and two rings built to fit on two fingers, the deadly tiger-claws are currently in custody at the Victoria & Albert Museum, London, which is considered the world's largest housing a permanent collection of over 2.27 million exhibits

Mungantiwar has been working to get the tigerclaws back since long, and the efforts are on the verge of fructifying as the state celebrates the 350th anniversary of the coronation of Shivaji Maharaj as 'Chhatrapati' at Raigad on June 6, 1674, with the next target being the Maratha warrior's Jagdamba

THIS MEDICINAL PLANT MAY HELP FIGHT COVID AND BRAIN

■ The plant Artemisia annua, or Sweet Annie -- tall, fragrant and with vibrant green leaves has been used in traditional Chinese medicine for over 2,000 years. It produces artemisinin, which contains an endoperoxide, used for the treatment of malaria.

Its leaf extracts have been used to treat a variety of other diseases, including cancer and Covid-19. Yet, until recently, researchers haven't clearly understood how exactly the plant's compounds work. Researchers at the University of Texas- San Antonio (UTSA) are studying the bioactive properties of one of the plant's compounds, Arteannuin B, in cancer cells and Covid, the disease caused by the virus, SARS-CoV-2.

cientists have identified a medicinal plant that can aid in the fight Glioblastoma -- the most aggressive and most common type of cancer that origi-"Around 50 per cent of prescription drugs are derived from natural products. They're made by plants, fungi or bacteria. Half of these drugs originated in plants. That's astonishing when you think of all the medicines that exist in the world," said Valerie Sponsel from the varsity.

"Different plants produce different medicinal compounds. As far as cancer is concerned, there are several types of compounds that have always existed but have only been discovered in the last half century. There's never going to be one compound that treats all cancers, so that is why research continues," she added.

The team used methanol as the solvent to extract the compound. Its leaf extracts were fractionated and characterised using NMR spectroscopy and liquid chromatography-mass spectrome-

The researchers tested the fractions for cytotoxic activity (how toxic a substance is to cells) against glioblastoma (GBM) cells.

Then they purified the fractions to identify and test their individual components against cancer cells one-by-one. Throughout the process, arteannuin B consistently demonstrated cytotoxic activity against GBM cancer cells. They believe it may inhibit the cysteine proteases (protein degrading enzymes) that are overexpressed in cancer cells.

Asha Bhosle & R.D. Burman's melodious journey, discordant end

ntrinsically talented, both, separately and jointly, gave a new direction to Hindi film music.

But to achieve this, Asha Bhosle and Rahul Dev Burman had to surmount a major "hurdle" -- creating a new identity distinct from their illustrious and established kin: elder sibling Lata Mangeshkar and father Sachin Dev Burman.

And both succeeded -- with a combination of luck, support, their own undeniable virtuosity, and above all, their first joint effort.

Asha Bhosle -- who is still going strong at 90, having worked with four generations of music composers from O.P. Nayyar to A.R. Rehman -added a sensuous allure and element of forthrightness for the Hindi film heroine, without becoming risque or boisterous, even as Burman adroitly used pop and jazz to good effect in electrifying film music -- bringing the age of Elvis Presley and the Beatles to India. Rejected at a trial for a film in 1947 as the sound recording engineer "did not like" her voice -- as of her co-singer, who happened to be Kishore Kumar! -- Asha slowly persevered over the next decade as the voice of supporting actors, as her sister and other established singers like Suraiyya, Geeta Dutt and Shamshad Begum had left no space for others.

It was only in the late 1950s that two top music directors gave her a break -- Nayyar, for he did not work with Lata Mangeshkar and the elder Burman, who had a falling out with Asha's elder sister."Le ke pehla pehla pyar" ("CID"; 1956), where Asha stood her ground with main singers Mohammed Rafi and Shamshad Begum, made her a voice to look out for; B.R. Chopra's "Naya Daur" (1957), where she first sang for the heroine, cemented her as a viable voice.It also made her a permanent feature of Chopra's films -- with gems like "Aage bhi na jaane tu" and "Hum jab simatke aapki bahon mein aa gaye" ("Waqt"; 1965), and "Uljhan suljhe na rasta sujhe na" ("Dhund"; 1973) -- among those standing out.S.D. Burman used Asha's voice to good effect for Madhubala in Kishore Kumar's "Chalti ka naam gaadi" (1958) -- "Main sitaron ka taraana" and "Haal kaisa hai janaab ka" -- as well as in "Kaala Pani", 1958 ("Achha ji main haari, chalo maan jao na"), "Kaala Bazaar" (1960), "Bombai Ka Babu", 1960 ("Deewana mastana hua dil"), "Sujata", 1959, and "Teen Deviyaan", 1965 ("Arre yaar meri tum bhi ho ghazab"). Meanwhile, R.D. Burman worked as an assistant to his illustrious father in the latter part of the 1950s, right from his teenage days, and it was only in 1959 did he get his first break -- for a film to be made by Guru Dutt's assistant. It got shelved soon after being launched. Fate was still kind to him and comedian Mehmood, who after being turned down by the senior Burman on his film offer, chose the son instead."Chhote Nawab" (1961) was R.D. Burman's first solo movie and though it did not make waves, he was a music composer in his own right. His hour would strike with "Teesri Manzil" (1966) -- for which hero Shammi Kapoor, producer Naseer Hussain and director Vijay Anand sought to take the credit for his selection, though Burman himself said that it was lyricist Majrooh Sultanpuri who had recommended him. And of the film's soundtrack, the duets "O haseena zulfonwali jaan-e-jahan", "O mere sona re' and "Aaja aaja, main hoon pyar tera" showcased Asha ably complementing Rafi -- and female partners (Helen in the first and heroine Asha Parekh in the last two), who could shimmy as energetically as "Swinging Shammi". It was also the first successful collaboration between Asha and R.D. Burman and laid the ground for their later melodic milestones --"Piya tu ab to aaja" ("Caravan", 1971), the evergreen hedonistic youth anthem "Dum maro dum" ("Hare Rama Hare Krishna", 1971), the uninhibited "Duniya mein", with Burman himself singing "Apna Desh", 1972), "Bhali bhali si ek soorat' ("Buddha Mil Gaya", 1971), that eternal romantic ballad "Chura liya hai tumne" ("Yaadon Ki Baaraat", 1973) and the bold qawwali "Hai agar dushman" ("Hum Kisi Se Kam Nahin", 1977).

oon after the Union Home Ministry on Saturday refuted claim of Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot that his helicopter was denied permission, he posted on X that the permission to fly to Sikar was delayed citing G20 pro-

In the post, Gehlot said: "Yesterday, I had a plan to go from Udaipur to Jaipur, Sikar and Niwai by helicopter. For this, the helicopter had to reach Jaipur from Udaipur in advance, but it was said that due to the protocol of G-20, the helicopter or plane can travel only when the CM himself is on board."

"Permission to fly the helicopter was sought through e-mail at 10.48 a.m. but permission was not received till 2.50 p.m.. To give information to the public waiting there, I tweeted at 2.52 p.m. and explained the reason for not being able to come and also called Shri Om Das Maharaj at Sangliya Peeth and informed him. After this, permission came at 3.58 p.m. but by then, I had left from Udaipur for Jaipur by plane and after reaching there, went to Niwai by road. I did not want to create any controversy in the name of G20, hence did not condemn it and only informed the public about the facts. But now I am sad that the Home Ministry has made an unsuccessful attempt to spread confusion among the public by giving wrong information," he said. Meanwhile, earlier on Saturday, MHA had said, "In a news report, Rajasthan Chief Minister has claimed denial of approval for his helicopter flight by the MHA. Four requests were received from CM Rajasthan for flight permissions, including for Sikar, and all were approved by the MHA.'

"No request from CM Rajasthan has been denied. While all scheduled flights of commercial Aircrafts and

He was leaving for Vijayawada to meet Telugu Desam Party (TDP) president and former chief minister N. #### 50% of world's glaciers will vanish with 1.5 degrees of warming New York | Agencies ☐ The study found that with 1.5

degrees Celsius of warming, half the world's glaciers would disappear and contribute 3.5 inches to sea level rise by 2100.

☐ If the world reaches 2.7 degrees of warming -- the estimated temperature increase based on climate pledges made at the Conference of Parties (COP26) of the UN Framework Convention for Climate Change -- nearly all glaciers in Central Europe, western Canada, and the US (including Alaska) will have melted.

□ If warming reaches 4 degrees Celsius, 80 per cent of the world's glaciers will disappear and contribute 15 centimetres of sea level rise.

f the world reaches 1.5 degrees Celsius of warming, 50 per cent of the glaciers would disappear and contribute 9 cm to sea level rise by 2100, finds an alarming study.

The study, published in the journal Science, projects that the world's glaciers could lose as much as 40 per cent of their mass by 2100. Researchers from Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh, US, modelled glaciers around the world -- not counting the Greenland and Antarctic ice sheets -- to predict how they will be affected by global temperature increases of 1.5 to 4 degrees Celsius (2.7 to 5 degrees Fahrenheit) above pre-industrial levels.

The study by Rounce and team marks the first modelling study that uses satellite-derived mass change data describing all the world's 215,000 glaciers.

The team's sophisticated model used "new satellite derived datasets that were not available on a global level before", said Regine Hock, a glaciology professor at the University of Alaska and the University of Oslo.

It included data from Japan's Advanced Spaceborne Thermal Emission and Reflection Radiometer (ASTER) on NASA's Terra satellite, as well as the USGS-NASA Landsat 8 and ESA's Sentinel satellites.

The model accounted for glacial debris cover, which includes rocks, sediment, soot, dust and volcanic ash found on the glacier

G20 SUMMIT: IIT-B, CHICAGO QUANTUM EXCHANGE FORGE NEW SCIENCE-TECH PARTNERSHIP

Team Absolute | Mumbai

The Indian Institute of Technology, Bombay (IIT-B) has joined the Chicago Quantum Exchange at the University of Chicago as an international partner - among only five globally - for a new collaborative science and technology initiative between the two renowned academic institutions.

The partnership was announced at the G20 Summit between visiting US President Joe Biden and Prime Minister Narendra Modi, and will promote cooperation in the fields of quantum information science, climate and energy, advanced microelectronics, artificial intelligence and data science.

"It reaffirms the goals of the US-India initiative on Critical and Emerging Technology (iCET), to elevate and expand our strategic technology partnership and defense industrial cooperation between the governments, businesses, and academic institutions of our two countries," said an official here.

IIT-B Director, Prof. Subhasis Chaudhuri, termed it as a strong bond being built between India and US academia, as evident from the joint declaration by Biden-Modi.

"It will also be a great opportunity for IIT-B to work with the University of Chicago on some of the most critical and evolving technologies our nations are facing today. Our collective strength will help bring forth impactful breakthrough innovations benefiting the society," said Prof. Chaudhuri. A key component of the partnership is that IIT Bombay has joined CQE as one of only five worldwide academic partners, he added.

The CQE, an intellectual hub for advancing the science and engineering of quantum information, is anchored by the US Department of Energy's Argonne National Laboratory and Fermi National Accelerator Laboratory, the University of Illinois Urbana-

Champaign, the University of Wisconsin-Madison, and Northwestern University.

This follows recent University of Chicago quantum-focused announcements in Japan, the first at the G7 regarding a partnership between the University of Chicago, the University of Tokyo, IBM and Google to build the world's first quantum supercomputer, and the second with Tohoku University to accelerate quantum research.

The IIT Bombay anchors the Quantum Information Computing Science & Technology (QuICST) Hub, one of the leading centers for quantum research in India.

"Strong global partnerships provide the expertise and resources to advance breakthrough innovation and are an essential part of developing a robust quantum ecosystem," said CQE Director David Awschalom, and the Liew Family Professor in Molecular Engineering at the University of Chicago, and senior scientist at Argonne.

In addition to quantum, UChicago and IIT Bombay will collaborate and conduct joint research in fields such as climate, energy, advanced microelectronics, artificial intelligence and data science, with a host of joint research activities, conferences, exchanges of information as well as faculty and scholar visits.

For joint conferences and researchers visiting India, the University of Chicago's Delhi Center, which will celebrate its 10th. anniversary in 2024, will be a resource for these and similar collaborations.

"Our goal at the University of Chicago is to strengthen collaborations with our Indian counterparts in science, technology, and engineering, where the US and India are increasingly aligned in research and development, and this partnership is an outstanding opportunity to build shared US-India scientific knowledge," said UChicago Delhi Center Faculty Director Supratik Guha.

The former Maharashtra minister was talking to reporters here on the sidelines of her 'Shivshakti Parikrama Yatra'.

"The Maharashtra government can take a decision on Maratha reservation. It has a plan about how much reservation can be allotted to which community. It should hold discussions with protesters with confidence and courage and try to provide reservation to the Maratha community," she said.

"If they don't want to go above the 50 per cent quota cap, then a major decision will have to be taken at the national level. The central government's problems on this front are different. It faces a similar situation in many states. It will do what it can as per the Constitution," Munde said.

The Maratha community no longer wants mere promises, they don't want to be misled, they want concrete action in the form of reservation, the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) leader added.

She urged the state government not to make the Maratha and Other Backward Classes (OBC) communities quarrel between themselves.

The state does not want to see the two communities fighting, she said.

She asked the Maratha community members to exert pressure on the government for reservation by holding protests, and said they should not think about ending their lives over the issue.

"...Your fight is useful for the coming generations," Munde added.

The Maratha quota issue returned to centre stage when the police last week baton-charged a violent mob at Antarwali Sarati village in Jalna district after protesters allegedly refused to let authorities shift Manoj Jarange, an activist on hunger strike over the quota issue, to a hospital.

Jarange on Friday warned that he would intensify his ongoing hunger strike from the weekend. He has asked the government to drop the requirement to provide evidence of genealogy for the Marathas from the Marathwada area if they want to obtain the Kunbi caste certificates and avail of reservation under the OBC category.

2 infants, 31 trapped in burning building rescued safely

Team Absolute Mumbai

In a laudable effort, the Mumbai Fire Brigade rescued 33 persons, including two newborn infants, from a five-storeyed building here which was engulfed in a major fire on Saturday, the BMC Disaster Control said.

The blaze was reported from the Saki Society in Sakinaka, Andheri East, at around 9 a.m. which left the residents trapped on various floors, even as anxious people in the neighbourhood gathered and attempted to help out. The fire apparently broke out in an electric meter box cabin located on the ground floor, caught the wiring, installations, electrical panel boards and other items, and quickly spread to the upper floors of the residential building. The scared and screaming residents were stuck on different floors as the dense and blinding toxic smoke blocked the staircase while the terrace was locked. A Mumbai Fire Brigade team, equipped with sophisticated equipment and ladders rushed to the building and launched the evacuation operations while fighting the conflagration. Within an hour, they brought down 7 people from the first floor, 14 plus 2 newborn infants from the second floor, and 10 more from the third and fourth floors using angus ladders and the staircase. Finally, around 10.45 am, the blaze was also extinguished and now the cooling operations are underway, and there were no injuries in the tragedy, said the BMC Disaster Control

Reliance contributes Rs 25 cr to Uttarakhand for post-flood recovery & development

Team Absolute Mumbai

To help rebuild lives affected by floods this year in Uttarakhand and in continuation of its sustained social development efforts in the state, Reliance through Anant Ambani contributed Rs 25 crore to the state's Chief Minister's Relief Fund on Thursday.

"We share a deep bond with the people of Uttarakhand, through joys and sorrows over the past decade. The phenomenal resilience of the state and its people in the face of crisis has been inspiring for all of us at Reliance. As we mark a decade of our association with Uttarakhand, to further strengthen this journey we are contributing in a meaningful manner to the state's well-being," said Anant Ambani.

Floods and landslides following heavy rains in Uttarakhand during July and August this year resulted in widespread loss of life and property. Reliance has stood with Uttarakhand during difficult times since the 2013 floods that caused extensive damage.

Among the first organisations to reach the farflung areas, Reliance Foundation rescued stranded people, provided relief and shelter, and initiated efforts to rebuild lives. It reconstructed institutions, including two schools that catered to children from 30 villages, while training communities for greater resilience. Reliance had also supported the people of the state following floods in 2021 and during the Covid-19 pandemic. In collaboration with the government of Uttarakhand and other organisations, Reliance has taken various social initiatives. Rural communities were supported in creating about five lakh cubic metres of water harvesting capacity, which helped improve water availability for agriculture and consumption in 90 villages. Various community healthcare initiatives took medical care to the last mile.

Many of the 1,500 women and 1,200 representatives of gram panchayats trained in community development went on to be grassroots leaders. A strong proponent of sports for development, Reliance supported over 3.8 lakh children and youth in the state for football, basketball and athletics through its Education and Sports for All initiatives. The unique Chirbatiya Luthiyag marathon in 2018 and 2019 helped bring communities together, showcasing talent and creating awareness on ecological conservation.

The outcomes of Reliance's efforts to strengthen livelihoods in Uttarakhand have inspired transformation in other parts of India. In the spirit of 'We Care' that it espouses, Reliance is committed to the inclusive development and well-being of people everywhere in India.

This contribution is aimed at further supporting the people of Uttarakhand on their journey towards well-being and prosperity.

BMC plans toilets at beaches, but none for transgenders

Team Absolute Mumbai

The Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation's (BMC) ambitious project to construct toilets on seven city beaches, has no space for this facility for transgenders. Out of the 27 bio-toilets planned, none are dedicated to transgenders, drawing criticism from the community.

The National Green Tribunal had ordered the BMC to install bio-toilets on beaches in 2021. The civic body finally invited a tender for the installation of bio-toilets at Juhu, Dadar-Mahim sea shore, Girgaon, Madh-Marve, Manori Gorai Beach and Versova on September 6. The project will cost Rs 3.20 crore. The date for submitting the tender is September 25. But BMC officials claim that due to the shortage of space, they can't construct separate toilets for transgenders. Sharing the details of the project, a civic official said, "We will set up 27 bio-toilets at seven beaches so there is no need for a sewage network."According to a source, initially, BMC had decided to have separate toilets for transgenders and for males and females. But the plan was later dropped citing space constraint.

The source added, "Each cabin will have three seats each for men and women and one for divyang persons (differently abled). As the beaches are in the coastal regulatory zone, we faced space constraints.

So we were unable to create separate toilets for transgenders." When contacted, Deputy Municipal Commissioner Chanda Jadhav said she will get information about the issue and look into the matter.

Young boy loses control of lower body after Dahi Handi pyramid crashes on top of him

ahi Handi celebrations took a tragic turn for several Govindas who sustained serious injuries while performing daring feats on Thursday. As per the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC), 107 injured Govindas visited various civic-run hospitals on Thursday out of which 14 had to be admitted. In total, 11 wounded revellers from the Mumbai Metropolitan Region (MMR) have been admitted to KEM hospital. On Friday, some of their relatives could be seen waiting anxiously outside the operation theatre. While three patients have already undergone surgery and will take six months to a year to recover, two others will take longer time to heal.

A 24-year-old bystander from Nalasopara fractured his neck after a human pyramid collapsed on him on the premises of his building on Thursday. He cannot move the lower half of his body and while he will undergo surgery at KEM hospital on Saturday, he may never improve neurologically. Doctors are hoping for a miracle. "My brother works at a printing press. On Thursday, while he was cheering on an attempt to break the dahi handi, the pyramid came crashing down on him, damaging the bones of his neck," said his sister. A 16-year-old boy, Vedant More, fractured his leg after he fell from the sixth level of a pyramid. An operation was carried out in KEM on Friday afternoon.

Vedant passed the SSC exam this year and just joined an Industrial Training Institute. "College started last week. He went with a local Pathak (group) near Joshi High School in Dombivali East to break the dahi handi. He fell down around 10.30 pm," said Vinayak More, the boy's father.

One of Vedant's friends said that they initially admitted him to a private hospital in Dombivli and then shifted him to KEM. Vinayak said that doctors assured him that he would recover after the operation.

The wife of an injured Govinda, Rajendra Kasurde, 40, said, "He attends the Dahi Handi event every year with the Kalachowkie Pathak. He was standing on the ground but could not bear the weight of the Govindas who fell on him. He cannot move his leg at the moment but doctors say there isn't any need for an operation."

Soham Pednekar, a Virar resident, was also injured while supporting climbers. "His spine got injured and he fractured his leg. The doctors sent him for an MRI. They will decide what to do after the report," said one of his relatives.

ri Lanka continued their dominance of Bangladesh as they beat the Tigers in the Super 4 stage of the tournament by 21 runs, and, for the second time in the Asia Cup 2023 here on Saturday.

This win wasn't easy as Sri Lanka first struggled with the bat before Sadeera Samarawickrama's heroic 93 runs inning came to rescue them and guided the team to 257/9 in 50 overs, a defendable total on the pitch which was a tricky one to bat.

Sadeera Samarawickrama, Kusal Mendis, Matheesha Pathirana, and Maheesh Theekshana were the stars of the show. Chasing the target Bangladesh started very well as they opened the batting with a 55-run partnership. But soon they tumbled down as they lost the next three wickets within 28 runs. The rescue partnership came between Towhid Hridov and Mushfigur Rahim, added 72 runs on the board, and showed some resilience. Hridoy went on to play the anchor inning for Bangladesh as he went on to score his third half-century in ODI cricket. However, his inning of 82 runs went in vain as the Tigers tailender Skipper Dasun Shanaka gave an early shock to Bangladesh as he removed both the openers and then the young Pathirana marched on with spinner Theekshana. Trio went on to pick three wickets each.

Earlier in the inning, Mendis and Sadeera played a completely lost the way in the handy role for Sri Lanka as they both took the team to a respectable total. Sadeera went on to hit his highest score in ODI cricket and anchored the team in death overs with some big hits.

For Bangladesh, it was Tasking Ahmed and Taskin Ahmed took three wickets and thus restricted the Lankans to 257/9. Sadeera Samarawickrama was elected 'Player of the Match' for his brilliant 93 runs.

This is Sri Lanka's first win in the Super 4 stage of the tournament and they will next play India on September

Rain could play spoilsport yet again in India's Super Four showdown against Pakistan

Colombo | Agencies

ince Friday, the Asia Cup was thrown into chaotic scenes as the announcement of a reserve day for the India-Pakistan Super Four clash came into the picture. Now, as the two teams look to renew their rivalry in Colombo on Sunday, the rain threat hasn't subsidised.

Just like India's league game at Pallekele was abandoned due to rain and their chase against Nepal affected by similar reason, the threat of a washout looms high in Colombo. As per various weather forecasts, chances of precipitation for Sunday's match are at 90%.

Due to this, there is a reserve day in place for the clash on Monday, but the forecasts also say it has a 100% precipitation chance. If a miracle results in the weather clearing up in Colombo, India would like to seek some answers in finalising their combination for the Men's ODI World Cup.

choice wicketkeeper-batter. Since January 2020, Rahul averages 56.53 in his resurgence as a dependable middle-order batter for India, before a right thigh injury which needed surgery kept him out of action since May this year.

Though a niggle unrelated to original injury kept him out of Pallekele leg, he did participate in wicketkeeping drills in Colombo, signalling that he's ready to take up dual roles. On the other hand, Kishan, the left-handed batter, is on a run of four consecutive fifties.

Three of those fifties came

Faheem Ashraf and Shadab Khan to support them.

Though Naseem had a shoulder injury scare against Bangladesh in the Super Four match at Lahore, he did resume bowling. All these ingredients shape up for another tantalising affair, provided rain doesn't come into play.

MEDVEDEV BEAT ALCARAZ, SETS DJOKOVIC REMATCH IN 2023 US OPEN FINAL

aniil Medvedev beat defending champion Carlos Alcaraz, 7-6(3), 6-1, 3-6, 6-3, to advance to his third US Open final, at the USTA Billie Jean King National Tennis Center.

In a matchup of two superstars, each with their own unique set of preternatural tennis talents, the 2021 New York champion, Medvedev got his calculations just right to neutralize the uber-athletic game of Alcaraz with his own brand of metronomic baseline brilliance. The third seed also leaned on a stellar serving performance that peaked in the second set, when he rattled off three straight love holds.

Medvedev was hanging on at the start, battling through a series of tough holds and saving the only two break points of the first set as Alcaraz flew out of the blocks. But the tide began to turn when Medvedev won 12 straight points on serve late in the set, including a pair of love holds.

The third seed shook off a double fault that made it 3-3 in the tiebreak by hitting two forehand winners in a four-point blitz to close the set. Medvedev drove home that advantage with an instant break in set two, and he did not lose a point on serve in the set until he harmlessly conceded two in serving out the frame.

The inevitable Alcaraz surge came in set three, which he began with a love hold to signal his intent. Always a fan favorite in New York, Alcaraz enjoyed even more backing in Ashe as he began to launch a comeback bid. The Spaniard was in full flow after scoring his first break of the match to lead 3-1, his balletic movements setting him up to power through the lanky Medvedev's defenses. With the volume turned up, Alcaraz eased through the third set and fashioned an opening at 15-40 early in set four, before Mededev began to recalibrate his resistance. Medvedev escaped that game and then scored the crucial break on his second break point of a mammoth, seven-deuce game to move to the brink of victory at 4-2. Alcaraz attacked the net with abandon down the stretch, serving-andvolleying on the majority of the points late in that marathon game. But Medvedev kept forcing him to hit tough volleys, and Alcaraz was stumped on the last two.

In the end, the puzzle presented by Medvedev was too tough to overcome. It was the third seed's turn to endure a titanic service game in the final game of the match, but he fought off three break points and sealed the deal with a hugely satisfying overhead that bounded high into the stands.

Medvedev's latest stretch of dominance sets him up for a rematch of that 2021 final against Novak Djokovic-a match he won in straight sets to deny the Serbian a calendaryear Grand Slam.

In order to stop Djokovic from claiming a record-tying 24th major singles title, Medvedev knows he will need another otherworldly showing.

icolas de la Cruz scored twice as Uruguay began their 2026 World Cup qualifying campaign with a 3-1 home victory over Chile.

De la Cruz put the hosts ahead when he side-footed home from the edge of the six-vard box after Chile's defense was split open by Darwin Nunez's one-touch pass, reports Xinhua.

Real Madrid midfielder Federico Valverde doubled the advantage on the stroke of halftime by rifling a low shot from outside the penalty area into the bottom-left corner. The Celeste continued to dominate after the interval and De La Cruz made it 3-0 when he was again set up by Nunez for an easy tap-in.

range effort after Diego Valdez's header rebounded off the crossbar. The fixture marked the Celeste's competitive debut under Argentine manager Marcelo Bielsa, who was appointed in May following the sacking of Diego Alonso.

Bielsa has promised to promote youth in a bid to rebuild a team that failed to reach the knockout stage of the 2022 World Cup in Qatar.

The 68-year-old former Argentina and Chile manager left strikers Luis Suarez and Edinson Cavani - who are first and second on Uruguay's list of all-time leading scorers out of his squad for the first two rounds of the South American zone qualifiers. The Celeste will meet Ecuador in Quito in their next qualifier on Tuesday, while Chile face Colombia in Santiago the same day.

India leave behind scares of semis loss, face Lebanon in third-place playoff

King's Cup 2023

fter an agonising defeat on penalties to Iraq, the Indian senior men's team is looking forward to overcoming the setback and ready to face Lebanon in the 49th King's Cup on Sunday. The contest, which will be India's fourth clash in three months against the West Asians, will kick off at the 700th Anniversary Stadium here. India did not concede a goal in the three meetings against Lebanon. A 0-0 draw in the Intercontinental Cup was followed by a clinical 2-0 win in the final in Bhubaneswar. The two sides met again in the SAFF Championship semifinals, where Igor Stimac's side came out on top on penalties after 120 goalless minutes.

In the pre-match press conference, Stimac admitted that both teams know each other in and out, and another exciting encounter will be on the cards on Sunday

Lebanon's head coach and Stimac's former club teammate and good friend Aleksandar Ilic stated likewise. His side will be itching for payback against the Blue Tigers, who got the better of them in both summer tournaments in India.

Lebanon were beaten 1-2 by hosts Thailand in the second semifinals of the King's Cup on Thursday. Trailing by a Jihad Ayoub own goal at half-time, Bassel Jrade equalised for the Cedars soon after the break, but Teerasil Dangda's header five minutes from time stole the win for the hosts, said a report on aiff.com. A similar late drama unfolded in India's semi-final defeat as Aymen Hussein's equalising spot-kick took the game into penalties, where Iraq struck all five to clinch their berth in the final. Stimac thought his boys, who took the lead twice and defended valiantly, deserved more from the match.

But the Blue Tigers have put that difficult loss in the past and are fully focused on winning the bronze medal, as they did in 2019 in Stimac's debut tournament.
