WHY ONLY 6 YRS BAN ON CONVICTS FROM CONTESTING MP/MLA ELECTIONS: AMICUS CURIAE'S REPORT

SEEKS TERMINATION

HANSARIA WAS APPOINTED AMICUS CURIAE (FRIEND OF THE COURT) IN A PIL SEEKING A LIFETIME BAN ON CONVICTED POLITICIANS FROM CONTESTING ELECTIONS AND DEMANDING EXPEDITIOUS TRIAL OF CRIMINAL CASES LODGED AGAINST MPS/MLAS.

UNDER THE PRESENT LAW, IN ALL CASES WHERE A SENTENCE OF IMPRISONMENT HAS BEEN IMPOSED ON POLITICIANS, DISQUALIFICATION FROM CONTESTING ELECTION CONTINUES ONLY FOR A PERIOD OF SIX YEARS SINCE THEIR RELEASE.

THE REPORT SAID THAT THIS MAKES A PERSON ELIGIBLE TO CONTEST ELECTION AFTER SIX YEARS OF THE RELEASE EVEN IF HE WAS CONVICTED FOR HEINOUS OFFENCES LIKE RAPE OR FOR DEALING WITH DRUGS OR BEING INVOLVED IN TERRORIST ACTIVITIES OR HAVING INDULGED IN CORRUPTION.

years after their release, post completion of sentence, fails to meet the object of decriminalisation of politics. He suggested that the issue of constitutional validity of Section 8 of the RP Act, in so far as disqualification to contest election is confined "for a period of six years since his release", may be considered independently of the issue of expeditious disposal of cases by the Special Court for MP/MLA cases. In another part of his report, Hansaria submitted that the Special Court for MP/MLA cases may be directed to furnish monthly reports of pendency and disposal of cases to the High Courts and reasons for delay of cases pending for more than five years. He further suggested that the High Courts may create an independent icon, button or tab on

"The provisions of sub-sections (1), (2) and (3) of section 8 (of the Representation of the People Act, 1951), to the extent, they provide that 'shall continue to be disqualified for a further period of six years since his release' are manifestly arbitrary and violative of Article 14 of the Constitution."

BILKIS BANO CASE: SC TO EXAMINE ABOUT PREFERENTIAL TREATMENT IN REMISSION TO CONVICTS

New Delhi: The Supreme Court on Thursday said that it will be required to examine if remission applications of convicts in the Bilkis Bano case were given any preferential treatment by the Gujarat government. A bench comprising Justices B.V. Nagarathna and Ujjal Bhuyan remarked that there are some convicts who are "more privileged" as usually cases are filed against denial of early release. The bench was considering the batch of pleas filed against the Gujarat government's decision allowing early release of convicts in the case of gang rape of Bilkis and murder of her family members committed during the 2002 post-Godhra riots. During the hearing, senior advocate Siddharth Luthra, appearing for a convict, put forth that the seriousness of crime cannot be a factor for challenging the early release as grant of remission is meant for rehabilitation and reformation of offenders. The matter is likely to continue on September 20.

ing held this afternoon. "On Wednesday, while addressing the media after the first meeting of coordination committee at the residence of NCP Chief Sharad Pawar, Congress General Secretary (Organisation) KC Venugopal said, "The coordination committee authorised the sub group of media to decide upon the names of the anchors on whose shows none of the INDIA parties will send their representatives." Controversy over 'Sanatan Dharma' becoming a poll issue in MP

The subject of 'Sanatan Dharma' in poll-bound Madhya Pradesh has already been resonating as some state-based spiritual leaders like Bagheshwar Dham head Dharendra Krishna Shastri and Pandit Pradeep Mishra and others have been advocating for the same during their religious discourses. To counter the BJP's narrative, Kamal Nath has not only visited the ashrams of Dharendra Shastri and Pradeep Mishra, but also organised their kathas (discourses) in his home district Chhindwara in the last one month. However, chief minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan, home minister Narottam Mishra and state BJP chief V. D. Sharma have continued to train their guns at Kamal Nath on the 'Sanatan Dharma' controversy. Prime Minister Narendra Modi during his visit to Bina on Thursday also targeted the Opposition bloc INDIA aggressively, saying the 'ghamandia' alliance has been formed to destroy 'Sanatan Dharma'.

Team Absolute | Bhopal

A controversy over 'Sanatan Dharma' that erupted in the southern part of the country with DMK leader and Tamil Nadu chief minister M.K. Satlin's son Udhayanihith Stalin's controversial remark has apparently taken a larger political shape in Madhya Pradesh where assembly elections are just a couple of months away. The BJP led MP government that was struggling to counter high anti-incumbency after nearly two decades of its rule amid charges of corruption and poor governance, seems to have found an opportunity to corner the opposition Congress led by former chief minister Kamal Nath. Ever since the controversy over 'Sanatan

Dharma' escalated, the MP BJP leaders have been hitting out at the Congress consistently over this particular issue, while the state Congress leadership, which has been gearing up for the elections with the strategy of not falling into a 'communal trap', has maintained a silence. That it is going to be a poll issue in Madhya Pradesh became more clearer after Jagadguru Rambhadracharya during his religious discourse in Sivani district recently said, "the election is not between Kamal Nath and Shivraj Singh Chouhan or between BJP and Congress, it is between Sanatan Dharma and Adharma."

Delhi court posts defamation case against Gehlot for next hearing on Sep 19

Team Absolute | New Delhi
 Delhi court on Thursday posted the next hearing of a defamation case filed by Union Jal Shakti Minister Gajendra Singh Shekhawat against Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot for September 19. The case pertains to alleged "misleading statements" made by Gehlot in connection with the Sanjivani Credit Cooperative Society scam in Rajasthan. Both Gehlot and Shekhawat appeared virtually before the court of Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate (ACMM) Harjeet Singh Jaspal of the Rouse Avenue Court on Thursday. During arguments, the counsels for both Shekhawat and Gehlot placed on record various judgements made by the apex court, as the court took on record the fresh 'vakalatnama' filed on behalf of the complainant. Earlier, the court had directed the police to investigate Shekhawat's complaint. Jaspal had said that the investigation should be such that the three main questions -- whether complainant Shekhawat was addressed as "an accused" in the Sanjivani scam by the accused Gehlot, whether Gehlot stated that the allegations against Shekhawat stand proved in the Sanjivani scam, and whether Shekhawat or his family members have been arrayed as "accused" in the investigation of the scam -- are answered. Shekhawat had filed the defamation case against Gehlot in March this year, stating that an investigation was initiated into the Sanjivani case but his name was not mentioned anywhere, and demanded the prosecution of Gehlot for criminal defamation under the relevant sections of the Indian Penal Code (IPC).

AAP'S 'U-Turn Waali Sarkar' and the Punjab Panchayat Puzzle

Team Absolute | Rubal Bansal
 In an unexpected turn of events, Punjab's Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) finds itself embroiled in a political storm. Recent developments surrounding the dissolution of Panchayats across the state, followed by the suspension of two senior officers, have prompted questions about AAP's intentions and actions. A Puzzling Decision In a surprising manoeuvre that caught many off guard, the AAP-led Punjab government opted to dissolve the state's Panchayats, citing administrative grounds. While governments possess the authority to enact administrative changes, the timing and lack of transparency in this decision raised eyebrows. Panchayats play a pivotal role in rural governance, and their dissolution without a compelling rationale has left Punjab residents disheartened. In a significant setback to the AAP government, the High Court nullified the dissolution of Panchayats, underscoring the importance of due process and adherence to democratic norms. Suspension of Senior Officials In a surprising twist, the AAP government suspended two senior officers, namely, Principal Secretary of Rural Development, Dharendra Kumar Tiwari, and Panchayat Department Director Gurpreet Singh Khaira, following the High Court's ruling. This action raised questions about the government's motives, as it appeared to shift blame for its hurried and poorly considered decision onto these officers. Leaked Notice Complicating matters further, a leaked notice surfaced, bearing the signatures of both Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann and Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Minister, Laljit Singh Bhullar. This leak added another layer of scrutiny to the AAP government's actions. Senior Congress leaders described the AAP's reversal as "a victory of democracy" and commended every Panchayat member. He proclaimed, "This is a rebuke to the AAP government." Akali Dal president Sukhbir Badal demanded the immediate resignation of CM Mann and Panchayat Raj Minister Laljit Bhullar, holding them responsible for the untimely dissolution of Panchayats. State BJP president Sunil Jakhar urged Mann to apologize for this "grave mistake" and characterized it as a "democratic and anti-institutional move. Conclusion The Aam Aadmi Party came to power with a promise of transparency, accountability, and people centric governance. However, the recent dissolution of Panchayats in Punjab, its subsequent withdrawal, and the suspension of senior officers have cast a shadow over these ideals. It is imperative that the government prioritizes the welfare of the people and adheres to democratic norms rather than pursuing actions that appear to be politically motivated. Upholding the principles of transparency and accountability is essential for any party that claims to represent the common man.

Maharashtra speaker begins hearing disqualification petitions of Shiv Sena factions

Team Absolute | Mumbai
Maharashtra assembly Speaker Rahul Narwekar on Thursday began hearing the disqualification petitions filed against each other by two rival Shiv Sena factions led by Chief Minister Eknath Shinde and his predecessor Uddhav Thackeray.
The hearing began around 10.30 am at the Vidhan Bhavan - the state legislature complex in south Mumbai - and continued till around 2 pm. A total of 34 petitions are being heard. Both factions are being represented by their respective lawyers.
Talking to reporters, Anil Sakhre, the lawyer of the Shinde-led Shiv Sena, said his team did not receive relevant documents from the opposite side.
Ravindra Waikar, an MLA from the Uddhav Thackeray faction, told media persons that Shinde group's claim (of not getting documents) was part of its delaying tactic.
"it is for the speaker to provide all relevant documents to both sides," he said.
He said the Thackeray faction wanted all the petitions to be clubbed and heard.

Waikar said the Supreme Court has held the whip issued by Sunil Prabhu, belonging to the Thackeray faction, as valid.
In July, speaker Narwekar had issued notices to 40 MLAs of the Shinde-led Sena and 14 of the Thackeray faction, seeking their replies on disqualification petitions against them.
The notices were issued against a total of 54 MLAs, including CM Shinde and Shiv Sena (UBT) leader Aadiya Thackeray. But notice was not issued against Sena (UBT) MLA Rutuja Latke who was elected after the Shiv Sena split last year.
Prabhu had, in his capacity as chief whip of the undivided Shiv Sena, had filed the disqualification petitions against Shinde and other 15 MLAs last year after they rebelled and joined hands with the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) to form a new government in June 2022.
On May 11, the Supreme Court ruled that Eknath Shinde will continue to be the chief minister of Maharashtra. It also said that it cannot reinstate the Maha Vikas Aghadi (MVA) coalition government headed by Uddhav Thackeray as the latter chose to resign without facing a floor test in the wake of Shinde's rebellion.

Sugar stocks rise on Maharashtra output concerns

Team Absolute | New Delhi/Mumbai
Sugar stocks, such as those of Dalmia Bharat Sugar, Balrampur Chini Mills, Triveni Engineering, Dwarkesh Sugar, and Shree Renuka rose on Thursday as a result of authorities reducing their projection for Maharashtra's output in crop year 2023-2024 by 14%, making it the lowest in four years, a market research analyst said.
Moreover one-third of India's sugar production is produced by Maharashtra, which will produce just 9 million metric tonnes of sugar in the season that starts on October 1 in 2023/24, down from 10.5 million tonnes in 2022-23. This can cause sugar prices to increase on both the domestic and international markets and fueled optimism in sugar stocks, Vaibhav Vidwani, Research Analyst, Bonanza Portfolio, said.

Most of the sectoral indices were in green at the closing, with Nifty PSU Bank, Nifty Metal leading the way with gains of 1.64 and 1.49 per cent, respectively.
UPL, Hindalco, Mahindra and Mahindra, ONGC, Divis Lab were among the top gainers on the Nifty whereas Asian Paints, HDFC Life, Coal India, Britannia and LTIMindtree were among the loser.

14-yr-old rams SUV into senior citizen, zooms off

Team Absolute | Mumbai
In a shocker, a 14-year-old boy took his parents' SUV for a joyride but ended up hitting a senior citizen and an auto-rickshaw before panicking and speeding off from the spot in Chandivali area of Powai.
An undated CCTV grab of the incident, posted by the Chandivali Citizens Welfare Association and tagging the Mumbai Police, has gone viral and shows the horrifying sequence of events.
The SUV is seen slowly driven by the boy out of the gate of a building in Nahar Amrit Shakti Road and then turning left without slowing down even as other vehicles were speeding from the same direction.

The senior citizen, apparently on a morning constitutional, walked past a stationary auto rickshaw and the SUV came out on the road narrowly missing hitting a white car and a scooter. Taking a sharp left, the SUV bangs into the auto rickshaw and then knocks down the elderly gent, swerves right again and then speeds off, even as other pedestrians rush there.

The CCWA said that the senior citizen, apparently seriously injured, was treated in a nearby hospital and then advised complete bed rest for three months.
The police later swung into action against the boy's family, and fined the parents Rs 5,000, and warned against such incidents in future.
"This is a major safety concern for pedestrians when parents hand over their cars to kids," said CCWA.

"Household work's burden should be borne equally by husband, wife": High Court

Team Absolute | Mumbai
In modern society, the burden of household responsibilities should be borne equally by husband and wife, the Bombay High Court has said.
A division bench of Justices Nitin Sambre and Sharmila Deshmukh made the observation on September 6 while dismissing an appeal filed by a 35-year-old man seeking the dissolution of his 13-year-old marriage. He could not establish his claim of 'cruelty' against his estranged wife, the judges held.
The man had challenged a March 2018 order of a family court dismissing his plea seeking divorce.
The couple had got married in 2010.

The man contended in the plea that his wife was always on the phone with her mother and did not do household work.
The woman claimed that she was forced to do all the household work after returning from office, and faced abuse when she contacted her family. She also claimed that her estranged husband had physically abused her on several occasions. The bench, in its order, noted that both the man and woman were employed, and expecting the wife to do all the household work reflects a regressive mindset. "In modern society the burden of household responsibilities have to be borne by both husband and wife equally. The primitive mindset expecting the woman of the house to solely shoulder the household responsibilities needs to undergo a positive change," the HC said.

The marital relationship must not lead to the wife in this case getting isolated from her parents and she cannot be expected to sever the ties with her parents, the court noted. "Being in contact with one's parents cannot by any stretch of imagination be construed as inflicting mental agony on the other party. In our view, putting restrictions on the respondent to curtail her contact with her parents, has in fact, subjected the wife to mental cruelty apart from physical cruelty," the bench said.

OVER OR UNDER? AGRA METRO PROJECT CAUGHT IN A DILEMMA

Brij Khandelwal

Even as hundreds of workers of the UP Metro Rail Corporation are working day and night to ensure the completion of the prestigious 29.6 km long two-phased Taj City Metro project much before the 2024 Lok Sabha polls, citizens of Agra are on a warpath demanding change in the original plan of the track.

An official said that trials on the priority sector -- Fatehabad Road -- have already begun, the tunneling work from Shah Jahan Garden to Jama Masjid is in full swing, and a survey for the over-ground, elevated track on MG Road has been completed.

In the midst of this, shop keepers, emporium owners, hoteliers, educational institutions and other interest groups have now joined hands to demand that the stretch from Pratab Pura crossing to Bhagwan Talkies crossing on the MG Road, roughly a 6 km stretch, should have an underground track.

They are opposing over the ground track, as they fear there would be large-scale disruption of traffic and commercial activities, and the elevated track would create also visual pollution.

Shishir Bhagat, who is leading the protesters at the Yamuna Arti Sthal, said that lakhs of people would be put to avoidable inconvenience, disrupting their daily routine besides causing loss of time.

"MG Road is the lifeline of the city. All major hospitals, educational institutions and government offices are located on this road. The road is not wide enough and sees traffic jams almost daily. Once digging starts and obstructions are put for raising foundations for pillars, there would be massive chaos," Bhagat told correspondent.

Another protester, Sachin Goyal, said, "We have met ministers in Delhi and officials in Lucknow to put forth our point of view. A review is most likely to be carried out soon."

The protesters said they would not allow life to be paralysed because of the Metro project.

"An underground Metro line is not only feasible, but desirable in the city though it may lead to escalation of costs. But the long-term benefits are more and should not be overlooked," said Rajiv Gupta of Lok Swar, an NGO.

The work on the MG Road stretch is about to begin, coinciding with the start of the tourist season from September 27 (World Tourism Day). Civil Society President Anil Sharma said, "Representatives of the struggle committee and the Metro officials should meet and sort out the problems. Traffic movement on this vital stretch of the city has to remain smooth and seamless. For this, encroachments should be removed and the road be widened to allow free movement."

Indian study shows new drug combination promising for liver cancer patients

A novel combination of drugs has shown to be a breakthrough in liver cancer treatment with a significant number of patients showing promising results in terms of overall and disease free survival, and even complete resolution of tumour in certain cases when detected early and with timely treatment, say Indian researchers. The drug combination Immunotherapy Atezolizumab-Bevacizumab uses the immune system of the body and kills the cancer cells, said doctors at the Asian Institute of Gastroenterology (AIG), Hyderabad.

Their study, published in the Journal of Clinical and Experimental Hepatology, showed that the combination is safe and effective in unresectable hepatocellular carcinoma (uHCC) in real-world settings. With the right selection of patients, atezolizumab-bevacizumab can achieve a good response in terms of survival period and disappearance of tumour (resolution of tumour).

"Immunotherapy such as atezolizumab and bevacizumab can provide a decent survival chance for patients presenting at an advanced stage of liver cancer. It is an excellent therapy for patients with advanced liver cancer," said lead author Dr. Anand Kulkarni, Senior Consultant from the Department of Hepatology & Liver Transplantation at AIG.

"With the conventional line of treatment, it is difficult to achieve complete resolution of the tumour. However, with atezolizumab and bevacizumab, we noted that approximately 10-13 per cent of patients achieved complete resolution of tumour, and up to a quarter achieved partial resolution. These drugs must be given under supervision every 3 weeks and are not suitable for all patients, especially patients with jaundice," he added.

As part of the study, 67 patients, aged between 29-82 years, with unresectable hepatocellular carcinoma received the Atezolizumab-Bevacizumab combination. The study involved 59 patients from AIG Hospital, Hyderabad and eight patients from Mahatma Gandhi Medical College, Jaipur. About 86 per cent participants were males. The study was conducted across the two centres from November 1, 2020, to July 1, 2022.

Researchers highlighted that 12.9 per cent of patients achieved complete resolution of tumour, and 25.8 per cent achieved partial resolution or shrinking of tumours. Overall, the disease did not progress in 66.12 per cent of the patients studied. In patients with good liver function, overall survival was 21 months. Most patients with liver cancer present at an advanced stage making treatment a challenge. However, if they have a good liver function and are treated with Atezolizumab-Bevacizumab combination, it can improve the chances of survival. The study also local radiation therapy and Atezolizumab-Bevacizumab combination had better response rates.

This shows that Atezolizumab and Bevacizumab combination can be highly effective in patients who have undergone local radiation therapy.

The study also discovered the rising incidence of non-alcoholic steatohepatitis (NASH) as an emerging cause of liver cancer.

Globally, liver cancer is the fourth most common cause of cancer-related death worldwide and in India it is the eight most common cause of cancer related death. The reason for this is a sedentary lifestyle, unhealthy dietary habits, and an increasing incidence of diabetes.

Sikh student 'kicked, punched, pepper-sprayed' in Canada

Toronto | Agencies

The Canadian police are investigating an incident in which a 17-year-old Sikh student was "kicked, punched and pepper-sprayed" after an "altercation" on a public transit bus in British Columbia province.

The incident happened at the intersection of Rutland Road South and Robson Road East in Kelowna shortly before 4 pm on Monday, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police (RCMP) said on Wednesday.

Officers determined a 17-year-old Sikh student was either beer or pepper sprayed by another teenage male after exiting a public transit bus on his way home," a statement from Kelowna RCMP read.

It added that before the assault, there was "an altercation" aboard a bus, which resulted in those involved being kicked off.

Calling an investigation into the incident, the World Sikh Organization of Canada (WSOC) identified the Sikh as a Grade 11 student, who was attacked while riding a transit bus from Rutland Secondary School.

"Monday's attack on a Sikh high school student in Kelowna is shocking and unacceptable," said Guntaas Kaur, WSOC vice president for British Columbia (BC).

Giving details of the incident, a release issued by the WSOC said: "two individuals approached the student and first barred his entry onto the bus and then, once allowing him to board, began to threaten him with a lighter and (began to) photograph and record him from a close distance with their phones".

"When the Sikh student turned away, the attackers' phone fell from their hands and they began to kick and punch the Sikh student in front of the bus driver," the WSOC statement read.

It further said that the bus driver did not intervene, and, in fact, ordered the Sikh student and his attackers off the bus at the Rutland and Robson stop.

After getting kicked off the bus, the two continued to attack the student, including pepper spraying him, until intervention by the passers-by.

While the student wasn't named, WSOC said it was the second attack on a Sikh student this year in Kelowna.

India calls for action after video shows US cop joking about Indian student's death

New York | Agencies

India said it has "strongly" taken up the case of its national Jaahnavi Kandula with authorities in the US, following the release of a bodycam video in which a cop is heard joking and laughing about the Indian student's death by a police patrol car this year.

In the brief clip, Seattle Police Officers' Guild Vice President Daniel Auderer is seen driving and can be heard saying, "she had limited value", in a call with the guild's president, Mike Solan, The Seattle Times reported this week. The Consulate General of India in San Francisco on Wednesday termed the incident as "deeply troubling".

"We have taken up the matter strongly with local authorities in Seattle & Washington State as well as senior officials in Washington D.C. for a thorough investigation & action against those involved in this tragic case," the consulate said in a post on X (formerly Twitter).

"The Consulate & Embassy will continued to closely follow up on this matter with all concerned authorities," it added.

Kandula, a 23-year-old student of Northeastern University campus in South Lake Union, was walking near Dexter Avenue North and Thomas Street when she was hit by a Seattle Police vehicle driven by Kevin Dave on January 23. Auderer, who was assigned to check whether Dave was under any influence, inadvertently left his body camera on, in which he was heard laughing and saying that Kandula's life had "limited value" and the city should "just write a check".

"Eleven thousand dollars. She was 26 anyway," Auderer said, adding Dave was "going 50 (miles an hour)", stating how "that's not out of control" for a trained driver. A police investigation released in June found that Dave was actually travelling at 74 miles an hour in a 25 mile an hour zone while responding to a different call when Kandula was hit and thrown more than 100 feet. The SPD said in a statement released on Monday that the video of Auderer's call "was identified in the routine course of business by a department employee", and was escalated to Chief Adrian Diaz. Following the chain of command, the employee then escalated it to the Office of Police Accountability (OPA) for a review, the statement added. Stating that it released the video "in the interest of transparency", the SPD said it will not comment further on the video until the OPA completes its investigation.

40 killed in South Darfur airstrikes

Khartoum | Agencies

At least 40 civilians were killed in Nyala, the capital city of southwestern Sudan's South Darfur State, in airstrikes that targeted a market and civilian neighbourhoods, according to witnesses and medical sources.

"Warplanes launched intensive strikes targeting residential areas, including the Al-Sad Al-Ali, Al-Riyadh, and Texas neighbourhoods" on Wednesday, a witness told Xinhua news agency.

"An air strike also targeted the popular Al-Malaja market in Nyala," the witness added. The Al-Wohda health centre in Nyala received "a large number" of trauma patients, some of whom were already dead when rushed there while some others died after arrival, a medical officer told Xinhua.

He said the number of fatalities could further increase.

Also on Wednesday, the paramilitary Rapid Support Forces (RSF) issued a statement accusing the Sudanese Armed Forces (SAF) of targeting civilians in air raids in the state capital.

The RSF further said that the search is still continuing for bodies under the rubble.

A comment could not be obtained yet from the office of the SAF spokesman.

Sudan has been witnessing deadly clashes between the SAF and RSF in Khartoum and other areas since April 15, resulting in at least 3,000 deaths and more than 6,000 injuries, according to the Health Ministry.

5 killed, 25 injured in Gaza border blast

Gaza | Agencies

At least five Palestinians were killed in a blast at the Israel-Gaza border, the Hamas-run Health Ministry in Gaza said.

The explosion that took place during a mass demonstration of the Palestinians injured 25 others, it added on Wednesday.

Before the blast, there was a clash between dozens of Palestinian protestors and

Israeli soldiers along the border fence, during which Israeli soldiers fired live bullets and tear gas bombs, Palestinian security sources and eyewitnesses said.

The Israel Defense Forces (IDF) said Israeli soldiers used dispersal measures after the Palestinians hurled explosive devices and grenades at the barrier, according to The Times of Israel.

Investigation is underway to find the cause of the explosion, but the IDF claimed an explosive device was placed by the Palestinian "rioters" during the demonstration in an attempt to hurt Israelis, Xinhua news agency reported. Meanwhile, the Israeli Army denied the possibility that Israeli gunfire caused the explosion, saying that the device exploded on its own during an attempt to throw it.

CONGRESS CHANGED ITS STRATEGY REGARDING CANDIDATE SELECTION

Team Absolute | Bhopal

Congress has decided not to release the list of candidates for the assembly elections at present. Congress has changed its strategy regarding declaring the names of candidates. Many reasons are emerging behind this. Some other reasons are being cited including the special session of Parliament and ED-IT raids.

In Bhopal, Congress state in-charge Randeep Singh Surjewala along with screening committee chairman Jitendra Singh, members Ajay Kumar Lallu and Saptagiri Ulaka along with all the district presidents of the state, district in-charges and block Congress committee presidents and senior Congress leaders met for 4 days. Had discussed till.

After this, a screening committee meeting was held in Delhi on Tuesday, in which it was believed that candidates could be declared first on the lost seats. However, the screening committee meeting also took place on Wednesday.

In this, one-to-one discussions were held with the leaders, but Congress did not release the list of candidates.

Congress fears that if it declares candidates on the lost seats, then action can be taken against the candidates through the administration and various investigating agencies. And pressure can be created on them. NICKI MINAJ SUFFERS WARDROBE MALFUNCTION AT MTV VMAS

Los Angeles | Agencies

Rapper Nicki Minaj stunned the audience as she took to the MTV VMAs stage in a pink wedding dress. The bold outfit was a bubble-gum pink, presumably as a nod to her 'Barbie' nickname, reports 'Mirror.co.uk'. However, it wasn't smooth-sailing for the beloved rapper as she suffered a wardrobe malfunction.

The Hip-Hop starlet looked sensational in the lacy, pink lingerie-style frock, which featured a silk corset-style bodice, showing off her incredible curves. The flowing skirt was completely sheer and nipped Nicki in at the waist before jutting out just above her knees in a fishtail-style.

Nicki's silky pink knickers were completely on show in the netted skirt. She paired the look with a long veil, which had pretty pink applique around the hem.

As per 'Mirror.co.uk', she went all out in the makeup-stakes, framing her striking peepers with a heavy kohl eyeliner and adding a slick of Barbie-pink gloss to her plump pout.

But Nicki revealed that it didn't get swimmingly for her in outfit stakes as she shared she'd suffered a wardrobe malfunction. Speaking to the camera, she said: "I just realised that one of my motherf*g shoes weren't buckled properly," before the camera zoomed in at her feet.

Nicki also revealed that MTV had been concerned of what she may say on the stage when she took to her hosting duties. However, she shared that she attempted to alleviate their fears.

It's the second year in a row that Nicki has taken to the hosting helm of the awards bash.

Elon Musk shares picture of Amber Heard, cosplaying as Mercy from 'Overwatch'

Los Angeles | Agencies

Elon Musk, the CEO of X (formerly Twitter), car company Tesla and the private space agency Space X, has posted on X a picture of his ex-girlfriend actress Amber Heard cosplaying as Mercy, a character from the popular multiplayer-shooter game 'Overwatch'.

The Tesla billionaire, 52, had dated the 'Aquaman' actress, 37 back in 2015, where she did a cosplay of Mercy, after Musk had told her that she reminded him of the 'Overwatch' character.

This trivia was part of his new biography titled 'Elon Musk,' Daily Mail reported. The biography: 'He told her that she reminded him of Mercy, his favorite character in the video game Overwatch.'

'So she spent two months designing and commissioning a head-to-toe costume so she could role-play for him.'

Responding to a tweet about the incident in the book, Musk confirmed: 'She did dress up as Mercy. It was awesome.'

Mercy is known for her blonde hair, busty build, and a mechanical angel suit, complete with a halo and a pair of angel mechanical wings. One of the most iconic characters from the game, Mercy is a healer in the game and is part of the support unit, providing healing assistance to the attacking characters such as Reaper or Hanzo.

To transform into the video character, Heard donned the character's iconic white-blocked bodysuit and gold halo headpiece. She also attached a pair of plastic wings to her bag, to properly look the part.

This comes after it was revealed that Elon Musk's family despised Heard because they thought she was 'toxic' and a 'nightmare.'

Musk's brother Kimbal and most of the entrepreneur's friends hated the actress 'with a passion' because she brought so much drama into his life during their year-long relationship.

According to Musk's senior staff also did not have a good opinion of Heard, where they said that, 'she was like the Joker in Batman who thrives on destabilising everything.'

Kanye West gets sued again, 'forced staff to sleep on floor in makeshift bed'

Los Angeles | Agencies

Rapper Kanye West is being sued over alleged labour violations. The labour violations include having employees sleep in "makeshift conditions" in an unfinished Malibu house.

According to documents, "(His employee) was sleeping in makeshift conditions, finding empty spaces on the ground and using his coat as a makeshift bedding. These sleeping arrangements were near open insulation. (He) did not have access to a proper bed or comfortable sleeping environment", reports Mirror.co.uk.

Tony Saxon, the plaintiff in the civil litigation against Kanye, claims that he started his employment with the rapper around September 2021 as "a full-time security and a live-in caretaker". However, Tony also claims that Kanye "utilised him for construction-related tasks."

In photos, obtained by Mirror.co.uk, thin blankets and pads are laid out on the ground as sleeping quarters. The bedding is laid on top of grey (seemingly concrete slabs) next to floor-to-ceiling windows. His food and water is laid out in the open next to the bed. Plus, his personal items are left out without proper storage. Additionally, a photo of a coworker reveals that Tony was not alone in this alleged treatment.

As per Mirror.co.uk, the unnamed coworker is seen laying on a bed on top of similar flooring. However, he does not have blankets and uses some material to rest his head in lieu of a pillow.

His bedding is set up next to a tall ladder which looms over him and surrounding the setup is other work materials. The man sleeps fully clothed, appearing to be wearing dark jeans, a camo jacket, and trainers.

In addition to egregious working conditions, Tony is alleging retaliation for refusing to comply with dangerous demands from Kanye.

Sri Lanka overcome Pakistan by 2 wickets to reach final

Colombo | Agencies

Charith Asalanka struck a brilliant unbeaten 49 after Kusal Mendis (91) and Sadeera Samarawickrama (48) laid the foundation with a century stand and guided defending champions Sri Lanka to a two-wicket victory against Pakistan in a thrilling final Super 4 match and into the final of the Asia Cup.

Brief scores

Pakistan 252/7 in 42 overs (DLS) (Mohammad Rizwan 86, Abdullah Shafique 52; Matheesa Pathirana 3-65, Maheesh Theekshana 1-42) lost to Sri Lanka 252/8 in 42 overs (Kusal Mendis 91, Sadeera Samarawickrama 48, Charith Asalanka 49 not out; Ifthikhar Ahmed 3-50, Shaheen Shah Afridi 2-52) by two wickets.

Sri Lanka needed seven runs off the last six deliveries but Zaman Khan did well to keep it down to six off 2 before Asalanka came good, his nerves of steel as Sri Lanka reached 252/8 in 42 overs. Earlier, Pakistan rode on a superb rearguard 108-run partnership between Mohammad Rizwan and Ifthikhar Ahmed, the highest for the sixth wicket in the Asia Cup, after the early fall of wickets to post 252/7 in 42 overs in a rain-delayed match.

Sri Lanka made it to the final for the 11th time in the Asia Cup and will meet India in the final. This is their second final in a row.

Chasing a DLS readjusted target of 252 in a rain-truncated 42-overs-a-side match that ended well past midnight, Sri Lanka rode on a superb performance by their middle order after Pakistan had recovered from 130/5 to post 252 thanks to a memorable rearguard partnership between Mohammad Rizwan (86 not out) and Ifthikhar Ahmed (47).

But Sri Lanka survived some anxious moments in the last two overs to scrap through to the final. And it was Kusal Mendis that held the Sri Lanka innings together that set them up for victory. But by the time he was out, Mendis had already guided Sri Lanka to a strong position.

Kuss clings onto red jersey as Roglic wins 17th stage

Madrid | Agencies

Sepp Kuss (Jumbo Visma) kept the overall leader's red jersey by just eight seconds over his team-mate Jonas Vingegaard, while Primož Roglic won the 17th stage of the Tour of Spain cycle race.

Although Kuss finished 19 seconds behind Roglic and Vingegaard, he was able to cling onto the leader's jersey on the day he celebrated his 29th birthday, reports Xinhua.

As expected, the climb up the mythical Altu de L'Angliru produced tension and drama as the riders struggled up the steepest climb in the race. Although Kuss looked as if he would surrender the lead to his team-mate, he was able to find the strength to remain in touch with Vingegaard and Roglic in the last two kilometers.

With his chances of repeating last year's overall triumph gone, Remco Evenepoel (Soudal Quick Step) set his sights on winning the jersey as the best climber and launched a solo attack early in the stage to hoover up the points on the two first category climbs that came before the Algriru in the short, but demanding 124-kilometer stage.

The Bahrain Victorious team led the chase working for Mikel Landa, who finished fourth on the day, finally catching the Belgian six kilometers from the top of the brutal Angliru climb, which contains gradient of over 20 per cents, slowing the race to almost walking pace.

Riders kept falling off the back until there were just six in the lead group, with three Bahrain Victorious riders and the Jumbo Visma trio of Sepp Kuss, Jonas Vingegaard and Primož Roglic, with the three-riding clear with two kilometers left to ride. It was Kuss' turn to lose ground as his two team-mates inched ahead into the mist, with Roglic crossing the finish line just ahead of Vingegaard. Kuss beat Landa in the sprint for third to take the last time bonus, which could be decisive as the race gets ever tighter.

Kuss leads Vingegaard by eight seconds, with Roglic third overall, a minute and eight seconds behind.

The power-packed act of the Abujhmad Malkhamb reminds Vicky about his days of shooting for the film, which tells the story of Major Vihaan Shergill (Vicky Kaushal) of the Para (Special Forces), who played a leading role in the events.

"In 'URI', in the sequence where we were rappelling from the chopper with ropes, we underwent four months of military training before we could perform those stunts ourselves with safety harnesses. Even after so much training and ensuring safety measures, when I had to perform that stunt for the fourth time, I injured myself and developed a tennis elbow," shared Vicky.
