Cong CMs to act on caste census, PM Modi incapable of holding the census: Rahul

THE POWER RUN

Former Congress President Rahul Gandhi on Monday said the Congress Working Committee (CWC) -- the party's highest decision making body -- has unanimously decided in favour of caste-based census and the party-led governments in states will hold the exercise.

Team Absolute | New Delhi

Addressing a press conference here at the party headquarters, Gandhi said, "We discussed caste census for four hours. We have a historic decision. It was a unanimous decision. No one in the meeting was there who opposed it." He said that the Chief Ministers (Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel, Himachal Pradesh Chief Minister Sukhinder Singh Sukhu and Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot) sitting here have also said that they will take the caste census forward in the states. It is worth to be noted that Rajasthan on Saturday night announced to hold the caste based survey. To a question if Indian National Developmental Inclusive Alliance (INDIA) parties are together and will they support the caste-based census, he said, "The Congress has decided that it will wholeheartedly support the caste census and force the BJP to hold the caste census and if they fail then they should go as the country wants it and we will do it after coming to power."

"Most of the INDIA parties support it. There might be a few who have slightly different opinions. But I am confident that the vast majority will support it. We are not fascist force and will not force them," he said. To a question about Prime Minister Narendra Modi accusing the Congress of dividing the country, he said, "The Prime Minister is making unconnected statements. The Prime Minister is incapable of doing caste-based census. Congress has four Chief Ministers, out of that three are OBCs, while BJP has 10 CMs, and they have one OBC which will not be there after elections in Madhya Pradesh." He said, "The Prime Minister did not utter a single word after what I mentioned in Parliament that out of 90 only three are OBC officers." "The Prime Minister should say that we will release the caste-based census and he should say that the next census will be caste based. But he does not have the guts. He has created a distraction system. PM Modi is the main instrument and they only want to divert the issue," he added.

THOSE OPPOSING CASTE-BASED SURVEY ARE AGAINST HUMANITY: LALU

Patna: While NDA leaders are putting question marks over the caste-based survey report in Bihar, RJD supremo Lalu Prasad said on Monday that treatment of cancer is not possible with medicines of headache. In a post on X, the veteran politician said: "Those who are against the caste-based survey are against humanity, social, financial, political and equal representation. Such people do not have the character of justice. "People who are supporters of inequality have unjust characters. Such people from their birth to death grab the rights of others on the basis of their higher castes," he said.

CWC PASSES RESOLUTION FOR NATIONWIDE CASTE-CENSUS

New Delhi: The Congress Working Committee (CWC), the highest decision making body of the grand old party, on Monday passed a resolution for nationwide caste-based census and also expressed its dismay and anguish on the war that has broken out in the Middle East (Israel and Palestine) where over a thousand people have been killed in the last two days. It also reiterated its long-standing support for the rights of the Palestinian people to land, self-government and to live with dignity and respect. The resolution was passed after the four-hour-long meeting at the party headquarters which was chaired by party chief Mallikarjun Kharge and attended by CCP chairperson Sonia Gandhi, Rahul Gandhi, KC Venugopal, Sachin Pilot, Shashi Tharoor, chief ministers Bhupesh Baghel, Sukhinder Singh Sukhu, Ashok Gehlot, Siddaramaiah and many others. In its resolution, the CWC welcomed the release of the caste survey conducted by the Bihar government and said that the disparity between representation and share in population revealed by the final figures of the survey highlights the urgent need to take effective steps to ensure social justice.

He said that 15.39 lakh young voters are eligible to participate in elections due to the amendment on qualifying dates.

Claudia Goldin becomes 3rd woman to win Nobel economics prize

Team Absolute | New Delhi

American economist Claudia Goldin has won the 2023 Nobel economics prize for "having advanced our understanding of women's labour market outcomes," the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences said on Monday. Goldin is only the third woman to win the Economic Sciences Nobel after Elinor Ostrom in 2009 and Esther Dufo in 2019. Of the 54 Nobel Prizes in Economic Sciences that were awarded from 1969 to 2022 only 25 of the 92 winners have had the honour of getting the award as single recipients. "This year's Laureate in the Economic Sciences, Claudia Goldin, provided the first comprehensive account women's earnings and labour market participation through the centuries," the official statement read. "Her research reveals the causes of change, as well as the main sources of the remaining gender gap." The coveted award, formally known as the Sveriges Riksbank Prize in Economic Sciences in Memory of Alfred Nobel, is the last of this year's crop of Nobel prizes and is worth 11 million Swedish crowns ($999,137).

Tensions running high in West Bank as Israel imposes closure

Jerusalem | Agencies

Tensions are running high in the occupied West Bank -- where some 2.8 million Palestinians live -- as the Israeli army imposes a complete closure, a media report said. Residents say that the entrances to towns and cities have been shut with iron gates, cement blocks and mounds of earth, BBC reported. New military checkpoints have been set up in some places. Through the day there have been long queues at some petrol stations as supplies of fuel have run out, the report said. "This is something we've seen before through long decades of occupation," said a tour guide in Beit Sahour, who is now without work. "This is a policy that Israel's been using for decades simply to punish the entire population for the acts of certain groups of people," complained another resident. On Sunday, shops and businesses in the West Bank were shuttered as a general strike was called in response to Israel's military action in the Gaza Strip, which is governed by Hamas. The evening saw angry protests. Four Palestinians were shot dead by Israeli soldiers at Qalandiya checkpoint in Ramallah on Thursday night, BBC reported. In Hebron, a man was killed apparently trying to ram Israeli forces with a bulldozer.

14,300-YR-OLD TREE RINGS REVEAL LARGEST-EVER SOLAR STORM

The largest, directly-observed, solar storm occurred in 1859 and is known as the Carrington Event. It caused massive disruption on Earth -- destroying telegraph machines and creating a night-time aurora so bright that birds began to sing, believing the sun had begun to rise. Nine such extreme solar storms -- known as Miyake Events -- have now been identified as having occurred over the last 15,000 years. The most recent confirmed Miyake Events occurred in 993 AD and 774 AD. This newly-identified 14,300-year-old storm is, however, the largest that has ever been found -- roughly twice the size of these two. However, the Miyake Events (including the newly discovered 14,300-yr-old storm) would have been a staggering entire order-of-magnitude greater in size.

London | Agencies An international team of scientists has discovered a huge spike in radiocarbon levels 14,300 years ago by analysing ancient tree-rings found in the French Alps. The radiocarbon spike was caused by a massive solar storm, the biggest ever identified. In the study, researchers from the UK, France and Czech Republic measured radiocarbon levels in ancient trees preserved within the eroded banks of the Drouzet River, near Gap, in the Southern French Alps. The tree trunks, which are subfossils -- remains whose fossilisation process is not complete -- were sliced into tiny single tree-rings. Analysis of these individual rings identified an unprecedented spike in radiocarbon levels occurring precisely 14,300 years ago. By comparing this radiocarbon spike with measurements of beryllium, a chemical element found in Greenland ice cores, the team in the paper published in Philosophical Transactions of the Royal Society A: Mathematical Physical and Engineering Sciences, proposed that the spike was caused by a massive solar storm that would have ejected huge volumes of energetic particles into Earth's atmosphere. The researchers said that the occurrence of similar massive solar storms today could be catastrophic for modern technological society, potentially wiping out telecommunications, satellite systems and electricity grids -- and costing us billions of pounds. They warn that it is critical to understand the future risks of events like this, to enable us to prepare, build resilience into our communications and energy systems and shield them from potential damage. "Extreme solar storms could have huge impacts on Earth. Such super storms could permanently damage the transformers in our electricity grids, resulting in huge and widespread blackouts lasting months. They could also result in permanent damage to the satellites that we all rely on for navigation and telecommunication, leaving them unusable. They would also create severe radiation risks to astronauts," said Tim Heaton, Professor of Applied Statistics in the School of Mathematics at the University of Leeds in the UK.

Manipur tribal body reiterates separate state demand

Imphal | Agencies

The Indigenous Tribal Leaders' Forum (ITLF), an apex body of tribals in Manipur, on Monday reiterated its demand for a separate administration (equivalent to separate state), saying that it is increasingly apparent that coexistence with the Meiteis is an untenable proposition. Highlighting some recent incidents of violence, senior ITLF leader and spokesman Ginza Vualzong claimed that Meiteis have "driven us out of their valley, subjected us to violence, and attacked our villages... Coexistence with the Meiteis is an untenable proposition." The ITLF denounces the grave injustice inflicted upon the Kuki-Zo people in the strongest terms. The selective application of justice further reinforces our demand for a separate administration," he told the media. Vualzong said that on October 8, a video had surfaced on the internet depicting the horrific burning alive of an unidentified man belonging to the Kuki-Zo community. "In the distressing seven-second video, a man dressed in a black T-shirt and camouflage pants is seen being burnt, while voices in the background converse in Meitei language. Gunshots can also be heard in the video. The video is a harrowing testament to the ethnic cleansing campaign against the Kuki-Zo community by the majority Meiteis," Vualzong said. The ITLF vehemently condemns the shocking and barbaric incident that has recently come to light, he added. Vualzong also said that the complexity of the Manipur government has emboldened the Meiteis to take the law into their own hands.

Team Absolute | New Delhi
In Sikkim, troops of Trishakti Corps of the Indian Army are undertaking operations at a massive scale to reconnect villages cut off post the flash floods on the night of October 3-4.

An Army official said that the focus of the operations are on restoring connectivity to North Sikkim through Chungthang, which was the worst affected during the devastating floods.

Troops of the Army have rescued of 150-200 civilians so far. In the immediate, account has been taken of all tourists and locals in the areas of Chaten, Lachen, Lachung and Thangu in North Sikkim.

A list of 2,000 tourists, including 63 foreign nationals, has been compiled and assistance is being provided in terms of food, medical aid, accommodation and telephone connectivity, the official said.

According to the Army, a helpline has also been established through which relatives of all the tourists are being informed about the wellbeing of their near and dear ones. This effort will continue till they are evacuated. With the improvement in weather, air evacuation of tourists started on Monday.

Another action being undertaken by the Army is to reconnect the villages that have been cut off. Towards this end, a log bridge over Lachen Chu connecting Chungthang to Pegong has been completed by the Army troops along with the ITBP personnel and locals.

Meanwhile, the Indian Army and the BRO, with assistance from ITBP troops, are launching a foot bridge from the Chungthang side.

Special teams were deployed for opening the route to Chaten via Rabom. The teams have moved over difficult terrains under inclement weather and reached Rabom village on the night of October 8. A foot link-up has thus been established and assistance is being provided to the 150-200 civilians stranded in the area, the Army official added.

The Chief Minister of Sikkim, P.S. Tamang, has assured of all assistance in terms of availability of land, forest clearance etc. for the reconstruction works.

Counting of votes will take place on December 3.

VACATE 'UNSAFE' H TOWER WITHIN 15 DAYS, GURUGRAM ADMIN TELLS CHINTELS RESIDENTS

Team Absolute | Gurugram
The Gurugram administration declared Tower H of the Chintels Paradiso Sector 109 condominium unsafe on Monday and directed the residents to vacate it within 15 days.

The Gurugram administration also threatened to enforce the Disaster Management Act if the residents did not vacate the tower. The Act would empower authorities to forcibly vacate the building. In a recent report, IIT-Delhi declared Towers D, E, F and G of the housing society as unsafe to live in and they were vacated. On February 10 last year, six floors of Tower D collapsed partially, killing two residents. There are nine towers in Chintels; five of these, D, E, F, G and H have been declared unsafe so far. "These towers are unsafe and any unwanted incident can take place anytime. The builder should pay for the relocation of the residents. We cannot let people risk their lives," said a senior district administration official requesting anonymity. An ultimatum was also issued to the builders to work out compensation with Tower D, E, F, G and H residents at the earliest or the administration would auction all its assets and reimburse the residents, he said. "We are in a lurch as directions have been passed for vacating the flats. We are aware of the risk but if we move out of the towers, the builder will not provide us with any land and we will be homeless," said Chintels RWA president Rakesh Hooda.

Safexpay Technology's payment gateway hacked, Thane Police probe Rs 16,180-cr scam

Team Absolute | Thane
In a shocking development, the Thane Police have said that payment gateway of Safexpay Technology Pvt Ltd (STPL) was allegedly hacked, revealing a massive scam of siphoning off Rs 18,180-crore, including some money transferred abroad, is now being probed, here on Monday. The Shrinagar Police Station has lodged a FIR and probing the matter along with the Thane Police Cyber Cell, said top officials. As per the investigations, the ongoing fraud came to light after a complaint that some persons had allegedly hacked into the 6-year-old STPL's payment gateway, and the monies were then transferred to hundreds of bank accounts. An amount of Rs 25-crore, which was siphoned off, found its way into the HDFC Bank account of a Thane-based company, Real Enterprises with five branches in the city and Navi Mumbai suburbs, said the investigators. A probe into Real Enterprises revealed at least 260 accounts with various banks that were used for carrying out the financial frauds, said the officials. A perusal of the bank statements of these 260 accounts pointed to an estimated misappropriation of a massive Rs 16,180-crore, a part of which has been transferred to foreign accounts. Though the scam was reportedly going on since sometime, it came to light after a complaint was lodged in April when an amount of over Rs 25-crore was siphoned off illegally. The probe after the complaint revealed that the Rs 25-crore scam was merely the tip of the iceberg and the total mega-fraud could be over Rs 16,180-crore that is being investigated now. The Naupada Police last Friday lodged an FIR against some of the known accused Jitendra Pandey, Sanjay Singh, Amol Andhale alias Aman and Sameer Dighe alias Kedar under various sections of the Indian Penal Code and Information Technology Act. The matter is being investigated by teams of the Thane Police and its Cyber Cell, but no arrests have been made so far, though an accused Pandey is believed to be one of kingpins with a banking background of nearly 10 years. Police suspect that there could be many more persons involved in the huge racket involving opening bank accounts with fake documents, floating five partnership firms with bogus papers intended to cheat the government.

'NOT A PENNY CAME FROM CHINA', NEWSCLICK FOUNDER-EDITOR TELLS DELHI HC

Team Absolute | New Delhi

The Delhi High Court on Monday reserved its order on pleas by NewsClick founder-editor Prabir Purkayastha and Human Resources head Amit Chakravarty challenging their arrest in a case lodged under the provisions of the UAPA, even as senior advocate for the petitioners Kapil Sibal, argued that "all facts are false and not a penny came from China". The Delhi Police's Special Cell had arrested Purkayastha and Chakravarty on October 3, and the next day, they were sent to seven-day police custody by a Delhi court. The petitioners then moved the high court challenging not just their arrest but seeking quashing of the First Information Report in the matter. The high court on October 6 sought Delhi Police's response on the pleas. Solicitor General Tushar Mehta had sought time to file an affidavit, which has now been filed. Appearing for Purkayastha before the bench of Justice Tushar Rao Gedela, Sibal started off by saying that even till today, no grounds for arrest have been supplied to them, and that only the arrest memo is the document which has been produced.

Sibal made various claims against their arrest saying that the remand order was passed by the trial court in the absence of their lawyers, while the remand order was passed at 6 a.m., Purkayastha's lawyer received it through WhatsApp only at 7 a.m. It was argued that the arrests made were in violation of the Supreme Court's recent judgement, which had made it compulsory for the police to supply "written" grounds of arrest to the accused at the time of being arrested. Appearing virtually for Delhi Police, SG Mehta said that the case involves serious offences. He further argued that one of the email exchanges between the accused individuals and somebody sitting in China shows that they will prepare a map and not show Arunachal Pradesh to be a part of India. The SG's claim was then denied by Sibal. Sticking to his argument, Mehta said that the arrest was legal as per the textual requirement of the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act (UAPA) since the accused persons were informed about the grounds of arrest. Mehta went on to say that since the police remand is coming to an end, the accused can be sent to judicial custody, post which they can apply for regular bail. After hearing the matter at length, the judge reserved the order. On October 3, in a statement regarding the search, seizure and detentions carried out in connection with the UAPA case registered by the Special Cell, the Delhi Police had said that a total of 37 male suspects were questioned at office premises, while nine female suspects were questioned at their respective places of stay. The police said that digital devices, documents, etc., were seized or collected for examination. The Special Cell had registered an FIR in the case on August 17 under different sections of the UAPA and the Indian Penal Code against NewsClick. In August, a New York Times investigation had accused NewsClick of being an organisation funded by a network linked with US millionaire Neville Roy Singham, to allegedly promote Chinese propaganda.

SC adjourns hearing on pleas against remission granted to convicts in Bilkis Bano case

Team Absolute | New Delhi

The Supreme Court on Monday deferred, till Wednesday, hearing on batch of pleas filed against the Gujarat government's decision allowing early release of convicts in the case of the gang rape of Bilkis Bano and murder of her family members committed during the 2002 post-Godhra riots.

"List on October 11, 2023 at 2 p.m.," ordered a bench of Justices B.V. Nagarathna and Ujjal Bhuyan after noting that it has received written submissions filed by petitioners, including Bilkis Bano.

Last week, the top court had directed petitioners challenging remission orders to file short written rejoinder arguments in the matter. Earlier, the convicts had argued before the apex court that remission orders granting them early release have an essence of judicial order and cannot be challenged by way of filing a writ petition under Article 32 of the Constitution. Senior advocate Indira Jaising, appearing for Trinamool Congress MP Mahua Moitra - who is one of the PIL petitioners, had argued that Bilkis Bano was five months' pregnant when she was gang raped and crime committed against her and her family was a "crime against humanity" perpetrated on the basis of religion. The Centre, Gujarat government, and convicts have opposed the public interest litigations (PILs) filed by CPI-M leader Subhashini Ali, Trinamool's Moitra, National Federation of Indian Women, Asma Shafique Shaikh and others, saying that once victim herself has approached the court, others may not be allowed to intervene in a criminal matter. Additional Solicitor General S.V. Raju, appearing on behalf of the Centre, had argued that remission is reduction of sentence and a PIL cannot be entertained on the question of sentence. The 11 men convicted in the case were released on August 15 last year, after the Gujarat government allowed their release under its remission policy. The convicts had completed 15 years in jail.

Will implement women's reservation bill, extend it to OBC too if voted to power in 2024: Kharge

Team Absolute | New Delhi

Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge in his opening remarks in the Congress Working Committee (CWC) said the party will implement women's reservation, including extending it to the OBC women when it comes to power in 2024.

Addressing the CWC members here on Monday, Kharge said, "In our first meeting in Hyderabad last month, we pledged to rid the country of divisive politics, strengthen social justice, and provide a responsible and responsible government."

Taking a swipe at the BJP-led government at the Centre, Kharge said, "During the recent special session of Parliament, we saw that the Women's Reservation Bill was passed.

"However, this was without any consultation or deliberation with the opposition parties. This session became yet another example of the government's distraction and diversionary tactics. We wholeheartedly supported the bill, but questions remain about its implementation and exclusion of OBC women," he said.

"We resolve to implement women's reservation, including extending reservation to OBC women when we come to power in 2024," the Congress leader said.

He said that Prime Minister Narendra Modi's silence on the Manipur issue stands in sharp contrast to his frequent visits to the election-going states.

"His baseless attacks filled with lies and falsehoods on the Congress party will only increase in coming days. It is essential that we counter these falsehoods and create our own counter narrative," he said.

Kharge said, "We have also demanded a nationwide caste-based census, crucial for effective government programmes and welfare schemes."

Emphasizing on the Assembly elections in five states and 2024 Lok Sabha polls, the Congress leader said, "as we approach the upcoming Assembly elections and General Elections, it is important that the party works with "meticulous coordination and complete discipline and unity".

"We must also expedite efforts to highlight government failures and raise concerns affecting the common people," he said.

He said that today the country faces inflation, unemployment, and the government's failure to implement the Old Pension Scheme.

"The ruling party's divisive tactics and misuse of autonomous bodies pose a threat to democratic stability," he said.

He said that in 2024, we must strive to establish a government that addresses these grave challenges and caters to the marginalized, youth, women, farmers, and laborers.

"Simultaneously, we must address pressing issues like inflation and unemployment while remaining attuned to the people's voices," he said.

He also said that we must propagate the exemplary work of Congress-led state governments and past Congress governments at the Centre.

MADHYA PRADESH ELECTIONS ON NOVEMBER 17, RESULT ON DECEMBER 3

BJP releases 4th list; CM Chouhan to contest from Budhni

Team Absolute | New Delhi/Bhopal

The voting for the Madhya Pradesh assembly elections will be held on November 17 with the counting of votes scheduled for December 3, the Election Commission announced today.

The 230-member Madhya Pradesh Legislative Assembly is currently led by the BJP, which has been in power for the last 15 years in the state.

The Madhya Pradesh assembly polls are a high-stakes battle, with the BJP led by Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan and the Congress, who have projected Kamal Nath as its chief ministerial candidate, vying for power. Parties are offering freebies and guarantees, courting tribal, OBC, and women voters.

The state has long been dominated by the Congress and BJP, but the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) also hopes to make its mark in the upcoming elections.

Last week, the Madhya Pradesh Election Commission released the final electoral roll for the upcoming state assembly elections. The state has 56,136,229 eligible voters, including 75,304 service voters.

Madhya Pradesh Chief Electoral

Officer Anupam Rajan announced that the state has 56,060,925 general voters that includes 28,825,607 male and 27,233,945 female voters.

Five states will go to polls this year including Madhya Pradesh, Telangana, Chhattisgarh, Mizoram and Rajasthan. Meanwhile, BJP on Monday released its fourth list of 57 candidates for Madhya Pradesh Assembly elections to be held on November 17. Counting of votes will be taken up on December 3.

The fourth list of BJP includes the names of Chief Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan and Home Minister Narottam Mishra, putting an end to the speculation whether Chouhan and Mishra will contest the elections.

While Chouhan will contest from the Budhni Assembly constituency in his home district Sehore, Mishra has been fielded from his old seat Datia.

In its fourth list, the BJP has also fielded several sitting ministers, including some belonging to Jyotiraditya Scindia's faction who had joined the BJP in 2020.

The ministers who have been given tickets include Arvind Singh Bhadoria (Ater), Praduman Singh Tomar (Gwalior), Bhupendra Singh (Khurai), Govind Singh Rajput (Surkhi), Gopal Bhargava (Rehli), Praduman Singh Lodhi (Malahra), and Rajendra Shukla (Rewa).

The BJP has also given tickets to some veteran sitting MLAs who are above 75 years of age, including Assembly Speaker Girish Gautam (Devtalab), and tribal leader Bisahul Singh (Anupur).

The BJP had already released the names of 79 candidates in three lists over the past weeks.

With the fourth list released on Monday, the party has so far announced the names of 136 candidates for the 230-member Madhya Pradesh Assembly.

Opposition Congress is yet to announce its candidates for the November 17 Assembly elections.

Kamal Nath exhorts Congress workers to gear up for big poll battle

Team Absolute | Bhopal

Soon after the Election Commission of India (ECI) announced November 17 as the date for Assembly elections in Madhya Pradesh, state Congress president Kamal Nath on Monday appealed to the party workers to get ready for yet another poll battle.

The veteran Congress leader asked party workers to start their preparations for the elections keeping the future of Madhya Pradesh in their mind.

He also urged the people of the state to support the Congress.

In a social media post, Kamal Nath stated that the people of Madhya Pradesh have been waiting for this date (polling date) for the past many years. On November 17, he said, the people would give a befitting reply to those who disobeyed the public mandate and toppled the Congress government. "The people have been waiting for this date (November 17) for the past many years. This will be a day to teach a lesson to those who hijacked democracy and restore the rule of truth," Kamal Nath said.

He was referring to the March 2020 incident when his government was toppled after 22 MLAs switched over to the BJP. Notably, in the last Assembly elections, the Congress led by Kamal Nath had won 114 seats against the BJP's 109.

The Congress had formed the government with the help of independent MLAs, however, Kamal Nath's government was toppled within the next 15 months.

Now, the BJP and the Congress are once again ready to take on each other to grab the power in the state. While the ruling BJP has so far announced its 79 candidates for 230 Assembly seats, the Congress has yet to announce its list and is likely to release the list soon.

According to the ECI, the process for the elections will begin with the issue of notification on October 13. The last date of nomination for the candidate will be on October 20. Their candidature will be scrutinised on October 21.

Polling will be held in Madhya Pradesh in a single phase on November 17 and a total of 5.6 crore voters will exercise their franchise, the Chief Election Commissioner Rajiv Kumar said on Monday.

The process for the election will begin with the issue of notification on October 13. The last date of nomination for the candidate is October 20. Their candidature will be scrutinised on October 21.

A total of 5.6 crore electorates will exercise their votes to elect their MLAs in the 230-member Assembly constituencies.

As per the Election Commission, candidates can withdraw their candidature by October 23. The results of the elections will be announced on December 3 along with four other states -- Chhattisgarh, Rajasthan, Telangana and Mizoram.

Currently, the state is ruled by the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP). In 2018, the Congress won the Madhya Pradesh elections, but lost power to the BJP in March 2020 after the resignations of 22 legislators. The BJP has since 2003 been in power (barring 18 months between 2018 and 2020) in the state. The Shivraj Singh Chouhan-led government faces anti-incumbency and infighting.

With this, a total 39 days are left for the preparations for the political parties in the state. The ruling BJP has so far announced its 79 candidates and the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) has also announced the names of its 29 candidates. The Congress is yet to release its first list. The sources in the Congress said that the list of the candidates would be announced soon.

Cong will be wiped out, BJP will form govt again in Madhya Pradesh: Narendra Singh

Team Absolute | New Delhi/Bhopal

Hours after the Election Commission announced the dates for Assembly elections in five states, Union Minister Narendra Singh Tomar on Monday claimed that the BJP would form the government again in Madhya Pradesh with a clear majority and the Congress would be wiped out in the state.

Tomar also rejected news reports of being miffed with the party. Answering a question about his desire to become the Chief Minister of Madhya Pradesh if the BJP wins again, Tomar said that he was a BJP worker and believed in the principle that "one should do whatever the party says."

The BJP leader also made it clear that there was no competition for the post of Chief Minister in Madhya Pradesh.

Taking a dig at the Congress, Tomar said that the top leaders of the Congress come during the elections and make false promises, they raise the slogan of caste census with the mentality of dividing the country and people do not trust the party.

Responding to a question about the Congress' criticism of the BJP's strategy of making Union Ministers and MPs contest Assembly elections, Tomar said that this shows that the Congress is scared.

Claiming a BJP victory in Madhya Pradesh and other states with a clear majority, Tomar also said that the safe front party was fully prepared to contest elections in other states including Madhya Pradesh.

"From the booth level to the top leadership in the party, all preparations are being made for the elections and the party workers are confident that they will get the blessings of the public and the BJP will be successful in forming the government in Madhya Pradesh as well as in Chhattisgarh, Rajasthan and Mizoram," he added. The BJP has also made Tomar the convener of the State Election Management Committee for the Madhya Pradesh Assembly elections. As part of its strategy to make Union Ministers and powerful MPs contest the Assembly elections in the state, the party high command has declared Tomar as the candidate from Dimani Assembly seat. According to the announcement made by the Election Commission on Monday, voting for all 230 Assembly seats of Madhya Pradesh will be held in a single phase on November 17. Counting of votes will take place on December 3.

Voting for Congress means casting vote in the dustbin: Kailash Vijayvargiya

Team Absolute | Indore

BJP General Secretary Kailash Vijayvargiya's bluster continues. He has also expressed his grief over getting the ticket. Now he has again given a controversial statement.

While addressing the election meeting in Assembly Constituency No. 1, Vijayvargiya attacked Congress and said that voting for Congress means just like there is a dustbin in the house, voting means putting it in it, there is no benefit to Congress by voting for Congress. So it does not know how to do development, nor does Congress care about values and culture. What does the Ghamadia alliance do to defeat Modi? It talks about destroying Sanatan.

Digvijay is the ambassador of Sanatan opponents: VD Sharma

Team Absolute | Bhopal

It is very unfortunate that Mr. Bantadhar Digvijay Singh, the ambassador of anti-Hindu mentality within India, has tried to call PM Narendra Modi as Ravana. The people of the country know who Ravana is?

This is what State BJP President VD Sharma has to say. He was talking to the media at BJP's State Media Center on Sunday. During this, former Chief Minister Digvijay Singh was described as the brand ambassador of anti-Sanatan mentality, and said - Ravana had opposed Ram in Treta Yuga. Congress denied the existence of Ram in Kaliyuga. Digvijay Singh's name comes among those who oppose Hindus. Such people maintain silence in the matter of Sanatan. So who is Ravana? Everyone knows this.

According to Lord Shri Ram, Prime Minister Narendra Modi is working with good governance. Those who have anti-Sanatan mentality will see Ravana in Ram and Kansa in Shri Krishna. Digvijay Singh asks questions about the bravery of the army. They are India's greatest Jaichand.

Special on World Mental Health Day-10 October, 2023

Mental health precedes physical care

Lalit Garg

World Mental Health Day is celebrated every year on 10 October all over the world. The purpose of celebrating this day is to bring awareness among people about mental health. The aim of this day is to help the human community achieve good health and long life by giving them stress-free life. There has been a huge increase in mental diseases due to scientific progress, industrial revolution, increasing population, rapid urbanization, inflation, unemployment and the stressful environment of modern life. This is a matter of concern for the entire world. Today, every sphere of life is plagued by problems, due to the hectic and stressful life. Anxiety and pressure are being felt everywhere, be it work, relationships and heavy expectations from life. Every person is forced to live a life of doubt, conflict and mental turmoil. In this milieu, maintaining good mental health has become tricky in these increasingly complex circumstances.

This year's theme is 'Mental health is a universal human right.' When mental disorders appear as physical illness, they are known as psychosomatic diseases. Today, it is expected everywhere that a healthy mindset should be created. Man's thoughts and behaviour should be changed. Every person suffers from mental diseases and disorders more than he suffers from physical diseases. It is said in the scriptures - 'Worry is like a funeral pyre.' This proves to be absolutely true considering the serious diseases that arise from daily stress, which eventually can lead to death. The biggest and continuously emerging problem in today's fast-paced lifestyle, where every minute is counted, is the mental stress, which has permanently spread its foot in everyone's life, is badly affecting an individual's mental health. Mental stress starting from personal life has become a serious problem for the whole world, which is capable of giving rise to many other serious problems. This is why, to avoid this and achieve mental peace, people are adopting yoga, meditation, spirituality and many other methods in their lives.

A new analysis from the World Health Organization shows nearly one billion persons worldwide suffer from some, or the other form of mental disorders. According to a study, more than five crore people in India alone are psychopaths. A psychological report reveals that one and a half percent of the population suffers from mental illnesses throughout their life. Ten percent of people are affected by this disease at some point in their life. The summary of the latest discoveries of psychologists is that every second person in the entire world is mentally ill. Some psychologists believe that knowingly or unknowingly every person always suffers from some or the other mental illness. Anxiety, nervousness, lack of sleep, despair, irritability, negative thinking - all these are the gross symptoms of mental illness. This is the beginning of mental paralysis. Due to this the brain becomes frustrated. Intellectual stimulation gets blocked. As soon as the brain machinery gets jammed, the body system also becomes disorganized and inactive. An unbalanced mind itself becomes sick and also makes the body sick.

It is also very well known that stress is not the solution to any problem, but gives birth to many other problems. For example, stress makes a person suffer from excessive headache, migraine, high or low blood pressure and heart-related problems. Mental stress is the main cause of heart-attacks in the world. This irritates your nature and also steals your happiness and smile. To avoid this, it has become not only necessary, but mandatory to remove unnecessary causes of stress from life. For happiness, peace and satisfaction in life, mental health is as important as a healthy body. At present many branches of medical science have developed, one of them is mental health science. Through this, efforts are made to protect patients from mental diseases, and to create a healthy mindset. A person with a healthy mind always experiences self-satisfaction, perfection and happiness, which leads to balanced development of personality. A person with a balanced mind can also adjust with the obstacles/difficulties that come in life. By mental health we mean peace of mind, happiness. A person who adjusts with the circumstances reaches his goal. A maladjusted person fails at every step. Then he gets attacked by despair and frustration and, as a result, he falls victim to many types of mental diseases.

India has a very large population of youth, averaged about thirty percent. Prevention and management of mental distress among adolescents and adults should begin at an early age by increasing awareness and understanding the early warning signs and symptoms of mental illness. The National Mental Health Policy was announced on 10 October 2014. Considering the seriousness of mental illnesses, Prime Minister Narendra Modi has taken initiative to launch many multi-dimensional programs. Adolescence and early adulthood are the life-stages, when many changes occur, for example changing schools, leaving home and starting college, university or a new job. These are exciting times for many people and in some cases, it can also be a time of stress, depression, frustration and doubt. The increased use of online technologies with many benefits has also brought additional pressures for people in this age group, with half of all mental illnesses beginning by the age of fourteen, with suicide the second leading cause of death among fifteen to twenty-nine year old persons. Harmful use of alcohol and drugs is also a major problem among teenagers that can lead to risky behaviour, such as - unsafe sex or dangerous driving.

Generally everyone is concerned about physical health; however, very little attention is paid to mental health. Health depends on the quality of thoughts, not on medicines. There is a deep connection between the brain and body. The structure of the brain is very complex and mysterious. The body is controlled by the brain. Thoughts affect body systems. Professor Gates writes, "Corrupted emotions contaminate the blood. As soon as bad thoughts enter the mind, the secretions of the glands change. Their construction also stops. The poisonous effect of bad thoughts poisons the blood. This makes the body sick. The capabilities of the brain start decreasing and it becomes weak. A person who always lives in a dirty environment and is surrounded by bad thoughts loses physical health and personality influence.

Good thoughts develop mental happiness, excitement increases. This not only makes a difference in the person's behaviour, but also makes his behaviour dignified. Therefore, for personality development, it is expected that mental balance and positive thinking should be developed continuously. Success in this direction can be achieved through targeted practice and experimentation. Since the whole world is becoming aware about the importance of mental health, and is trying to stay away from stress, then you should also take a pledge that you will not take excessive stress in any problem; because it can also give rise to many types of physical problems. Stress makes problems more complicated, rather than solving them, so it is better to solve them tactfully. Why should we forget to smile in times of trouble? Keep laughing, keep smiling and keep worrying habits at a distance.

ISRAELI DEFENCE MINISTER ORDERS 'COMPLETE SEIGE' ON GAZA

Jerusalem | Agencies
Israeli Defence Minister Yoav Gallant on Monday ordered a "complete siege" on the Gaza Strip as forces claimed to have regained all the communities around the coastal enclave on the third day of the conflict with the Hamas militant group. "No electricity, no food, no fuel," the BBC quoted the Minister as saying in a televised address. "We are fighting barbarians and will respond accordingly," he added. Israel controls the air space over Gaza and its shoreline, and restricts who and what goods are allowed in and out through its border crossings. Similarly, Egypt controls who passes in and out of its border with Gaza, the BBC reported. Meanwhile, Hamas on Monday said that it fired 120 rockets toward the southern Israeli cities of Ashdod and Ashkelon in response to Israeli airstrikes. As a result of the incoming rockets, sirens were sounded in Jerusalem and Tel Aviv as well. According to Israel's emergency services, in Ashkelon, just north of Gaza, four people were injured, while in Ashdod, a woman was critically injured. Monday marked the third day of conflict between Israel and Hamas after the militant group launched an unprecedented attack on southern Israel on October 7, prompting the Jewish nation to declare war and pound the Gaza Strip with airstrikes. So far, the death toll in the Gaza Strip increased to 493 on Monday, with 2,751 people injured, according to Palestinian health authorities. Israel has maintained its death toll at more than 700. At least 123,538 people have been internally displaced in Gaza in the three days since the conflict broke out, according to UN agencies.

Hamas holding over 100 Israeli hostages

Jerusalem/Gaza | Agencies
The Palestinian Hamas militant group which launched an unprecedented surprise attack on southern Israel on October 7, has claimed that it was currently holding more than 100 Israeli nationals as hostages, including high-ranking army officers. In an interview with Arabic news outlet al-Ghad TV late Sunday night, Mousa Abu Marzouk, deputy chief of the group's political bureau, said the number of Israeli hostages "hasn't been counted yet but they are over a hundred", CNN reported. When queried if Israeli army officers were among the hostages, Marzouk replied: "There are high-ranking officers." Israeli authorities have said that dozens of Israelis are being held hostage in Gaza but have not confirmed exact numbers. Also on Sunday night, Islamic Jihad, a militant group that operates in Palestinian territories, announced that it has taken 30 Israelis as hostages. In a televised address, Ziad al-Nakhalah, the group's secretary-general, said: "The Islamic Jihad Movement currently has more than 30 prisoners, and they will not return to their homes until our prisoners are liberated." The Islamic Jihad and Hamas are separate organisations, but they both operate in the Gaza Strip and are aligned in their opposition to Israel. The Islamic Jihad has called for Israel to release some of its fighters in exchange for the hostages' release. The total number of hostages taken during Hamas' assault this weekend is not yet clear, but Israeli officials have said there are dozens of captives. Mexico's Foreign Minister Alicia Barcena said on Sunday that two Mexican nationals, a woman and a man, have "presumably" been taken hostage by Hamas. Meanwhile, at least three Brazilian nationals are also missing, according to Brazilian authorities. The Hamas launched the surprise attack on Israeli towns adjacent to the Gaza Strip, prompting Israel to launch retaliatory strikes on Gaza. During the attack, Hamas militants broke through the security fence that separate the Gaza Strip from Israel and stormed nearby communities, killing and capturing Israelis. On Sunday, Israel declared a war on Gaza, attacking the besieged coastal enclave with airstrikes that were still continuing as of Monday morning. Since the conflict erupted, more than 700 people have been killed in the Jewish state, while over 400 Palestinians were also dead, according to authorities. Meanwhile, hundreds of people are still reported missing. Among the victims are at least 260 people whose bodies were found at the site of a music festival near the Israel-Gaza border.

New York | Agencies
A New York-based activist and independent blogger has claimed that agents from China, not India, were involved in the killing of Canadian Khalistani leader Hardeep Singh Nijjar in June this year. China-born Jennifer Zeng said in her blog, 'Inconvenient Truths' that the killing was carried out by the agents of Chinese Communist Party (CCP) with an intent to "frame" India and "create discord between India and the West". "Today, shocking revelations about the assassination of the #Sikh leader, Hardeep Singh Nijjar in Canada, have emerged from within the CCP. It is alleged that the assassination was carried out by CCP agents," Zeng said in a video, which she shared on X on Monday. # WHY COLLECT TOLL TAX WHEN MANY ROADS ARE POTHOLE-RIDDEN: MAHA CONGRESS

Team Absolute | Nashik

Slamming the Maharashtra government, Congress Legislative Party leader Balasaheb Thorat said on Monday that when all the major roads in the state are riddled with potholes, why does the government collect toll taxes from commuters.

Citing instances, he said the Mumbai-Nashik highway's condition is pathetic and a journey of barely 150 minutes can take almost double the time, and in places like Thane's Bhiwandi town, its difficult to identify the road from the potholes.

"There is this non-stop problem of traffic congestion in Bhiwandi and other places, highways are filled with potholes and rubble, but toll collection goes on uninterrupted. The condition is the same on most of the roads and highways in the state, and people's anger is increasing," said Thorat.

He pointed out that the Congress had raised the issue of traffic jams, potholes and bad road conditions even in the Assembly, and the concerned minister had promised to take immediate action in the matter, "but instead of improving, things seem to have worsened now".

"The people of the state are disgusted with the tolls being levied without corresponding facilities on the roads and highways and the Congress is fully with the masses," declared Thorat.

The Congress leader's strong statements came after Maharashtra Navnirman Sena (MNS) President Raj Thackeray renewed its anti-toll tax campaign by laying siege to various toll booths around Mumbai, Thane, Raigad and Nashik.

Raj Thackeray reiterated that toll tax is the "biggest scam" in Maharashtra, as he warned that if the government tries to stop his men, they would 'set fire' to the concerned toll booths. The MNS 'renewed campaign against toll tax received a big 'thumbs up' from many on social media, with several blasting the state government for its unkept promises, bad roads and other related issues. Meanwhile, Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnis said that from midnight of May 31, 2015, road toll tax collection was stopped at 11 of the 38 toll stations of the Public Works Department and one of out 53 of the Maharashtra State Road Transport Corporation.

His detailed statement came after the Maharashtra Navnirman Sena President Raj Thackeray on Monday demanded a complete waiver of road toll tax on small vehicles in the state failing which his party activists would 'burn down' toll booths.

Fadnis said that small vehicles like cars, jeeps and State Transport buses at the remaining 27 (of the 38 run by PWD) and at 26 toll booths of the MSRDC have been exempted from the toll tax from the aforementioned date. A decision to pay compensation in this regard was also taken in 2017 and its relevant Government Resolution was issued on Aug. 31, 2017, the Deputy CM added. However, Raj Thackeray said that what Fadnis said "is blatantly false", and reiterated that the MNS men will stand at toll booths and allow small vehicles to pass without paying the toll taxes.

SRK's receives Y+ level following death threats after success of 'Pathaan', 'Jawan'

Team Absolute | Mumbai

The success of 'Jawan' and 'Pathaan' has proven to be a double edged sword for the Bollywood superstar Shah Rukh Khan. The actor has been receiving death threats following the blockbuster success of his recent films, and has sought an enhanced security cover from the state of Maharashtra.

SRK's security has been beefed up to Y+ level. The actor has asked for security after he received death threats following the success of his two films which have breathed new life in Hindi cinema in terms of its economy.

As per a media report, the actor had written to the state government seeking the security cover. Under the Y+ category, SRK would get 11 security personnel, including six commandos, four police personnel and a traffic clearance vehicle.

The Y+ security is provided by the state to those citizens who face a threat to their lives. In response to the state government's directive, the IG VIP Security scaled up the actor's security for which he will have to pay and deposit a certain sum of money.

The actor receiving threats is nothing new as earlier this year, 'Pathaan' stirred the pot over with its song 'Besharam Rang' as various fringe outfits took offence to the use of saffron colour in one of Deepika Padukone's dresses in the song.

These groups equated the use of saffron colour in the song with the title and took offence saying the song mocks the saffron colour which is associated with Hindu religious sentiment.

Shah Rukh Khan has had run-ins with the Mumbai underworld in the past and has been known to stand up to threats.

Last year, another Khan superstar - Salman Khan was also provided Y+ security cover after he received threats from the Lawrence Bishnoi Gang. Lawrence Bishnoi Gang is the one that was involved in the murder of Punjabi music star Sidhu Moosewala.

Why drag farmers in Newslick FIR, asks Samyukt Kisan Morcha; threatens protest

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Irked by allegations levelled against the farmers' movement by the Delhi Police in the FIR against media house Newslick, the Samyukt Kisan Morcha has threatened nationwide protests targeting the central government, here on Monday.

SKM leader Dr. Ashok Dhawale said they categorically rejected all the allegations made vis-a-vis farmers' stir as they are "false and motivated", and termed it as a renewed attack by the Bharatiya Janata Party-led Central government against the farmers. "The farmers' protest was peaceful and directed against the three (former) farm bills and not aimed at 'disrupting supplies and essential services' abet damage and destruction of property, loss to the Indian economy, created internal law and order problems through illegal foreign funding", etc, as alleged in the Delhi Police FIR," said Dr. Dhawale. On the contrary, the Centre has used might to stop the farmers from exercising their democratic right of reaching New Delhi through barbed wire-fencing, water cannons, caning or digging up the roads, he pointed out. Due to the government's attitude, the farmers had to sit in protest for 13 months under the blazing sun, torrential rains and freezing winter cold, and the BJP-government created law and order issues by mowing down four farmers and one journalist in Lakhimpur Kheri under running vehicles, the SKM leader added.

"The Union MoS Home and his son were behind that attack, but till now Prime Minister Narendra Modi has not removed the Minister or ensured legal action against the culprits. A total 735 farmers had to sacrifice their lives during the 13-month agitation to counter the repression of the Centre," said Dr. Dhawale. He said the SKM strongly denounces the government's attempts to downplay the importance of the historic farmers' movement, dubbing them as terrorists though they were only protesting the attempts to hand over the farming sector to big corporates and foreign companies, and warned of fresh nationwide protests.

Mumbai airport is 1st in Asia to commission 'Disabled Aircraft Recovery Kit'

▶ IN A MONUMENTAL STRIDE TOWARDS ENHANCING PASSENGER SAFETY AND OPERATIONAL RESILIENCE, THE CHHATRAPATI SHIVAJI MAHARAJ INTERNATIONAL AIRPORT (CSMIA) HAS COMMISSIONED ASIA'S FIRST 'DISABLED AIRCRAFT RECOVERY KIT' (DARK) TO HELP STRANDED AIRCRAFT. OFFICIALS SAID HERE ON MONDAY.

Team Absolute | Mumbai

DARK facility comprised high pressure lifting bags of superior durability but requiring minimal manpower and providing a more efficient aircraft recovery process compared with the conventional low-pressure counterparts.

With a maximum weight of 390 tonnes, DARK can quickly recover large commercial and transport aircraft, including the world's biggest aircraft, the Boeing 777-300ER, and others that may be involved in runway excursions or other incidents.

Runway excursion is a scenario when the aircraft veers off or overruns the runway during take-off or landings, a major concern in aviation, and requires swift but meticulous intervention to ensure safety of passengers, the aircraft and the airport operations, said the officials. The recovery process encompasses a meticulous sequence of steps, from ground preparations to aircraft lifting, de-bogging and towing, and the DARK's compact design enhances its transportability, allowing rescuers to reach crash sites faster, so that disruptions in operations are minimized, especially as CSMIA has a single cross-over runway operation.

The sophisticated kit can be operated with comparatively fewer trained personnel, the bags occupy a smaller footprint, and recovery operation four times faster than the low pressure bag system, the officials explained.

The CSMIA's own Aircraft Rescue and Fire Fighting team underwent an intensive five-day training programme to operate DARK, the legal aspects, tethering, ground stabilisation, lifting techniques using the low-pressure bags, multi-sling utilisation and de-bogging procedures, etc.

For the theoretical and practical training, the entire DARK was spread across a gigantic hangar at the CSMIA and the different units disassembled, comprising 46 containers, a compressor to power the systems to inflate the bags, tethers to stability the six-metre tall inflated bags, a trailer and wing transition, said the officials.

Dassault planning Rafale Assembly Line in India with an eye on Indian Navy & Air Force orders

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Dassault Aviation of France is planning a Rafale Assembly Line in India with an eye on the Indian Navy and Air Force orders.

According to sources close to the development, India can soon become the first country to produce a 4.5 generation fighter aircraft without being an Original Equipment Manufacturer or the OEM.

Dassault has a current backlog of close to 200 Rafales which includes outstanding deliveries for existing orders of 80 aircraft for UAE, 42 for Indonesia, 12 for Croatia, Egypt 54, Greece 24, Qatar 36 and potential 26 for the Indian Navy. The sources further revealed that with its current capacity limited to 24 aircraft per year, there is a strong case for Dassault to establish an additional production line at its joint venture, DRAL in India. India is a big market and the Indian Air Force is looking at purchasing 114 fighter aircraft. RFP for this is expected in the next six months. This will be one of the largest orders for fighters anywhere in the world. Indian Naval order for 26 aircraft is also expected to be finalised within the next six months with deliveries starting in 2027. Sources said that the Rafale manufacturing line at DRAL, MIHAN SEZ Nagpur will see an additional half a million square feet infrastructure spread over 4 hangars, with production starting in 2028.

Annual capacity is planned at 24 aircraft per year or two aircraft per month. At an anticipated price of Rs 1,000 crore per aircraft in 2028, it will translate into Rs 24,000 crore sales per annum.

This will require an additional investment of close to Rs 3,000 crore. In terms of employment opportunities, DRAL will have more than 600 personnel to meet the requirements of the final assembly line for Falcon 2000. With Rafale, this could go past the 1,200 mark.

"The boy had a lump since birth, it was growing slowly and did not bother him. When he was admitted, it had grown 22 cms X 30 cms. A MRI scan revealed that it was a network of 'lymphatic system' and blood vessels, and this tumour was growing out of the internal jugular vein, the main (blue) blood vessel in the neck," explained the Sion hospital Dean, Dr Mohan Joshi. After a complex surgery lasting nearly seven hours, the massive tumour was finally removed from the boy's neck-shoulder region, proving a huge relief to the patient.

Later, the boy -- whose name has not been revealed -- surrounded by his beaming family, said: "A heavy burden has been lifted off my shoulders," smiled Dr Joshi.

The surgery was tricky as the medical team had to navigate around critical blood vessels, nerves and muscles in the neck without causing any damage or trauma to the patient.

The medicos said that the teenager had been brought to hospital at the right time as the tumour kept growing, with uncertain prospects for the future or serious medical consequences if it was not removed surgically. The boy is recovering very well post-surgery and his family is thrilled while the BMC hospitals' medicos are proud that they have performed yet another surgical achievement in the government-run facility.

approximately Rs 8,500 crore.

The portfolio of road projects earmarked for sale includes several key assets, such as the 88.27 km Trichy-Dindigul road, the 136.36 km road between Salem and Ulundurpet, the 66.185 km Gurgaon-Faridabad road,

Jamie Lee Curtis removes post supporting Israel following backlash

Los Angeles | Agencies

Oscar-winning actress Jamie Lee Curtis has quietly responded to backlash over her post which saw her showing support for Israel following the Hamas attack. The actress has deleted the controversial post as it's no longer on her Instagram page, reports aceshowbiz.com.

In the Saturday post, Jamie shared a picture of several children looking terrified while staring missiles in the sky.

"Terror from the skies," the 'Everything Everywhere All at Once' actress wrote alongside an Israel flag.

The actress also tagged Samar Abu Elouf, the photographer behind the image.

Samar, however, clarified that the picture actually featured Palestinian children in Gaza.

They were running from bombs being counter-launched by Israel.

"Palestinian families seek refuge with their children from the northern Gaza Trip to UNRWA schools inside Gaza City. Children are afraid of the sound of bombing who hear it during their presence due to events on the Strip's borders," the photographer wrote on her own Instagram page.

It didn't take long for Internet users to slam Jamie as she used the wrong picture to show solidarity to Israel.

"Just to clarify, this picture is from Gaza. The children looking up at the rockets are Palestinian," an Instagram user wrote in the comments section.

"That's Arabic in the back there, look at the store signs. If that was in Israel, it would be Hebrew," someone else pointed out. "In fact, this is a picture from Gaza! The children are Palestinian children from Gaza and they are under Israeli terror and heavy airstrike!"

"Girl, wtf is the message here? You have a photo of Palestinian children taken by a Gaza-based Muslim photojournalist with an Israeli flag in the incredibly manipulative caption," someone else fumed.

A user on X (formerly Twitter), wrote: "Jamie Lee Curtis posting a pic from Gaza and thinking it's from Israel is kinda funny ngl."

Drake disappoints fans for allegedly shading ex Rihanna on new song

Los Angeles | Agencies

Rapper Drake appeared to have disappointed his fans due to his remarks on one of his new songs. Shortly after his track 'Fear of Heights' was released, the 'Hotline Bling' rapper was alleged to have thrown shades at his former girlfriend and singer Rihanna, reports aceshowbiz.com. The 36-year-old rapper became a hot topic on X, formerly known as Twitter, as his fans voiced their thoughts on the new single.

One of them wrote: "Drake rapping about Rihanna in 2023 and sounding as mature as he did in 2013 is as disappointing as it is predictable." Meanwhile, another candidly penned: "Drake dissing rihanna on the album is crazyyyy [a laughing emoji] he's so salty I'm weaaaaaak."

That same day, Rihanna's fans came to her defense on the same social media platform. One of them stated, "Drake dissed Rihanna my baby she is somewhere changing diapers for the 20th time this morning... that lady does not gaf lmfao."

Similarly, another bragged about the 'Love on the Brain' singer and her achievements: "Rihanna ended her relationship with Drake years ago. Since then she's started her own makeup line, had a family, and got nominated for an Oscar. I promise you she's not worried about that man."

Drake released the song, which is featured on his eighth studio album 'For All the Dogs' on October 6.

Dwayne Johnson's contract clause for action films keeps tight leash on number of blows he sustains

Los Angeles | Agencies

Hollywood actor Dwayne Johnson is well known for his beefy roles and action hero characters, which see the star escape near impossible disasters and go into combat.

Yet the actor doesn't just land all his action heroes by pure luck, the star reportedly also has a 'no lose' contract added into all his movie roles that means the actor is never beaten, reports Mirror.co.uk.

The actor, who has starred in various films including as Agent Luke Hobbs in the 'Fast and Furious' franchise, reportedly has legal terms and conditions that limit how 'badly' he can be beaten up and ensure that he always comes out on top.

As per Mirror.co.uk, he follows in the footsteps of other action hero actors including Vin Diesel and Jason Statham, who also keep a tight leash on how many punches they sustain and how their fight scenes are played out on screen.

According to the Wall Street Journal, Johnson took heed from Vin Diesel who reportedly developed a system where he assigned a numerical value to each punch he received while on screen and kept track of how many punches he had taken whilst filming.

The Wall Street Journal reported: "According to producers and crew members on the films, Mr. Statham, 51 years old, negotiated an agreement with the studio that limits how badly he can be beaten up on screen. Mr. Johnson, 47, enlists producers, editors and fight coordinators to help make sure he always gives as good as he gets."

Johnson also took the contract to the next level for Fast and Furious, as he allegedly had the script changed to ensure that after one on screen brawl he was left sitting up instead of lying down and seemingly less hurt.

Kit Harrington confesses to being self-obsessed in the past

Los Angeles | Agencies

Kit Harrington, who is known for playing Jon Snow in 'Game of Thrones', feels fortunate to have been surrounded by "truthful" people throughout his career to humble him. Harrington told Candis magazine: "There are times when I've been an idiot. When I've been wrapped up in myself. But I've always had people around me who've been truthful." The actor said he's learned from his past mistakes, reports femalefirst.co.uk. He said: "There's not much I'd change, because the mistakes I've made in the world I've found myself in have made me who I am today. And at the moment, I'm happy with myself." He also appreciates the support he's received from his parents. The actor explained how his mum encouraged him to pursue his ambitions "in a really intelligent and sensitive way." He shared: "Their genius in parenting was not to push us into anything but to look at what we were intrinsically drawn by. So I was never pushed into acting, just as my brother was never pushed into what he did. "For instance, when I was a kid and liked dinosaurs, my mother would buy me everything about dinosaurs. "So when I got older and drama came along, it was her who guided me, 'OK, do you want to go to drama school? Do you want to join the National Youth Theatre, or maybe you want to do this course at RADA?'"

She was always there, delicately puppeteering my young life, but in a really intelligent and sensitive way. She's a fantastic woman."

Men's ODI WC

KOHLI, RAHUL RESCUE ACT HELPS INDIA BURY GHOSTS OF MELTDOWN WITH ASSURED KNOCKS

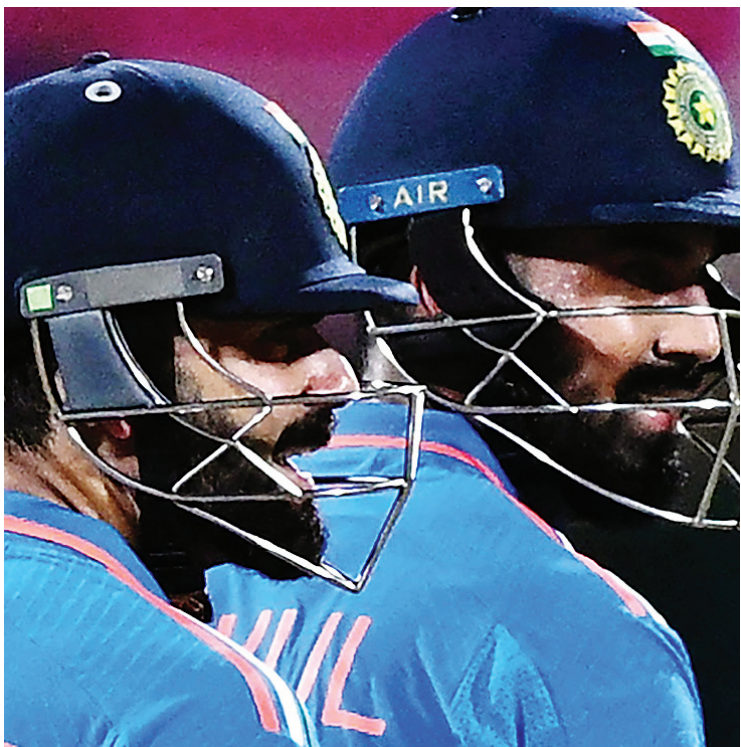

Chennai | Agencies

When KL Rahul made his way to join Virat Kohli at the crease, the 32,531 fans at the MA Chidambaram Stadium were super silent, as if it was the school class teacher's pin-drop silence order being followed to the "T".

Anxiety was written large on the faces of spectators as India's scoreboard read two for three in two overs in the chase of 200 in their first 2023 World Cup game. The flashback of 5-3 from the 2019 Men's ODI World Cup semi-final, apart from early collapse in 2017 Champions Trophy final, was brought back into mind when Australia's new-ball bowlers Mitchell Starc and Josh Hazlewood dismissed Rohit Sharma, Ishan Kishan and Shreyas Iyer for ducks.

It felt the universe was conspiring to make everyone tuning into this game go through the haunting emotions of a batting meltdown and make Sunday's clash as an addition to their list of you-don't-want-to-ever remember games of the Indian ODI side. Too much was stacked up against India - first time three out of top four batters fell for ducks and no side had ever won after this crazy start.

But from there, when 200 looked as colossal as Mount Everest, what followed was a script which gave the heat and humidity fighting fans its voice and hope back, its vociferous cheering back to decibel-shattering levels as Virat Kohli and KL Rahul produced a partnership of 165 for the ages, giving India a winning start to their campaign.

Let's face it: the partnership of Kohli and Rahul was the best-possible hope India had with the bat to recover from an unbelievable early wobble and chase 200. Yes, Hardik Pandya would have contributed, so as Ravindra Jadeja and Ravichandran Ashwin.

But Kohli and Rahul were the best batters India had at the crease to calm down the situation, soak in the pressure and then look to score runs. While Kohli's arrival was marked by a huge roar from fans and the "He's A Freakin' Badass" coming out of the badass song from Tamil movie 'Leo', Rahul had a rushing entry to the crease. The duo had slammed centuries while sharing a 233-run stand against Pakistan in the Asia Cup last month, albeit it came in different circumstances. Here, they had to be very cautious as Hazlewood was getting seam movement both ways under lights on a pitch which had the Indian spin trio calling the shots. There were some moments of 'oohs' and 'aahs' when Kohli had close shaves and was beaten in facing Hazlewood and Starc, while he got cheers from the crowd on every single run he scored.

When things started to calm down, the crowd had a literal heart-in-the-mouth moment when Kohli mistimed a pull from Hazlewood, evoking the flashback of a similar dismissal against the same opposition in 2015 World Cup semi-final.

Fighting India beaten by Myanmar, suffer second successive AFC Futsal Asian Cup Qualifiers loss

Dushanbe | Agencies

Indian men's futsal team's wait for a first-ever win continued as they went down 2-5 to Myanmar in Group E of the AFC Futsal Asian Cup 2024 Qualifiers here at the Dushanbe Indoor Hall, on Monday.

After also being beaten 3-6 by hosts Tajikistan on Saturday, India's hopes of qualifying for Asia's premier futsal competition in their first attempt are now out of their hands.

Should Palestine fail to beat the hosts in the evening kick-off, India will be eliminated from the qualifiers.

Unlike the opening match, India kept more ball possession during the initial stages of the contest. However, it was Myanmar who looked more threatening going forward. India captain and goalkeeper Augustin D'mello was kept fairly busy in the first period by the Bunlert Charoenwong-coached side, who had come from behind to beat Palestine 2-1 in their first match.

The opening goal arrived in rather fortunate circumstances for Myanmar. Lalsangima, in a sliding attempt to clear the ball, knocked it into the path of Thyne Phwet Aung, who tapped into the open net.

India equalised with their first shot on target in the 11th minute. A loose ball fell on the edge of the penalty area for Roluapua, who didn't think twice and sweetly struck it first time into the roof of the net. Vaz's boys started to find their feet after the goal and almost took the lead soon. Nikhil Mali laid the ball for last match's hat-trick hero David Lalansanga, who slammed his right-footed effort onto the frame of the goal. However, it was Myanmar who regained their advantage from a kick-in. Captain Myo Myint Soe picked out Myo The Aung, who glided the ball past D'mello. Fortune favoured Myanmar yet again as they extended their lead with an own goal from Lalansanga. A corner-kick from Htut Wai Tun took a deflection off the Mizo player, wrongfooting D'mello, who was left with no chance to prevent the goal. There were no two ways about it. A case of plain bad luck for India. Myanmar remained a constant threat from dead-ball situations throughout the match. But India, learning from their mistakes in the first half, defended better after the break. Something which remained unchanged was D'mello's hectic life between the sticks as Myanmar's incessant attacks kept his gloves warm.

The Southeast Asians defended compactly, but on one occasion when George MS Dawngiana had a clear sight of the target, Naing Lin Tun Kyaw threw his body on the line to thwart the goal-bound effort. India pressed deeper into Myanmar territory as the match inched towards full-time, and pulled one back two minutes from time when Lalansanga's powerful low strike found the bottom corner.

Roma crush Cagliari, Napoli fall to Fiorentina

Rome | Agencies

Roma registered their third consecutive victory on all fronts as they made short work of Cagliari 4-1 on Sunday, while defending champions Napoli lost 3-1 to Fiorentina on home turf.

Roma had beaten Frosinone last time out in Serie A and were coming off a 4-0 midweek triumph over Servette in the Europa League.

New signing Houssein Aouar sent the Giallorossi ahead in the 19th minute as Leonardo Spinazzola's floated pass set up him to drill home. The away side quickly rode the momentum as Romelu Lukaku continued his fearsome form to fire home Rick Karsdorp's pass. Andrea Belotti added another straight after the break as his mazy run made defenders dizzy before finishing with a low strike, while Lukaku got his second from Leandro Paredes' assist. Nahitan Nandez converted a spot-kick in the dying minutes, which proved to be nothing more than a consolation for Cagliari.

Elsewhere, Napoli saw their domestic winning streak ruined at Stadio Diego Armando Maradona. Victor Osimhen's penalty cancelled out Josip Brekalo's early opener, but the Nigerian's goal was only a temporary balm for the Partenopei, as Giacomo Bonaventura and Nico Gonzalez both scored in the second half to seal the win. Also on Sunday, Lazio edged past Atalanta in a 3-2 thriller, with Matias Vecino grabbing a last-gasp winner.

In Sunday's other fixtures, Monza dominated Salernitana 3-0, while Frosinone saw off Hellas Verona 2-1.

Tommy Paul, Grigor Dimitrov advances in Shanghai Masters fourth round

Shanghai | Agencies

Tommy Paul moved past Frenchman Arthur Fils 6-4, 6-7(7), 6-4 to reach the fourth round of the Shanghai Masters, here on Monday, strengthening his slim ATP Finals qualification hopes.

In a hard-fought clash, the American recovered from squandering two match points in the second-set tie-break, responding with consistent baseline play in the deciding set to advance after two hours and 40 minutes, ATP Tour reports.

Paul is currently 11th in the ATP Live Race To Turin on 2,525 points, trailing eighth-placed Holger Rune by 585 points. He is aiming to make his debut at the prestigious year-end event.

The 26-year-old has advanced to at least the fourth round at all hard-court ATP Masters 1000 events this season (Indian Wells, Miami, Toronto SFs, Cincinnati, Shanghai).

Paul will aim to reach his second Masters 1000 quarterfinal of the year when he takes on Andrey Rublev, who also advanced to Round of 16, brushing aside Adrian Mannarino 6-3, 6-0 to end the Frenchman's eight-match winning run.

In other action, Grigor Dimitrov reached the fourth round at a Masters 1000 for the first time since Paris in 2022. The Bulgarian moved past World No. 14 Karen Khachanov 7-6(6), 6-4 to earn his sixth Top 20 win of the season. The 18th seed saved one set point in the first set at 5/6 in the tie-break, before winning 17 of his 19 first-serve points in the second set to advance after one hour and 57 minutes.

Dimitrov now leads Khachanov 3-0 in the pair's ATP Head-to-Head series and will next face top seed Carlos Alcaraz or Daniel Evans.

Verstappen dominates F1 Qatar GP

Beijing | Agencies

Newly-crowned 2023 F1 World Champion Max Verstappen continued his dominant form with victory in Qatar Grand Prix at the Losail International Circuit.

Having confirmed his third consecutive Driver's title after finishing second in Saturday's Sprint race, Red Bull's Verstappen started the Grand Prix from pole, reports Xinhua.

Unusually, pre-race concerns over tyre safety meant drivers were restricted to no more than 18 laps of running before having to pit for new rubber, and the oppressive heat and humidity proved a physically demanding challenge, with Williams' Logan Sargeant forced to retire after feeling unwell midway through the race.

However, Verstappen took everything in typically imperturbable fashion, and after evading a first-corner collision between the Mercedes of George Russell and Lewis Hamilton, the Dutchman was never threatened as he cruised to his 14th win in 17 Grands Prix so far this season.

"I think what made the race was my first stint. After that, I could just manage my pace and make sure the tyres were always in a good window," said Verstappen afterwards.

"It was definitely a tough race out there, one of the toughest I've done. Top five, probably."

Behind Verstappen, McLaren continued their impressive recent form, with Oscar Piastri and Lando Norris taking another 2-3 finish for the Woking squad as they close on fourth-placed Aston Martin in the Constructors' Championship.

Russell recovered from his Lap 1 tangle with Hamilton to climb from the back of the field to fourth place by the flag, ahead of Ferrari's Charles Leclerc and the Aston Martin of Fernando Alonso.

Esteban Ocon took seventh for Alpine, ahead of the two Alfa Romeos of Valtteri Bottas and Zhou Guanyu, with the pair respectively equalling their best finishes of 2023 so far.

ODI World Cup: Shubam Gill to miss second match vs Afghanistan in Delhi as well, says BCCI

Mumbai | Agencies

Team India batter Shubman Gill will not be travelling with the squad to New Delhi on October 9, BCCI said in a statement on Monday.

The opening batter, who missed the team's first fixture in the ICC Men's Cricket World Cup 2023 against Australia in Chennai, is set to miss the team's next fixture against Afghanistan in Delhi on October 11.

He will stay back in Chennai and will be under the supervision of the medical team, it added.

Gill is reportedly suffering from dengue. "He is under the weather, the medical team is closely monitoring him. We are hoping he gets better soon," the BCCI official was earlier quoted as saying. Gill is the leading run-getter for India in ODIs this year with 1230 runs at an average of 72.35 and a strike rate of 105.03. In his last four ODIs, he smashed two centuries and a half-century, two of those knocks coming against Australia.

RONDON ON TARGET AS RIVER PLATE GO TOP

Buenos Aires | Agencies

First-half goal from Venezuela international striker Salomon Rondon fired River Plate to a 1-0 home win over Talleres Cordoba in Argentina's Primera Division.

The hosts took the lead in the 19th minute when the ball ricocheted into the back of the net off Rondon's right hip after goalkeeper Guido Herrera failed to grasp a Paulo Diaz header, reports Xinhua.

Talleres had several chances to equalize but could not find a way past River goalkeeper Franco Armani, who made eight saves. The result saw River Plate usurp Independiente at the top of Group A with 16 points from eight outings while Talleres are sixth, five points off the pace. In other Primera Division fixtures on Sunday, Gimnasia drew 1-1 at Instituto, Union Santa Fe secured a 1-0 home win over Sarmiento and Platense prevailed 2-1 at Racing Club.

Familiar underwear helps Dauser win parallel bars at FIG Worlds

Berlin | Agencies

Sometimes things get stressful for Lukas Dauser. Always keeping a very special item fresh and clean requires strict planning aside from unusual methods.

As a fact, the 30-year-old might have one of the most unusual lucky charms among athletes at the Artistic Gymnastic World Championships in Antwerp, reports Xinhua.

But efforts paid off for the German as he took gold in the parallel bars competition (15,400) ahead of China's Shi Cong (15,066) and Japan's Kaito Sugimoto (15,000).

"I always wear the same underpants for competition. I have done this for three years," the German admitted while talking about laundry challenges when having to set up a clothesline in his room between breakfast and lunch.

"With that many competitions, you sometimes get into time trouble and need to improvise," said Germany's first gold medal winner since 2007.

Dauser's wife Viktoria tried to ease his husband's malaise by buying new underwear for his 30th birthday, but in the end, his robust superstition succeeded as he took his familiar ones for the worlds in Belgium.

"I can't believe it," the gymnast said after celebrating wrapped in a German flag. Chief coach Valeri Belenki called the performance "something you can't do better." His personal coach Hubert Brylok reported about his protegee's strong nerves.

"It's always a challenge to stay calm and simultaneously push things to the limits," the world champion said. Before winning the 2023 title in the absence of the 2022 title winner and Olympic Champion Zou Jingyuan of China, the German had to travel a bumpy road as private changes and an injury made things difficult.

Dauser had to fight his way up facing a mental low, as he and his wife for several months had to deal with a long-distance relationship after the aspiring dentist moved to Hannover for a job, while his training base remains located in Halle, over 200 kilometers away.

"To be honest, it took a while to get along. After I was sloppy when training I had to concentrate and get back to more discipline," he said.

Due to the injury, he had to skip the 2022 European Championship in Liverpool, as well as the national championships in Dusseldorf.

I connected deeply with my character because, like him, I speak little but convey a lot: Raj Arjun

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Well-known actor Raj Arjun who plays a pivotal part in Zee Theatre's engrossing drama 'Tadbeer' has fond memories of getting the nuances of his character right. He plays an ex-army officer in this story where a politically supported group is all set to assassinate an activist fighting for equality and freedom of speech.

A conflict then ensues between a young foot soldier, Somu and a seasoned recruit Darshan and Raj Arjun says, "I play someone who leaves the army because he does not want to give in to what the hierarchy demands from him. But even when he takes another path, he realises that caste and religion-based hierarchies exist everywhere. I connected deeply with my character because, like him, I speak little but convey a lot. Raj says he is always looking out for similar roles that are substantial and have something important to convey. For me, the story is the hero and if it is well-written and has a layered part with depth, I will take it on. I try to choose roles that have the potential to satisfy the actor within."

Raj is also thrilled that Zee Theatre is expanding the reach of plays like 'Tadbeer' and says, "This initiative to preserve theatre in a kind of a library is admirable. It allows people who can't access live plays to enjoy theatre. We have so many great playwrights and theatre stalwarts whose work will now be preserved forever."

Theatre has a very special place in Raj's heart as he too started his creative journey on stage in Bhopal. He recalls, "I did theatre in Bharat Bhawan and later got a chance to work with the great Habib Tanver and also Feroz Abbas Khan. This teleplay was a wonderful opportunity to relive the discipline and rigour I learnt on stage. Live theatre does not allow retakes and you have to remain in character throughout.

Before a camera, however, things are more fluid and so a teleplay is the perfect blend of both techniques.
