AN X PHONE WITH SAMSUNG AS A POTENTIAL PARTNER IS NOT OUT OF QUESTION: MUSK

Team Absolute | New Delhi

Taking on the Apple-OpenAI collaboration in a big way, tech billionaire Elon Musk said on Tuesday that his own X phone is a possibility with Samsung as a potential partner which cannot be ruled out, as he slammed the integration of ChatGPT in iPhones and other Apple devices. Reacting to an X user who claimed that "X will partner with Samsung to manufacture an X phone" which will be optimised for the X app, offer an open-source operating system (OS) and a "direct connection to Starlink", Musk said "it is not out of the question". Musk earlier said that it is "patently absurd" that Apple isn't smart enough to make its own AI, "yet is somehow capable of ensuring that OpenAI will protect your security & privacy". "Apple has no clue what's actually going on once they hand your data over to OpenAI. They're selling you down the river," the Tesla and SpaceX CEO added. Apple is yet to comment on Musk's allegations.

India will remain the fastest-growing major economy recording a steady growth of 6.7 per cent in the next three years including the current financial year, said a world bank report released on Tuesday. "The forecast implies that over the course of 2024-26 countries that collectively account for more than 80 per cent of the world's population and global GDP would still be growing more slowly than they did in the decade before COVID-19," it said. Growth in the South Asia (SAR) region is projected to slow from 6.6 per cent in 2023 to 6.2 per cent in 2024, mainly due to a moderation of growth in India from a high base in recent years. "India will remain the fastest-growing of the world's largest economies, although its pace of expansion is expected to moderate. After a high growth rate in FY2023/24, steady growth of 6.7 per cent per year, on average, is projected for the three fiscal years beginning in FY2024/25," the report said. This moderation is mainly due to a slow-down in investment from a high base. "However, investment growth is still expected to be stronger than previously envisaged and remain robust over the forecast period, with strong public investment accompanied by private investment," it said. It further said that private consumption growth is expected to benefit from a recovery of agricultural production and declining inflation. Government consumption is projected to grow only slowly, in line with the government's aim of reducing current expenditure relative to GDP, it added. According to the report, global inflation is expected to moderate to 3.5 per cent in 2024 and 2.9 per cent in 2025, but the pace of decline is slower than was projected just six months ago. Many central banks, as a result, are expected to remain cautious in lowering policy interest rates. Global interest rates are likely to remain high by the standards of recent decades -- averaging about 4 per cent over 2025-26, roughly double the 2000-19 average, it said. In India, World Bank said inflation has remained within the Reserve Bank's target range of 2 to 6 per cent since September 2023. However, apart from India, regional inflation, though below peak levels, has remained elevated, reflecting persistently high food price inflation from local food supply disruptions, and increased energy prices.

Bhagwat advised 'RAJDHARMA' to Modi

Mohan Bhagwat, the chief of the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), voiced concern on Monday about the condition of affairs in Manipur, the northeastern state riven by conflict and severely impacted by unrest since May 3 of last year. This was his first statement on the Manipur dispute, which has drawn harsh criticism for the BJP. After the results of the Lok Sabha elections were declared, Bhagwat made his opinion regarding the violence in Manipur in a mere six days. Was Modi being advised to adopt 'RAJDHARMA' in the manner of Atal Vihari Vajpayee? He described Manipur as being in pain. That abrupt emergence of disagreement is still blazing and burning in its flames. Who is going to be interested in this? It is our responsibility to give it careful thought, he said. Bhagwat also vented his anger about how contemporary technology was abused to fabricate a story for the country's most recent elections. Bhagwat made reference to the opposition's narrative about amending the Constitution and eliminating reservations for communities of backward castes, without mentioning the opposition. It's regrettable that Bhagwat also said that "decency and limitations" were absent from the campaign. He expressed his hope for goodwill within the Parliament and acknowledged that rivalry could exist, but it shouldn't escalate into violence. Additionally, the head of RSS stated that "election is a process of building consensus". RSS chief added that now that the elections are done, focus should be turned to and discussion of the issues the country is currently experiencing. He undoubtedly condemned the opposition for spreading a false narrative, in his opinion, but he also cautioned the Prime Minister and the BJP to uphold their statements and serve as an impartial head of state. "A true servant works without causing harm to others and lacks ego. A decorum-abiding person works, but doesn't get involved. I have no ego when I say that I did this. It is only appropriate to refer to such a person as a servant", he stated. Is he going to be heard?

PM Modi requests supporters to remove 'Modi Ka Parivar' from social media profiles

Team Absolute | New Delhi

Thanking millions of his supporters for lending massive support during the just-concluded Lok Sabha elections, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Tuesday urged them to remove 'Modi Ka Parivar' from their social media profiles, asserting that the message of "everyone being one family has been effectively conveyed". "Through the election campaign, people across India added 'Modi Ka Parivar' to their social media as a mark of affection towards me. I derived a lot of strength from it," PM Modi posted on X. The slogan had found a strong resonance on the ground and struck a right chord with lakhs of citizens over the past few months after PM Modi, while responding to RJD chief Lalu Prasad's taunting remarks on not having a family, declared that the whole country and its 140 crore citizens are his family. On Tuesday, PM Modi thanked the people of India for giving the NDA a majority for the third consecutive time, saying that it is "a record of sorts" and has given the BJP-NDA government the mandate to keep working for the betterment of the nation. "With the message of all of us being one family having been effectively conveyed, I would once again thank the people of India and request that you may now remove 'Modi Ka Parivar' from your social media properties. The display name may change, but our bond as one Parivar striving for India's progress remains strong and unbroken," he said. Several apps, merchandise, and even songs with 'Main hoon Modi Ka Parivar' theme have been launched in the past few months with all BJP leaders, ministers, and supporters updating their social media profiles by putting 'Modi Ka Parivar' next to their name.

Team Absolute | New Delhi

Finding it hard to lower your blood sugar levels? Doing exercises in the evening hours may help, according to a study on Monday. The study published in the journal Obesity showed that moderate to vigorous physical activity in the evening for sedentary adults with overweight and obesity is most beneficial in lowering daily blood sugar levels. "Our results highlight the importance of the field of precision exercise prescription," said Jonatan R. Ruiz, Professor of physical activity and health, at the Department of Physical and Sports Education, University of Granada in Spain. "In clinical practice, certified sports and medical personnel should consider the optimal timing of the day to enhance the effectiveness of the exercise and physical activity programs they prescribe," he added. The team studied a total of 186 adults who exercised between 6 a.m. and greater than 50 per cent of moderate to vigorous physical activity in the evening was associated with lowering day, night, and overall blood glucose levels compared with being inactive. The association was found to be stronger in participants with impaired glucose regulation and was similar in both men and women. A previous study, published in the journal Diabetes Care, and based on data from 30,000 people who were followed over almost 8 years also showed that exercise during the evening may offer more health benefits against obesity. Aerobic moderate to vigorous physical activity between 6 pm and midnight reduced the risk of premature death and death from cardiovascular disease, the study showed.

'UP showed the way', Rahul, Priyanka thank voters of Raebareli, Amethi

Raebareli | Agencies

Congress MP Rahul Gandhi on Tuesday thanked the people of Raebareli and Amethi for voting for the INDIA bloc and said that it was a vote against "violence, lies, and arrogance". While Rahul Gandhi won the Lok Sabha elections from Raebareli, in addition to retaining his seat in Kerala's Wayanad, Congress' Kishori Lal Sharma won from Amethi. Addressing an 'Aabhar Sabha' here, Rahul Gandhi said that in the recent Lok Sabha elections, people voted against those who planned to change the Constitution. "People have forced them to touch the Constitution to their foreheads now," he said. The Congress MP also said that it was for the first time that different parties across the country fought together as one army and it was Uttar Pradesh that showed them the way. "You have changed the political narrative of the country. But the work is not over yet. In fact, it has only begun. The BJP lost Ayodhya because not a single person from the poor or weaker sections was present in the consecration ceremony. Ayodhya gave a befitting reply in the elections," he said.

Rahul Gandhi also said that had Priyanka agreed to contest the Varanasi seat, the results would have been different there. He also assured the gathering that though he had been elected from Raebareli, he would make sure that Amethi gets whatever Raebareli gets for development. Speaking on the occasion, Priyanka Gandhi thanked all the leaders and workers of the Congress and Samajwadi Party and said the results have sent a message that the country wants clean politics. "You have worked hard for us and now we will work with double the strength for you," she said. Samajwadi Party leaders were also present on the Congress stage, as Priyanka Gandhi expressed her gratitude to the SP workers.

HARYANA "DELIBERATELY", "ILLEGALLY" HALTING WATER SUPPLY TO DELHI: ATISHI

Team Absolute | New Delhi

Delhi Water Minister Atishi on Tuesday slammed the Haryana government and alleged that it was "deliberately" and "illegally" halting the water supply to the capital.

In a press conference here, Atishi alleged that the Haryana government was releasing less water to the city because of which Delhi is unable to meet the daily water requirement.

Citing an affidavit submitted by the Haryana government in the Supreme Court, the minister said, "The Haryana government has been lying that they have released adequate supply water to Delhi. Their affidavit filed in the Supreme Court presents the data on actual discharge of water which has exposed their lie."

According to the affidavit, from May 23 ahead of the elections in Delhi, the water quantities released was reduced by the Haryana government, she alleged.

"The figures of the affidavit given by the Haryana government in the Supreme Court show that from May 1 to 22, Haryana is releasing 719 cusecs of water in CLC and 330 cusecs of water in DSB through Munak canal. That means 1049 cusecs of water was released daily. But after this, it started decreasing from May 23. That means, that when there were elections in Delhi, Haryana reduced the sending of water," said Atishi.

"Compared to 719 cusecs of water in CLC and 330 cusecs in DSB, the water supply became 675 cusecs and 283 cusecs, this is Haryana's figures. The elections in Delhi were on May 25, before that, the water supply to Delhi was reduced for four days, which is clear from his Supreme Court affidavit itself," she added.

The minister stated that according to Haryana's data, on June 7, 8, 9 and 10, the state was supposed to release 719 cusecs of water in CLC, instead of which only 675 cusecs of water were released, and in DSB, instead of 330 cusecs, 310 cusecs of water was released.

"Today the lies of the Haryana government have been exposed and it has become clear that Haryana is releasing only 985 cusecs of water instead of 1050 cusecs, which is getting even less in Delhi due to transmission loss. Due to this, water production is decreasing and the people of Delhi are troubled," she said. The minister also said that she will write a letter to Haryana Chief Minister Nayab Singh Saini regarding this and also approach the Supreme Court to present before it the data in the affidavit. "We will submit all these figures to the Supreme Court and tell how the Haryana government is also disobeying the Supreme Court," she said. Atishi said that Delhi was falling short of 40-45 million gallons per day of water due to the stalled water supply from Haryana.

The Delhi government's quick response team has been tasked to inspect the water distribution plants in Delhi to check for any leakages amid the water crisis in the city, she added.

According to a notification issued by the state Transport Department, any commercial vehicle owner paying tax for three years in advance will get a rebate of 15 per cent on the total amount payable by him or her during that period.

The rebate rate will be extended to 30 per cent in case the advance tax is paid for five years and to 40 per cent in case of 10 years.

"The rebate offer will encourage many commercial vehicle owners to pay the advance tax, which will add to the kitty of the state exchequer," said a senior Transport Department official.

According to him, a proposal to offer a rebate on advance payment was passed on the floor of the state Assembly earlier this year. However, due to a model of conduct in the wake of the recently concluded Lok Sabha elections, the department was unable to issue any notification on this count.

Mohmad Haneefa, Independent MP from Ladakh meets Rahul Gandhi in Delhi

Team Absolute | New Delhi

Mohmad Haneefa, the Independent MP from Ladakh, along with some local leaders met Congress MP Rahul Gandhi in the national Capital on Tuesday, sparking off a buzz about his likely support to the Congress-led INDIA bloc.

Any official statement to this effect is yet to come but speculations are rife over his extending support to the INDIA bloc.

Notably, just two days after the election results, an Independent MP from Maharashtra's Sangli constituency Vishal Patil pledged his support to the Congress party.

He had met party President Mallikarjun Kharge and Rahul Gandhi before announcing support to the Opposition-led alliance.

Mohmad Haneefa, who fought Lok Sabha elections from Ladakh Union Territory as an Independent, dealt a blow to the BJP by snatching this seat from its hold.

Mohmad Haneefa, a rebel National Conference (NC) leader defeated the rivals Tsering Namgyal of Congress and Tashi Gyalson of BJP with an impressive margin. Out of Ladakh's 1.35 lakh votes, Haneefa received 65,259 while the BJP and Congress bagged 31,956 and 37,397 votes respectively.

Days ago, the Ladakh MP told a publication that he was yet to take a call on supporting any party or alliance at the Centre and would do so after consulting all the stakeholders of the Union Territory as the Sixth Schedule status and statehood were the biggest demands of the people there. After the June 4 election results, the BJP-led National Democratic Alliance (NDA) formed its third-constitutive government under the leadership of PM Modi while Congress-led INDIA bloc marked its best performance with 99 seats in the last three Lok Sabha elections of 2014, 2019 and 2024.

Fan's murder: Kannada superstar Darshan named accused No. 2, wife Pavithra Gowda as prime accused

Bengaluru | Agencies

The Karnataka Police on Tuesday named Kannada superstar Darshan as the accused No. 2 and his second wife Pavithra Gowda as the prime accused in the alleged murder of a man named Renukaswamy (33) from Chitradurga, who was a big fan of the actor, sources said.

The police have arrested 13 persons in connection with the case, including Darshan and his wife Pavithra Gowda, the sources said.

The accused were taken to the Bowring Hospital for a medical check-up after which they will be produced before the court where the police are likely to seek their custody for further investigation.

The other accused persons have been identified as Pavan, M. Laxman, Nikhil Nayak, Keshava Murthy, Karthik, M. Deepak Kumar, R. Nagaraju, and Raghavendra, among others.

Darshan was arrested on Tuesday morning in connection with the alleged murder of 33-year-old Renukaswamy, whose body was found in Bengaluru on June 9.

The probe said the deceased was a die-hard fan of Darshan. While the police earlier maintained that the actor had been detained for questioning, Karnataka Home Minister G. Parameshwara later confirmed the arrest.

"His role came up during the investigation, based on which Darshan is being investigated by the police. Nothing more can be said about the murder now. Darshan is in police custody, and considering the seriousness of the case, he has been arrested," Parameshwara said. Meanwhile, sources said the actor allegedly tried to mislead the police by implicating four of his fans after Renukaswamy's body was found in a canal. When the police questioned them, they claimed to have committed the crime over a financial dispute. However, their statements were not convincing. When their call records were checked, Darshan's role in the case became apparent, sources said.

Preliminary investigations revealed that Renukaswamy was a hardcore fan of Darshan and was reportedly disturbed by the conflict between Darshan's first and second wives.

Renukaswamy wanted Darshan to be with his first wife and son, so he targeted Pavithra Gowda whenever she posted her photos with the actor on social media. Police sources said Darshan and his associates allegedly attacked Renukaswamy brutally, hitting him on his head, face, chest, and back. The accused also slashed his nose, mouth, and jaw. Burn injuries were found on the body, hinting at the use of a hot iron rod.

Sources claimed that more than 10 people attacked Renukaswamy, including Darshan, and threw him against a wall multiple times.

The deceased's family said that Renukaswamy worked at a pharmacy and got married a year ago. His wife is three-month pregnant.

Mumbaikars give 'thumbs up' to city Coastal Road Phase II on first day

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Excited Mumbaikars gave a broad smile and a big 'thumbs up' as the second phase of the Mumbai Coastal Road (MCR) was thrown open for motorists - a day after Chief Minister Eknath Shinde inaugurated it with a drive in a 94-year-old vintage Rolls Royce beauty.

Scores of vehicles were seen entering the south-north arm of the MCR at Marine Lines and the motorists were pleasantly surprised to complete the commute till Haji Ali junction in barely 8 minutes flat - a far cry from the agonising nearly one hour it took till yesterday.

Many motorists raved about the MCR - officially a mouthful, as 'Dharmveer Swarajrakshak Chhatrapati Sambhaji Maharaj Mumbai Coastal Road' - as their vehicles sped through the new thoroughfare including a tunnel running under the Malabar Hill and emerging at the new interchange at Haji Ali junction, along the Arabian Sea shore.

The remaining part of the project running up to Bandra Worli Sea Link is expected to be completed in a month or so and the entire phase will be fully ready by October affording Mumbaikars huge relief by saving time, fuel, pollution and other benefits. A global marketing consultant Pradeep Menon decided to go on a 'joy-ride' from his Powai home, driving first to Marine Lines (north-south), reversing at Churchgate to enter the newly-inaugurated (south-north) stretch and coming out at Haji Ali. "This was unbelievable... I could complete the stretch in barely 20 minutes both ways, plus it is toll-free and on par with similar projects the world over," gushed an awed Menon to reporter. Several other thrilled motorists spoke to the media lavishing praises on the BrihanMumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) and state government for giving a long overdue and huge infrastructure project to the country's commercial capital, and how it would even benefit future generations.

Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde inaugurated the first phase, roughly 10.5 km long, the north-south arm from Worli to Marine Lines, along with the twin tunnels, which proved to be immensely popular with motorists.

The Chief Minister said that the new stretch has been equipped with all the modern amenities and will be a boon as it shall decongest traffic to and from south Mumbai to the northern parts of the city. The work to link MCR with the BWSL bridge at Worli is also nearing completion and over the next few years, the coastal road will be constructed up to Borivali in northwest Mumbai, with multiple interchanges, big and small bridges, tunnels, etc.

On 4th day of hunger strike, Jarange-Patil's condition worsens, declines treatment

Team Absolute | Jalna (Maharashtra)

On the fourth day of his fifth indefinite hunger strike agitation for Maratha quotas, the health of Shivba Sanghatana chief Manoj Jarange-Patil has worsened but he refused to take medical treatment, here on Tuesday.

An aide said that a medical team checked Jarange-Patil and found that he is suffering from weakness, low blood pressure, reduced weight and related ailments, besides certain existing medical issues.

However, he has steadfastly declined to take any medication or treatment and vowed to continue his hunger strike till the government concedes to his demands on Maratha reservation, said the aide.

A medico from a government hospital team, which examined him on Tuesday, said that the Maratha leader needed treatment immediately owing to his health condition but he was not willing to get it.

"My fast will go on... Some people are sweet-talking the Marathas to weaken the agitation, but it will not work. The government must find a solution to the pending demands immediately," said a fatigued Jarange-Patil in a brief interaction with the media.

Responding to a query on state Minister Chhagan Bhujbal's statement on Monday that the Mahayuti allies' Lok Sabha elections performance was not impacted due to the series of agitations in 2023-2024, Jarange-Patil said, "Wait a little more and you will know."

Earlier, the Shivba Sanghatana leader had warned that he would put up candidates on all the 288 Maharashtra Assembly seats for the October elections if the government failed to fulfil its promises.

Four days after the Lok Sabha election results were announced, Jarange-Patil launched his fresh agitation on June 8, with the hunger strike in his native village Antaravali-Sarati.

The Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj International Airport (CSMIA) has increased the terminal entry points (eGates) from 24 to 68, the highest number of such eGates at kerbside/landside in the country, an official said here on Tuesday.

This will enhance the CSMIA's processing capacity to 7,440 passengers per hour at Terminal 2 and 2,160 at Terminal 1, which is triple its current capacity, drastically reducing the waiting time to less than one minute at the kerbside.

The new initiative expanding its cutting-edge digital gateway program will improve the travel experience for both DigiYatra and non-DigiYatra passengers at CSMIA. "By increasing the number of eGates and integrating advanced biometric systems, we are committed to ensuring swift, secure and seamless travel for all our passengers," said the spokesperson, on the expansion of its DigiYatra facility.

The CSMIA's Digital Gateway combines the benefits of technology, process excellence, big data analytics and design thinking to deliver an exemplary passenger experience.

Here, the number of terminal entry points has surged from 24 to 68, achieved solely through advanced technology without any need for any major civil works.

The Digital Gateway at T2 now provides for 28 dedicated DigiYatra e-gates alongside 28 dedicated non-DigiYatra e-gates.

Additionally, Terminal 1 (T1) features 6 dedicated DigiYatra e-gates and 6 non-DigiYatra e-gates, further enhancing the airport's overall capacity and passenger experience. Besides, an additional 118 e-gates are being deployed at the pre-embarkation security check area at T2 to further simplify passenger movements, said the spokesperson.

Shiv Sena (UBT) leader Sanjay Raut said on Tuesday that BJP allies Nitish Kumar and N Chandrababu Naidu are dissatisfied with their cabinet portfolios. Speaking to reporters, he invoked the term "bhakti aatma" (wandering restless spirit), which Prime Minister Modi had used for NCP (SP) president Sharad Pawar, claiming that this restless soul would not stop till the BJP-led governments at the Centre and in Maharashtra were deposed.

Raut said that if RSS president Mohan Bhagwat considered the NDA administration at the Centre was not advantageous to the country, he should take steps to remove it. He alluded to Nitish Kumar and Chandrababu Naidu as "dissatisfied souls" and accused the BJP of failing to please its partners with portfolio allocations.

"There are two 'atrupta aatmas' (dissatisfied souls) in the Centre -- (Bihar Chief Minister) Nitish Kumar and (TDP chief) Chandrababu Naidu. You (BJP) should satisfy these two atrupta aatma. The way portfolios have been allocated, it seems all souls are dissatisfied, especially the NDA allies," Raut said.

According to the report, in the most current cabinet allocation, Nitish Kumar's Janata Dal-United's Lalan Singh earned the Panchayati Raj, Fisheries, Animal Husbandry, and Dairy Ministries. K Rammoan Naidu of the TDP has been appointed minister of civil aviation. Raut stated that JD(S) leader H D Kumaraswamy was given the "most rejected" portfolio, which included Heavy Industries and Steel.

Raut criticised the BJP of hoarding critical portfolios for themselves and pointed out the absence of a Muslim minister in Modi's cabinet, arguing it violated the Constitution. He claimed that Modi's actions during the elections were intended to create differences between Hindus and Muslims because he believed Muslims did not vote for the BJP, the report added.

"Modi had made it clear during the polls. They want to place a wedge between Hindus and Muslims in the country.

He thinks Muslims have not voted for the BJP, which is why they are not in the cabinet," Raut alleged.

Raut also criticised the lack of "life" in groups such as the Eknath Shinde-led Shiv Sena, the Ajit Pawar-led NCP, and Raj Thackeray's Maharashtra Navnirman Sena, claiming that these parties were founded out of fear and to weaken the Shiv Sena (UBT) and NCP (Sharad Pawar), it further stated.

In attack on Congress, Sharad Pawar camp, BJP's praise for Uddhav Thackeray

Team Absolute | Mumbai

BJP leader Chandrakant Patil on Tuesday said though Uddhav Thackeray took a great deal of efforts during the Lok Sabha elections campaign, the allies Congress and NCP (SP) seem to have benefited more than his own party.

Thackeray was not keeping well but he still campaigned hard, said Patil, a senior Maharashtra minister, at an event here. "Uddhav Thackeray's health was not in good condition, still he took a lot of efforts. I was worried about his health. However, the outcome indicates that NCP (SP) and Congress benefitted more from his efforts than his own party.

"When Thackeray was with BJP, his party had won 18 Lok Sabha seats.

With Congress and NCP (SP), he ended up winning nine seats. He needs to introspect," Patil further said.

Thackeray's Shiv Sena (UBT) contested 21 out of 48 Lok Sabha seats in the state but won only nine.

Congress, on the other hand, contested 17 and won 13. Congress leader and rebel candidate in Sangli Lok Sabha constituency also won and later extended support to the party. The NCP (Sharadchandra Pawar) contested 10 seats and won eight.

Patil further taunted Thackeray saying, "Thackeray also earned a tag of winning due to the votes of minorities. An MNS leader has also put it succinctly, saying the colour of Uddhav's victory is not saffron but green."

Supriya Sule takes dig at Pune MP after he gets cabinet berth, he hits back

Team Absolute | Pune

Pune MP and Union Minister Murlidhar Mohol on Tuesday hit back at NCP (SP) leader Supriya Sule for her remarks that his position in Prime Minister Narendra Modi's cabinet should benefit Puneekars rather than contractors.

Former corporator and Pune mayor Mohol has been appointed as minister of state for civil aviation and cooperation in the Modi government.

Speaking to reporters on Monday, Baramati MP Sule congratulated Mohol for getting the cabinet berth.

"We are happy that Pune got a ministerial berth, but its use should benefit Puneekars rather than contractors," she said.

In a post on the micro-blogging site, 'X', Mohol said, "Tai (Sule), I can understand your displeasure. For a party worker from an ordinary household like me to get a chance to become a minister is not easy to digest for someone like you who was born with a golden spoon."

The minister further said as far as contractors are concerned, the entire Maharashtra knows who nurtured them, who made them big and who are partners of big contractors from Pune and Maharashtra.

Don't get depressed due to LS drubbing, strive for Assembly polls success, Ajit Pawar tells NCP workers

Team Absolute | Mumbai

In wake of the dismal performance in the Lok Sabha elections, Nationalist Congress Party President Ajit Pawar on Monday asked his party workers not to get depressed but to strive with full strength for success in the Maharashtra Assembly elections slated for September-October this year.

In his address at the function organised on the occasion of the party's 25th anniversary, he declared that even though the NCP is a key member of the NDA, it will not compromise or leave its "Shiv Phule Shahu and Ambedkar ideology" and has told this to the leaders of MahaYuti and NDA.

Pawar also scoffed at the rumours that some party legislators would switch sides to NCP-SP led by his uncle Sharad Pawar.

He also targeted the opposition for setting the narrative that the Constitution will be changed if the BJP returns to power. "Even though it was repeatedly clarified by Prime Minister Narendra Modi and other NDA leaders, including us, that no one can change the constitution of Babasaheb Ambedkar, the opponents struck to its narrative which impacted poll prospects of MahaYuti in the state," he maintained. The NCP chief, however, added that this narrative won't work in the Assembly elections as his party would increase the outreach with the Dalits, Muslims, tribals and OBCs in the run-up to the polls by taking up a slew of initiatives - some implemented and others lined up during upcoming budget.

On the party's drubbing where NCP won only one of the four seats it fought, Pawar said the entire responsibility was his. He hailed the work done by the party leaders and workers for the party candidates, and also the MahaYuti nominees. "One need not get depressed due to defeat while becoming arrogant after the victory," he told the gathering. On the party refusing to accept the post of a Minister of State (Independent Charge) in Prime Minister Narendra Modi's third government, Pawar said that it was a conscious decision taken unanimously as the party had recommended the name of its Working President Praful Patel, who had been a Cabinet Minister earlier. "Despite this, some people spread misinformation about interrelated differences. The situation was totally different. We have decided to remain with the NDA and wait for expansion as the party will soon get two Rajya Sabha seats," he said. In his speech, Pawar, who broke ranks with his uncle and NCP founder Sharad Pawar in July last year, became emotional and recalled the latter's contribution to the party's formation in June 1999. "I express my gratitude, even if I am now a part of MahaYuti," he said. "Everyone worked shoulder to shoulder and brought this party forward. Some leaders are not among us. Sharad Pawar has also done a great job in establishing the party. I express my gratitude to him," he added. Meanwhile, senior leader Chhagan Bhujbal reiterated that the MahaYuti partners should quickly settle the seat-sharing arrangement for the Assembly elections. "The BJP is a big brother, it is accepted. But the NCP should get as many seats as the Shiv Sena gets," he noted, adding that in the recent party meeting, he had said that the NCP should get 80 to 90 seats.

Rahul Gandhi irrelevant in MP

Madhya Pradesh is perhaps the only state where the Congress leader Rahul Gandhi-led two yatras, Bharat Jodo Yatra and Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra, passed through. Bharat Jodo Yatra entered Madhya Pradesh in November 2022, just before Assembly elections. The Bharat Jodo Nyay Yatra entered on March 2024 in the state. Interestingly, in the context of the Lok Sabha elections, Nyay Yatra's impact in Madhya Pradesh was even worse than Bharat Jodo Yatra, leading to Congress' humiliating defeat in the state. The Congress had high expectations that Rahul's yatra would help them to win respectable Lok Sabha seats. The party has relatively performed well in this particular region (Morena, Gwalior, Guna, Rajgarh, Dewas, Ujjain, Dhar, and Ratlam) in the state assembly elections in November last year. But, Congress lost all these seats, including Rajgarh where heavyweight leader and two-time Chief Minister Digvijaya Singh contested. The party even lost Chhindwara seat, the strongest bastion in the state. The Congress has been out of power in Madhya Pradesh since 2003 (except from December 2018 to March 2020). The party's ground in the context of the Lok Sabha elections has also continued to decrease since 2014. By 2024, it lost all 29 Lok Sabha seats, including Chhindwara, which the party retained since 1980. This humiliating defeat has once again triggered infighting in Madhya Pradesh Congress as some party leaders have raised questions on the party's current state leadership - Jitu Patwari, who has replaced former Chief Minister Kamal Nath as state unit head after the loss in the assembly election.

The Three Big Takeaways From Modi 3.0

Amitabh Tiwari

Prime Minister Narendra Modi took oath for a third term yesterday along with 71 ministers of the National Democratic Alliance (NDA) government. He is the first non-Congress Prime Minister - as also only the second Prime Minister after Jawaharlal Nehru - to be elected for a third term in a row.

The new government will include 30 Cabinet ministers, five Ministers of State with Independent Charge, and 36 Ministers of State. Ministers from 11 allies and 24 states have found a place in the Modi 3.0 Cabinet - 65% of whose members come from OBC, SC, ST and minority communities.

The NDA altogether won 293 seats in this election, of which 240 were the Bharatiya Janata Party's (BJP). The party fell 32 seats short of a majority. The INDIA bloc was not far behind with 232 seats. The result was quite different from what the exit polls predicted: 365 seats for the NDA (NDTV's poll of polls). Against the BJP's campaign call of 'Mission 400', the final verdict was a big setback.

On the other hand, in a revival of sorts, the Congress almost doubled its tally from 52 in 2019 to 99 in 2024. Regional parties have emerged as kingmakers for the NDA, with the Telugu Desam Party (TDP) and the Janata Dal (United) (JD-U) winning 16 and 12 seats, respectively. The Trinamool Congress and the Samajwadi Party (SP) have also performed well, winning 29 and 37 seats, respectively.

There are three key messages embedded in the 2024 mandate: balance of power, stability and continuity.

India has returned to the coalition era of 1989-2014 after a 10-year Modi regime, in which the BJP had ruled with a simple majority of its own. Though the party didn't require allies in the last 10 years, the NDA government did make space for ministerial positions with allies. However, the control of power rested with the BJP primarily.

The voter seems to have voted for 'balance' in this election as well as against the chorus of 'Abki baar 400 paar'. Currently, 20 states have NDA governments while 10 are led by opposition parties. The verdict spotlights the strength of India's federal structure. It's a vote for regional parties and it enables them to claim their due share in the Central pie. The government requires the coming together of various institutions and actors; Modi himself had defined this early in his first term as 'cooperative federalism'.

While 60 ministers are from the BJP, 11 are from alliance partners. Almost all allies - ranging from the Telugu Desam Party (TDP), the Janata Dal (United) (JD-U), the Lok Janshakti Party (LJP), the Apna Dal, the Rashtriya Lok Dal (RLD), the All Jharkhand Students Union (AJSU), the Hindustani Awam Morcha (HAM), the Janata Dal (Secular) (JD-S), the Republican Party of India (Athawale) (RPI-A), the Shiv Sena - have found representation.

Three factors provide stability to Modi 3.0: This is a pre-poll alliance, more stable than any post-poll government; The BJP is the dominant partner, accounting for about 80% of the seats of the alliance; The BJP continues to be the central pole of Indian politics. Its tally is 2.4 times the Congress; it's also more than the combined tally of the INDIA bloc True, both Atal Bihari Vajpayee with 182 MPs and Manmohan Singh with 145 MPs in UPA 1 and 206 in UPA 2, did complete full terms. But those were not without hiccups. Modi 3.0 government can instead be compared to the 1991 P.V. Narasimha Rao government, when Congress had a similar number of MPs at 244. The era of economic liberalisation was ushered in during that period from 1991-96. Former chief ministers, including Shivraj Singh Chouhan, H.D. Kumaraswamy, Jitan Ram Manjhi, Manohar Lal Khattar and Sarbananda Sonowal are part of the Cabinet, and their presence lends stability to the government given the years of administrative experience under their belt. The voters have voted for continuity of the BJP-led NDA government, albeit with a reduced majority. The mandate rewards the BJP and Modi for the development carried out during the last 10 years, but also places checks and balances.

Modi at the helm signals continuity of his party's policies and programmes, in consultation with allies. His foreign policy, which has made India a vishwabandhu (universal ally) on the global stage, is likely to remain in place. The BJP's economic policy of focusing on growth with welfare receives an impetus with its two key allies, Chandrababu Naidu and Nitish Kumar, also championing these aspects.

At least 16 senior members of the previous cabinets have been sworn in, which lends another layer of continuity to the government. They include Amit Shah, Rajnath Singh, S. Jaishankar, Nirmala Seetharaman, Piyush Goyal, Manuskh Mandaviya, Jyotiraditya Scindia and J.P. Nadda, to name a few. The continuity has also re-energised the market, which saw a big jump that erased the losses recorded on June 4.

PM Modi has emphasised that he would strive to ensure "sarvamat", that is, consensus, in all decisions taken by his next government. This is the key to honouring the mandate of balance, stability and continuity.

US continues push for Gaza ceasefire, peace deal in Israel visit

Tel Aviv | Agencies US Secretary of State Antony Blinken met Israeli President Isaac Herzog on Tuesday as part of ongoing efforts by the US, Qatar and Egypt to negotiate a ceasefire between Israel and Hamas.

The talks have stalled for months. Blinken's trip in the Middle East aims to garner support for the latest proposal for a ceasefire in three phases.

On Monday in New York, the UN Security Council gave its backing to the multi-stage plan presented by US President Joe Biden.

According to the US, only the Palestinian Islamist Hamas movement has not yet agreed to the plan. However, the government of Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has not given clear and public approval to the plan either. Blinken arrived in Egypt on Monday for the first leg of the tour and later held talks with Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu in Jerusalem.

He told Netanyahu that "the United States and other world leaders will stand behind the comprehensive proposal outlined by President Biden," according to a statement issued by the US State Department.

Blinken "updated the prime minister on ongoing diplomatic efforts to plan for the post-conflict period," the statement said.

On Tuesday, Blinken also met opposition leader Yair Lapid and is due to hold talks with Israeli lawmaker Benny Gantz, who just quit the Israeli emergency government formed following the October 7 attacks.

Blinken's Middle East tour is expected to last until Wednesday and also includes a stop in Qatar.

Malawi's Vice President confirmed dead in plane crash

Lilongwe | Agencies Malawi's Vice President Saulos Chilima, along with nine other individuals who were on board a military aircraft, have been confirmed dead after the plane went missing on Monday morning, President Lazarus Chakwera announced on Tuesday.

The wreck of a plane carrying the Vice President has been found with no survivors, President Chakwera said.

Chilima, 51, was travelling to a funeral of the country's former Attorney General and Minister of Justice Ralph Kasambara, who was found dead in a room at a lodge in Lilongwe on Friday.

The plane failed to land at its intended destination at Mzuzu Airport in northern Malawi due to adverse weather conditions, and the pilot was advised to return to Kamuzu International Airport in Lilongwe before the aircraft went off the radar around 10 a.m. local time (0800 GMT) on Monday. Soldiers had been searching Chikangawa Forest overnight and into the morning in an effort to find the plane.

In a news briefing on Tuesday, President Chakwera said the Malawi Defence Force commander informed him that the search and rescue operation has been completed and the plane was found. Chakwera said he was "deeply saddened and sorry" to inform Malawians of the terrible tragedy, the BBC reported.

He said the rescue team found the aircraft completely destroyed.

Chakwera paid tribute to Chilima, describing him as "a good man", "devoted father" and "formidable VP".

"I consider it one of the great honours of my life to have had him as a deputy and as a counsellor," he was quoted as saying by the BBC.

Nepalese Army retrieves four bodies, tonnes of rubbish from Mount Everest

Kathmandu | Agencies Nepalese soldiers have retrieved four bodies and a skeleton from Mount Everest and the neighbouring peaks of Lhotse and Nuptse during a cleaning operation.

According to the army, the recruiter also collected 11 tonnes of rubbish since April. At 8,849 metres, Mount Everest is the highest mountain in the world and has also gained the sad notoriety of being the world's highest rubbish dump.

Tonnes of broken tents and clothing, food packaging, cookers, empty water bottles, beer cans and oxygen bottles lie there, left behind by thousands of adventurers.

There is also a lot of human waste - and dozens of corpses, some of which mountaineers even use as trail markers.

When people die on the mountain, they are often left behind. This is because recovering a frozen corpse is difficult and expensive - it costs between $32,000-64,500, according to US mountaineer and blogger Alan Arnette.

In most cases, a team of six to 10 experienced Sherpas with oxygen cylinders is deployed, and a helicopter flies the body off the mountain.

German Chancellor urges more air defence for Ukraine at Berlin conference

Berlin | Agencies At an international reconstruction conference for Ukraine, German Chancellor Olaf Scholz has called for a further strengthening of the country's air defence against Russian attacks.

He called on allies to support a German initiative to bolster Ukraine's air defence "with everything possible."

"Because the best reconstruction is the one that doesn't have to happen in the first place," Scholz said at the start of the conference, which is being held in the German capital of Berlin. Ukraine President Volodymyr Zelensky is also attending the conference. Scholz held out the prospect of far-reaching and long-term commitments for reconstruction in the country, which has been severely scarred by more than two years of costly all-out war and years of simmering conflict before that.

Scholz said he will push for those kinds of commitments at an upcoming summit of the G7 group of wealthy democratic countries, which begins in Italy on Thursday. The chancellor pointed out that the World Bank estimates that $500 billion in reconstruction aid will be needed over the next decade.

He also called on private companies to participate in investments: "In view of the scale we are talking about here, private capital must be added." Hundreds of German companies continue to do active business in Ukraine, with automotive firms alone employing about 35,000 people in Ukraine, Scholz emphasised.

Despite the war, there was no reduction in German investment in Ukraine, Scholz said, and the volume of trade had significantly increased since Russia launched its full-scale invasion in February 2022.

"All of this shows that the business sector understands Ukraine's potential," Scholz said.

Four Israeli soldiers killed in Rafah building explosion

Tel Aviv | Agencies Four Israeli soldiers have been killed in an explosion at a building in Rafah in the south of the Gaza Strip, according to the Israeli military.

The army announced the deaths of the four men, aged between 19 and 24, on Tuesday.

According to Israeli media reports, the soldiers had thrown an explosive device into a suspicious three-storey building in Rafah to detonate possible booby traps. However, an explosion only occurred when the troops had already entered the building. The building collapsed and buried several soldiers underneath it. Seven soldiers were also injured, some of them seriously.

The army later found a tunnel entrance in the building and said they believed that a high-ranking member of the Islamist Palestinian organisation Hamas had been living there.

During the operation in the coastal strip, Israeli soldiers went from house to house looking for weapons, among other things. According to the military, many buildings have been rigged with explosives. According to the army, the incident on Tuesday means that 650 soldiers have been killed and more than 3,700 others injured on the Israeli side since October 7.

According to the Palestinian health authority, more than 37,100 Palestinians have been killed in the ensuing war.

BJP'S 'OPERATION CHHINDWARA' STARTED AFTER MP ASSEMBLY POLL RESULTS

Praveen Dwivedi | Bhopal

BJP's operation to wrest Chhindwara, the last stronghold of Congress in Madhya Pradesh, had begun six months ago after the grand old party suffered an embarrassing defeat under the leadership of former Chief Minister Kamal Nath.

Kamal Nath, who had brought the Congress back into power (2018) in Madhya Pradesh six months after he was sent from Delhi. He has full control over the state party unit, however, a loss in the Assembly polls weakened his position in the party.

IANS spoke to several people, including from Chhindwara, and a few of them who worked in Kamal Nath's team during the Assembly (2018, 2023) and Lok Sabha election concluded recently, and they were of the view that after the Assembly loss, he (Kamal Nath) was left alone and helpless.

However, the post-Lok Sabha results drama from Bhopal to New Delhi -- rumours about his possible shifting to the BJP, dented his credibility especially when the political circles were abuzz that Rahul Gandhi was upset with Kamal Nath and the latter did not have much say in the party like in the past. This particular period came as a crucial moment for the BJP to corner Kamal Nath, who till then already had been replaced with Jitu Patwari as the state unit chief.

Returning to power with 163 of the 230 Assembly seats and finding Kamal Nath struggling to get a place in his party, the BJP started tightening its grip on his stronghold Chhindwara.

"BJP destroyed Kamal Nath's base in Chhindwara ruthlessly. They first snatched ground-level workers and then trusted allies. In most of the Assembly constituencies, the entire team, which was working for Kamal Nath was snatched by the BJP. We could not find a replacement for the team broken by BJP," said a person associated with Kamal Nath's team on condition of anonymity.

He also claimed that the disloyalty of top Congress leaders did not have much effect on the ground as their credibility was questioned after they joined the BJP, but the shifting of ground-level Congress workers in chunk dented a lot.

Former MLA Deepak Saxena, a loyalist of Kamal Nath, who had even resigned as MLA for Nath in 2019 from the Chhindwara Parliamentary constituency, had shifted to the BJP ahead of the recently concluded Lok Sabha election, accusing Nakul Nath of disrespecting senior allies of his father Kamal Nath.

Saxena then said that his loyalty would remain with Kamal Nath, but he would not support his son Nakul Nath, who does not know even how to behave with senior party leaders.

Chhindwara Mayor, Vikram Ahakey, for whom Kamal Nath had campaigned during the Municipal elections in 2022, had also dissociated with him in the middle of the campaign for the recently concluded Lok Sabha elections.

However, on polling day (April 19), Ahakey in a viral video was heard appealing to people to support Kamal Nath. Former journalist Piyush Bable, who is in charge of public relations in Kamal Nath's office, claimed the Nath family was left alone to fight the election.

"He (Kamal Nath) did not get any support from the state or Central leadership of Congress. But, Kamal Nath kept pushing, saying that he had full faith in the people of Chhindwara, which was the only hope for all of us."

Asked why Kamal Nath did not come out to campaign for other Congress candidates even when the polling in Chhindwara was conducted in the first phase on April 19, Bable said, "No one has approached him."

Responding to the buzz that losing Chhindwara to the BJP may be the end of Kamal Nath's politics, Bable added, "The person who has been involved in politics for more than 50 years, and has seen many ups and downs, one loss is not going to affect him." Kamal Nath had represented the Chhindwara Lok Sabha seat nine times, while his wife Alka Nath and son Nakul Nath each once.

Nakul was the only Congress MP from Madhya Pradesh in the previous term of the Lok Sabha, however, he lost in 2024 to BJP's Vivek Banti Sahu.

"I was a host at The View, she was not nice," Meghan said about Jennifer. "You don't always have to be so nice, but it was surprising that people like Kim Kardashian couldn't be more delightful. While describing Jennifer's apparent team surrounding her at the time, Meghan added, "She had the biggest entourage I've ever seen. More than Kim Kardashian and the president. I just don't really understand why it was needed."

However, Meghan's podcast guest, Carlos King, came to Jennifer's defense by recalling how "nice" she was to him in the past and added that she "didn't have a big entourage" around him.

"I went to see J. Lo in Vegas and — top 5 shows I've ever been to in my life ... She performed and danced for 90 minutes straight — no break," he recalled, before adding, "She's a hard worker, and I was shocked that people weren't buying the tickets."

I cried, and it's literally because I actually have friendship now again."

T20 World Cup: 'Not a good call...', Hridoy criticises umpiring in Bangladesh's loss to SA

New York | Agencies

Bangladesh's batter Towhid Hridoy criticised the umpiring standards during their 4-run loss to South Africa, citing a controversial call in the 17th over of their run chase at the Nassau County International Cricket Stadium on Monday.

In the 17th over of Bangladesh's run chase, a ball from Otneil Baartman hit Mahmudullah's pad and went for four. South Africa appealed for LBW which was initially upheld but overturned on review.

Since the on-field umpire declared it out, the ball was deemed dead. The call denied Bangladesh the four runs and ultimately they lost the game by the same margin.

"To be honest that was not a good call for us in such a tight match. In my point of view, the umpire gave that out but it was pretty hard on us. Those four runs could have changed the match scenario," Hridoy told reporters following the game.

"The laws are not in my hands. In that time those four runs were really important. Umpires can make a call and they are human too and can make mistakes. They also didn't give wides which were wides on a few occasions. Five balls after the controversial call, Hridoy who scored 37 off 34, was given out LBW on a delivery from Kagiso Rabada, despite replays showing the ball was only clipping the leg stump.

The 23-year-old batter admitted that the umpiring standards could have been better in such a close game, especially when they were chasing a small target.

"In this kind of a venue where low-scoring matches are taking place, one or two runs are a big thing. I think those four runs or two wides are close calls and I was given out on umpire's call and there are room for improvements,"

"Actually we were very much confident with that score and from that position I should have finished the match. It is difficult for new batter to go and adjust to the conditions. In that position I should have finished the match," he added.

South Africa successfully defended the lowest total of 113/6 in the ICC Men's T20 World Cup history to all but seal their qualification for the Super 8 stage with a nail-biting win over Bangladesh.

'Not many players in world as lethal as Ronaldo', opines Sunil Chhetri

New Delhi | Agencies

The 2024 Euros are just around the corner and just like it has been for the past two decades, the spotlight will fall on Cristiano Ronaldo who has often been hailed as Portugal's greatest player ever.

The 39-year-old has not scored an international goal since November, 2023 and has also been benched a few times for young striker Goncalo Ramos.

Ahead of the tournament, India's all-time top scorer Sunil Chhetri talked about Ronaldo's role and importance in the team in an exclusive conversation with IANS.

"I hope Ronaldo starts as many games as possible. I would love to see him. I think if there's one team that can keep him as a number nine and not expect too much defensive work, I don't mean that he should not or that he does not but I'm saying can expect less is Portugal," Chhetri told IANS.

"It is a star-studded team they're very good at keeping the ball, more than often they're dominating. They are dominant when it comes to keeping the ball more than often. They have some top players so they can afford to have Ronaldo on the box," he added.

Ronaldo is only one of three players in the world to have scored more international goals than Chhetri. He has been the Portugal team's pillar and led them to the 2016 Euro title.

"He might not be doing as many quick turnarounds and quick defensive work, but when you get half a chance, there probably aren't many players in the world as lethal as him. So why not? So I think as a fan, somebody who has learned so much from him the last 20 years, I hope we get to see more of him on the pitch as far as playing 11 is concerned.

"I'm pretty sure the coach is going to pick the best one, but having Ronaldo always gives you an edge because half a chance is a goal when it comes to him," the former Indian skipper said.

Chhetri is the expert panellist on Sony Sports Network's studio show Football Extra for UEFA Euro 2024.

Watch UEFA Euro 2024 from June 15, 12:30 AM IST onwards, live on Sony Sports Ten 2 SD & HD, Sony Sports Ten 3 SD & HD (Hindi), Sony Sports Ten 4 SD & HD (Tamil / Telugu), Sony Sports Ten 5 SD & HD (Malayalam / Bengali).

Rihanna flaunts neck-pieces by Sabyasachi, Manish Malhotra

Team Absolute | Mumbai

It was a moment to highlight for Indian designers Sabyasachi Mukherjee and Manish Malhotra as singer-songwriter Rihanna wore neck-pieces designed by both of them at a fashion event for her brand Fenty Hair in Los Angeles.

However, a whiff of controversy filled the air as Manish concealed Sabyasachi's design by cropping out his long necklace from the picture as he used only his choker necklace in the image, giving the impression that Rihanna exclusively wore his design.

However, Sabyasachi's brand used the entire picture of Rihanna showing both his and Manish's designs. Many Netizens slammed Manish for unfairly hogging the entire credit.

The 'Love The Way You Lie' hitmaker donned an oversized zipper jacket, skirt, and camisole in the shade of ruby. She accessorised her look with a three-drop rubellite necklace from Sabyasachi and a choker necklace by Manish Malhotra.

While Sabyasachi's necklace was made with tourmaline crystals with brilliant cut diamonds, Manish's design was crafted in 18K gold and custom-cut rubies encrusted in diamonds.

Actor Vikrant Massey, who is receiving a lot of praise for his work in the streaming film 'Blackout', has shared that he drove through all night for the sequences in the film. The actor also shared that the challenges compounded because of the rains as it became quite tough to shoot and drive with all the rigs attached to the car amidst the rain. 'Blackout' features many adrenaline-boosting car chase sequences and all of them are set during the nighttime. Sharing insights on the challenges faced during the shoot, Vikrant said: "We had a lot of fun while shooting, but it was also a daunting task as we had to shoot all through the night. It was challenging as there was heavy rainfall and your entire car was rigged. It is difficult to shoot in heavy rain and during the night." 'Blackout' is a comedy-thriller that delves deep into human nature and explores the consequences of one's actions amidst adversity. Vikrant also shared that sometimes the car wiper wouldn't work. Every time before entering the car, he had to make a 360-degree check to ensure each camera was properly mounted and every piece of equipment was in place. "The main stress was to protect the equipment. It wasn't challenging just for the actors but also for the crew because the whole night you're shooting which is both mentally and physically exhausting and changes your body cycle. Road blocking, shooting action sequences, and crashing the cars was difficult," the actor said.
