ABVP DEMANDS CBI PROBE INTO PAPER LEAKS

New Delhi: The Akhil Bharatiya Vidyarthi Parishad (ABVP), the student wing of the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS), has come down heavily on the National Testing Agency (NTA) over the irregularities and lapses in conducting the National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test (NEET) and the National Eligibility Test (NET), demanding a CBI probe into its 'entire mechanism'.
ABVP National General Secretary Yagywalkya Shukla said the credibility of NTA has come under lens because of the recent episodes, adding that it was the legitimate right of the students to raise a hue and cry and lodge protest over its failures. "The UGC-NET was cancelled after a question paper leak. This raises many questions about NTA's preparedness. Mismanagement in UGC NET has exposed the shortcomings of the examination body... It shows how ill-prepared it was in conducting the competitive exams," Shukla said. He also demanded a CBI probe into the entire row and urged the government to take stringent action against the 'heinous' crime of paper leaks.

CONGRESS ON STREET TO PROTEST; GETS SUPPORT

Bhopal: The Congress here staged a protest on Friday over alleged discrepancies in NEET and NET examinations and demanded justice for affected students. The protest organised at the city's one of the busiest intersections, the Roshanpura Chowk, was led by state unit chief Jitu Patwari and former Chief Minister Digvijaya Singh. The Maharashtra Congress on Friday launched a state-wide 'chikkhal phenko' (mudslinging) agitation to protest against the 'anti-people' policies of the state and Central governments.

State Congress President Nana Patole said the campaign aims to highlight the high inflation, growing unemployment, falling law and order, the recent NEET paper leaks, and other failures of the MahaYuti and the Bharatiya Janata Party-led NDA governments. Uttar Pradesh Congress workers staged a protest here on Friday, demanding the cancellation of the National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test (NEET). "The government has failed to hold a prestigious exam like the NEET in a fair manner. They have now cancelled the (UGC-) NET exam too," state Congress chief Ajay Rai told reporters.
"We want the government to punish those responsible for it and safeguard the future of our children," he said. Congress workers held placards and raised slogans demanding the cancellation of the NEET. As the protesters tried to move from the Congress headquarters to Mall Avenue Crossing here, they were stopped by police and some were even detained. In Bihar, the demonstration, led by Legislative Council member Madan Mohan Jha, saw party members and supporters taking to the streets of Patna, voicing their concerns over paper leaks and corruption in several competitive exams. Protesters raised slogans against the BJP government, calling for justice for affected students and stringent punishment for those involved in the malpractices. Addressing the reporters, Mohan Jha alleged that the BJP was "playing with the future of the country."

The Supreme Court on Friday issued notice to the National Testing Agency (NTA) and others on a plea seeking cancellation of the NEET-UG 2024 counselling cum seat allotment process which is likely to commence from July 6.

However, a vacation bench presided over by Justice Vikram Nath turned down the request to defer the commencement of the counselling for two days, i.e., till July 8, when the apex court is scheduled to hear the batch of pleas, including the petitions seeking cancellation of NEET-UG exam. The Bench, also comprising S.V.N. Bhatti, observed that the first phase of counselling will extend for a week and halting the seat allotment process may result in irreparable loss of time. After hearing the submission, the apex court ordered, "Issue notice. Tag (with the pending batch of petitions). In the meantime, learned counsel appearing for respondents

Monsoon picks up momentum, Kharif sowing expected to speed up

Team Absolute | New Delhi

The India Meteorological Department (IMD) on Friday said that the southwest monsoon has picked up momentum as it has advanced into some more parts of Maharashtra, remaining parts of Vidarbha, and some parts of Madhya Pradesh.

The IMD said that monsoon has also moved into more areas of Chhattisgarh and Odisha, some parts of Gangetic West Bengal, remaining parts of sub-Himalayan West Bengal and some parts of Jharkhand.

"Conditions are favourable for further advance of the southwest monsoon into some more parts of Gujarat, remaining parts of Maharashtra, some more parts of Madhya Pradesh, Odisha, West Bengal, Jharkhand, Bihar and some parts of Uttar Pradesh during the next 3-4 days," the IMD said.

This represents good news for the economy as the Kharif sowing which had slowed with the stalling of the monsoon will now pick up speed.

The onset of the monsoon over Kerala this year was two days ahead of the usual date and over northeast, six days in advance.

Thereafter, the northward progress of monsoon was gradual, and it covered Kerala, Karnataka, Rayalaseema, Goa & Telangana; most parts of southern Maharashtra and some parts of Chhattisgarh, Odisha; most parts of sub-Himalayan West Bengal, and Sikkim, and the entire northeastern states by June 12. However, the monsoon has not progressed after that and the 'Northern Limit' of monsoon on June 18 passed through Navsari, Jalgaon, Amravati, Chandrapur, Bijapur, Sukma, Malkangiri, and Vizianagaram.

The monsoon plays a key role in the Indian economy as over 50 per cent of the country's farmland depend on rain. The monsoon rain is also crucial for recharging the country's reservoirs and aquifers from which the water can be used later in the year to irrigate crops.

Team Absolute | New Delhi

The Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) said on Friday that 98 Indians died due to natural causes and accidents during this year's Haj pilgrimage in Saudi Arabia.

Last weekend, over 175,000 pilgrims from India converged on sacred Mount Arafat outside Mecca to offer their prayers during the pilgrimage.

Jaiswal during a weekly media briefing in New Delhi on Friday.

"So far, we have lost 98 of our citizens. These deaths have happened due to illness, natural causes, chronic illness and old age. On the day of Arafat, six Indians died and four Indians have died on account of accidents. Last year, 187 Indians died during Haj," he added.

It is believed that several hundred people from various countries have died due to the intense heat during this year's pilgrimage.

MMRDA clarifies after Cong leader Nana Patole claims cracks on Atal Setu

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Hours after Maharashtra Congress President Nana Patole claimed that cracks have appeared on the swank new Mumbai Trans Harbour Link (MTHL), also known as Atal Setu, the Mumbai Metropolitan Region Development Authority (MMRDA) clarified on Friday that the cracks are not on the actual bridge, but on the approach road from the Navi Mumbai side.

The cracks -- detected at three locations on Ramp 5 (towards Mumbai) -- are minor and located along the road surface near the edges, MMRDA said. Scoffing rumours on social media that the cracks were on the main bridge itself, the MMRDA's operation and maintenance team inspected the site on Thursday and discovered the problem on the Ulve side in Navi Mumbai, across Thane Creek. The 21.8 km long six-lane bridge has a 16.5 km sea link connecting South Mumbai and Navi Mumbai.

The MMRDA said that the Package 4 contractor (Strabag Infrastructure & Safety Solutions GmbH and Strabag AG) has already initiated the repair works which shall be completed within 24 hours without causing any disruption to the traffic movement.

"It is important to note that these cracks are not due to any structural defects. They are minor longitudinal cracks in the asphalt pavement, which can be effectively repaired without impacting the life or performance of the pavement," the MMRDA said.

DELHI HC STAYS KEJRIWAL'S BAIL RELEASE; RESERVES ORDER

Team Absolute | New Delhi

In a turn of events, the Delhi High Court on Friday stayed the release of Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) leader Arvind Kejriwal on bail.

The Delhi High Court on Friday reserved its order on the Enforcement Directorate's plea seeking a stay on the release of Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal on bail.

A Delhi court on Thursday granted bail to the Chief Minister in connection with a money laundering case related to the now-scrapped excise policy, but the high court has stayed the order till it pronounces its final order on ED's plea, which also means that the CM will remain in judicial custody.

The high court said that it would pass its order in two to three days. On Friday, the ED moved High Court challenging the lower court's bail order. The plea was urgently mentioned before a vacation bench comprising Justices Sudhir Kumar Jain and Ravinder Duda by Additional Solicitor General, S.V. Raju, on behalf of the ED.

"I am moving for an urgent stay. The order was pronounced yesterday at 8 p.m. The order is not uploaded. We were not given a clear opportunity to oppose bail," he argued.

ASG Raju further said that his prayer for a stay on the bail order wasn't even considered. "I am demanding that the order be stayed and the matter be heard as soon as possible. We were denied the full opportunity to argue the case. I am making allegations with full seriousness," he stated.

Senior advocate Abhishek Manu Singhvi, representing CM Kejriwal, opposed the stay request, citing legal precedents. "There are ten Supreme Court judgments that cancellation of bail is radically different from grant of bail," he contended.

After hearing arguments from both sides, the High Court directed that the bail order should not be enforced until the matter is heard in full. "The bail order will not be given effect. We have not passed the final order. You may argue as much as you can," the Bench stated, effectively halting CM Kejriwal's release.

Government puts up 67 coal mines for auction across 8 states

Hyderabad | Agencies

The Ministry of Coal on Friday put up 67 coal mines for auction across eight states, including Bihar, Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand, Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Odisha, West Bengal and Telangana.

Union Minister of Coal and Mines, G. Kishan Reddy, launched the 10th tranche of commercial coal mine auctions in Hyderabad. The tranche includes mines that are both fully explored and partially explored and three coking coal mines.

under protected areas, wildlife sanctuaries, critical habitats, having forest cover greater than 40 per cent, or heavily built-up areas have been excluded.

The block boundaries of some of the coal mines where there was presence of dense habitation, high green cover, or critical infrastructure have been revised to improve the attractiveness of the coal mines.

CENTRE ASSURES STATES OF 100 PER CENT PROCUREMENT OF TUR, URAD AND MASUR AT MSP

Team Absolute | New Delhi

Union Minister of Agriculture Shivraj Singh Chouhan on Friday assured the states that the Centre is committed to procure 100 per cent of Tur, Urad and Masur produced by farmers at the Minimum Support Prices (MSP) to ensure crop diversification and achieve self-sufficiency in the production of pulses.

Chairing a virtual meeting with agriculture ministers of various states at Krishi Bhawan here, Shivraj Singh Chouhan said the e-Samridhi portal has been launched through National Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Federation of India Ltd. (NAFED) and National Cooperative Consumers' Federation of India Limited (NCCF) for registration of farmers and the government is committed to procure these pulses at MSP from farmers registered on the portal.

He urged the state governments to encourage more and more farmers to register on this portal so that they can avail the facility of assured procurement. The minister also informed them about the new Model Pulses Village scheme which is being rolled out from the current Kharif season.

He requested the state governments to utilise the fallow lands which are available for pulses after the rice crop is harvested.

Shivraj Singh Chouhan also asked the state governments to take up inter-cropping of Tur in a vigorous manner.

He mentioned that the state governments should share their best practices with each other and inter-state visits should be undertaken for this. The Minister mentioned that the elected representatives such as MPs and MLAs should be actively involved in the Krishi Vigyan Kendras (KVKs).

The Union Minister emphasised the need for crop diversification towards cash crops and the need to restore the fertility of the soil.

He stressed the requirement for timely and quality inputs to farmers, such as good quality seeds for increasing productivity, and assured maximum support regarding this.

The meeting was called as the government wants to prioritise the increase in production of pulses in the country with a view to reducing imports.

He informed the state ministers that the government of India has opened 150 Pulse Seed Hubs and Cluster Front Line Demonstrations (CFLDs) are being given by the ICAR for making seeds available in low productivity districts. He mentioned the need to develop climate-resilient varieties and short-duration varieties so that the effects of climate change could be countered. The Union Minister requested the state governments to strengthen their seed delivery systems by strengthening the State Seed Corporations.

Agriculture Ministers of the major pulses producing states, namely Madhya Pradesh, Maharashtra, Rajasthan, Uttar Pradesh, Gujarat, Karnataka, Bihar, Telangana were present during the meeting.

Maha Congress launches 'mudslinging' campaign against govt's failures

Team Absolute | Mumbai

The Maharashtra Congress on Friday launched a state-wide 'chikkhal phenko' (mudslinging) agitation to protest against the 'anti-people' policies of the state and Central governments.

State Congress President Nana Patole said the campaign aims to highlight the high inflation, growing unemployment, falling law and order, the recent NEET paper leaks, and other failures of the MahaYuti and the Bharatiya Janata Party-led NDA governments.

"The Centre and the state are making merry after abandoning the people. Law and order have completely collapsed in the state, while runaway inflation and joblessness have made it difficult for people to survive," said Patole.

There is rampant black-marketing of seeds and fertilisers due to which the poor farmers are being looted in the state but the government is doing nothing, he claimed.

To draw the government's attention to these 'burning' problems, the Congress organised a 'mudslinging' drive in different districts across the state.

Hundreds of party workers poured muddy water on effigies symbolising the government, raised slogans, and demanded the administration take immediate note of the people's sufferings.

The agitation was carried out in Mumbai, Pune, Nagpur, Chhatrapati Sambhaji Nagar, Kolhapur and other parts of the state.

Speaking to the media, Patole alleged that through the direct bank transfer scheme, various farming aids like pesticides, sprays, fertilisers and medicines are given to the farmers, but the government hiked the prices of spray pumps from Rs 2,700 to Rs 4,500, while other items are also being purchased at higher rates.

Though the Centre has increased the MSP for some crops, the hike is very meagre compared to the inflation, considering the high prices of diesel, fertilisers, seeds and other agriculture inputs, thus leaving the farmers with nothing, he pointed out.

The state is gripped by a severe drought in which the farmers have suffered huge losses, but the government is terming it a 'drought-like' situation, thus mocking their plight even as the rains have been delayed, Patole claimed.

Team Absolute | New Delhi

As many as 10 Indians recruited by the Russian Army for its conflict with Ukraine have been released and repatriated back to India, the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) revealed on Friday.

The government on June 11 had said that two Indian nationals who had been recruited by the Russian Army had been killed in the ongoing conflict between Russia and Ukraine. New Delhi had then strongly taken up the matter with the Russian Ambassador here and with Russian authorities in Moscow for early release and return of all Indian nationals who are with the Russian Army. "We are engaged with the Russian authorities in New Delhi and Moscow so that persons who are serving in the Russian army can be released and repatriated to India as soon as possible," Randhir Jaiswal, spokesperson for the External Affairs Ministry told the media in the national capital on Friday. "About 20-25 people who want to be released have contacted us so far. Of those, 10 people have been released and repatriated back to India. We are also in touch with the family members of the two people who died recently. We are constantly engaged with the Russian Defence and Foreign Ministry so that their mortal remains can be brought back to India," added the MEA spokesperson.

Earlier, India had also demanded that there be a verified stop to any further recruitment of its nationals by the Russian Army.

"Such activities would not be in consonance with our partnership. We also urge Indian nationals to exercise caution while seeking employment opportunities in Russia," the MEA stated on June 11.

Jolt to BRS as ex-Speaker Srinivas Reddy joins Congress

Hyderabad | Agencies

Canal Land 'Disappears' In Shivraj Chouhan's Area, Officials Puzzled

Team Absolute | Bhopal

In a bewildering development, land designated for a canal in the constituency of Union Agriculture Minister Shivraj Singh Chouhan has inexplicably vanished.

The government department responsible for the canal has sought help from the revenue department to locate the missing land.

Historically, the canal, documented to be used for irrigation in Daulatpura and Madankhedha, was established with the aim of providing irrigation water to farmers and to boost agricultural productivity.

This canal, positioned near the Betwa river, played a vital role in the region's agriculture. However, the canal has mysteriously disappeared, leaving the community and the authorities puzzled.

"When we were small, we used to bathe in the canal water, but now it has vanished," said Basant Kumar Kushwaha, a resident.

Adding to the intrigue is the theft of a water-lifting machine worth lakhs of rupees which was installed on the banks of the canal.

The canal department has asked the revenue department about the exact location of this land. The local administration, however, appears equally perplexed and concerned.

"We have brought this matter to my notice. A thorough investigation will be conducted to find out who has encroached upon the land and the government land will be freed," district collector Buddhesh Kumar Vaidya said.

The matter dates back to 1980 when the land was acquired by the government at a relatively low cost, and farmers were compensated properly.

Over the years, residential colonies began to emerge in the area where the canal once stood. Encroachments upon government land, under the guise of colony development, had become a recurring issue. The exact timeline of when the canal was dismantled and the whereabouts of its material remain shrouded in mystery.

This land that disappeared was in the Union Agriculture Minister's constituency, raising significant questions and concerns among the local population and government authorities. Locals said they are tracking how the investigation unfolds, and want the valuable canal land to be restored.

Govt to proceed on Shaktipeeth Expressway only after taking public into confidence: Eknath Shinde

Team Absolute | Mumbai

Amid ongoing protests, Maharashtra Chief Minister Eknath Shinde on Friday announced that the government will proceed with the development of the 802-km Nagpur-Goa Expressway, also known as Shaktipeeth Expressway, only after considering the sentiments of the public and taking them into confidence. The project cost is estimated to be around Rs 80,000 crore.

"This government belongs to the common people. Therefore, the project will be taken forward only by considering the sentiments of the public and taking them into confidence. No project will be imposed on the people. We completed the game changer project of Samruddhi Mahamarg (Nagpur-Mumbai Expressway) by taking people into confidence," said Shinde.

He further said that "the government is considering redrawing the Shaktipeeth Expressway's present alignment, especially on the sections where the protests are underway".

"No project will move forward without taking the public into confidence," CM Shinde said.

The Maharashtra Chief Minister's statement on the matter assumes significance to avoid any backlash in the upcoming Assembly elections.

Shinde's assurance came a day after the Maharashtra Minister of Higher Education Chandrakant Patil said that the government has taken a decision to stop land acquisition in view of protests by farmers.

The project has been hogging headlines due to protests by farmers and political parties.

The Maharashtra government in February this year cleared the project connecting all important Hindu religious pilgrim centres.

Of the 8,419 hectares required for the project, around 8,100 is private agricultural land.

A massive march was recently taken out in Kolhapur to demand cancellation of the expressway project. Newly elected Congress MP Chhatrapati Shahu Maharaj, MLC Satej Patil, MLA Rituraj Patil, former MP Raju Shetty, along with many activists and farmers participated in the march. Congress legislator Satej Patil had warned that the state government should cancel the Shaktipeeth Expressway by July 12 or else they will stage an agitation.

The farmers had claimed that they would lose agricultural land from 11 districts.

They submitted that the development of Shaktipeeth Expressway was unnecessary as it aims to benefit the contractors. In addition, the farmers have raised alarm over the environmental damage and destruction of small rivers and water streams due to the land filling and tunneling works.

Girl dangles mid-air for reel, Pune Police nab 2 for daredevil stunt

Team Absolute | Pune

The Bharti Vidyapeeth Police Station has arrested a man and woman for performing a potentially deadly stunt to click a reel atop a dilapidated temple building, an official said here on Friday.

They are identified as Mihir Gandhi, 27, and his friend Minakshi Salunkhe, 23, while a third person who was making the reel is absconding.

"After we got information about the video, we launched investigations and managed to trace them. They were summoned to the police station late last night and placed under arrest. We have charged them under IPC Section 336 and others," Senior Inspector of Bharti Vidyapeeth Police Station, Dashrath Patil told reporter.

However, since the offence is minor with a jail term of less than six months plus a fine or both, they will not be remanded to custody, added Patil.

Earlier this week, people of Pune were rattled to see the boy and girl, and the unidentified reel-maker performing a daring feat atop an abandoned temple roof.

Gandhi was seen lying at the edge of the temple roof and the girl Salunkhe, laughing away, gingerly got down, grabbed his hand and was seen dangling mid-air from a height equivalent to at least a 10-storied building.

The background showed the depth below the building, indicating that in case her grip slipped, she would have met with a gory end, as speeding vehicles ply on a road nearby.

The reel, which quickly went viral, elicited angry responses from the people who demanded stringent punishment for the duo for endangering their lives and setting a bad example for others, especially youngsters.

Patil said that the police are on the lookout for the third accomplice who was shooting the reel on his mobile and expressed hope that he would be caught soon.

14 cops injured as people throw stones after girl's sexual assault, murder in Jalgaon

Team Absolute | Mumbai

As many as 14 cops were injured after a group of persons allegedly pelted them with stones demanding the custody of a man, who was arrested for sexually assaulting and killing a six-year-old girl at Jamner in Jalgaon district in Maharashtra, police said on Friday, reported a news agency.

The incident of stone-pelting occurred around 9:30 pm on Thursday outside the Jamner police station in Jalgaon, the police said.

"A six-year-old girl was allegedly abducted, sexually assaulted and murdered at Chinchkheda Shivar village in Jamner on the night of June 11. The accused person had fled away from the spot taking advantage of darkness," an official said.

"The police had launched a search for the accused, who was finally arrested on Thursday. But after getting information about his arrest, the deceased girl's family members, their relatives and local residents gathered outside the police station demanding that the accused be handed over to them so that they can punish him for the heinous crime," he said, the news agency reported on Friday.

The people started agitating outside the police station. Some time later, they learnt that the police shifted the accused person to a safer place. This angered the crowd and some of them started hurling stones at the police station, he added.

"A few members of the group even attacked the police and damaged the public property by indulging in arson," the police official said. At least 14 police personnel, including an inspector, were injured in the incident, he said.

The police used force to disperse the crowd, he said, adding that police personnel were deployed in large numbers after the incident.

Maharashtra Deputy Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis on Friday said that Artificial Intelligence (AI) will be used for more effective and efficient policing and resolving traffic management issues in the state.

According to a news agency, while speaking to reporters after a meeting of the home department, which he heads, Fadnavis said IIM Nagpur, in association with the government, had prepared a report on how to use AI for effective and efficient policing, crime detection and "predictive situations".

"A government company will be formed, the project will be rolled out soon. Analysis of criminals and the nature of crimes can be done. Data on cyber crime can be analysed and traffic management issues can also be resolved. Modules will be prepared for different units," he said, as per the news agency. Devendra Fadnavis said that the rains and model code of conduct (MCC) for the assembly polls, due in October, could delay the ongoing police recruitment drive and some candidates might not get another chance because of the age bar. Wherever it is raining, the next dates have been announced for outdoor physical tests, he said.

However, tests will continue where there is no rain, he said. Directives have been given to provide proper accommodation to the candidates, he said.

Team Absolute | New Delhi/Mumbai

The Supreme Court on Friday granted two-week interim bail to Bhima Koregaon-Elgaar Parishad conspiracy case accused Mahesh Raut to attend ceremonies relating to the last rites of his deceased grandmother.

"Considering the facts and circumstances of the case and the period of incarceration already undergone by the applicant and also the nature of request made for the purpose, we are inclined to grant two weeks' interim bail to the applicant, which may commence from 26th June, 2024 and end on 10th July, 2024," said a Vacation Bench presided over by Justice Vikram Nath.

In its order, the Bench, also comprising Justice SVN Bhatti, said that the terms and conditions of release will be determined by the Special Court (NIA) and the National Investigation Agency (NIA) would be at liberty to request the trial court to impose such stringent conditions as may be necessary.

Raut will have to surrender on July 10 without fail, the apex court said.

In September last year, the Bombay

High Court had granted bail to Raut, who has been in jail since June 6, 2018 for his alleged links with Maoists.

However, a Division Bench of Justice AS Gadhkar and Justice Sharmila Deshmukh of the High Court deferred implementation of its order for a week after the anti-terror agency sought a stay for filing a Special Leave Petition in the Supreme Court.

On an appeal filed by the NIA, the Supreme Court had passed several interim orders that the bail granted to Raut will not be given effect till further orders.

In July 2023, the top court had granted bail to two other accused -- Vernon Gonsalves and Arun Ferreira, who were in jail since August 2018.

The case pertains to inciting people and giving provocative speeches during the Elgar Parishad organised by the activists of Kabir Kala Manch at Shaniwarwada in Maharashtra's Pune on December 31, 2017, which allegedly promoted enmity between various caste groups and led to violence resulting in loss of life and property and a statewide agitation in Maharashtra.

"Victim families traumatised, but so is teen": High Court in Pune Porsche case

Team Absolute | Pune

The drunk Pune teen who killed two people - while driving his father's Rs 2.5 crore electric Porsche supercar - caused the accident but was probably in "shock" and it is natural, therefore, to assume his mental faculties would have been adversely affected, a division bench of the Bombay High Court said.

The court's observation came even as it acknowledged the families of the two killed - Aneesh Awadhya and Ashwini Kosta - are still facing mental and physical trauma over news of their deaths.

The court was hearing a plea by the boy's aunt seeking his release on grounds his arrest - hours after a high-speed collision with a motorbike carrying two people - was "arbitrary and illegal", and that the police - who were heavily criticised for appearing to shield the boy, who is the son of an influential city builder - were guilty of "abuse of process and blatant disregard for the rule of law".

A bench of Justice Bharati Harish Dangre and Manjusha Deshpande reserved its order for Tuesday.

The Pune teen had received bail, within 15 hours of his arrest, on conditions that included writing a 300-word essay on road safety. The bail order led to public fury and the police sought to amend the order;

The bail order was modified and the boy - whose parents and paternal grandfather were also arrested, on charges they bribed cops and faked blood tests - was sent to a juvenile remand home.

Last week the teen's paternal aunt filed a habeas corpus plea before the High Court. She claimed the Juvenile Board's remand order was "in complete violation" of applicable laws.

In Friday's hearing, the petitioner argued against modification of that bail order. Appearing for the aunt, Senior Advocate Aabid Poonda said Section 104 of the Juvenile Justice Act does not allow for a minor accused on bail to be sent to an observation home until the earlier order is revoked. In this case, Mr Poonda said, the boy's bail order had been amended, not cancelled.

Lack of coordination between leaders defeated BJP in UP

The absence of coordination between Lok Sabha candidates and party MLAs has emerged as one of the main reasons of the BJP's underwhelming performance in the 2024 Lok Sabha elections in Uttar Pradesh. The feedback collected so far by the designated teams which have been sent to almost all the constituencies, confirms this. Another feedback, according to sources, says there was no enthusiasm among the party workers across the state because of various reasons. Common among them was the State BJP leadership's inability to communicate with the party workers as it had been the case in the previous elections. Secondly, the workers for the past several years are feeling left out as despite doing their best in elections after elections, they are not able to get even their genuine work done at the tehsil and the thana level. They have also complained about an overdose of campaign and party programmes. Another common trend reported was a 'misplaced confidence' among candidates, state leaderships and office-bearers that despite not doing much work, they would sail through as the 2024 Lok Sabha polls were not about electing MPs but giving a third term to Prime Minister Narendra Modi. This complacency led to party candidates not listening to workers' feedback and even not fulfilling the basic requirements of party workers and functionaries. In all, more than 70 office-bearers and former office-bearers have been entrusted with the responsibility of ascertaining the reasons for the BJP's lukewarm performance in the state. The observers have been tasked to meet district-level office-bearers, MLAs, sector-level office-bearers and collect their feedback. Even though the last date to submit the reports was June 20, sources said the date will have to be extended as many observers have not been able to complete the process and prepare a report so far.

Yoga: Teachers, Tough Love, And The Twinning Of Mind And Body

Nishtha Gautam

My yoga class is a microcosm of modern society. A group of individuals coming together in a spatio-temporal context to achieve different goals. It is also a study in efficiency or its lack; efficiency of not just the body, trying to twist and turn, but also of the belief system.

It is difficult to adopt any ancient art, craft, belief system or even word without navigating a landmine of sensibilities. For example, it is not easy to assert that hatha yoga or the physical practice of postures (asanas), is not the pure form of yoga. Even though it is seen as the most central yogic practice, this is probably not how yoga originated. And I'm not even referring to the pop styles of yoga practices that have emerged across the world purely thanks to laissez-faire.

These days, a good deal of breath is wasted, quite literally, on decoding whether yoga practice is geared toward an "inward-oriented detachment from material outcomes and desires", or if it's merely another fitness routine. If it's just the latter, why do some yoga teachers insist on following a puritanical pedagogical system of surrendering one's self?

The large-scale export of yoga from the Indian subcontinent to the world began in the early twentieth century when different Indian yogis were evangelising about this Indian knowledge system taking different routes. Swami Vivekananda, for example, may be seen as largely dismissive of yoga's bodily practices and presented it as more of a spiritual system. Ramana Maharshi saw yoga as facilitating a state called self-realisation: "simply being oneself, not knowing anything or becoming anything". Sivananda Saraswati and Tirumalai Krishnamacharya focused on the corporeality of the yoga practice, saw it as a physical fitness regime and even developed new postural systems. Krishnamacharya's student BKS Iyengar went a step ahead and insisted on absolute precision and bodily alignment. Starting from Vivekananda, all these yogis relied selectively on texts like Patanjali's Yogasutras and the Bhagavad Gita. While some sought to link their postural systems to these spiritual texts, others saw them as merely guiding lights. A practice session of Iyengar Yoga, for example, begins with an invocation to Patanjali. However, Iyengar is not known to have ever compelled his students to adopt any form of Hindu set of beliefs. Now, what is a modern yogi or yogini ought to look for before even embarking on this journey? As a regular practitioner now, all I can say is the possibility of annihilation of ego is a good goal to begin with. Once you are on the yoga mat, all your accomplishments and the underlying pride ought to leave the room. If that does not happen after practising for a while, maybe yoga is not for you. Pride, and prejudice, block our path to recovery and healing. It is helpful to think of the practice of yoga as psychotherapy. I have many vices, but pride is not one of them. So what have I gained on the yoga mat? Looking back at my brief journey, I can confirm that yoga has given me the patience to deal with other people's pride. I have learnt to remove myself from situations and contexts where pride overran. I also realised that relying on your innate virtues is not very helpful in any situation: intent must be followed by action, or it is pointless. Yoga practice has also made me more fearless in terms of expressing myself. The reason is simple. Once you are on the mat, you are aware of every tissue of your body. What it is capable of and what must wait. Hypocrisy on the yoga mat is the gateway to a hospital bed. I may not be the fittest person around, thanks to my Covid-ravaged body, but yoga has encouraged me to look out for myself. It has allowed me to differentiate between vacuous, gentle words and harsh, painful instructions. While my heart may crave the former, I understand the importance of the latter. I understand the importance of the bitter verbal pill. I've stuck to my yoga teacher for a while now, despite her not-so-affable demeanour, because it's clear to me what her pedagogy is. Tough love. Most people use

"tough love" to mask their cruelty and lack of empathy. It is a much-maligned phrase today with its history of hiding abuse. To some, my teacher's words may come across as abuse (they surely are not gentle!). I have seen many of them deregistering from the programmes. Let this essay be seen as an apology for my teacher's pedagogy, let me iterate, that we are not close in personal life. Our interactions are strictly in the space and context of the yoga practice. I am not striving to be either the best or a favourite student. What defines this relationship, however, is her doggedness to make my body - and therefore, mind - the best that it can be and my often frustrated attempts to do the same. Neither is giving up.

Yogis create island of stillness at New York's frenetic Times Square

New York | Agencies

Thousands of yogis created an island of stillness in the frenetic whirl of 'Crossroads of the World'. Apty named, 'Mind Over Madness', the day-long yoga event featured seven massed yoga practices that included lessons for newbies at Times Square, on Thursday, the Summer Solstice Day. "People seek stillness, they seek that peace in a frenetic world that we live in, and what better place than at Times Square to really practise that," said Tracy Warfield, a yoga teacher, as she prepared to lead a session. Cealia Brannan, another yoga teacher who led a session, said the day's celebration "I feel like it's kind of homage to yoga". In the microcosm of the world -- people with origins across Europe, the Americas, Africa, Asia and beyond -- stood with Swati of Indian origin warming up for a session with her husband and two sons. "I'm immensely proud that it has become a global phenomenon," she said. "I love it that people are coming to embrace the Indian culture and Indian values and they are adapting and embracing spirituality," she said. The Indian Consulate General was the sponsor of the first event of the day and Consul General Binaya Pradhan greeted the yogis and highlighted the benefits of the ancient art. It was the longest day, and also the hottest so far this year at 33 degrees Celsius. About 8,000 people had pre-registered for the event, according to the organisers, and thousands more dropped by. As the yogis reached for Nirvana in the media strip of Times Square, overhead ads for movies, luxury watches, clothes and food and drinks floated by on electronic billboards, the NASDAQ building flashed the ups and downs of the stock market, characters dressed as the Statue of Liberty and Walt Disney characters sauntered, the area fixture "Naked Cowboy" strummed his guitar, and gawking tourists stopped to watch and sometimes imitate the asanas impromptu. "I think it's very easy to get caught up in the world, especially all the things that are going on now," said Warfield. "And you get this opportunity to just be together. Enjoy the practice. Enjoy your body. Enjoy your breath, and enjoy life". Swati said of the differing approaches to ancient art, "In India, it's more intense here is more fun". Warfield brought that out asking the yogis at the start to "smile, turn your head, make contact, say, 'I love you'". "It's that kind of yoga," she told the participants in the session she was leading.

The 'Mind Over Madness' yoga celebrations at Times Square on Solstice Day have been going on for 22 years, starting a dozen years before the United Nations General Assembly created the International Day of Yoga. Cofounder of the event, Douglas Stewart said that the millennia-old yoga from India is relevant to the people of New York as everywhere as it is "a template for living" relating mind, body and spirit creating a relationship with nature". "It slowly begins to unfold to other parts of the world and will continue to express itself as a template for life," he said. According to the Centres for Disease Control, one in about six Americans now practise yoga -- 17 per cent or about 55 million people. About 30 per cent of them do yoga to treat and manage pain, the federal agency said in a brief published this month. Many of the yoga enthusiasts at Times Square like Brannan and Warfield said they first came to yoga seeking a panacea for pain. "I started because I had low back pain," Brannan said. "But then I just started realising all the other awesome ways that I felt after" starting yoga. Swati said that as a parent coordinator at her sons' international school "I promote yoga there". "I promoted it to other friends who are not Indian, and they are here today," she added. She said they also practise yoga at her gym. The Indian Consulate had earlier arranged yoga classes at Bryant Park and Central Park.

Thousands of Israelis turn out in renewed rally against govt

Jerusalem | Agencies

Thousands of Israelis turned out for fresh protests against Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's government in a renewed show of anger at the failure to agree on a ceasefire in Gaza and bring about the return of hostages. According to Israeli media on Thursday, the largest rally took place in front of a private home of the Prime Minister in the city of Caesarea. The demonstrators demanded new elections and the release of the hostages held in the Gaza Strip. Hundreds also gathered in Jerusalem for a protest, according to reports. These are the latest in months of protests as people accuse Netanyahu of bowing to the demands of the ultra-orthodox partners in his right-wing coalition and obstructing a deal to release the Israeli hostages held by Palestinian Islamist organisation Hamas. Some Ministers oppose an agreement with Hamas as it would also provide for a ceasefire and the release of Palestinian prisoners from Israeli jails. Israel continues to seek to eliminate Hamas, which attacked sites in southern Israel on October 7, killing nearly 1,200 people and abducting about 250 more to Gaza. Israel responded by pounding Gaza with airstrikes and launched a ground offensive into the sealed-off Palestinian territory at the end of October.

Washington prioritises Ukraine, postpones military supplies to others

Washington | Agencies

The US government plans to postpone the delivery of some military equipment to other countries to prioritise strengthening Ukraine's air defences. White House National Security Spokesman John Kirby said on Thursday that given Kiev's urgent needs, the US government had made the "difficult but necessary" decision to postpone certain planned arms sales to other countries, in particular missiles for the Patriot and NASAMS air defence systems. These should go instead to Ukraine, whose armed forces urgently need additional air defence capacities, he added. The countries concerned had been informed, Kirby said, though he did not say which countries were involved. All are to receive what they had ordered, just a little later than originally planned, he added. This was first mentioned by US President Joe Biden during a joint press conference with Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky a few days ago on the sidelines of the G7 summit in Italy.

"But that is just the tip of the iceberg in terms of his legendary filmography; a funny, laconic, but also intense and dramatic presence in so many memorable movies, starting with his breakthrough in 'The Dirty Dozen,' and then on an incredible run in the 70's, 80's and beyond with 'M*A*S*H,' 'Kelly's Heroes,' 'Little Murders,' 'Klute,' 'Don't Look Now,' 'The Day Of The Locust,' 'Ordinary People' and 'JFK,' among many others," Wright said

Moreover, multiple outlets have reported that the couple -- who rekindled their love in 2021 and got married in 2022 -- are having issues in their marriage.

T20 WORLD CUP:

ROHIT CREDITS SURYAKUMAR-HARDIK 'CRITICAL PARTNERSHIP' FOR WIN OVER AFGHANISTAN

Bridgetown (Barbados) | Agencies

India captain Rohit Sharma credited a 60-run partnership between Suryakumar Yadav and Hardik Pandya after registering a 47-run win over Afghanistan in the Super Eight clash at T20 World Cup on Thursday.

The duo joined forces in the middle in the 11th over and stitched a crucial fifth-wicket partnership to take the side to the 150-run mark. Suryakumar smashed 53 off 28 balls studded with three sixes and five fours while Hardik Pandya scored 32 as India posted 181/8 in 20 overs.

"I think everyone coming in there and doing their job is critical for us and that is something we dwell on. So that is something we keep talking about how each one, if they can play their role, we can set up a good platform for ourselves. Surya Kumar Yadav and Hardik Pandya's partnership was very critical for us at that point in time because we kept losing wickets there. So we needed somebody to bat little deep. Surya Kumar Yadav did that along with Hardik Pandya and it was a great partnership in the end," Rohit said after the match.

Chasing 182, Jasprit Bumrah and Arshdeep Singh scalped three wickets each to bundle out Afghanistan for 134 in 20 overs. Bumrah returned with the figures of 3-7 in his four overs and claimed important wickets of Rahmanullah Gurbaz (11), Hazratullah Zazai (2) and Najibullah Zadran (19).

Rohit said Bumrah understands his role well and is always ready to take up the challenge. "We know his class. We know what he can do for us and it's important for us as well that we use him smartly. We use him smartly and he is the one who is ready to take that responsibility as well because it's not easy for a strike bowler to keep holding him on. "But Jasprit Bumrah being Jasprit Bumrah, he has been doing that for years. Wherever he plays, he understands that this is what the team expects from him and he is always ready for that responsibility," he said.

India added Kuldeep Yadav to their playing 11 to bolster their spin attack but the move didn't pay much dividend to the side as the left-arm spinner conceded runs at an economy of 8 despite picking up two scalps. Rohit also acknowledged the fact and said they would make changes according to the conditions.

"Nothing as such. I've got to assess the condition and see what is right and wrong - look at the opposition composition as well, what they play and how they play as well. So based on that, we are open to making any changes if required. At the moment we felt that 3 spinners is a good option here and we went with that. If the game in the next venues offers something for the seamers, we will be open for that as well," Rohit said.

India will now take on Bangladesh in their next Super Eight match in Antigua on Saturday.

Euro 2024: Spain edge Italy 1-0 to seal round of 16 spot

Gelsenkirchen (Germany) | Agencies

Spain claimed first place in Euro 2024 Group B, and a spot in the round of 16, with a narrow 1-0 but dominant win over Italy late on Thursday night (as per IST) at the Arena AufSchalke, thanks to Riccardo Calafiori's own goal early in the second half.

Italy faced an early scare when Nico Williams' skillful play on the left wing set up a header for Pedri. However, Gianluigi Donnarumma made a spectacular save, tipping the ball over the bar.

Williams himself missed an even better opportunity in the tenth minute, sending a header wide while unmarked in front of goal. Spain continued to press, forcing Donnarumma into action again to block Alvaro Morata's angled shot. The Italian keeper then made a quick dive to his left to tip over a long-range effort from Fabián Ruiz, who later had another shot blocked by Alessandro Bastoni.

Aside from a couple of characteristic forays down the left by Federico Dimarco, Italy struggled to penetrate the Spain penalty area. In response, Luciano Spalletti brought on Bryan Cristante and Andrea Cambiaso at halftime. However, this did not stop Spain's relentless attacks. Pedri nearly broke the deadlock again, but he fired a gilt-edged chance wide from Marc Cucurella's cross, Euro 2024 reports.

Finally, the breakthrough arrived, although from an unexpected source. It was no surprise that the move originated down the Spain left with Williams, however, his cross flicked on by Morata; Donnarumma could only get fingertips to the header and the ball rebounded in off Calafiori.

The goalkeeper tipped over another Morata effort, and Cambiaso cleared off the line moments later. Lamine Yamal curled just wide, while Williams hit the crossbar from the corner of the area.

Italy's late push saw Cristante's flick easily gathered by Unai Simon. Spain nearly extended their lead in stoppage time, but Donnarumma denied Ayoze Perez twice. Ultimately, Spain secured their place in the round of 16.

"This was our best performance since I became coach. We played well against Italy in the [2022/23] Nations League, but I think this was a more complete performance. I'm very proud of the result and the way in which we won this match, but it's a very challenging tournament. We were superior across the board. I have so much respect for Italy; they had some difficulties tonight, but part of that is because we played so well." Italy head coach Luis de la Fuente was quoted by UEFA.

CUMMINS CLAIMS HAT-TRICK AS AUSTRALIA BEAT BANGLADESH IN RAIN-HIT MATCH

North Sound (Antigua) | Agencies

Fast bowler Pat Cummins etched his name in the record books, becoming just the second Australian to claim a hat-trick in T20 World Cup match during his team's victory over Bangladesh in the Super 8 clash on Friday (according to IST) at the Sir Vivian Richards Stadium.

The Australian pacer reached a milestone by claiming three wickets across two separate overs. He took two wickets on the final two deliveries of his third over and then achieved the feat on the first ball of his last over, dismissing Towhid Hridoy, who was caught at short fine leg.

Cummins has now joined Brett Lee as Australian bowlers who have taken a hat-trick at a Men's T20 World Cup. Lee achieved this feat against Bangladesh in the 2007 edition.

Overall, the Aussie joined an illustrious group of just seven players to have taken a hat-trick at a Men's T20 World Cup, with Lee (2007), Curtis Campher (Ireland, 2021), Wainindu Hasaranga (Sri Lanka, 2021), Kagiso Rabada (South Africa, 2021), Karthik Meiyappan (UAE, 2022) and Josh Little (Ireland, 2022) the other bowlers to have done so previously.

The 31-year-old finished his spell with figures of 3-29 as Australia restricted Bangladesh to 140/8 after inviting them to bat first. In response, openers David Warner (53 not out) and Travis head (31) were all guns blazing in the run chase.

However, the game didn't reach a proper conclusion due to rain. The Aussies secured a first Super Eight win, finishing 28 runs ahead of the par score via the Duckworth-Lewis-Stern Method.

Batting first, Bangladesh suffered an early blow as Mitchell Starc bowled Tanzin Hasan with the third delivery of the innings. In doing so, Starc moved past Sri Lanka's Lasith Malinga into outright first for wickets in Men's World Cups - both ODI and T20s, ICC reports.

Apart from the initial blow, Bangladesh dominated the early exchanges. While the Australians maintained a tight grip, Liton Das and captain Najmul Hossain Shanto's 58-run partnership rejuvenated the innings, propelling Bangladesh to a competitive position.

The partnership finally ended when Adam Zampa spun one through Das in the ninth over. Things got difficult for the Asian outfit with Rishad Hossain giving away his wicket on the final ball before drinks, placing Bangladesh at 67/3.

Zampa then made the next breakthrough by dismissing Shanto (41 off 36) at the end of the 13th over, putting significant pressure on the Bangladesh middle order. Towhid Hridoy (40 off 28) made a valiant effort to accelerate, helping his side reach three figures by the 16th over.

Pat Cummins collected two quick scalps to end Australia's 18th over and then removed Hridoy upon return to start over 20, completing the tournament's first hat-trick, as Bangladesh were restricted to 140/8.

Stimac labels AIFF chief a liar, says 'sooner he leaves Indian football'

New Delhi | Agencies

Sacked by the All-India Football Federation (AIFF) following a disastrous World Cup Qualification bid, India head coach Igor Stimac has dropped many bombshells in his final address to Indian media. The Croatian coach slammed the current president of the AIFF, Kalyan Chaubey, and labeled him a "liar".

"Kalyan, you are the one lying not me. Sooner he leaves, Indian football stands a chance. Indian football needs someone powerful and influential. The only time Kalyan is powerful is when he walks with armed guards in Kolkata. Apart from that no one knows him," said Stimac in a press conference.

This is the latest development in the ongoing war of words between the AIFF and Stimac after he was sacked following India's exit in the second round of the FIFA World Cup 2026 Qualifiers. It will be interesting to see how the AIFF and its President Kalyan Chaubey respond to these latest allegations.

"Me and Kalyan never had a relationship, it was obvious. I reported to the secretary general. The president doesn't indulge in these things. When Kalyan came and was elected president, our first meeting at the Hyatt lasted for three minutes in which he looked at his watch five times," said Stimac.

Shaji Prabhakaran was recently criticised as he was in power when Stimac renewed his contract till 2026. Stimac was questioned on Shaji's sacking and whether the move was good for Indian football. "The sacking of Shaji can't be good, if you start a process and start working together and before even a year you have a fight. It is wrong and shows negatively," added the 56-year-old.

All footballing decisions which include the coach's appointment and contract are handled by the technical committee of the AIFF which is led by chairman and football legend I.M. Vijayan. The Croatian took time to express his feelings for the former player. "IM Vijayan is a great footballer and legend in Indian football but not the right person to be chairman of a Technical Committee," he concluded.

Paddler Sathiyian alleges unfair umpiring at WTT Contender Lagos, says robbed of a win

Lagos (Nigeria) | Agencies

India's former National Champion Sathiyian Gnanasekaran on Friday took to social media to highlight "unfair umpiring" during his 2-3 defeat to French player Thibault Poret in men's singles Round of 16 stage at the WTT Contender Lagos 2024 here on Friday.

Sathiyian, ranked 71st in the WTT World Rankings, made a comeback from two sets down and was leading 2-0 in the fifth and final set when he claimed the umpire made some "unfair" calls that cost him the match. Sathiyian lost to the 111th-ranked Poret 8-11, 8-11, 11-4, 11-5, 6-11 at the Sir Molade Okoya Thomas Indoor Sports Hall in Lagos, Nigeria.

In his post on Instagram headlined, "Unfair umpiring at its worst here in Lagos", Sathiyian said the "unfair umpiring" broke his rhythm and left him disappointed and dispirited.

"I never normally complain about these things but what just happened today is beyond imagination & was totally unfair," said Sathiyian in his post.

"I made a good comeback from 2 sets down & was leading 2-0 in the final set. The opponent was given a service fault (he was even given a warning before), and after a lot of quarrels with the referee, out of the blue, the opponent took a medical timeout just to kill time when he had no medical issue until then, and to my surprise, it was granted as well," wrote

Sathiyian in his post. "And then when I was leading 3-1 in the last set, I was given a service fault out of nowhere without even a warning, in the serve in which I was getting a lot of points, probably just to make it even which totally spoiled my rhythm," said the Indian player a multiple-time medallist in the Commonwealth Games.

Sathiyian, who won a bronze medal in the Men's Team event at the 2018 Asian Games in Jakarta, said this kind of umpiring at the international level was very disappointing. "We players work so hard and such kind of unfair umpiring at the international level & to rob a match like this is certainly very disappointing," wrote Sathiyian in the post marked to World Table Tennis (@wtt), the governing body for the sport at international level.
